4 Minnesota 4-H Winners Visit Chicago

STATE HONORS for 1952 have been won by four 4-H Club members in the Gopher State for outstanding work in the National 4-H Canning, Farm and Home Safety, Health and Tractor Maintenance programs. Their awards are all-expense trips to the 31st National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Brief summaries of their accomplishments follow:

Marlene Matilla

Lorraine Schafer

Joann Schmidt

Alvin Swenson

Marlene Matilla, 20, of Sebeka, has accomplished noteworthy results in the Farm and Home Safety program, for which she received the General Motors trip award. By means of surveys, demonstrations and other aids, she has helped to make her community more safety conscious. Being an elementary school teacher, Marlene concerned herself with the problem of playground safety, and has used her influence to make children "safety conscious." In a state contest Marlene dealt especially with Fire Prevention, making many important suggestions. She has made 82 local and 31 county presentations. During her seven years in 4-H Marlene has learned to practice safety daily, regardless of the projects or work involved. She also served the local club as junior leader.

Top-notch achievements in canning won state honors for Lorraine Schafer, 20, of Olivia. This young homemaker has canned 4,049 quarts of vegetables, fruits and meats, much of it grown in her own 4-H garden. Kerr Glass provided her all-expense trip to Club Congress. Exhibiting her colorful jars of fruits and vegetables at county and state fairs, she has taken many awards, including two firsts at state fair, and a $25 savings bond as one of the top four in the state. In recent years, Lorraine has done all the canning for her family of six and has become adept in the hot water bath, open kettle and pressure cooker techniques for preservation. Other projects include poultry, clothing, baking and food preparation. Lorraine is president of her local club.

Joann Schmidt, 18, of St. Paul, received statewide recognition in the 4-H Health Improvement program and will attend Club Congress as guest of the Kellogg Co. of Battle Creek. With the help of her club leader Mrs. Bernard Ashback, she studied her individual problems, planned appropriate action—and then followed through. She has given demonstrations at county and state fairs in foods, baking and clothing for which she has won many first awards. Joann believes mental health habits, as well as physical, are established by participation in sports and hobbies. As Senior Girls' Counselor, she teaches and practices good health habits; has worked on the Governor's Youth Commission and was named 4-H Health Queen to represent Ramsey county at Minnesota State Fair.

Proper tractor care has kept the wheels rolling and production up on the Swanson farm in Moorhead. For a job well done, son Alvin, 20, was named Minnesota winner in the 4-H Tractor Maintenance program. His trip award was provided by Standard Oil Co. (Indiana). For the past year Alvin has felt that demonstrations offer the best method by which one person can teach a large number of people, and consequently has put much effort into tractor maintenance demonstrations. He has presented demonstrations on "Fuel Care and Conservation," "Winter Feeding Stations," "Carburetor Functioning," "Packing a Wheel Bearing", "Front Wheel Lubrication," and "Packing a Front Wheel", for more than 1200 people. Alvin has been a junior leader as well as president of his club.

All these programs are conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

SMILEY . . .

By Mrs. Jim McCrum, Rt. 2, city

Gladelig Jul!

The December meeting of the Smiley 4-H club was in the form of a combined business meeting, program and Christmas party. It was a lively affair. Three excellent demonstrations were given. Shirley Beiswenger showed how to make a clever center piece and several gift wrapping ideas; Carol Rude also showed how to make a new idea in stamping miniature motifs for gift wrapping. Nelda Nelson demonstrated milk bottle cap decorations. Three project talks were given. Kent Froseth spoke on the right way to feed a dairy heifer; Gloria Johnson gave a talk on several lovely ideas for Christmas Decorations and Dianne Lendobeja gave several suggestions on safety in the home at Christmas time. Orrin Helgeland played a cornet solo. Carolyn and Craig Torkelson sang two songs. A skit by several girls pantomined "I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus" while Betty Rude and Marilyn McCrum were the vocal narrators. Hilarious contests and relays followed by distribution of bags, exchange of gifts, handouts of apples and nuts and a wonderful lunch all contrived and actually made the evening a happy and an enjoyable one.

Gloria Johnson, Joyce Helgeland and Marilyn McCrum were the representatives of the Smiley 4-H club employed at the Bjorkman Clothing store in Thief River Falls Saturday. They helped to earn a neat number of sheckels for the club's treasury. The Smiley Club sincerely thanks the Bjorkmans for the opportunity.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stenseth were hosts to a whist party at the L. O. Stenseth home Friday evening. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Leader, Mrs. Julia Fuller, Art Stenseth, John, Louie and Maurice Stenseth.

Mrs. Rudolph Hanson, a local woman, and her pupils in the Meadowlark school in Kratka were also busily preparing for the Christmas program they had last Saturday evening.

Sunday evening guests at the Andrew Kisch home were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kees, Vivian and Laverne. The Kees family recently moved from Drayton, N. D. to the former C. M. Hoverstad farm. Other guests at the Kisch home were Mr. and Mrs. D. Carlson of Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnson and Gloria were Sunday supper guests at the George Erickson home in Thief River Falls.

Bruce McCrum arrived by air Sunday from the Navy Air force base in Norma, Oklahoma. He was accompanied here by Wally Heston of Steiner who is also stationed at the same base. The boys will be home for almost two weeks.

Jean Nelson of Concordia college in Moorhead is vacationing at the home of her parents, the Norton Nelson's during the Holidays.

Duane Hanson returned home last week. He has received his honorable discharge from the U. S. Army at Camp Rucker, Ala. He will spend an indefinite time with his parents, the Rudolph Hansons.

A young "hen party" was enjoyed Saturday evening by several local girls at the Jim McCrum home. Popcorn and fudge making, carol singing and games were the diversions of the evening. The young misses were Patricia Torkelson, Gail Peterson, Betty and Carol Rude, Shirley and Phyllis Beiswenger, and Marilyn McCrum.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grundhaus and children were Sunday dinner guests at the Mark Olson home.

An ideal skating rink is to be found on the river below the Walter Lendobeja residence. Several good hockey games have been held there and a lot of fun in the process of skating too.

Sunday evening visitors at the Jim McCrum home were Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Culkins and Rand of Hazel.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

1953 March of Dimes Starts in City Monday

40 Solicitors to Cover Business District after Kickoff Breakfast at 8

The 1953 March of Dimes in Pennington county, already in progress in the rural areas under the supervision of Mrs. Adam Lendobeja, will open in the Thief River Falls business district next Monday, January 5, following a kickoff breakfast at 8 a. m. for 40 solicitors in the Rex Cafe, it was announced today by F. A. Berge, county chairman of the fund raising drive, and Steve Austin, director of the campaign in this city.

Another feature of the month-long campaign will be the Mothers March on Polio to be conducted in the residence districts of the city Thursday evening, January 29, under the joint direction of Mrs. Orris Johnson and Mrs. Elmer Zachar, with Mrs. W. G. Claffy as advisor.

The radio polio show broadcast from the city Auditorium, a feature of the drive for some years past, also will be staged late in January, a definite date to be announced later.

Alvin Christofferson is serving as publicity director for the polio campaign in Pennington county, and is also serving eight other chapters in northwest counties in an advisory capacity.

"Minnesota has experienced polio in what is generally considered epidemic proportions in four of the past seven years, striking more than ten thousand state residents," said Christofferson. "During the 1952 national epidemic, only one state —Texas—had a greater number of polio cases than Minnesota.

"This high incidence not only has taxed the facilities of hospitals and treatment centers, but has produced staggering costs. These costs, for the most part, have been borne by the March of Dimes. And Minnesota chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which administer March of Dimes funds, have gone more heavily in debt each year.

"Hospitalization costs have more than doubled in the past six years. The polio case rate in Minnesota during 1952 reached an all-time high. Costs of nursing, emergency equipment and its shipment have soared. All of these factors have combined to place the March of Dimes in Minnesota in severe financial trouble."

Christmas Seal Reminder Issued

Money Still Coming In, Chairman Kjos Reports

"One of the best Christmas Seal drives we've ever had in Pennington county," the Christmas Seal committee announced this week. "People all over the county sent in their donations in a heartwarming showing of support for the fight against tuberculosis."

Money is still coming in, Herman A. Kjos, committee chairman, declared. In the rush of Christmas buying and giving, many people forget to mail in their donations. The money is still welcome and needed, he added.

"From the looks of things, people used their Christmas Seals, too. That's just as important as buying them!" said Kjos.

He stressed the fact that 94 cents out of every dollar collected for seals stays right in the state to work for TB control, and more than half of that is used for the county health programs.

New Years Wake at Zion Church

A pantomime by Senior Luther Leaguers will feature a program to be presented at a New Years Eve wake this evening (Wednesday) at 8 o'clock in the Zion Lutheran church hall. The skit was prepared by students at Augsburg college. Recreation and lunch will follow, and at 11:30 the group will hold a brief devotional service to welcome in the new year.

900 Pennington Co. People Get Help from Welfare Board in '52

About 900 Pennington County persons received some type of service from the welfare board in 1952—most of them finanicial aid, it was announced this week by John X. Lynskey, executive secretary.

A breakdown of this total shows old age assistance led the list with 354 old people receiving OAA during the year. Aid to dependent children grants were paid to 75 mothers and 221 children. Under child welfare services, 91 families received service for reasons of dependency, neglect, mental deficiency, or illegitimacy. Twenty-seven aid to the blind grants, seven war veterans' relief, and over 100 miscellaneous service cases and cases living here from other counties make up the rest of the total.

Total expenditures supervised by the welfare board were $350,848.91. Of this total, $315,732.91 was disbursed by the county treasurer, the balance being issued directly from St. Paul on the order of the welfare board, or else issued by the board itself through its social welfare fund.

Details of expenditures list $213,807.69 old age assistance, $68,912.19 aid to dependent children, $15,464.32 poor fund, $17,448.71 administration, $25,320 aid to the blind, $4,896.00 war veterans' relief, and $5,000 social welfare fund.

Heads [illegible] & C Committees Listed by Ihle

Plans Being Made for Annual Meeting to Be Held Wednesday, Jan. 14

In preparation for the annual meeting of the Civic and Commerce association, scheduled for Wednesday evening, January 14, in the Eagles auditorium, L. A. Ihle, incoming president, this week announced the appointment of chairmen of the various standing committees.

With the objective of getting members signed up early in the new year, preliminary work already has been done by the membership committee, headed by Elmer Bratach as chairman, and also including Lucian Krause, E. B. Benson and Hugh Carlson.

Chairmen of other committees include Frank E. Tunberg, budget; Dr. M. D. Starekow, civic development; Bill LaFave, roads; Leonard Goulet, attendance; Wallace Tunberg, aeronautics; Alvin Holzknecht, industrial.

Other committee heads include Stan Mortenson, governmental affairs; Ray Mitteness, agriculture; Alvin Christofferson, conventions; Don Olson, public relations; Ward Nichols, tourist trade; and Morris Howick, area trade; and Miss JoAnne Wedul, social relations.

Peter E. Kvikstad, Marshall County Treasurer, Dies

Father of Local Man Had Served as County Official for 22 Years

Peter E. Kvikstad, 78, Marshall county treasurer for 22 years, died Saturday night at a hospital in Warren of a heart attack.

He had been ill for a month and in the hospital but had gone home to spend Christmas with his family. While at home he suffered a heart attack and was returned to the hospital.

Mr. Kvikstad was born in Norway May 7, 1874. When he was 19 years old he came to the United States and settled at Argyle, where he was a bookkeeper for Olson & Holen and later a partner in the Argyle Mercantile Co. for many years.

He was married July 23, 1902, at Crookston. In 1930 he was elected county treasurer and was returned to office at every county election since.

Survivors are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. J. E. Kurowski, Fargo, and Mrs. Albert Hanson, Warren, and two sons, Victor Kvikstad, Thief River Falls and Elmer Kvikstad, Spokane.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. at Our Saviour's Lutheran church in Warren with Rev. S. L. Tallakson officiating. Burial will be made in Greenwood cemetery in Warren.

Revenue Agents Stationed in City Most of January

Internal Revenue Agents E. T. Anglim and Roy H. Brown of the Thief River Falls zone office will be at the municipal Auditorium in Thief River Falls from January 2 through 13 (except Saturdays and Sundays), January 19, and January 26, through 30, 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m., to assist taxpayers with the filing of current federal income tax returns.

REV. MILTON W. NESSE NOW AT EVERETT, WASHINGTON

Rev. Milton W. Nesse, recently of Aberdeen, Washington, has taken over the pastorate of Our Saviors congregation at Everett, Washington. He is the son of Mrs. J. N. Nesse, formerly of Thief River Falls, and the late Dr. Nesse.

Farm Partnership Agreements Topic of Meeting Jan. 13

Agricultural Outlook for '53 to Be Discussed by U. Farm Authority

Farm partnerships and rental agreements will be the topic discussed at an open meeting to be held in the Civic and Commerce rooms in Thief River Falls on Tuesday, January 13th, at 1:30 p. m. S. B. Cleland, extension economist of University of Minnesota, will lead the discussion. On the same program D. C. Dvoracek will discuss the agricultural outlook for 1953.

Because of the large capital requirements to start farming most young farmers beginning have to start on a partnership basis. Satisfactory agreements with both parties are very necessary if the venture is to be successful. Mr. Cleland will point out some of the important parts in such agreements.

All interested farmers are invited to attend and especially those who are or contemplate operating on a partnership basis in the future. This topic should be of special interest to the younger farmers who will be renting or operating on a family partnership basis, said County Agent Ray Mitteness.

Several Enlist in Army & Air Corps

December Enlistments Announced by Fordyce

Numerous young men of this vicinity have enlisted recently in the U. S. Army and Air Force, Sgt. Gordon Fordyce, recruiting officer here, announced this week.

Joining the Air Force in December were Wayne Thortsen, Thief River Falls; Alfred Kilen, Gatzke; Orvis Olson and Clifford Naslund, Roseau; Leslie Nordhaugen, Noyes; and Gordon Hanson, Gary Johnson and Dorance Mattson, Warroad.

Enlisting in the Army were Duane Vatnsaa, Russell Rux and Mark Belland, all of Thief River Falls; Floyd Fredrickson, Plummer; and Patrick McGlynn, Stephen.

Trinity Services on New Years Eve

Trinity Lutheran church will observe New Years Eve with a party in the youth rooms in the parish education building at 9 o'clock, followed at 11:30 by a short service in the church the Rev. G. S. Thompson, pastor, announced. Services also will be held Thursday, New Year's Day, at 10:30 a. m.

'53 Session of Legislature to Convene Jan. 6

Acute Money Problems to Face State Solons During Coming Session

The 1953 session of the Minnesota legislature will convene Tuesday, January 6. Limited to 90 working days, the session probably will follow the usual pattern, getting off to a slow start and with a gradually increasing production leading to a bulge of business for the closing days.

Higher costs will mean demands for increased appropriations. The problem of finding more dollars to pay the higher costs will be a more difficult one than in other recent sessions because the state will start the new year on July 1 with a substantially reduced balance in the general revenue fund. This will mean that an additional approximately 10 million dollars will have to be found merely to maintain expenditures at their present level.

This problem of financing the state's many services will give strength to the efforts of those who will try to effect savings through a reorganization of state government. The "Little Hoover" report submitted to the last session is a comprehensive study of our state government and recommends many changes. The more difficult financial problem will assure more careful consideration of these recommendations.

An interim sub-committee has made a study of the "Little Hoover" report with the view of preparing bills to achieve its purposes. Some of the proposals are highly controversial and it is not likely that all of them will be followed. On many of them however there is favorable agreement and it is quite certain that some of them will be adopted.

School officials at all levels are asking for big increases in appropriations. An increase from $70 to $100 per pupil unit in basic aid for elementary and secondary schools is being requested. The teachers colleges and the University are seeking substantially higher appropriations.

Boy Riding Bike Is Struck by Car

While riding his bicycle across East Third st. near Gay's Cafe, Sunday, Robert Lawson, 13, son of Reuben Lawson, was struck by a car driven by Richard Davidson, who, police reported, was traveling west at about 15 miles per hour. The boy, apparently unhurt, was taken by Davidson to a hospital for a checkup.

Postoffice Holiday Volume Sets No New High Mark This Year

The only record broken at the Thief River Falls postoffice during the holiday rush the last two weeks before Christmas was in the volume of outgoing first class mail, which increased slightly from 227,404 in 1951 to 228,970 this year.

Postmaster R. J. Dryden reported that a total of 2,376 sacks of mail was received this year from December 10 to 24, a drop of 319 from the 2,695 received a year ago. During the same period 2,390 sacks were dispatched from this city, compared to 2,703 in 1951.

A notable decline in number of parcels shipped was recorded, the total dropping from 11,425 in 1951 to 8,695 this year, or a slump of 2,730. Metered postage on fourth class parcels shipped during the two weeks this year totaled $2,789.50 compared to 2,907.78 in 1951. The number of insured parcels also declined from 2,873 in 1951 to 1,985 this year.

All incoming holiday mail was delivered in advance of Christmas Day, Dryden reported, and it was not necessary to make any deliveries on the holiday. During the rush period six extra workers were employed.

Joins Co. Board

CARL R. ANDERSON

Of Polk Centre township, who next Tuesday, January 6, will assume a post on the Pennington county board as commissioner from the Third district, succeeding Paul Roy. Elected to the post November 4, Anderson served for some years as chairman of the county AAA organization, and has been active in DFL party affairs.

Rotary Is Host to College Students

30 Young People Guests at Luncheon Monday Noon

In accordance with a time-honored custom, local Rotarians were hosts at their luncheon meeting in the Elks club rooms Monday noon to 30 students home from various colleges and army institutions for the holiday season.

Among the guest speakers were Hans Wendt and Torvig Olafson of Norway, who are jet pilot trainees at a camp in Texas, along with Maynard Wedul, with whom they are visiting here.

Other speakers were Don Baken of Concordia college, Moorhead; Jerry Claffy, North Dakota Agricultural college, Fargo; Robert Botten, student at the U of M Law school; and Robert [illegible], University of North Dakota, Grand Forks.

Mrs. Lucile Hulbert and son Don spent Christmas at Moorhead with the former's mother and sister. They returned home Thursday evening.

Mercury Drops to —9 Last Friday

While the mercury dropped below the zero mark nearly every morning of the past week, hitting a low of —9 Friday, temperatures moderated in the afternoon, making for pleasant holiday weather. High marks were 23 on Christmas Day and again Tuesday afternoon. The only snow fall recorded during the week by Station KTRF was one-half inch Christmas night.

WELCOME ARRANGED FOR 1ST AIRLINE FLIGHT TO TRF JAN. 1

Visiting Officials to Be Greeted by Mayor at Airport Thursday at 10

Chet Matthews, station manager at the airport, was notified Tuesday by company headquarters that afternoon flights between Thief River Falls and Minneapolis will not start until next Monday, January 5, the run having been canceled until that date due to a temporary shortage of equipment.

Time required to transport passengers between Thief River Falls and Minneapolis will be shortened to two hours plus a few minutes on Thursday, New Year's Day, when a schedule of regular flights will be inaugurated by North Central Airlines.

The first plane, with a crew of three and space for 22 passengers, will leave Wold-Chamberlain Field in Minneapolis Thursday morning at 8 a. m. and will arrive at the Thief River Falls airport at 10:00, bearing a group of company officials and other passengers.

Included in the group, which will be welcomed at the airport by Mayor Harry E. Simons, Ward Nichols, retiring president of the Civic and Commerce association, and other local citizens, will be Frank Buttomer, vice president in charge of traffic and sales, and Mrs. Buttomer; Ozzie Byrns, director of flight services; David Keenan, district traffic representative; Les Schroeder, state commissioner of aeronautics, and Mrs. Schroeder; Ray Cleaveland, aviation chairman of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, and Walter F. Wieland of Brainerd, who aided in securing airline service to this city.

The visitors will be welcomed here by Nichols and Mayor Simons, following which W. E. Dahlquist will introduce Commr. Schroeder and Mr. Buttomer, who in turn, will present the captain and crew of the first flight.

The group will then drive into the city to enjoy lunch at 10:30 in the Elks club rooms, and, time permitting, the visitors will be taken on a short tour of the city before returning to the airport at 11:10.

Before leaving on the plane on its return trip to Minneapolis from Grand Forks and this city, Buttomer and Schroeder each will be presented by Ward Nichols with a 14-pound turkey and a five-pound jar of butter, and a cigaret lighter will be presented to each member of the crew of the plane.

In addition to passengers, the plane on its inaugural trip from Thief River Falls to Grand Forks and to Minneapolis will carry several thousand first-day covers, most of them sent here months ago by stamp collectors thruout the nation who specialize in first-flight cachets.

Chet Mathews, station manager at the local airport, said Tuesday that all preparations have been made for the start of air service. Instruments for plane-to-ground communication have been installed, as well as a teletype system and other necessary accessories.

Leaving here at about 11:20 a. m., the morning plane will arrive in Minneapolis at 1:24. An afternoon plane will leave Minneapolis at 2:30, arriving in this city at 4:39. Due to the fact that landing lights have not yet been installed at the airport, the afternoon plane will bypass this city on its return flight from Grand Forks to Minneapolis.

Plans Ready for Air Mail Service to City

Willis F. Brothers of St. Paul, superintendent-at-large of the postal transportation service, arrived in Thief River Falls Tuesday to complete arrangements for the inauguration of air mail service January 1 via North Central Airlines.

Brothers also supervised the preparation for mailing of hundreds of first-day covers which had been sent to the postoffice here to have a special cachet affixed, denoting the start of air mail service to this city.

Under the arrangements made, it will be necessary for mail to be in the postoffice by 9:30 a. m. in order to be mailed on the morning plane. To be forwarded on the afternoon plane, which will not start operating until January 5, it will be necessary to deposit air mail at the postoffice by 4 p. m.

Brothers stated that mail deposited here at 4 o'clock will reach Chicago at 3:04 a. m., New York City at 5:44 a. m. and Los Angeles 4:35 a. m. the following morning.

1952 Fire Losses Aggregate $2,775, Langevin Reports

Firemen Responded to 70 Alarms During Year, 20 from Outside City

On the basis of figures for the current year up to December 29, fire losses for 1952 in Thief River Falls aggregate only $2,775, the lowest total for the past four years, Fire Chief Roy Langevin reported Monday.

During the year, Langevin's records show, the fire department responded to a total of 70 calls, of which no less than 20 were turned in from outside the city limits.

Heaviest loss of about $1,000 was incurred by the Mostue Flower Shop in a blaze in the basement of the shop on East Second st. Smaller losses were sustained by Clayton's Texaco station, the James Anderson and Mike Welch dwellings, and a truck belonging to Delman Cote.

In 1951, the department responded to 54 alarms, with losses totaling $104,000, while in 1950 losses aggregated $13,200, 1949, $2,500, and 1948, $20,100.

83d Congress Opens Session Next Saturday

Republicans to Control Both House and Senate by Narrow Majorities

Calls have gone out to Republican and Democratic members of the new Congress to meet in Washington, D. C. next Friday and choose their leaders.

The 83rd Congress convenes at noon EST on the following day, Jan. 3.

In addition to organizing the House and Senate, the victorious Republicans will parcel out hundreds of political patronage jobs and the Democrats will fight over what's left.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio is expected to be named majority leader of the Senate by the Republicans. Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire is the likely choice for temporary president, and Sen. William Knowland of California is slated for Taft's former place as chairman of the GOP Policy committee.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts is expected to continue as whip, or assistant floor leader.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic whip last session, is expected to become his party's floor leader, with votes pledged from 39 of the 47 Democrats.

Sen. Earle C. Clements of Kentucky is being mentioned for Democratic whip.

Apparently neither side sent notice of the organization meetings to Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who bolted Republican ranks to become an independent and support Gov. Adlai Stevenson in the presidential campaign. Morse has announced he will vote with the Republicans to organize the Senate. The choices made by the GOP caucus are unofficial and are subject to a formal vote of the Senate when it convenes. The Republicans have 48 Senate seats, not counting Morse, and the Democrats 47.

No serious battles are expected in either Senate camp over organization although a furious scramble is underway, especially among new senators, for key committee assignments.

In the House, the lineup is 221 Republicans to 211 Democrats and one independent. There are two Democratic vacancies.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana is unopposed for Republican floor leader, as is Speaker Sam Rayburn for the Democrats.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts will replace Rayburn as speaker.

Ivadell Taggart Becomes Bride in Home Wedding

Ivadell Taggart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Taggart of Thief River Falls, and Bob Myhrer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thorvald Myhrer, also of this city, exchanged nuptial vows in a ceremony at the home of the brides' parents at four o'clock Saturday, December 20. The double ring service was read by Rev. Wesley Lindblom before an improvised altar decorated with white, yellow, and green streamers and graced with yellow 'mums and ferns. The wedding guests included the immediate relatives of the couple.

Mrs. Wesley Lindblom, pianist, provided the accompaniment for Mrs. Charles Taggart, aunt of the bride, as she sang "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony. As the couple knelt, Al Ahlquist sang "A Wedding Prayer," and, after the exchange of vows Lois, Dorothy, and Marilyn Taggart sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd."

The traditional Wedding March from Lohengrin was played as the bride, escorted by her father, proceeded to the altar. She wore a gown of white bridal satin, designed with fitted bodice, net tulle yoke edged in corded bands of satin, long fitted Mary Stuart sleeves, overskirt draped on sides and edged in wide Chantilly lace cut en train. She wore a fingertip veil edged with lace and carried a white Bible with white carnations and red roses. Her jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift from the groom.

Dorothy Taggart attended her sister as maid of honor and Lois Taggart, also a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Their gowns were of brocaded nylon over taffeta in pink and blue, respectively, and they carried colonial bouquets of pink roses encircled with white 'mums. Their rhinestone necklaces were gifts from the bride. Donald Johnson of Thief River Falls was best man and Donald Myhrer, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

The mother of the bride was attired in a dark gray two-piece dress and the groom's mother wore a navy blue figured dress, each costume complemented with a corsage of pink roses and white carnations.

Approximately 50 guests were entertained at a wedding dinner given by the bride's parents at six o'clock. The dining room was decorated with yellow, white, and green streamers and white wedding bells. Bouquets of yellow 'mums and ferns centered the serving tables and the bridal table held a three tiered wedding cake topped with white wedding bells. Waitresses were Marilyn Taggart, Beatrice Hallin, and Marlene Myhrer. Sylvia Johnson, cousin of the bride, registered the guests. Mrs. Albin Ranstrom, aunt of the bride, cut the wedding cake. At the close of the reception, Al Ahlquist sang "Together With Jesus."

Following a trip to Detroit Lakes and Sioux Falls, S. D., the newlyweds have returned to be with relatives here, until the groom returns to his army duties. He will report to Camp Stoneman January 7 en route to Tokyo. The bride will continue her work as cashier at the local J. C. Penney store.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taggart and Gordon, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Taggart of Sioux Falls, S. D.; and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hallin and family of Alvarado.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Moe Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Caster Moe celebrated their silver wedding anniversary with open house at their farm home Sunday, December 28. About 80 relatives and friends called during the afternoon and evening to extend congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Moe were married Dec. 28, 1927, at Bradley, South Dakota.

The home was beautifully decorated with white wedding bells above the dining room table, pink and white streamer, and silver bells. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a silver wreath and the number "25" served as a centerpiece for the serving table. Mrs. Vernon Malberg and Mrs. Alfred Solem were in charge of arrangements.

Eldon Moe presented his mother with a corsage made up of pink roses and white carnations combined with silver bells tied with silver ribbon, and his father with a white carnation boutonniere. Arleen Malberg had charge of the guest book.

A short program was given including an accordian selection and song "Whispering Hope" by Eldon Moe and Arnold Johnson; talk by Rev. Carl F. Johnson; solo "I Love You Truly" by Muriel Copp; piano selection by Stuart Solem; two duet numbers "Saviour Like A Shepherd Lead Us" and "Silent Night" by Mr. and Mrs. Eino Johnson.

The lunch, consisting of sandwiches, cookies, fruit salad, and six decorated angel food cakes, was brought and served by neighbors and friends. Mrs. Victor Anderson poured.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hanson, Lorraine and Jackie, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Burns and Mrs. William Moe, all of Grafton, N. Dak.

Shirlee Mattson, Marlow Davidson Wed at Moorhead

Bethesda Lutheran Church at Moorhead was the scene of the wedding of Miss Shirlee Mattson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Mattson of Comstock, Minn., and Marlow Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Davidson of Thief River Falls, at eight o'clock Monday evening, December 22. Holly and candelabra provided a beautiful Christmas setting for the double ring ceremony which was performed by Rev. Robert Hawkinson in the presence of 200 wedding guests.

Mrs. Ray Wildefang of Moorhead played a program of organ music as the guests were seated in pews marked with candles and greenery. Preceding the ceremony Miss Dorothy Larson of Hannaford, N. D. was at the piano, playing several Christmas carols, and also the accompaniment for Beverly Brakke, bridesmaid, who sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" and Dale Johnson, groomsman, who sang "The Lord is My Shepherd."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin cut entrain, with lace trim around low cut neckline and long Mary Stuart sleeves. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a lace half Juliet trimmed with pearls and she carried a white satin muff adorned with red poinsettia and streamers.

Mrs. R. C. Nord of Wolverton, Minnesota, a friend of the bride, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Beverly Brakke of Moorhead and Arleen Monson of Ada. Emmy Lou Dahlstrom was junior bridesmaid. The attendants of the bride wore identical floor length gowns of green iridescent taffeta, designed with fitted bodice and full puffed elbow length sleeves, complemented by matching headdresses and muffs trimmed with poinsettia and streamers.

Best man was Richard Davidson of Minneapolis, brother of the groom, and the groom's other attendants were Dale Johnson of Parkers Prairie and Myron Olson of Moorhead. Noel and Lee Kjesbo of Comstock, nephews of the bride, dressed in miniature tuxedos, served as ring bearers, carrying the rings in Christmas wreaths.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Mattson wore a deep purple dress with pink accessories and the mother of the groom was attired in pink wool with navy accessories. Each had a corsage of pink carnations in holly.

The reception which followed the ceremony was given by the parents of the bride in the church parlors. Greens, holly, and candles decorated the bridal and serving tables and the wedding cake was topped with a miniature Christmas tree surrounded by tiny gifts of groomscake. Mrs. Richard Davidson had charge of the guest book and the gift table was arranged by Mrs. Gaugler and Mrs. Stenson, sisters of the bride.

For their wedding trip to southern Minnesota the bride wore a pink knit dress with pink and black accessories. The groom is a student at Concordia College, and the new Mrs. Davidson is teaching at Sauk Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Olson and daughter Lynette of Badger are spending their vacation at the home of Mrs. Olson's mother, Mrs. E. J. Effinger.

Kathryn O'Hara and William A. Carriere Married

In a beautiful and impressive ceremony at St. Bernard's Church at ten o'clock Saturday morning, December 27, Miss Kathryn Lois O'Hara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald S. O'Hara of Thief River Falls, and William A. Carriere, son of Mrs. Steve Carriere of Gladstone, Michigan, were united in marriage. Rev. Keough Patnode performed the double ring ceremony.

Organ music was provided by Miss Marjorie Havel and the church choir was directed by Leona Thompson. The bride given in marriage by her father wore a dress of white pleated nylon tulle over acetate satin, with lace trimmed bodice and peacock train, over which was worn a lace jacket with satin cummerbund. She carried a star-shaped bouquet of gardenias, roses, carnations and holly tied with white satin streamers to which silver balls were attached.

Maid of honor was the brides' sister, Mrs. Grover Stephens, who wore a dress of blue faille with matching lace jacket. The bridesmaids, Jeanne DeHaaghe of Gladstone, Jeanne Bohendrier of Minneapolis, Mrs. Thomas Hall and Lois O'Hara of Thief River Falls, wore identical gowns, the two former in rose and the two latter in green. They carried candle corsages of holly, roses, stephanotis, and Christmas balls. Flower girls Barbara and Teri Ann Stephens wore identical blue nylon gowns of nylon net over taffeta and carried baskets of holly, pink carnations, and silver Christmas bells.

Clarence Carriere of Gladstone attended his brother as best man, and the groomsmen were Stan Cockrell and Richard O'Hara. James Anderson and Robert DuChamp served as ushers.

For the wedding of her daughter Mrs. O'Hara wore a bittersweet suit dress with brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The mother of the groom wore a navy dress and her corsage was made up of red and white carnations.

The guests were served a wedding breakfast of pancakes and sausages in the church parlors following the ceremony. As the couple left on their wedding trip to Florida, the bride was wearing a light brown suit, brown velvet hat, and matching shoes and gloves. For her corsage she wore a white gardenia from her bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Carriere will return here about February 1 and will leave in March for Gladstone, Michigan, where the groom is employed by M. A. Hanna Co. Prior to her marriage, the bride was employed as bookkeeper at the Northern Chevrolet Co. of this city.

The out of town guests included Mrs. Steve Carriere, Clarence Carriere, Mrs. Ernest DeHaaghe and daughter Jeanne of Gladstone, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ranum and son of Warren; and Miss LaVerne Carriere of Detroit, Mich.

Cynthia Hanske, Pfc. J. Erickson Wed at Lucan

Miss Cynthia Hanske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hanske of Lucan, Minn., became the bride of Pfc. John A. Erickson, son of Mr and Mrs. J. A. Erickson of Bemidji, Minn. formerly of Thief River Falls, at 5 o'clock, Sunday, Dec. 21 at the home of the bride's parents. The double ring service was read by Rev. Maurice Molvik of Milroy, Minnesota.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a royal blue velvet suit, white satin hat and gloves and blue shoes. Johanna Hill roses and white carnations made up the bridal corsage.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kollander of St. Paul, friends of the bride and groom. Mrs. Kollander wore a pale blue dress of rayon faille with accessories of cinnamon brown. Her corsage was of red roses and pink carnations.

The mothers of the couple were both attired in dresses of navy blue. Their corsages were of mixed flowers.

A buffet luncheon was served to the immediate families and close friends, following the ceremony.

At present Pfc. Erickson is stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va., with the Army Engineers. Mrs. Erickson is employed at the Northern Pacific hospital in St. Paul. Following a trip to the North Shore Drive, Pfc. Erickson will return to Fort Belvoir and Mrs. Erickson will return to her present position at Northwestern Pacific Hospital.

Vows Exchanged By Verna Sollom, Clyde Christensen

Before an altar lighted with candelabra and banked with Christmas greenery, marriage vows were exchanged at seven-thirty o'clock Saturday evening, December 20, by Miss Verna Sollom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. T. Sollom of Newfolden and Clyde C. Christensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldie Christensen of Thief River Falls. The double ring ceremony took place at the Evangelical Free Church at Newfolden, with Rev. E. J. Vick officiating.

Miss Naomi Jensen was at the piano for the nuptial prelude and provided the accompaniment for Elwood Sollom as he sang "Because" and Elvida Sollom who sang "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Them" and "Together With Jesus."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar wearing a gown of white satin, with long sleeves and full length train. Her court length veil was arranged from a bonnet of lace and she carried a bouquet of pink tea roses with a white candle which was lighted by the groom's attendant immediately after the exchange of vows.

Mrs. Harold Vaathauer of Plummer, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Ivadell Christensen, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. They wore gowns of lilac and green, respectively, and carried muffs of winter white velvet with corsages of carnations and holly from which fell garlands of holly to which tiny Christmas bells had been attached. Janice Tuura of Middle River, wearing a gold formal, and Lynette Langlie of Thief River Falls, gowned in green, served as flower girls. Each had a muff similar to those of the bridesmaids.

Attending the groom was Arlyn Sollom, brother of the bride, as best man, and Wallace Reierson. Ushers were Elwood and Adrian Sollom, brothers of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a gray suit and the mother of the groom wore a navy dress, each with a corsage of red tea roses, white feathered carnations, and Christmas balls.

A reception in the church parlors was given by the bride's parents for 150 guests. The decorations were in keeping with the Christmas theme.

The groom is engaged in farming near Thief River Falls where the newlyweds are making their home.

Former Thief River Falls Man Married Dec. 27

The marriage of Florence May Cadwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Ralph Cadwell, Springfield, Ill., and Dr. Donald Myhren Larson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Myhren Larson of Minneapolis, formerly of Thief River Falls, took place Saturday afternoon, December 27, in the Thorndike Hilton Chapel, Chicago.

A reception followed at The Cloisters adjoining the chapel. Mrs. Edgar A. Carpenter, Seattle, Wash., sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Isabel Aigner and Marian Vandenberg, both of Chicago.

Dr Roger Clarence Larson, Washington, was his brother's best man. Clarence Myhren Larson, Jr., another brother ushered.

Dr. and Mrs. Larson will make their home at 3146 W. Calhoun boulevard after Jan. 15 following a wedding trip to northern Wisconsin.

Dr. and Mrs. Larson, parents of the groom, entertained at a rehearsal dinner at the Lake Shore club, Chicago, on Friday evening.

The bride attended the University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill., and is a graduate of the Wesley Memorial Hospital school of Nursing, Chicago. The groom is a graduate of the University of Minnesota medical school and interned at Mercy hospital, Chicago. He completed his residency training at Lewis Memorial Maternity hospital, Chicago.

On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Stanina had as their supper guests Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Rux and Duane, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Rux and Allen and Norman Tunheim, all of Thief River Falls.

Marriage Vows Exchanged at Hatton Dec. 20

In a double ring candlelight ceremony performed at Washington Prairie Lutheran Church at Hatton, N. D. Saturday, December 20, Miss Edna Rydland, daughter of Mrs. Emma Rydland of Hatton, became the bride of Wendell Corbet, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Corbet of St. Hilaire. Rev. A. E. Setnes officiated. Christmas trees, holly, and lighted tapers in candelabra banked the altar with tulle bows, holly, and candles marking the bridal aisle.

A half hour program of organ music was played before the ceremony by Mrs. H. G. Wambheim, who also played "Largo" as the processional and "Mendelsohn's Wedding March" as the recessional. Before the service, Idella Rydland, sister of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love" and Olive Rydland, cousin of the bride, sang "Through The Years." Following the exchange of vows Miss Rydland sang "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her brother, Carrol Rydland, the bride wore a strapless ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace, princess style, over which was worn a tiny scalloped jacket styled with Peter Pan collar and Mary Stuart sleeves. Her shoulder length veil of silk illusion was held in place by a cap of matching lace trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. She carried a white satin muff with holly, red carnations, and white satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of the groom.

Idella Rydland, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Emil Heyme and Adeline Nogowski, both of Fargo. Their identically styled gowns were of red taffeta, ballerina length. They wore headbands of holly and rhinestones and carried white satin muffs with sprays of holly and white satin streamers. Their rhinestone chokers were gifts from the bride.

Judy Brandon as flower girl wore a green taffeta ballerina length dress and a rhinestone choker, gift of the bride. She carried a basket filled with red carnations and holly. Ringbearer David Quandt of Fargo carried the rings on a white satin pillow. Evert Corbet of St. Hilaire attended his brother as best man and the ushers were Emil Heysae of Fargo and Carleton Waldahl of Minneapolis.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue lace and crepe dress with navy and winter white accessories. The mother of the groom wore a cocoa brown crepe dress trimmed in aqua with black accessories. Their corsages were made up of white carnations. Mrs. H. R. Allen, the groom's grandmother, wore navy blue crepe with a corsage of red and white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors which had been decorated with holly and lighted tapers. Mrs. Ernest Brandon was in charge of the dining room, assisted by waitresses Eldora Hanson, Constance Haus, Jeanette Dorn, Marion Knutson, Ruth Offerdahl, and Mrs. Orvis Bjerke. The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs Gilbert Renaland of Buxton and Mrs. Marvin Rydland of Hatton. Mrs. Clarence Monson of Hatton poured. Mrs. Erwin Mueller had charge of the guest book and the gift table was arranged by Mrs. Warren Nienas of Thompson and Corraine Knutson of Fargo. Mrs. Ernest Brandon decorated the church and the church parlors.

For the wedding trip to Winnipeg Mrs. Corbet wore a gold knit dress with brown accessories. After their return they will make their home at 1120 4th Av. So., Moorhead.

Following her graduation from the Hatton High School, the bride attended Interstate Business College at Fargo and is now employed by International Harvester of that city. Mr. Corbet is a graduate of Lincoln High School, Thief River Falls. He is a veteran of World War II and is now employed by the Cocoa-Cola Bottling Company at Moorhead.

Those from St. Hilaire who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Corbet, Sr, Evert and Roger, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Allen, Basil Almquist, Mrs. Irving McKercher, Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Bowman, and Alyce Allerson. Other out of town guests included Birdell Rondorf and Roy Landman of Thief River Falls.

The out of town guests were Bonnie Laundry of Red Lake Falls and Mrs Vic Stover of Crookston.

Glenn Teigland Claims Bride in Sidney, Nebraska

In a double ring ceremony performed Sunday afternoon, December 14, in the Assembly of God church in Sidney, Nebr., Miss Donna Zielke became the bride of Glenn B. Teigland. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Zielke of Corn, Oklahoma, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Teigland of Grygla. The Rev. Clinton Thompson officiated and the nuptial music was played by Mrs Harry Stevens. She also accompanied Mrs. Tom Star who sang "Submission" and "Always." Mrs. Neal Skeneman sang "The Wedding Prayer" while the couple knelt.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white bridal satin trimmed with lace at the neck and waist and with tiny satin buttons down the back. The sleeves came to a point at the wrist and the full skirt fell in a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was fastened to a crown of flowers and was edged with lace. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses fastened on a White Bible from which white streamers fell.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Claude Wagner, sister of the bride, who wore a gown of aqua taffeta with net on the skirt.

Bridesmaid was Esther Zielke, sister of the bride, who wore a pink gown, identical to that of the matron of honor. Attending the groom were Glenn Poppenhagen of Goodridge and Claude Wagner.

Diane Tallmadge was flower girl and wore a white gown with a blue veil. The ring bearer was Lonnie Abbott. Ushers were William Nelson, Jr., and Donald Reid.

The Misses Mable Wagner and Mary Lou Johnson were the candlelighters. They wore gowns of blue and pale pink, and also had wrist corsages.

Mr. and Mrs. Zielke entertained at a reception in the City Auditorium following the ceremony. After the first piece of the three tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride and bridegroom the Misses Anna Owen and Ruth Dewey served. Assisting them were Mrs. Betty Gregory, Mrs. Marie Kaer and Mrs. Audra Abbott.

The couple left on a brief honeymoon in Minnesota, after which they will make their home in Sidney. For her going-away outfit the bride chose a brown plaid dress with a corsage from her bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Corn High School and formerly worked for the Washita County Enterprise in Corn. She is now employed at the Sioux Ordnance Depot at Sidney.

The bridegroom was recently released from the Army after serving two years.

Aaseby Showing 1953 Hudson Line

Hudson Hornet Features Three Series of Models

Aaseby's Garage is now showing the Hudson line of 1953 cars—three series which include the Hudson Hornet, and two lower-priced running mates, the Hudson Super Wasp and the Hudson Wasp. All have new interior styling, Hudson's exclusive "step-down" design and Monobilt body-and-frame for greater safety and durability.

Powered by Hudson's high-compression, L-head engines with advanced Power-Dome cylinder heads, the new Hudsons deliver peak performance under all driving conditions.

Leading the 1953 Hudson line is the Hudson Hornet, national stock car champion and winner of 45 races in strictly stock competition.

The Hudson Hornet has two lower priced running mates for 1953, a new Hudson Super Wasp and the Hudson Wasp.

The Hudson Super Wasp offers many of the Hornet's advantages and much of the Hornet's luxury in a lower-priced bracket.

Dinner guests at the Frank Tunberg home on Christmas Day were Olaf Olson, Mrs. Ross Larson, and Donna Christianson, all of Bagley; Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Jernberg of International Falls; and the Wallace Tunberg family of this city.

Services For Amund Morken Held at Carmel

Funeral services for Amund Morken, who passed away December 25 at a Thief River Falls hospital, were held at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church at Carmel, Rev. J. M. Erickson officiating. At the time of his death, Mr. Morken was 81 years of age. He had made his home with his nephews Henry and John Morken at Grygla for several years.

The deceased was born in Gulbrandsdalen, Norway, and, after coming to the United States, lived for a time in Clay County, moving to Beltrami county in 1910. He was a resident of the Grygla community up to the time of his death.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Anne Sweneng of Crookston and Mrs. A. N. Thompson of Moorhead. Other surviving relatives are his nephews, Henry and John Morken of Grygla, Alfred, Christian, Ingvold, Nelmer, Henry and Charles Nelson and four nieces Ella, Julia, Edna, and Nettie, all of the Hawley-Fargo area.

The remains were laid to rest in Our Saviour's cemetery at Carmel. Serving as pallbearers were Torges Johnson, Oliver P. Howland, Torges Homme, Knute Nesland, Elmer Newhouse, and Walter Jelle.

Final Rites For O. Guillemette Held at Plummer

Funeral services for Omer Guillemette of Plummer, a veteran of World War I, who passed away at a Red Lake Falls hospital on December 26, were held Monday morning at St. Vincent DePaul's Catholic Church at Plummer, with the Rev. Vincent Zarzecki officiating. Pallbearers were Joel Nelson, James Jackson, Nick Jaeger, Dick Delniel, Ed Greenwald, and John Hemstad, all members of the American Legion.

Omer Oliver Guillemette was born October 29, 1889 in Lake Pleasant township, Red Lake county. He lived for 25 years on a farm near Plummer and six years ago retired and moved to Plummer. His marriage to Myrtle Ellen Craft took place at Red Lake Falls November 3, 1922.

Those who survive are his wife Myrtle, employed at the Ace Hardware in Thief River Falls; one daughter Mrs. Jerome Larson of Plummer; and two sons, Allen of Red Lake Falls and Donald of Plummer. Also surviving are one grandchild, and three brothers, Ernest, Albert, and Elmer, all of Red Lake Falls. Three brothers and two sisters, as well as his parents, have preceded him in death.

HOW TO BE HAPPY

We'll let our good friend Ben Franklin take over with a happiness thought for the New Year. Thrifty Ben always has placed a lot of importance on wealth. Toward that end he thinks we should live well within our means and save a little as we go along. "It isn't easy for an empty bag to stand upright," he has observed.

As a good teacher Ben taught not only by precept but by example as well. By industry and thrift, and certainly by his own effort, he acquired a very substantial fortune. And having acquired this fortune he used it not only for his own ease and comfort but for the benefit of all mankind. So for what it is worth here is the advice of a wise old man who lived both long and well and apparently enjoyed great happiness.

> "There are two ways of being happy; we may either diminish our wants or augment our means—either will do—the result is the same; and it is for each man to decide for himself, and do that which happens to be the easiest.
> "If you are idle or sick or poor, however hard it may be to diminish your wants, it will be harder to augment your means.
> "If you are active and prosperous or young or in good health, it may be easier for you to augment your means than to diminish your wants.
>
> "But if you are wise, you will do both at the same time, young or old, rich or poor, sick or well; and if you are very wise you will do both in such a way as to augment the general happiness of society."

WELCOME NORTH CENTRAL

New Year's Day 1953 will go down into the records as a new years day of more than ordinary significance locally in that with it will come scheduled airline service. This will become an important addition to the facilities that are available in our city to the people of the large area in northwestern Minnesota that it serves. For more than 50,000 people it will be the nearest station in the national airline network. For much of this area it will make possible a faster mail and express service.

We are fortunate in that the company that is providing this new service is well established and has an excellent operating record. From a modest beginning it has become one of the outstanding organizations in the country in the class of service it offers. We are happy to welcome North Central Airlines to our city and express the hope that this will be one of the good points in their system.

DELL REPLACES MAGNEY

In the retirement from the Supreme Court of Justice C. R. Magney of Duluth, Minnesota loses the service of an able judge. This is another example of the unsoundness of our compulsory retirement law that arbitrarily sets the age of 70 as the limit of a man's fitness to serve in a judicial capacity. At the age of 70 Justice Magney is still a young man mentally. With the benefit of his long years of experience he probably is better qualified as a judge today than he was 20 years ago.

Roger Dell of Fergus Falls has been appointed to succeed him and this selection softens the loss of Magney's retirement. We like this appointment particularly as an answer to those who say good lawyers will not accept a judgeship at the present salary schedule. Roger Dell is recognized as one of the most capable lawyers of the state. He leaves a practice that has been exceptionally profitable. He is an excellent replacement for kindly, young Justice Magney.

WE ABDICATE

Having been requested by the voters of the district to leave town, the writer of this column has invited a group of citizens to provide editorial guidance in the community during his absence. This, too, is by popular demand, the reaction to a similar arrangement two years ago having been very favorable.

With one exception all who contributed as guest editors two years ago have consented to repeat. Father Patnode takes the place of Father Swanson and Dr. G. H. Mayer-Oakes is an addition to the list. The others, in the order in which they will take over, are, Rev. Walter Pedersen, John Lynskey, Robert Wurst, Katherine Barsen, H. O. Chommie, Dr. A. E. Jacobson, W. G. Claffy, L. W. Rulien, Rev. O. S. Thompson, Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, Rev. E. C. Mead, H. O. Berve and C. E. Halquist.

Courteous readers, we ask you that you be kind to them. The editorial column is an opinion column and they have been asked to express their opinions. They will express themselves on controversial questions we (we hope) and so all of you will not agree with what they say. We are sure we will not agree with all they say. That is as it should be. Whether their opinions are right or wrong is not the important thing. The important thing is there be expression of opinions and out of the ensuing arguments we may hope that a right answer will eventually be found.

And may we remind you that the columns of the Times are open to all of you for your opinions on matters of public interest. We are always glad to hear the details of your private fightin' and feudin' of course but we don't like to become involved in law suits. Remember the "public interest" angle. And keep them short, please.

And so we leave you with best wishes for a Happy New Year. We will be happy in the knowledge that you will have much good reading for several months of that new year.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

It was with a great deal of interest that I read your Editorial of December 24, 1952, entitled "Better Market Needed." Your deep interest in a successful future for dairying in this part of the state is most encouraging.

As a dairyman with intentions of building a new barn and acquiring a better and larger dairy herd, and also as a man having the privilege of helping to promote such a worthy industry as dairying in this section, I should like to make a few personal comments in regard to your editorial, and to the very noticeable interest developing in dairying in this section of the state.

Dairying, as I see it, is undergoing a revolutionary change in this area. There are several reasons for this: The opportunity given us to sell skim milk. The artificial breeding service that is available to the dairymen in this area, which will add greatly to the building up of better producing herds. The inception of Northwest Dairy Day has had no little effect in promoting better dairying in this area. Much credit must be given to the public support encouraging 4-H'ers in dairy projects, and to business men and leaders who, year after year, give of themselves to make Northwest Dairy Day bigger and better than ever.

If dairying is to survive we, as well as any other area of the nation, must place dairying higher on our list. What does this mean? It means that if our product is to be selected by the housewife the nation over, she must know, through advertising and experience, that it be of good quality whether it is cheese, butter, fluid milk, powdered milk, ice cream, or any other dairy product.

The dairymen who are willing to adhere to the regulations and make necessary adjustments so as to enable them to deliver top quality products to their creameries haven't too much to worry about. Might I say that in regards to the creameries of this area they are being brought up to date very rapidly. Many new creameries have been built; others have been remodeled. They are in shape to do a good job.

Now, in reference to an article in your recent editorial which reads as follows: "There is an awareness among our dairy farmers however that with less of their product going into butter and more of it being marketed as whole milk we are confronted with a new set of marketing problems. In this respect our corner of the state has not kept pace with southern Minnesota and Wisconsin. Along with our better production practices we need a more diversified market." I would like to say that I agree with the first part of this paragraph that we must find a market for milk, but I do not agree that this part of the state is as far behind as the article seems to indicate.

As you have already pointed out, there is an increasing demand for milk. What are the demands? The markets for fluid milk are in the large cities, and these markets are going to reach out only as fast as necessary to satisfy their demands. But there is a market developing very fast, as I have already pointed out — that of producing and processing skim milk powder and we should take advantage of anything new that might develop in the dairy industry which would be beneficial to this area.

In conclusion, I would like to say, that if each one of us, be he lawyer, banker, merchant, laborer, editor or farmer — could have a clearer understanding of the dairy industry in this area, (an area that has an abundance of good alfalfa hay and pastures, feed crops, and other factors necessary for a well-rounded out dairy program), the results then would be of unestimable financial value to all of us since we are all inter-dependent, one upon another.

Respectfully yours,
Art Stenberg

JAN. 3rd! First Showing of the
NEW FORD TRACTOR
Golden Jubilee MODEL

★ MOST ADVANCED Hydraulic System in any Tractor!
★ EXTRA POWER with New Overhead Valve Engine!

Yes, it goes on display Sat., Jan. 3rd, ready to show you what a really modern tractor can and should be. It's ready with extra power, extra size, extra weight. It's ready to demonstrate new handling ease, comfort and convenience.

It's ready also to introduce you to the most advanced hydraulic system in any tractor. We call it Live-Action Hydraulic Control. That means split-second hydraulic response any time the tractor engine is running. Then there's a choice of hydraulic speeds when you want even faster action. It is called Hy-Trol.

This new tractor is ready with its great new overhead valve Ford "Red Tiger" engine. With its greatly reduced piston travel, lessened friction and other advanced design features, this engine develops ample reserve power with new economy of gas and oil. But it would take a full hour to tell you of all the features and advantages of this new engine—let alone the rest of the tractor.

Most important of all, Ford's Golden Jubilee Model is eager to show you what it can do—what this great combination of modern advancements and every time-proved Ford Tractor advantage means in more and better work, done more easily and more profitably.

Don't miss this first showing! Come in and get all the good news, firsthand. Why not make it Saturday for sure?

YOU'VE NEVER SEEN A TRACTOR TO MATCH THIS!

Built-in Live-Action Hydraulic System, with Constant Draft Control, Implement Position Control and Manual Touch Control • Provision for complete range of remote hydraulic cylinder* applications • Hy-Trol, for extra fast hydraulic response • New lightning-fast governor • New weatherproofed ignition • New rotating exhaust valves • New live PTO* • 3-Point implement hitch • New streamlined, row-vision hood • New extra-size differential and rear axle gearing • Selec-Trol* for hydraulic control of front and rear mounted implements • A lot more!
*Sold separately.

See What the New Ford Tractor Means to You in More Work Done Faster and Easier—At Less Cost!

Attach mounted implements fast! Most Dearborn Implements can be attached to the new Ford Tractor in 60 seconds or less. No wrenches, no lifting, no tugging! Time saved in attaching-detaching can equal several days per year.

Control implements like never before! Touch the hydraulic control lever and you get split-second response. Lift, lower or adjust implements whenever tractor engine is running. Turn the Hy-Trol knob for even faster hydraulic action.

Step up performance of power take-off driven machines . . . with new LIVE POWER TAKE-OFF*. Stop and start tractor while PTO operation stays under full power. Less slow-down, less clogging, less gear shifting. Increases safety, too.

SO LOW IN PRICE, TOO! Convenient terms available.

SEE IT SOON!

Thieves and Roseau Play 6-6 Tie Sunday; Warroad Here Jan. 4

A near-capacity crowd was in attendance at the Arena on Sunday afternoon to witness the Northwest Hockey league encounter between the Roseau Cloverleafs and the Thieves, and the fans were treated to a 6-all deadlock, with the tie score being a fair indication of the play of the two clubs. The Thieves will remain idle until Sunday, when, on the local rink, they meet the high-scoring Warroad Lakers, with the face-off scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

Don Stay, the league's leading scorer last year, opened the game's scoring by getting a pass from Jim Young and beating Jack Peters with a goal at 5:56. Kenny Little, playing as a temporary replacement for the injured Murray Balagus, made a neat play on an assist from Jerry Lavergne, to drive a shot into the north goal at 12:15. Roseau's home-talent performer, Ray Baumgartner, who turned the "hat trick" by getting three goals, slapped in a shot to give the Leafs a 2 to 1 lead at 16:59. That lead was short-lived, for the locals, on a backhanded shot by Rob Amundson at 17:23 and a 25-foot goal-getter at 17:50 by Church Russell, gained a 3 to 2 lead.

When Don Costello, from close in, beat goalie Collins with a hard shot at 7:32, with Hall getting the assist, the Thieves held a 4 to 2 margin, and appeared in control of the game. Baumgartner, on Marv Markstrom's assist, found the corner of the net with a drive to narrow the Thieves' lead; and when Don Stay's goal, on a "gift," was tallied at 9:31, the game was even. Stay, from behind the Thieves' net, lifted a centering-out pass over the goal, with the puck hitting Tony Dorn's shoulder and rebounding past Peters and into the cage.

The Thieves, at the 8:55 mark of the third period, broke the 4-all tie, by getting a goal following a face-off in the Roseau zone, with Costello being credited with the goal and Lavergne the assist when Roseau's Bob Harris, in attempting to clear the puck, shoved the disc past Collins. Roseau, on a pair of long shots by Bob Sykes and Baumgartner, moved into a 6 to 5 lead, and held that advantage until the 17:56 when Little, taking a pass from Lavergne, beat the Leafs' goalie with a fine shot at 17:56.

As a result of the tie game each team will be credited with one point in the league standings.

The summary:

Thief River Falls (6)

Crookston at Hallock
Jan. 7th—
Warroad at Grand Forks
Hallock at Roseau
Jan. 9th—
T. R. Falls at Crookston

The Northwest Hockey league will move into its second week of play, and the games on this week's schedule should be of particular interest to the fans for the circuit's top four teams are paired in a couple of "crucial" games.

On Saturday night, in a game to be played at Roseau, the high-flying Grand Forks Redwings, a club that has been installed as a league title favorite, will meet Coach Bob Sykes' Roseau Cloverleafs.

On Sunday afternoon, on the Arena ice at Thief River Falls, the rampaging Warroad Lakers, a team that has registered nineteen goals in the two league games that the squad has played and won, will cross sticks with the Thieves.

The Warroad Lakers, in addition to having such sturdy local players on their roster as Dick Roberts, Cal Marvin, Gordy Christian, and George Gulbault, have been bolstered by six players from the Fort Frances Allen Cup champions. Coming over from the Fort to join the Lakers as such top-notch hockey players as goalie Harry Barefool, defenseman Sambo Fedoruk and Dun Sampson; and forwards, Mike Hupchuk, Willie Toninato, and Walt Christianson.

Crookston, with a lineup that is being re-shuffled on a game-to-game basis, will make the trip to Hallock for an encounter against the Lions. The Pirates and the Lions will be striving to get their first points in the league standings, for the two teams are deadlocked for the cellar, with each team having lost two games.

Rocksbury Farm Bureau Arranges Yule Party Friday

The Rocksbury Farm Bureau unit will stage a Christmas holiday party at Valhall hall Friday evening, January 2, it was announced today by Mons Engelstad, chairman of the program committee. The event will include entertainment features, contests and the award of door prizes, followed by refreshments. The public is invited to attend, said Engelstad.

Peewee Hockey Teams Are Active During Holidays

Northrop Defeats Knox Six 4-3, and Washington Takes St. Bernards 2-0

There has been plenty of activity in the city's Pee Wee hockey league, with the team matches being played at the Arena rink on Tuesday mornings during the holiday vacation. Supervisors Morris Efteland and Paul Bedard announced that the vacation schedule will be completed on Friday morning when, at 8 o'clock, the Washington team will play the Knox team. Following that game, the Northrop club will play the St. Bernards.

In last week's league-openers, the Northrop team, by a 4 to 3 score, edged out the Knox school sextet. Wayne Halvorson, with a pair of goals, and Ronnie Halvorson and Mickey Hanson, with a score each, were the Northrop scorers. The Washington team, on goals by Dave Bjorkman and Dale Wennberg, defeated the St. Bernards by a 2 to 0 score.

On Tuesday morning of this week, the Washington team gained the league lead by defeating the Northrop team, 4 to 3. Darryl Hjelle tallied a pair of goals for the winners, while Dale Wennberg and Dave Bjorkman notched the other two tallies. The Knox school team, with Bruce Ranum racking up three goals, defeated the St. Bernard's sextet in the other league encounter.

Three Fined for Drunken Driving During Week-end

Three Pennington county men were brought into municipal court over the weekend on charges of driving motor vehicles while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, and each was fined $100 and $3 costs.

Reuben Carl Hanson of rural St. Hilaire was taken into custody by police Saturday after his car jumped the curb by the Robertson Lumber Co. and went over the river bank, coming to a halt on the ice below.

Peter Frank Czeh of Route 2 also was picked up by police Saturday after his car collided with the Dennis Hanson car on East Fourth st.

The highway patrol brought Dewey Amiot of this city into court Monday on a similar charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnson and children Natalie, Judy, and Peggy Nan of Detroit Lakes and Mrs. Mildred Johnson of Fessenden, N. Dak. were Christmas Eve guests at the H. H. Halland home. Mr. and Mrs. Halland and their guests, the Sammy Kivle family, and Chas. Emanuel enjoyed Christmas Day at the James LaFave home.

Prowler Quint and E. G. Forks Vie Here Jan. 2

Locals will Journey to Fargo Saturday to Play Fargo High School

Of the two Prowler athletic teams that are in seasonal training, the basketball squad and the hockey club, Coach Bob Nick's cagers will be the first to resume competition following the holiday recess.

On Friday night, on the high school court, the Prowlers will meet the highly-regarded East Grand Forks team in an important 31st district basketball game, and on Saturday the blue-and-gold will make the jaunt to Fargo for a game against the Fargo high school squad.

Coach Dennis Rolle's hockey squad, with their game slated to be played against the Detroit Lakes Lakers at Detroit Lakes on Saturday again postponed, will remain idle until Jan. 6th, when they play Greenbush at Greenbush.

On Jan. 7th, the Prowlers will meet Serge Gambucci's Crookston Cathedral Blue Wave on the Arena ice, and on Jan. 10th, the locals will exchange body checks with the Warroad Warriors at Warroad.

Friday night's basketball encounter here will find the Prowlers meeting the club that has been installed as the favorite to cop the district title. And on the record to date, Coach Snooks Sullivan's aggressive East Grand Forks squad has played a brand of ball that rates a top-bracket ranking. The Green Wave has lost but one game, that an early season contest to Bemidji, and by a narrow margin. In their win column, the East Siders have marked up victories over Fosston and Crookston, and both of the triumphs were scored on the victims' home court.

It's doubtful if East Grand Forks' Sullivan will be able to put a team on the floor that will match the Prowlers in height; but the Green Wave, to offset that advantage, will perhaps rely on their control style of play, and an all-court press.

Coach Bob Nick has sent the Prowlers thru intensive practice sessions this past week, and indications are that opening tip-off will find Art Johnson at center, LeRoy Aasland and Chuck Humes or Larry Evenstad at the forwards, and Gary Smith and Duane Rafteseth at the guards.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

(This service is based on questions asked at Veterans Administration offices in the State. Answers are supplied by VA.

Q: I used up all my entitlement for training under the World War II GI Bill, then I went back into service and was disabled in Korea. Would I be eligible for more training under the law that furnishes training to disabled veterans?

A: If you meet all the eligibility requirements for training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act for disabled veterans, you may take further training, even though you used all your entitlement under the World War II GI Bill.

Q: I applied for a pension last year for a nonservice connected disability, and VA turned me down because my yearly income was above the legal maximum. I understand that income ceiling was raised last July. Will VA review my case automatically, and pay me the pension if I am eligible under the new ceiling? Or must I apply again?

A: You will have to reapply for a pension. No automatic review of pension cases is being made in cases where applicants were turned down because of income limits.

Q: I intend to go to college under the Korean GI Bill. The way I figure it, I will be entitled to three years of training. Does that mean I can get only three years of college?

A: Not necessarily. You would be entitled to three years of actual training time. If your school, for example, is on a nine-month basis, you could train for four school years on your 36 months entitlement.

Q: I want to learn plumbing under the Korean GI Bill in a school that was approved by my state for training under the World War II GI Bill. Does that World War II GI approval carry over for post-Korean veterans?

A: No. Your school must be state-approved specifically for training under the Korean GI Bill, in order for you to train there.

Aliens Required to File Addresses with Government

Irvin F. Shrode, officer in charge of immigration and naturalization at St. Paul, today called to the attention of all aliens the requirement of the immigration and nationality act that every alien in the United States report his address to the government during the month of January. The report must be made on Form I-53, which may be obtained from any post office or from any immigration office.

The requirement applies to all aliens who are in the United States on January 1st and to aliens who reside in the United States and may be temporarily absent during January. Persons in the latter group must report their address within ten days after return to the United States. The address of minor children aliens must be reported by their parents or guardians.

Shrode warned that failure to comply with the address-reporting requirements of the Act carries severe penalties.

Fergus Falls Man Named to Post on State High Court

Gov. C. Elmer Anderson Appoints Roger Dell to Succeed Justice Magney

Roger L. Dell, Fergus Falls attorney, was named to the Minnesota supreme court by Gov. C. Elmer Anderson last Wednesday to succeed Associate Justice C. R. Magney when Magney retires at age 70 Jan. 12.

Dell, senior member of the Fergus Falls law firm of Dell, Rosengren and Rufer, was a leading candidate for seventh district judge when that bench had a vacancy a few years ago. He stepped aside then, and former Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl appointed Walter F. Rogosheske, Little Falls, one time legislator and metropolitan airports commission member.

He has practiced law at Fergus Falls 32 years, ever since graduation from St. Paul College of Law. Reared and educated at Shakopee, he commuted to night law classes by Shakopee-St. Paul train.

Year-End Memories

The year 1952 put quite a number of athletic feats into the record book, but local fans are pretty well in agreement that there are three games that will remain life-long in the memories of the players that participated in the contests.

The first, and most pulse lifting, was that eighth regional basketball finals game played here last March between the Halstad Pirates and the Prowlers. And particularly vivid is the memory of that dramatic fourth period.

In that title contest, the Prowlers spotted the Pirates a 13 to 3 first period lead, but the locals refused to become "panicked" and rallied to overcome that margin and gain a 43 to 36 lead as the fourth period opened. Dick Bjorkman, in the opening minutes of the period, flipped a pair of field goals into the east basket, and the Prowlers held a 47 to 36 lead with six minutes to play. Then the Pirates called the play that probably won the championship, for coach Ray Kerrigan's squad asked for a time-out. That time-out gave the Prowlers an opportunity to glance at the clock, look at the score, and begin to make plans for the state tournament.

When play was resumed, and in the space of less than four minutes, the Pirates had tied the score, with Jim Akason's two free throws bringing the score to 51-all. Akason hit with a hook shot; and Rog Williamson, carrying four fouls, pushed in a left-handed loft, and the score was in a 53 to 53 knot with a bit more than a minute to go. Williamson's fifth personal, with a minute to play, gave Halstad's Don Thompson the chance to drop in the point that won the game. A win that was a thriller for the Pirates, who went on to win third place in the state tournament; and a loss that was a heart-wrencher for the Prowlers.

Closely pressing that regional basketball game for kicks was the Prowlers vs. Warroad Warriors regional hockey tournament played at the Arena last February.

Bernie Broderick's Warriors, refusing to be overawed by the Prowlers superior power and speed, skated blade-for-blade with the locals, and the game, at the end of the regular playing time, was tied at 3-all.

Broderick, with everything to win and nothing to lose, kept his "first string" on the ice throughout the first overtime period, which was scoreless. In the "sudden death" overtime period, Jack Erickson powered a chest-high rifle-like shot at goalie Bob Lewis, and the Warroad goalie made the stop, but the puck fell to the ice and trickled over the goal-line giving coach Dennis Rolle's team a 4 to 3 decision after a minute and half of the second overtime.

The senior hockey players and fans had their thrills during the year, too, and the "tops" was perhaps that playoff finals game at Roseau, between the Thieves and the Leafs.

In the first game of the best-of-three series, the Thieves had bested the Leafs, 7 to 5, at Roseau. In the second game, played at Thief River Falls, the Leafs were the winners, gaining a 6 to 3 triumph. And the third and deciding game was played on Roseau's spacious rink.

The Thieves' on Bud Brossoit's tally, gained a 1 to 0 first period lead, and the locals held that advantage until midway in the second period when Don Stay hit the nets with the equalizer.

The two teams went into the third stanza in a 1 to 1 tie, but the Thieves, on goals by Paul Bedard and Bert Van Belleghem moved ahead, 3 to 1, with ten minutes to play.

A pair of goals by Wally Stefaniw and a score by Stay, turned the 2000 fans into an uproar, for it gave the Leafs a 4 to 3 lead with about five minutes to go. Coach Bedard, in the final minutes of the game, pulled goalie Greek Swanson out of the Thieves' net in order to send another forward on the ice, and the manuever paid off, with Murray Balagus scoring the game-tying goal and sending the contest into overtime.

The overtime period was an anti-climax, for the Leafs, on goals by Bob Sykes and Stefaniw, skipped into a 6 to 4 lead. Sykes, with seconds of play remaining and with Swanson out of the net, sent a long shot into the Thieves' open cage, boosting the Leafs' score to 7 to 4.

That game produced Northwest Hockey league play at its finest.

CAR CATCHES FIRE ON EIGHTH STREET SUNDAY

The fire department was summoned Sunday by the driver of a car on Eighth st., which caught fire due to defective wiring. The blaze, however, had been extinguished by the time the firemen arrived at the scene.

Selective Service and Its Operation

By Colonel Lloyd B. Lilygren, State Director

The Selective Service Act was passed on June 24, 1948 and amended on June 19, 1951. The title was amended to read Universal Military Training and Service Act, as Amended.

The public press ran many articles regarding the Selective Service Act, both in 1948 and at the time it was amended in 1951; however during the past year, very little has appeared in the newspapers. Our mail indicates there are many questions in the minds of the public; therefore it is felt advisable to publish a series of articles to clarify the existing provisions of the Selective Service Act.

SERIES 1

Few people have read the first section of the Selective Service Act wherein is explained the Policy and Intent of Congress.

Title I, Section I (c) of the Universal Military Training and Service Act, as Amended, is published herewith

"The Congress further declares that in a free society the obligations and privileges of serving in the armed forces and the reserve components thereof should be shared generally, in accordance with a system of selection which is fair and just, and which is consistent with the maintenance of an effective national economy."

A new section was added to the Selective Service Act, when it was amended on June 19, 1951, which establishes the liability of deferred registrants until they become 35 years of age. Section 6 (h) of the Act, as Amended, provides that:

"Registrants who on June 19, 1951, were or may thereafter be deferred under the provisions of Section 6 of that Act shall remain liable for training and service in the armed forces until the thirty-fifth anniversary of the date of their birth."

No classification is permanent. A Class II deferment is given for a period of one year or less. A Class II-C deferment is given to a registrant because of his agricultural occupation, as provided for in Section 1622.24 (a) of the Regulations:

"In Class II-C shall be placed any registrant who is employed in production for market of a substantial quantity of those agricultural commodities which are necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest, but only when all of the conditions described in paragraph (a) of section 1622.23 are found to exist."

The conditions referred to in Section 1622.23 (a) are as follows:

"(1) The registrant is, or but for a seasonal or temporary interruption would be, engaged in such activity.

(2) The registrant cannot be replaced because of a shortage of persons with his qualifications or skill in such activity.

(3) The removal of the registrant would cause a material loss of effectiveness in such activity."

Section 1622.24 (b) provides that:

"The production for market of a substantial quantity of agricultural commodities should be measured in terms of the average annual production per farm worker which is marketed from a local average farm of the type under consideration. The production of agricultural commodities for consumption by the worker and his family, or traded for subsistence purposes, should not be considered as production for market. Production which is in excess of that required for the subsistence of the farm families on the farm under consideration should be considered as production for market."

Each agricultural deferment must be tested by the requirements of the above regulations.

Viking Division Gets New Chief at Camp Rucker, Ala.

Major Gen. Hendrickson Is Succeeded by Major Gen. Robert L. Dulaney

The only commanding general that the 47th "Viking" Infantry Division has ever known said good-bye late this month at Camp Rucker, Ala. and turned over the reins to a new commander recently returned from the Korean front-lines.

Major General Norman E. Hendrickson, who has commanded the 47th National Guard Division since its inception in 1946, is slated for release from active service on Jan. 5.

The coming release marks the third time that General Hendrickson has reverted from military to civilian status. He originally joined the Minnesota National Guard in 1916 as a private.

His successor, Major General Robert L. Dulaney, has had previous assignments in National Guard units. In World War II, he was a regimental commander in the 45th (Oklahoma) National Guard Division.

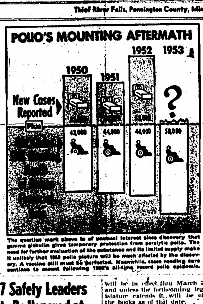
When the 45th was recalled to service and sent to Korea in 1951, General Dulaney accompanied his old unit as assistant commander. Last April, he was transferred to command the Third Division in Korea. He comes to Rucker from that position.

The Viking Division has been training at Rucker since early 1951, and is slated for duty up to a period of three more years.

On Jan. 16, 1953, however, the unit changes from a National Guard status to an "Army of the United States" division. On that date however, a new 47th National Guard springs up in Minnesota and North Dakota.

From the 9,000 Guardsmen who left 79 communities for Rucker in 1951, only a handful of officers remain.

By 1956, about half of the TVA power will come from coal-fired steam plants.



The question mark above is of unusual interest since discovery that gamma globulin gives temporary protection from paralytic polio. The need for further evaluation of the substance and its limited supply make it unlikely that 1953 polio picture will be much affected by the discovery. A vaccine still must be perfected. Meanwhile, cases needing care continue to mount following 1952's all-time record polio epidemic.

7 Safety Leaders to Be Honored at Dinner January 6

Will Receive Tribute at Meeting of State Safety Council, St. Paul

Seven Minnesota men who have made outstanding contributions to the cause of safety in the state will be honored at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Safety Council. Arthur V. Rohweder, Duluth, president of the council, today announced that the following would be given formal recognition at a luncheon at the Saint Paul Hotel January 6.

Harold O. Washburn, president of the American Hoist & Derrick company, St. Paul, will be given a special honor token for his outstanding service and contribution in the field of industrial safety.

Service recognition certificates for outstanding accident prevention activities will be awarded:

Albert N. Wold, sales engineer, Standard Iron & Wire Works, Inc., Minneapolis.

C. D. Johnston, director of public information, Minnesota department of highways, St. Paul.

Milton Rosen, commissioner of finance, St. Paul, and president of the Minnesota Good Roads association.

E. P. Lee, supervisor, drivers license division, Minnesota department of highways, St. Paul.

Beryl McLaughlin, assistant superintendent of safety and welfare, Duluth, Missabe & Iron Range Railway company, Duluth.

Arthur T. Evans, chief of accident prevention, Minnesota Industrial Commission, St. Paul.

The annual meeting will follow the noon luncheon with election of officers for the new year as the top order of business.

Pulp Haulers Law Goes into Effect

Allows Timber Haulers to Increase Axle Loads

Effective tomorrow, January 1st, the so-called "timber-haulers law" will go into effect for its second trial season, according to the Minnesota highway department. Enacted by the 1951 legislature to expedite the mid-winter movement of unfinished forest products, the law will be in effect thru March 7, and unless the forthcoming legislature extends it, will be off the books as of that date.

The measure allows timber haulers in the northern part of the state to increase their axle loads by 20 per cent above normal legal maximums. Roads in only a specified area, where presumably all types of roads are frozen to great depth, are included under the terms of the law.

The law, however, does not relax the gross load limits on any bridges in the affected area. Timber haulers taking advantage of the 20 per cent increased axle load limits will, therefore, be required to route their trucks on such roads as will permit them to operate without violating those posted bridge load limits.

Furthermore, the act does not abrogate or restrict the authority of either the highway department, where trunk routes are involved, or county and township authorities, where roads of their jurisdiction are concerned from posting any road or structure for reduced load maximum whenever conditions make such action necessary at this or any other time of year.

HONESTY TAKES 4 TO 1 LEAD

A fat wallet turned in at the office of the International Livestock show in Chicago earned the finder $100 reward from Otto Frederick of Waseca.—A young traveler reached her Battle Lake home without her purse, remembered lunch in Jackson, wrote a description of the cafe to the Jackson Pilot, promptly got her purse back.— Perhaps not so much honesty as good fortune kept a billfold on the bumper of R. E. Leske's car, where $60 was found intact at Buffalo after a 70-mile drive.— Between her Baudette home and school Mrs. Jack Nielson lost her purse; she recalled the "pack rat" habits of a neighbor's pup, went to his "boneyard" and found her purse intact.—A sadder story comes out of Minneapolis, where a thrown tire went thru a store window, followed by an alert young man who promptly made off with a case of silverware.

Entries Are Being Received in Rural Art Show at U. M.

New Library Also to Be Dedicated on St. Paul Campus January 14th

The new library on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota will be the scene of two important events during the week of January 12.

A rural art show will be held in the library January 13-16, which is Farm and Home Week on the St. Paul campus, and dedication ceremonies will be held for the new structure on the evening of January 14.

Exhibits in the show will be original work of all types of painting, sculpture and wood carving. Anyone living in Minnesota towns or rural areas may enter. There will be no limit on the number of entries from one artist. The best and most interesting work will be selected for exhibit, and artists will receive a certificate of exhibition. Entries are due on or before January 9.

Aaron Bohrod, artist-in-residence at the University of Wisconsin and internationally known painter of the midwest rural scene, and Mrs. Ruth Stolle, widely known in Wisconsin for her work with Bohrod and with rural artists, will be on the campus during the show to discuss artists' problems.

Principal speaker at the dedication program, to be held in Coffey Hall at 8 p. m. January 14, will be John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State College. Others on the program will be J. L. Morrill, president of the University of Minnesota; Dr. Harold Macy, who becomes dean of the University's Institute of Agriculture on January 1; and Dr. W. C. Coffey, president emeritus of the University. Several prominent University alumni will receive outstanding achievement awards during the program.

Additional information concerning the rural art show, library dedication and Farm and Home Week activities may be obtained from the Office of Short Courses, University Farm, St. Paul 1, Minnesota.

The word "horsepower" was originated by James Watt when he determined how much coal a horse could draw in a minute from a coal pit. The horse could move 30,000 pounds of coal one foot upward in a minute.

Annual Meeting

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Company will be held in the school auditorium in St. Hilaire, Minnesota on Wednesday the 14th day of January 1953, beginning at one o'clock p. m. sharp.

This meeting is called for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year, to consider the adoption of the Minnesota Standard policy for mutuals, together with new Articles of Incorporation and by-laws, and to transact any other business that may properly come before this meeting. John O. Swanson, Secretary. 1c

Card Of Thanks

I want to thank all of my friends for the visits and the many that sent me cards and flowers while at the hospital and to the Doctors and Nurses for their splendid care. God bless each one of you. Mrs. Bertha Johnson. 53p

SEEK IMPROVEMENT IN MANY FIELDS

University of Minnesota research facilities are found not only on the St. Paul, Minneapolis, and Duluth campuses, but also at Rosemount, a separate airfield, and in various other strategic spots. The research program covers a wide range of subjects and problems ranging roughly from aerodynamics to utilization of wood wastes; some 40 different projects of recent date included six in the field of city planning, urban and rural construction; three in electronics; five in minerals and mining; five involving farm buildings, chemistry, conservation, etc; other mysterious-sounding projects have to do with "dynamics of drop formation" and "linear acceleration"; most far-reaching perhaps involves the widely discussed cosmic ray. Sponsored research, special projects privately paid for, grew from $87,000 in 1942 to $1,638,000 in 1951.

Stand-In For Liver

Gelfoam, the absorbable gelatin sponge widely used for controlling bleeding, may also serve as a stand in for liver when it becomes necessary to remove part of the organ. In an operation devised by two southern surgeons, a large piece of gelatin sponge is pressed against the cut surface of the liver after the removal of diseased tissue. The sponge not only halts bleeding—which can be dangerous in the case of the liver—but provides a structural framework for the growth of new tissue thus speeding healing. The sponge is absorbed in about a month, by which time the wound is usually healed.

Owners Are Our Best "Salesmen"!

Never could we tell all the wonderful things about Nash as forcefully as do Nash owners. And the more they travel—the more enthusiastic they are.

They talk about performance second to none. They talk about the world's finest ride. They talk about the life-saving safety of Airflyte Construction. They talk about beauty, about room, about luxury, about economy unmatched by any other automobile in the world today.

Read these wonderful unsolicited reports about Nash. But—better yet—drive a Nash Golden Airflyte for yourself. ... the Ambassador, Statesman or Rambler. Learn first hand about such exclusive features as Farina styling, Airflyte Construction, Airliner Reclining Seats, Twin Beds, Weather Eye Conditioned Air System, and dozens more. Come in today. Take an Airflyte ride in the world's most modern car. Once you do, you'll be enthusiastic about Nash, too!

"TAKES A BACK SEAT TO NONE"
"I have driven my 1952 Nash Ambassador 12,000 miles ... my sixth Nash and by far the best ... As McCahill says, 'It has the finest shockproof ride in the world' and it takes a back seat to none on hills, for speed or roadability ... P.S. Mrs. Leu drives a Nash Rambler." Elmore H. Leu, Fond du Lac, Wisc.

"30,000 MILES ... $9.32 REPAIRS"
"After 30,000 miles of hard driving in less than one year ... the total amount of repairs on my Nash Rambler has been $9.32, which to me is almost unbelievable." G. Darwin Kitchen, Huntington, W. Va.

"EIGHT OF US"
"... I found seven of my friends from camp stranded ... all their luggage on top of my golf bags and baggage fitted neatly into the roomy trunk (1952 Ambassador). All eight of us, four in front and four in back, were seated without anyone sitting on anyone else's lap." SFC Leon E. Rosenthal, Camp Pickett, [illegible]

"32.3 MILES PER GALLON"
"I drove from Beloit to Minocqua, Wisc., (275 miles) on 8.8 gallons ... 32.3 miles per gallon ... at 50 miles per hour ... Around town, I have been getting 25-27 ... I have found my Rambler to have excellent riding comfort and it's a joy to drive." Margaret Ankersen, Beloit, Wisc.

"HELPED SAVE ME"
"Car turned over three times ... I received only a few scratches ... it helped save me ... for security in the event of an accident, there is no better construction than Nash ..." Arthur E. Harcott, Baltimore, Maryland.

"CAN'T BE BEAT"
"I have owned 14 Nash cars ... they are the best cars I have ever driven and I have owned and driven nearly all other makes and models ... for riding, economy, and for speed under all kinds of driving encountered in police work ... they can't be beat. They're tops." Chief of Police, Harold Wallace, Sikeston, Missouri.

AS A USED CAR, TOO, NASH IS TOPS!
Here's what men say who know used car values—used car dealers and auctioneers.
"The 'hottest' car on Used Car Lots." O.K. Auto Auction, Cleveland, Ohio.
"We operate one of the largest dealers wholesale auctions in the world ... and among used car dealers the Nash line is always in demand. The only complaint we have is that we don't receive enough Nash Ramblers." Witts' Auto Auction, Decatur, Illinois.

PROGRESS 1953

America has come a long way — from the cabin to the skyscraper — from the covered wagon to the jet plane — from the hand plow to atomic energy.

The road has never been easy, but it has always been clearly marked — its milestones, the basic rights on which this nation was founded and by which it has lived and grown strong. The right of every man to determine for himself, the course his life shall follow. The right to choose his own work or to build his own business. The right to go as far as his own ability will take him in the direction of his choosing — the right to compete freely with his fellows in the achievement of his objective.

It is these rights that spur each man to create and produce to the limits of his capacity, that prompt each business to give its customers more for less. It is these rights that have made America's might the wonder of the modern world.

With pride, America looks to its past.

With confidence, it looks to 1953 and all the years ahead. Holding resolutely to a way of life so critically tested, so conclusively proved — we shall continue our forward march to a better life for all.

May the New Year Bring Us Peace and Prosperity

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Odin C. Hanson New Chairman County Board

Is Elected to Succeed Don Olson at Annual Organization Meeting

Odin C. Hanson of Silverton township was named chairman of the Pennington county board at its annual organization meeting Tuesday. He succeeds Don Olson, who served in that capacity during the past year. Merle A. Lindberg was elected vice chairman.

Dr. M. D. Starekow was reappointed county health officer, and serving with him on the health committee will be Olson and Lindberg. Other reappointments made at the meeting included Ed Moren, county weed inspector; H. R. Rafteseth, veterans service officer; and Dr. L. R. Twete, livestock inspector.

G. Gunstenson was reappointed to his present post of county assessor for a four-year term and was given a small increase in salary.

Carl Anderson, new member of the board, was appointed to serve on the agricultural extension committee. It was decided that the board as a whole will serve on the county welfare board, along with two lay members.

The usual appropriation of $100 was voted toward the support of the Valley Winter Shows. Fox bounties were left unchanged from last year. Five licenses for the sale of 3.2 beer in the county were approved.

John Sands Named Co. Treasurer by Marshall Board

Appointed Unanimously as Successor to P. E. Kvikstad Who Died Dec. 27

John W. Sands, Alvarado, long identified in county veterans and business affairs, was appointed to the office of Marshall county treasurer Tuesday of last week to fill out the unexpired term of P. E. Kvikstad who died December 27.

The appointment was made by the county board of commissioners in special session. The vote on the appointment was unanimous. Mr. Sands took the oath of office Wednesday.

Mr. Sands plans no change in the office personnel and will retain Mrs. Hannah Odman as deputy treasurer, he stated.

The new treasurer is a life long resident of Marshall county. He commenced his business career in an Argyle bank and later was in the banking business at Alvarado. He spent five years as a representative of the Minnesota department of rural credit; eight years with the state banking department and 11 years with the Federal Land Bank. He also served 3½ years as cashier of the State Bank of Warren.

During World War I he enlisted in the U. S. Army and after service in France, was discharged with the rank of captain. He has been active in veterans organization. He is a past commander of the Marshall County County Council and the Ninth District of the American Legion. He had been serving as the Marshall county veterans service officer.

Kjos Will Attend State Convention

Minnesota probate and juvenile court judges will hold their annual convention next Wednesday and Thursday at the Lowry Hotel in St. Paul. In attendance at the session will be Herman A. Kjos, probate judge here and vice president of the juvenile judges association.

Mercury Hits 21 Below on Tuesday

The long spell of mild temperatures that has prevailed locally was interrupted Sunday morning, when the mercury slumped to 10 below zero, followed by 21 below Monday morning and -12 Tuesday. No snowfall of any consequence arrived during the past week.

Company F National Guard Plans Reunion Friday Night, Jan. 16

Most of the more than 80 men who, two years ago this month, left with Company F of the National Guard for Camp Ruck-[illegible]bama, after the unit was [illegible]ized, are expected to at[illegible] reunion of the company [illegible] form of a banquet in the [illegible] club rooms Friday evening, January 16, at 7 o'clock. [illegible] dinner is sponsored by [illegible] local posts of the American [illegible]on and Veterans of Foreign [illegible].

[illegible]t the same time a National [illegible]ard company will be re[illegible]ablished here with a nucleus [illegible] 24 former members of Co. F and two officers, Lieut. John Oven, who will be in command, and Warrant Officer Ivan Bundy, who will devote his full time to the organization.

Invited to be present for the occasion will be parents and wives or girl friends of Co. F members, as well as Mayor Harry E. Simons, members of the city council and their ladies and two representatives of each organization in Thief River Falls.

Programs will be staged simultaneously in other Minnesota cities that are home of guard units. Speakers at a meeting in St. Paul will include Governor C. Elmer Anderson and Brig. Gen. J. E. Nelson, whose addresses will be broadcast over WCCO at 9:30 p. m. Friday, January 16.

March of Dimes Drive under Way in Business Area

Forty Solicitors Start out Following Kickoff Breakfast Monday in Rex

Forty solicitors attended a kickoff breakfast in the Rex Cafe Monday morning, marking the opening of the March of Dimes polio fund drive in Thief River Falls.

A. F. Berge, county chairman of the campaign, presided and introduced Steve Austin, city chairman, who gave instructions and issued supplies to the canvassers, who, in teams of two started making their appointed rounds following the breakfast.

M. C. Gulbranson, chairman of the county polio chapter, and Lucian Krause distributed iron lung coin receptacles to local business places.

In the meantime, the campaign in the rural areas of Pennington county has been making progress under the direction of Mrs. Adam Lendobeja, rural chairman.

Probate Judge Reports for 1952

Kjos Reveals Decline in Number of Estates

Number of estates entered for probate in the office of Probate Judge Herman A. Kjos dropped substantially from 61 in 1951 to 43 in 1952. It is revealed in a year-end report prepared by Kjos.

During 1952 juvenile court handled 16 cases of delinquency, in which eight boys and girls were committed to the youth conservation commission. Two of the cases involved nonresidents.

Other matters handled by Judge Kjos in 1952 included six guardianships opened; four cases of mental illness; four senile cases; four mentally deficient; eleven inebriates. Six reckless driving cases involving juveniles were referred to municipal court.

Judge Kjos also performed four marriages during the year.

Christmas Seals Net $1,860 Today in Pennington Co.

With returns still coming in, a total of $1,860.21 has been collected to date in Pennington county from the 1952 Christmas seal sale campaign, it was announced this week by Herman A. Kjos chairman of the local committee. The amount is in line with collections in recent past years.

Births and Deaths Both Decline Here During Past Year

A continued decline in the number of both births and deaths in Thief River Falls was recorded in 1952, according to records in the office of Dr. O. F. Mellby, city health officer. There were 462 births in the city last year compared to 465 in 1951, 499 in 1950 and 580 in 1949, while the number of deaths in 1952 declined to a four-year low mark of 109, compared to 134 in 1951, 121 in 1950 and 141 in 1949.

Receipts at Local Postoffice Rise $2,076 During '52

Receipts for Last Year Total $85,944 Compared to $83,868 for 1951

Receipts at the Thief River Falls postoffice in 1952 totalled $85,944.77, an increase of $2,076.26 over the 1951 volume of $83,868.51, it was announced this week by Postmaster R. J. Dryden.

The nominal increase is ascribed to a considerable extent to higher postage rates in effect on certain classifications during the past year. The December quarter was the only one in which a rise in receipts was not registered, the last three months having dropped $502 compared to the same period in 1951.

Receipts by three-months periods were as follows for 1951 and 1952:

March	$18,253.97	$19,448.95
June	18,765.55	19,539.46
September	17,957.61	18,547.57
December	28,911.38	28,408.77
	$83,868.51	$85,944.77

Evening School in City Issues Final Call for Students

C. W. Pope, Director, Announces Classes Are Now Ready to Commence

Attention is again called to persons interested in taking an evening school course sponsored by the area vocational school here that there is still time to enroll but this week will be the last opportunity.

There has been an excellent response so far, said C. W. Pope, director. It is planned, however, to close registration this week and classes will get under way next week.

All individuals will be personally notified by mail when and where their group will meet. This will be the only notice sent.

Subjects in which there will still be room are, care and use of the sewing machine and attachments, tailoring, shorthand refresher, new trends in secretarial work, selling for retail clerks, arc welding, blueprint reading for carpenters, engine tuneup, automatic transmissions, and four-barrel carburetors.

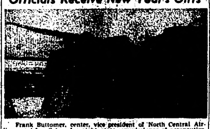
Unit courses will run from six to ten weeks and will meet one or two evenings per week.

Direct your calls for registration to C. W. Pope, director, telephone 1033, this week if you wish to carry on evening study.

Sheriff Rambeck Elected Officer of Sheriffs Assn.

Lester W. [illegible] of [illegible] was elected president of the Minnesota Sheriffs association and Sheriff Arthur Rambeck of this city was named third vice president at its annual convention last week in the Lowry Hotel, St. Paul. Others elected were D. Christianson of Owatonna and M. W. Mitchell of Grand Rapids, respectively first and second vice president; W. H. Schroeder of Shakopee, secretary; and W. T. Curran of Moorhead, treasurer.

Officials Receive New Year's Gifts



Frank Buttomer, center, vice president of North Central Airlines, and Les Schroeder, right, state commissioner of aeronautics, are pictured above as they accept 14-pound turkeys from Glenn Carlson, Civic and Commerce secretary, on New Years Day at a brief ceremony at the municipal airport. The occasion was the first flight of the new passenger service between Minneapolis and Thief River Falls. The plane is in the background, as is Mayor Harry E. Simons. The turkeys were the gift of Land O'Lakes Creameries and the Peterson-Biddick Co., in addition to which the two officials each were presented with five pounds of butter contributed by the Thief River Falls creamery.

Water Purification Plant in 1952 Pumps 181 Million Gallons

The Thief River Falls water purification plant in 1952 pumped a total of 181,476,100 gallons, or just under 500,000 gallons a day, Harold Johnson, chief operator at the plant, reported this week, adding that the figure represents a substantial increase over the 1951 total of 160,069,200 gallons.

Despite the huge output, the thoroly modern plant, completed a few years ago at a cost of more than $500,000, is operating at only one-third its full capacity, allowing ample room for future demands.

Johnson extended a cordial invitation to local residents to inspect the plant, which is producing the best quality of water ever available in this community.

The number of gallons pumped during each month of 1952 was as follows:

January	12,766,300
February	12,546,000
March	12,290,800
April	13,872,300
May	18,323,900
June	16,052,500
July	14,011,300
August	17,674,500
September	16,160,500
October	16,579,000
November	15,832,900
December	15,357,100
Total	181,476,100

Power Plant Output Gains 6 Pct. in 1952

The Thief River Falls municipal power plant generated six per cent more electric current in 1952 than in 1951, Morris Owen, chief engineer, announced this week.

Production aggregated 11,810,600 kilowatts in 1952 compared to 11,091,200 in 1951, and 10,388,000 in 1950. Slightly less than one-half of the total in 1952 was turned out by the Nordberg unit, largest in the local plant, which operated 4,211 hours and produced 5,487,900 kilowatts.

The new Fairbanks Morse unit, installed last year, operated for 3,562 hours, producing 2,583,800 kilowatts. The Busch-Sulzer unit, operating 1,173 hours, turned out 792,700 kilowatts, while the small McIntosh unit operated only 422 hours, producing 116,700 kilowatts.

The water turbines in the plant operated for a total of 8,724 hours, producing 2,829,500 kilowatts, compared to 2,759,800 in 1951.

130 Marriage Licenses Issued in County in 1952

Dan Cupid had a busier time in Pennington county in 1952 than 1951, according to records in the office of Henry Storhaug, clerk of court, which reveal that 130 marriage licenses were issued last year compared to 107 in 1951. June was the top month for weddings both years, with 22 licenses issued each year. Divorces granted to county residents also showed an increase, rising from 12 in 1951 to 19 in 1952, Storhaug reported.

W. E. Dahlquist, editor of the Times and state senator from the 65th district, left Friday for St. Paul to be on hand for the opening Tuesday of the 1953 session of the state legislature.

Airline Heads to Talk at C. C. Session Jan. 14

Annual Meeting Slated Next Wednesday Night in Eagles Auditorium

Two top executives of North Central Airlines will be guest speakers at the annual dinner meeting of the Civic and Commerce association in the Eagles auditorium next Wednesday evening, January 14, at 6:30, it was announced today by L. A. Ihle, president, who will be in charge of the program. The dinner will be served by the Eagles auxiliary.

The speakers will be Howard A. Morey, new president of the airline which on January 1 started passenger service from Minneapolis to Thief River Falls; and Frank N. Buttomer, vice president in charge of traffic and sales.

President Ihle stated that to curtail the length of the meeting all committee reports will be dispensed with, and instead printed reports giving a detailed account of the association's 1952 activities will be distributed.

Howard Morey has more than a quarter of a century aviation experience. In the fall of 1925 he set up a fixed base operation in Madison, Wisconsin at Royal Airport, the original air mail landing for that city. Later he was active in the development of Madison municipal airport and moved his operation to that field when it was completed.

Mr. Morey was the first chairman of the Wisconsin aeronautics board and has been chairman of the Wisconsin aeronautics commission since its creation. Cessna aircraft distributor for the state of Wisconsin, Morey holds commercial pilot license 928 and a mechanic certificate.

The new president has been a director and member of the executive committee of North Central Airlines, Inc., formerly Wisconsin Central Airlines, since it started operation in 1948 and most recently occupied the office of vice president.

Frank N. Buttomer has been associated with the firm since December 1, 1950.

Identified with the Mid-Continent Airlines for the past seven years as director of economic controls, Buttomer was responsible for planning and development, research, problems in management and organization, and regulatory proceeding.

Buttomer entered the airline business in 1942 via Trans World assignments in planning and development for that company.

Rev. Emery R. Larson, Thief River Falls, field secretary with Minnesota United Temperance movement, will bring the forenoon's message in Mission Covenant church here 11 o'clock next Sunday, said L. W. Lindholm, pastor.

Walter Smith, assistant postmaster, is shown above as he presents two bags of air mail to Captain "Abe" Lincoln, pilot of the North Central Airlines plane that on New Years Day inaugurated passenger and mail service between Thief River Falls, Minneapolis and Grand Forks. Others in the picture are, left to right, Frank Buttomer, vice president of the airline; First Officer Westergaard and Stuart Ligman, third member of the crew.

The consignment of mail comprised 2,146 pieces, of which 1,840 were directed to Grand Forks and 306 to Bemidji, Brainerd and Minneapolis. Nearly all the envelopes were sent here by stamp collectors from thruout the nation, and each cover was identified by a special cachet affixed at the local postoffice, signifying that the envelope was carried on the first mail-carrying plane to leave Thief River Falls.

1,500 Welcome North Central First Plane on Arrival Here Jan. 1

Werstlein First to Buy No. Central Airlines Ticket

George W. Werstlein was the first person to buy a ticket for the inaugural flight of North Central Airlines to Thief River Falls at the local office New Years Day.

He bought a ticket to Grand Forks, but didn't use it, since if he had, he would have had to surrender the ticket, which he wants to save as a souvenir.

Werstlein, incidentally, was the last person to buy a ticket on the Great Northern Crookston - Warroad passenger train thru this city when it ceased operating last May.

Sharing "first honors with Werstlein were Herb Jung and Police Chief Ken Judy who, with the latter's son Keith, age six, drove to Bemidji early New Years Day and embarked in that city on the first plane flight into Thief River Falls.

Five others, including Carl Hovie, boarded the plane on its arrival here, and made the trip to Grand Forks and back.

Warm Welcome Given by Local Citizens to New Service to Minneapolis

With nearly 600 automobiles counted at the municipal airport last Thursday, New Years Day, it was estimated that fully 1,500 persons from thruout the area assembled to witness the inauguration of scheduled airline service between Minneapolis and Thief River Falls by North Central Airlines.

Local police and members of the Civil Air Patrol handled the parking of cars with a minimum of confusion.

Mayor Harry E. Simons and Ward Nichols, outgoing president of the Civic and Commerce association, welcomed company officials after the two-motored plane had made a smooth landing.

W. E. Dahlquist, introduced to the assemblage the visitors, including Frank Buttomer, vice president of the airline, and Mrs. Buttomer; Les Schroeder, state commissioner of aeronautics, and Mrs. Schroeder; Arthur Schwandt, treasurer of the airline; and John Minarich of the traffic department.

Also introduced were State Senator Leo Lauerman of Olivia, chairman of the senate interim committee on aviation, Senator Tom [illegible] of [illegible], a member of the committee, and Ray Cleveland, aviation chairman of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce.

Following [illegible] by the visitors and local [illegible], Buttomer and Schroeder [illegible] presented with a turkey, the gift of Land O'Lakes Creameries and Peterson-Biddick Co., and five-pound cartons of butter on behalf of the Thief River Falls co-op creamery.

Three members of the [illegible] Captain "Abe" Lincoln; were presented with cigaret lighters.

The visitors were then escorted in waiting cars to the Elks club rooms, where they enjoyed lunch with a group of local officials and other guests, following which they returned to the airport to board the plane on the return trip from Grand Forks to Minneapolis.

A big consignment of air mail numbering 2,146 pieces, all bearing a first-flight cachet affixed at the Thief River Falls postoffice, was turned over by Walter Smith, assistant postmaster, to the plane's captain, "Abe" Lincoln.

Buttomer and other officials of the airline expressed gratification at the royal reception tendered them on the inception of service to Thief River Falls.

Minneapolis Man Buys Pennington Hotel from Burrill

Building and Equipment Bought by Otto Holton; Paul Brown to Be Manager

While in Thief River Falls last week-end, Allan Burrill of Minneapolis, owner of the Pennington Hotel, announced the sale of the hotel to Otto Holton, also of Minneapolis, who came here with Mr. Burrill. The transfer of title to the building and equipment was effective January 1.

Holton has been in the hotel business in Miami, Florida, and previously had been engaged as a road contractor in this country and Canada. He plans to bring Mrs. Holton here as soon as living quarters have been arranged for. Paul A. Brown will continue as resident manager in which capacity he has served since Burrill left Thief River Falls last July.

Burrill announced that he had sold the hotel because of increased business responsibilities in Minneapolis, where he and his son Dan are to be actively associated with the Citizens State bank of St. Louis Park.

First Afternoon Airlines Plane Greeted Monday

Mayor Harry E. Simons headed a local delegation that was on hand at the municipal airport Monday afternoon to greet the first North Central Airlines plane to arrive here in the afternoon from Minneapolis. He presented each member of the plane's three-man crew with a cigaret lighter. The afternoon plane leaves Wold-Chamberlain Field in Minneapolis at 2:30 and arrives here at 4:37.

Polio Drive Topic at Rotary Session

Guest speaker at the Rotary club luncheon Monday noon in the Elks club rooms was Alvin Christofferson, March of Dimes publicity director, who discussed the polio fund campaign currently under way in Pennington county. He also showed motion pictures depicting the therapeutic treatment of polio patients.

The Thief River Falls Builders Exchange will meet Monday, Jan. 12, at 8 p. m. in the Eagles lodge. Sander Johnson of the Johnson-Gillander Co. in Grand Forks, will be guest speaker. A smorgasbord lunch will be enjoyed after the meeting.

Kiddies Carnival Slated January 29

Tom Feller Is Chairman of Lions Annual Event

Appointment of Tom Feller as general chairman of the [illegible] Lions Kiddies Carnival was announced by Bill LaFave, [illegible] president, at the weekly luncheon meeting [illegible] noon of [illegible]. Date of the annual event was set for Thursday evening, January [illegible].

Mayor Harry E. Simons reviewed the program that had been arranged at the municipal airport for January 1 in connection with the inception of scheduled airline service between Thief River Falls and Minneapolis.

Inauguration of the service, the mayor said, will serve further to establish Thief River Falls as the commercial [illegible] of Northwestern Minnesota.

Northrop School PTA Meets Next Monday Evening

The Northrop school PTA will meet next Monday evening, January 12, at 8 o'clock, with Judge Herman A. Kjos as the principal speaker. Marshall Simons will supply a cornet solo, and the freshman girl scout troop will provide entertainment. Mothers of third grade pupils will serve refreshments.

Betty Jean Owen Becomes Bride of Richard Petersen

Betty Jean Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Owen of Thief River Falls, and Richard Dale Petersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Petersen, also of this city, were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony at the Community Church at eight o'clock Wednesday evening, December 31.

Appropriate to the holiday season, the church was beautifully decorated with a lighted Christmas tree, boughs of evergreen, and tall white candles in candelabra. Evergreen covered the chancel rail and also appeared in each of the church windows. Approximately 150 wedding guests were in attendance as the double ring service was read by Rev. E. C. Mead. Preceding the ceremony Gail Brown sang "Because."

The bridal gown, made by the bride's grandmother, was fashioned of white taffeta with net overskirt, ballerina length, with pleated net bodice, and full gathered skirt. The bride wore as her only jewelry a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom, and carried a white Bible which was a gift from her grandmother. She carried a bouquet of red roses and holly tied with white satin streamers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her cousin, Mrs. Carduff Leiran, of this city. Mr. Leiran was best man.

For the wedding of her daughter Mrs. Owen wore an aqua dress trimmed in black and the mother of the groom wore a dark gray crepe dress. Each costume was accented with a corsage of pink tea roses and small white carnations. The grandmothers of the bride and groom each had a corsage of red carnations and white snapdragons.

Following the ceremony, fifty relatives and friends were entertained at a reception at the home of the bride's parents. The wedding cake was cut by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Alfred Loer, and Mrs. Delmer Rux was in charge of the gifts. Another aunt of the bride, Mrs. Holt poured. Movies were taken of the bride and groom as they were cutting the cake.

For their wedding trip to Duluth and the North Shore Drive the bride chose for traveling a two-piece knit dress of beige with brown accessories. The couple returned here Monday to make their home at 723½ E. 8th St. The groom is a Soo Line employee and his wife was previously employed as saleslady at the S & L store.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Loer of Humboldt; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood of Two Harbors, Minn.; and Mr. and Mrs. John Reed of Holt.

A. Kleinvachters Observe Silver Wedding Dec. 28

In observance of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Kleinvachter, open house was held Sunday afternoon at their home in the city.

For the occasion the children presented Mrs. Kleinvachter with a corsage of pink roses and white carnations and Mr. Kleinvachter with a carnation boutonniere. The children also presented their parents with a chest of silverware.

A two tier anniversary cake topped with a figurine of silver slippers, with silver candles on either side, was used as the table centerpiece, Miss Arlette Kleinvachter of St. Paul poured.

Relatives and friends from a distance helping the Kleinvachters celebrate the event were Arlette and Dennis Kleinvachter of St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. James Kleinvachter and Mary Jo and Mr. and Mrs. Don Waage and family of St. Cloud; Mr. and Mrs. George Sommers of Fargo, N. D.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sykes of Grand Forks; Mrs. Ted Olson and Marilyn of Karlstad; and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kleinwachter and Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kleinwachter and daughters, Emil Kleinwachter and Mrs. Harry Storeby of Strandquist.

Former Plummer Man Married at Ashby, Minnesota

An impressive marriage ceremony took place in the Presbyterian church at Ashby, Minnesota, Sunday, December 14, when Miss Willa May Searles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Searles of Dalton, became the bride of John William Bruer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bruer of Olalla, Washington, formerly of Plummer. The Rev. Wilhelm Hempel officiated.

Mrs. Keith Kappahan was organist and accompanied Ida Martinson who sank "O Perfect Love," "O Promise Me," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white satin. Her bridal veil of illusion net fell from a cap edged with pearls and ruching, and her cascade bouquet was made up of roses and shattered carnations.

The bride's only attendant was Mary Lou Searles of Oak Terrace, who wore forest green taffeta trimmed with a velvet bertha, and a cap and neck ribbon of green velvet adorned with red shattered carnations. Stanley Thoreson of Minneapolis attended the groom and the ushers were Donald Searles and Robert Nelson of Newfolden.

Following the ceremony members of the Ladies Aid were hostesses at a reception in the church parlors. The traditional four tier wedding cake, surrounded by holly and topped with roses, graced the serving table. Mrs. Russell Nelson cut the wedding cake, and Mrs. Philip Lundberg poured. Others assisting were Mrs. Robert C. Anderson, guest book; Mrs. Gerald Nelson and Juniel Searles, gifts; waitresses, Mrs. Milo Haagenson, Nancy Hanson, Joyce Jorud, Kathleen Grover, Mary Jane and Phyllis Lundberg.

The bride graduated from the Ashby high school, attended Park College of Parkville, Miss. and the University of Minnesota. The groom is a graduate of the Plummer high school and Moorhead state teachers college. Mr. and Mrs. Bruer will reside at Olalla, Wash.

The out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nelson, Robert and Joan of Newfolden and Mr. and Mrs. Erling Nelson of Red Lake Falls.

Bonnie Lierboe Feted at Home of Parents in St. Paul

W. C. T. U. News Notes

The Womans Christian Temperance Union has received the final decision of the judges in the jingle contest. The winning entry was sent in by Paul and Sharon Wold, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benhard Wold, 301 Crocker Ave. S., Thief River Falls. Their jingle was:

Bottle Empty,
Car a Whizzin';
Vision foggy,
Funeral his'n

There were some excellent jingles and they may be used later. The local Union will use this jingle on road signs outside the city. If anyone would like to help with his project it would be greatly appreciated. They will need materials and labor and places to place these signs. Contact Mrs. R. B. Westacott or Mrs. Emil Koglin. The committee wishes to thank all those who sent in jingles. The Speech Dept. announces a double contest on Friday evening, Jan. 16, at the Black River Church. There will be a silver and a gold medal contest and special music.—Mrs. Westacott.

Services For Mrs. Elliott Held Monday

Mrs. Bessie Elliott, 93, passed away New Years Day at a local hospital. She had been confined to her bed for fourteen years after fracturing her hip and for the past seven years had been cared for at the home of her son, Reno Elliott of this city.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. O. Jacobsen at the Gulbranson Chapel at two o'clock Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Elliott was born in Stavanger, Norway, February 18, 1859, and at the age of 17 came with her parents to Iowa. Three years later the family moved to Henning, Minnesota, and in 1892 to Thief River Falls.

She is survived by one daughter, Miss Ina Elliott, and a son, Reno Elliott, both of this city. The three surviving grandchildren are Berton of Morris, Robert of Thief River Falls, and Mrs. Lorne Nelson of Edmonton, Alberta. Two great grandsons, Richard and Raymond Elliott, also live in Canada.

Final Rites For Frank LaPlante at Red Lake Falls

Frank LaPlante of Red Lake Falls passed away at St. John's Hospital in that city on December 29 at the age of 82 years. Funeral services were held at St. Joseph's Catholic Church Wednesday morning, December 31, with Rev. Donald Archer officiating.

The deceased was born Feb. 2, 1870 at Lake Linden, Mich., and at the age of 8 years came with his parents and settled southeast of Red Lake Falls. In 1919 he retired from farming and moved to Red Lake Falls.

Surviving are seven children: Fred LaPlante, Green Acres, Wash.; Leo, Fosston; Joe and Walter, Red Lake Falls; Mrs. Euclid Reopelle, Red Lake Falls; Mrs. George Fournier, Brooks; and Mrs. Jack Miller, Prince George, B. C.

Second Brother of Ben Kiewel Dies at Little Falls

Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Kiewel attended funeral rites in Little Falls Saturday for the former's brother, Frank Kiewel Sr., 71, general manager of the Kiewel Brewing Co. at Little Falls.

Born at Alexandria, Frank Kiewel was a former mayor of Little Falls, and had served as president of the Minnesota Brewers association the past nine years.

In addition to his wife, two sons and a daughter, he is survived by four brothers and two sisters. A brother, Joseph P. Kiewel, died December 22 at Little Falls.

Evangelyn Iverson, accompanied by John Boice, enjoyed a holiday visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Iverson. They left Saturday to return to the Cities where Mr. Boice is a teacher in the Minneapolis schools and Miss Iverson is employed as job analyst for Murphy Motor Freight Lines, Inc. in St. Paul.

1953 Chevrolets Displayed in City Friday, Saturday

Northern Chevrolet Co. to Display 1953 Models Including New Series

Expanded to include a third series of cars, and boasting more significant advances than ever incorporated in a model in the low-price field, the widely discussed new Chevrolets make their first public appearance at the Northern Chevrolet Co., local dealers, Friday and Saturday. Free door prizes will be awarded, it was announced.

For the 1953 market bodies have been completely re-designed. All cars have increased power, with special emphasis on a new power train that includes a new engine and improved automatic transmission. In performance, in economy, in driving and riding qualities, exterior and interior appointments, the latest Chevrolet models contribute importantly to automotive progress.

An entirely new series, to be known as the Bel Air, is credited with being the most luxurious in Chevrolet history. To be produced as two- and four-door sedans, a convertible and sport coupe the Bel Airs are included in the choice of 16 Fisher body types. Other passenger car series are designated as the "Two-Ten" and "One-Fifty."

A new 115-horsepower "Blue Flame" engine and a refined Powerglide automatic transmission is provided, being re-engineered for greater operating economy and faster pickup. The so-called "standard" engine also moves up to 108 horsepower, a gain of 17.4 per cent over 1952.

Gerald B. Flattum, who is employed by the Milwaukee Road at Aberdeen, S. D. and Miss Betty Adams, also of Aberdeen, returned there Friday after spending the Christmas holidays with the former's mother, Mrs. Selma Flattum.

Job-holders Here Decline Slightly During December

While the total number of employed persons in Thief River Falls dropped only slightly from 2,772 in November to 2,753 in December, a more substantial decline in the number of job-holders will take place in January, it was announced by R. S. Eldevik, manager of the local office of the state employment service, in his monthly report. Extra clerks employed by stores have been laid off, and turkey processing, which gave jobs to many, is being wound up this month. Eldevik stated that little demand for any type of labor is expected before March.

Northern Chevrolet Co. to Present New Models

Completely new in frontal appearance and offering other styling changes inside and out as well as many mechanical advances, the 1953 Oldsmobile models will be introduced Friday, January 9, at the Northern Chevrolet Co., local dealers.

Among the important improvements in the new models are further increases in efficiency of the "Rocket" engine, resulting in increased fuel economy and performance; compression ratio raised to 8 to 1, which also boosts the horsepower; a more efficient 12-volt ignition system; Frigidaire car conditioning that cools the car interior in the warmest weather, and "Pedal-Ease" power brakes to provide faster, safer stops.

The Frigidaire conditioning and power brakes are optional equipment available at extra cost. Two popular items, first introduced in 1952, GM power steering and the Autronic-Eye automatic headlight dimmer—all so are offered again as optional extras. Hydra Matic Super Drive, the pioneer and most proven of automatic transmissions, also is on the optional list. Directional signals are standard equipment on all 1953 series.

Three series of Oldsmobile cars are presented in 1953. The Classic "98" series has been extended to 215 inches in length and is built in three body styles—the four-door sedan, Holiday coupe and convertible coupe. Four body styles are available in the popular Super "88" series—four-door sedan, two-door sedan, Holiday coupe and convertible coupe. The economically priced Deluxe "88" series has two body types—two door sedan and four-door sedan.

Oliver Molstad, Soo Line agent at Fonda, N. D. spent a week at his home here during the holidays.

Mantoux TB Testing in Schools Next Week

A Mantoux testing program to detect the presence of tuberculosis will be conducted in the Thief River Falls public schools next week by Dr. Baldwin Borreson, superintendent of Oakland Park sanatorium, it was announced today by Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse.

Mrs. Race stated that this year's project will include only the kindergarten, ninth and twelfth grades, area vocational school, the faculty, maintenance staff and teacher training department.

All positive reactors will be given X-rays at the sanatorium at no expense to the student. Permit slips have been sent to parents of children participating and school authorities request that parents sign and return them without delay, so that they may have the comforting assurance that their children are free of the tuberculosis germ.

The tuberculin test is a simple and harmless method of determining whether a person is infected with the germs causing tuberculosis.

The test is made by placing a small amount of tuberculin between the layers of the skin of the forearm.

If the spot on the arm where the test was given becomes red and slightly raised in the center within 48 to 96 hours, the examining physician who must make the reading may pronounce the test positive.

If the spot fades away without becoming red and raised in the center he may call the test negative.

A negative test usually means no tuberculosis.

A positive test indicates only that tuberculosis germs have been taken into the body. It is not a cause for alarm.

Mrs. Tim Connors of Kenmare, N. D. returned to her home Wednesday last week after a few days visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gulrud, and at the D. M. Connors home.

Trumpetsound Institute Gets New Instructor

Rev. Benjamin F. Olson of the Bethel Lutheran church of Grand Forks will be the teacher for the next term of Trumpetsound Institute, beginning January 12 and continuing thru February 6, Raymond B. Martin, president announced. In keeping with the policy of the institute, Rev. Olson will use a concentrated study course in the Book of John.

Evening classes will be held in the Lutheran Mission building at 701 Dewey on Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning at 8 p. m. for all in the area who are interested. These will also be conducted by Pastor Olson.

The school will also have the special privilege of having Rev. Richard Stoehr, Hebrew Christian missionary, recently returned from Israel as an additional teacher in Jewish Missions for one week beginning January 18.

Beef Cookery Is Theme of Home Project Session

Beef cookery will be the topic of the next project lesson which homemakers enrolled in the Pennington county extension home program will participate in.

Leader training meetings have been scheduled to meet January 21, 22 and 23 at the Trinity church basement, and are to begin at 10:30 a. m. and continue until 3 o'clock.

At the leader training meetings a noon meal will be prepared and served by the leaders followed by discussion of some of the problems which confront the homemaker in daily meal preparation.

S. B. CLELAND

D. C. DVORACEK

Family farm partnerships and the 1953 outlook for agriculture will be the topics of discussion on Tuesday, January 13, at 1:30 p. m. in the Civic and Commerce room in the auditorium. S. B. Cleland and Dan Dvoracek, both of University Farm, will present the topics. The meeting is open to the public and everyone is invited to attend.

Mr. Dvoracek will speak briefly on the agricultural outlook at 1:30. This will be followed by the discussion on family farm partnerships and rental agreements by Cleland. This meeting should be of special interest to anyone operating on a partnership basis.

The topic has been chosen to give those working or expecting to use family partnership agreements some help in setting up their programs. There will be a question and answer period following the discussion.

SMILEY . . .

By Mrs. Jim McCrum, Rt. 2, city

Legislature Session off to Smooth Start

Gov. C. Elmer Anderson Will Be Inaugurated as Governor Today

Except for a slight flurry in the Senate, the 1953 Minnesota legislature got off to a smooth start Tuesday.

As expected, Rep. John Hartle, Owatonna, was re-elected speaker of the House and Sen. Donald O. Wright, Minneapolis, was named president pro tem of the Senate.

Today, at a joint meeting in the House chamber, Gov. C. Elmer Anderson will be inaugurated and will present his legislative program in an inaugural message.

Hartle, the conservative choice, defeated Rep. Fred Cina, Aurora, the liberal nominee, 85 to 46 for his third term as speaker.

Wright won over Sen. George L. Siegel, St. Paul, Senate minority leader, 51 to 13. The post of president pro tem carries with it the duty of presiding over the Senate in the absence of the lieutenant governor, Ancher Nelson, Hutchinson.

The break in Senate organization proceedings came when Sen. Archie Miller, Hopkins, the majority leader, moved for adoption of a resolution calling for hiring some 138 Senate employes.

Sen. Siegel called it "reckless and wasteful extravagance to hire so many" commenting that 38 of them will be sergeants-at-arms and doorkeepers.

He went on to accuse the Senate majority of using patronage "at the taxpayer's expense" to smooth the way for organization of the Senate.

When the resolution came to a vote, however, only two other senators joined Siegel in opposing it. They were C. E. Johnson, Alnelund, and Frank M. Wrabek, Leeenter. The vote was 61 to 3.

To Hartle now falls the task of naming standing committees in the House. One such committee, the rules committee headed by Rep. Roy Dunn of Pelican Rapids, was named Tuesday.

During its 90-minute session the Senate named all its standing committees and adopted temporary rules. Generally standing committees have the same members as two years ago. The Senate is ready to receive bills and the first ones are expected to be offered today.

Bray Insurance Co. Meeting Put off until Feb. 4

Due to the illness of John O. Swanson, veteran secretary, it was announced this week, the annual meeting of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance company had been postponed from January 15 to Wednesday, February 4, at 1 o'clock p. m. The meeting will be in the school auditorium at St. Hilaire.

Rural Schools to Conduct Spelling Contest Jan. 17th

The annual spelling contest for the rural schools of Pennington county will be held Saturday, January 17, at Lincoln High School, beginning at two o'clock. The winner will participate in the contest at Crookston during the Valley Winter Shows. Mrs. A. C. Matheson, county superintendent of schools, will conduct the contest with the assistance of rural teachers.

Auto Collision on 3d Street Sunday

A pickup truck owned by Morris Odegaard and driven by Richard Odegaard, 15, drove out of the alley in the rear of the S & L store Sunday at 12:30 and collided with a car driven by Gerald Solie of Rt. 2, Crookston, who was passing on East Third st. Police estimated damage to the two cars at about $125, and stated that the Odegaard youth would be brought into court for operating a car without a driver's license.

1953 Cadillac to Be Introduced to Public Thursday

Featuring a new 210-horsepower engine, improved Hydramatic drive and advanced power steering, the 1953 Cadillac will be presented to Thief River Falls citizens Thursday by the Wiener Top & Body Works. The new car is offered in three series, the Sixty-two, the Sixty Special and the Seventy-five.

From the State Capitol

By W. E. DAHLQUIST

With an after-the-deadline Saturday and Sunday meeting our interim committee to study the mental health program and youth conservation finished its job. While there was no clock covering involved in this last minute rush to complete the work of the last session before the new session got under way, the net result was the same. The important thing is that a job gets done in time to accomplish its purpose.

This was the twentieth meeting of the committee, held over a period of a year and a half. Composed of five members from each legislative body, sub-committees of the group have visited each of the institutions. A large number of people with special knowledge on some phase of the problems involved have been interviewed.

These interviews were recorded and have been typed and duplicated to be available as background material for the committee's condensed report. The conclusions and recommendations of the committee will be printed and given to all members of the legislature.

And so another $25,000 of the state's money has been spent. Can such an expenditure be justified? That's always a good question. I think it will prove to be worthwhile in terms of dollars and cents and from the standpoint of finding more satisfactory solutions for some of these difficult problems.

We are spending many millions of dollars a year to maintain these services and facilities. If we operated a private business in which so many millions were being expended by our employees we would consider it good policy to spend a few dollars occasionally checking on how that business was being conducted. Merely the fact that a check is made has a salutary effect.

Our institution operating costs have gone up enormously in recent years. Along with the higher cost of all commodities that must be purchased, and the higher wages paid to employees at all levels, there has come the added cost of the shorter work week. The eight hour work day means that three people must be employed where 24 hour service is required. And when the five day week and vacations and sick-leave time are taken into consideration we must have four people on the payroll to make one person available 24 hours a day.

Last year about one-third of the people admitted to our institutions for the mentally ill were 65 years of age or older and were committed as seniles.

Responsible officials appearing before us agreed that most of these old people could be better provided for in their own communities. Many of them are committed because there are not adequate facilities to provide for them at the local level.

When we commit people, declaring them to be mentally incompetent, we take away not only their liberty but also their civil rights. It isn't pleasant to reflect on what we are doing to hundreds of our aged who, comparatively, are mentally competent. Not only are we not providing adequately for them but actually we are inflicting upon them a needless cruelty.

What is the answer? Obviously it is more and better homes for the aged.

Here again we run into some strange contradictions. Many of the limited facilities we do have in our communities do not measure up to the standards of health and safety that have been established by the regulations of state authorities.

We will all agree that fireproof buildings are desirable and that it is a fine thing to have adequate toilet facilities. For those of us, however, who have a personal recollection of outdoor plumbing and who go to bed night after night in quarters that are not fireproof, it is natural to wonder sometimes if we are not trying to achieve perfection faster than we can afford it.

We continue to use school buildings and hospitals that are not fireproof. We permit the continued operation of hotels that are not fireproof. As we replace these old utilities over a period of years we go along in support of the regulations for health and safety. Regardless of how much we deplore the fact we realize that this, of necessity, must be a gradual process.

I think that if we were making the decision in the case of our own parents, and had to determine whether, merely because fireproof facilities were not available to them in their home community they should be committed to a state institution, most of us would say better we take a few chances and let them live their few remaining years in our home facilities even tho those facilities are not completely safe and sanitary by present standards.

That is only the temporary expedient of course. We must provide better than we have. And inasmuch as there would be a saving to the state if more of these people were provided for in their home communities, maybe we would be justified in passing that saving along to the communities as we now assist, for instance, in the maintenance of hospitals for the tubercular. As more of us live longer we are going to have a continuing increase in the number of aged people who will have to be provided for. It is a problem that we are going to have with us for a long time.

PUBLIC OPINION

To The Public:

From time to time we hear people criticize the Girl's Drum & Bugle Corps. We want criticism and suggestions when they are given to us, and certainly believe everyone has a right to their own opinion, but why do some people go to the extent they do? Most of the criticism expressed harms the unit because it is not given to us direct and when we do hear of it, it has no foundation. There are drum and bugle corps over the entire nation and every marching band and drum corps has its majorettes. Too few people know anything about the Corps and haven't actually tried to find out.

These girls are not only learning to play an instrument and taught rhythm, they are taught co-ordination of eyes, ears, arms and legs at the sound of a whistle or command. They are taught to be alert and observing. They learn to adjust themselves to various situations by developing and using their own initiative.

They are taught not to select their friends by the home they live in, the clothes they wear, or the job their father holds. They learn that each girl is a separate individual in herself and to judge her as such. They learn to obey and respect whoever is in charge whether at home or away. No quarreling is allowed among corps members.

Girls learn to iron out their difficulties in adult like manners without carrying grudges, and all members must tell the truth. They learn to care for their clothing and belongings. They learn how to grow up and act accordingly. They are taught that a smile and a cheerful disposition are contagious. In addition they develop poise and character and are taught the meaning and value of trustworthiness and friendship.

By being a corps member they have an organization of their own, governed and ruled by themselves with adult supervision.

Ninety-seven percent of the Corps members do not own a band instrument and in the corps they have found an outlet for that desire to belong to a marching organization.

The parents of Corps members are concerned about keeping them busy and off the streets by giving them something to do during their idle winter hours and summer months.

The Corps not only publicizes Thief River Falls, but as L. L. Desjardins of Winnipeg wrote, "Your girls are most well mannered and their conduct is certainly a credit to your city of Thief River Falls."

The Corps, myself, Parental Groups and its officers realize people have questions from time to time and we solicit your co-operation to ask these questions or convey to us any suggestions you may have from time to time by calling me at 1511 or Parental Group president, Mrs. Elmer Zachar at 291-J and we will gladly answer any questions and try our utmost to use your suggestions.

If more people would give the girls of the Drum and Bugle Corps more praise they would be a happier group in 1953.

Mrs. D. L. Carlson, Director

New Ford Tractor Is Now on Display

Golden Jubilee Model at Tunberg Farm Supply

Placed on display Saturday at the Tunberg Farm Supply, 1223 Main av. N., was the golden jubilee model Ford tractor, with hydraulic controls and three-point linkage for implements.

The new tractor, marking the 50th anniversary of Ford Motor Co., not only is more powerful, but larger and heavier than the popular Model 8N. More than 500,000 Model 8N tractors have been sold since their production started in 1947. It is powered by the entirely new, overhead valve Ford "Red Tiger" engine.

The live-action hydraulic system built into the golden jubilee model to provide mechanical muscles for a wide variety of work, has been improved for greater power and faster, more accurate operation.

Wiener's to Show '53 Buick Friday

Numerous Improvements Provided in New Models

The 1953 Golden Anniversary line of Buick automobiles will go on display at the Wiener Top & Body Works, local distributors. The new models feature a high compression, valve-in-head V-8 engine of new design in both the Roadmaster and Super series, a new Twin Turbine Dynaflow that greatly improves performance and economy, and new styling inside and out.

The new engine, which develops 188 horsepower in the Roadmaster and 170 in the Super, is of the 90-degree "V" type with a compression ratio of 8.5-to-1, the highest in the industry.

Buick's power steering, which proved popular last year, has been made standard equipment on the 1953 Roadmaster and is offered as an option on the Super and Special.

Power brakes, which take 75 per cent of the effort out of braking, are offered as optional equipment on the Roadmaster.

New styling features include a new front end, new headlights modelled after those on the Buick's XP-300, new rear fenders and interior trim combinations that offer beauty and luxury.

Roseau at Crookston.

The Northwest hockey league teams, with the "roster-freezing" date approaching, on Jan. 20th, will be completing their "shake down" games this week, and prepare for the stretch run.

The Thieves, playing a fine brand of hockey, and with left-wing Stan Craig rapping in four goals, upset the high-scoring Warroad Lakers, winning by a 5 to 2 score in a game played on the Arena ice.

The Roseau Cloverleafs, with center-ice man Wally Stefaniw back in the lineup, and with their best home-talent line of Markstrom-Baumgartner-Hedlund continuing to sparkle, defeated the Grand Forks Redwings, 5 to 2, in a bruising game played at Roseau on Saturday night.

The Crookston Pirates, last year's league champions, marked up their first win of the schedule when, by a 5 to 3 score, they bested the Hallock Lions at Hallock.

Important tilts in this week's schedule will find the Warroad Lakers at Grand Forks on Wednesday night, the Thieves at Crookston on Thursday night; and the Thieves at Warroad on Sunday afternoon.

TRF Schools Are Recognized for Health Roundups

More than 21,000 Minnesota school beginners were examined by doctors and dentists before the start of school last fall, according to the annual report on the summer roundup conducted by the Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers

The Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association, which cooperates in promoting pre-school health examinations, is now awarding certificates to 431 PTAs in 70 counties for their excellent participation.

Washington, Knox and Northrup schools of Thief River Falls earned outstanding achievement "plus" ratings for their summer roundup programs.

The number of children receiving health check-ups to prepare them for school opening has doubled in the last two years, Mrs. William V. Evans, St. Paul, state roundup chairman, said this week.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY TO TAKE COMMUNION SUNDAY

Members of St. Bernards Holy Name society will attend holy communion as a group at the 8:30 mass Sunday morning, January 11. A business meeting of the society will be held following a breakfast in the church basement to be served by Ken Laliberte, George Gagner and Pat Casey.

Prowlers Take Green Wave & Fargo Quints; Play Crookston Jan. 9

Lincoln School Quintet Also Will Face Bemidji Here Saturday Evening

The weekend schedule found coach Bob Nick's basketball Prowlers marking up a pair of victories. On Friday night, in a game that was typical of contests between the Prowlers & the Green Wave of East Grand Forks, the locals, by a 50 to 43 score, won an important district game; and on Saturday night, making their second foray into North Dakota for a game against a Class A opponent, the locals defeated the Fargo high school Midgets, 41 to 35.

This week's schedule will find the Prowlers engaged in another double-header, meeting the Crookston Pirates here on Friday night, and then entertaining the Bemidji Lumberjacks on Saturday night. With preliminary games between the 'B' squads preceding the varsity games, it is probable that the games will tip-off at 8:30 P. M.

Friday night's Prowlers vs. Green Wave game was typical of the contests usually waged between the two schools, and it was only through some adept ball-control play in the final minutes that coach Nick's squad was able to register their seven-point win over coach Snooks Sullivan's club.

The Prowlers, with Dude Rafteseth opening the game's scoring by hitting on a jump shot at 1:05, held the lead throughout the greater part of the game, but the Green Wave always kept within reach of the locals.

Trailing by a 37 to 35 opening the final period, East Grand Forks' Ron Jeffrey, on a drive-in play, scored on a push-up, and, when fouled on the play, added a free throw, giving the Green Wave a 38 to 37 lead. Art Johnson's free throw at 1:45 evened the score at 38-all; only to have Darrel Winlaw's gifter send East Side again into a one-point lead. Gary Smith, the game's high point player, looped a one-hand toss into the net; LeRoy Aasland found west basket with a two-handed overhead flip. After Winlaw had marked up a Green Wave free throw, Johnson rolled a hook shot into the basket; and Smith, at 4:30, scored a fielder from the lane.

The Prowlers protected that lead by utilizing a semi-stall, and picked up four more points via the free-throw line.

In a preliminary game, the East Grand Forks team, on 13 points by Bob Gilmadahl, and 12 points by Ron Nesbit, defeated the Prowler 'B' team, 37 to 34. Arvid Louie Wedul led the scorers for the local B, getting 14 points.

On Saturday night, playing at Fargo, the Prowlers, holding the lead throughout, and having a fifteen-point bulge in the fourth period, defeated Acey Olson's Fargo high school Midgets, winning by a 41 to 35. Art Johnson, with 13 points and Gary Smith, with 12 points, were the high scorers for the Prowlers; while guard Pete Gergen paced the Midgets, getting nine points.

Junior Hockey Six Scores Win over Red Lake Falls 9-0

Paul Bedard's classy junior hockey team scored their second win of the year over the Red Lake Falls juniors, marking up a 9 to 0 triumph on Saturday morning at the Arena. On Saturday, in a game that is slated to start at noon, Coach Bedard will send his squad against Jimmy Doyle's Warroad juniors.

The local juniors first line of Jack Poole, Glen Carlson, and Chip Strand accounted for six of the goals on Saturday. Jimmy Hall and Art Cloutier, wings on the line centered by Jimmy Reese, scored a goal each; and the "Pony" line of Greg Ranum, Mickey Poole, and Dale Glass added a goal.

Cal Offerdahl, who was in the nets for the first two periods, and Pat Poole, were credited with the shutout.

Thieves Whip Strong Warroad Six 5 to 2; Play Crookston Next

The senior hockey Thieves, with left-winger Stan Craig rapping in four goals and getting one assist, defeated the highly-rated Warroad Lakers, 5 to 2, in a well-played Northwest Hockey league game here Sunday afternoon. On Thursday night the Thieves will travel to Crookston for an encounter with the Pirates; and on Sunday afternoon the local squad will play a return game with the Lakers, playing at Warroad.

With defenseman Tony Dorn on the sick list, suffering from a bad cold, coach Paul Bedard was forced to shuffle his lineup, moving Bruce Hall back to a blue-line position. And with Murray Balagus still out of action because of a hand injury, and with Ken Little, who played here last week, being signed with the Crookston Pirates, the Thieves used Stan Craig as forward.

The Thieves notched the game's first goal on Sunday when Church Russell banked in Craig's rebound, beating Harry Barefoot at 12:25. The lead was short-lived for the Lakers, on a two-man break, scored at 16:58, with Walt Christianson taking an assist from Ed "Torpedo" Kliner to even the game.

A pair of Stan Craig goals, the first at 7:25, and the second at 15:35, gave the Thieves a well-deserved 3 to 1 lead in the second period. Craig rammed in his first tally following a melee in front of the Laker net, and scored his second goal when he took Billy Winter's rebound off the boards and, with an open net, dunked the disc into the cage.

Christianson and Kliner, at 3:31 of the third period, pared the Thieves lead, when on a rebound, Christianson beat goalie Jack Peters. With Warroad's Kliner serving a penalty, the locals scored on a "power" play, with Craig getting marker and Bedard and Don Costello the assists. Craig concluded the game's scoring by finishing off a play set up by Russell, hitting the nets at 9:46, giving the Thieves a 5 to 2 triumph.

S. R. O.

There will be a basketball tournament atmosphere around the local gymnasium on Friday and Saturday, and it's probable, if weather and travel conditions are favorable, that Principal Kal Osthy will "have" to use the Standing Room Only signs in order to accommodate the crowds that will jam-pack the place. On Friday night, in an important district game, the Prowlers will play the Crookston Pirates; and on Saturday night, coach Bun Fortier will bring his Bemidji Lumberjacks here.

While most of the interest of the eighth region's basketball fans will be focussed on the Saturday night tilt between the Prowlers and the Jacks, the possibility is that the Crookston Pirates contest, which is a conference game, will provide the fire-works.

The Pirates, who have been beaten by East Grand Forks and Bemidji, have, in Don Mjoen and Roger Solheim, the height to compete on near-even terms with the Prowlers for rebounds. And while it is true that the Green Wave handled the Pirates with comparative ease, the decisiveness of that loss was due to the early removal from the game, on fouls, of Mjoen and Solheim. Crookston, coming in here just before the Bemidji game, are in as strategic a position as if they had juggled the schedule for their profit.

Bemidji, smarting from the two losses the Prowlers administered last year, will be coming here on Saturday with a team that is hoping to rebound from the defeat handed out by the state-champion Hopkins club last month. The Jacks, in Larry Shaskey, Jim Lawrence, Don Phelps, Jim Parker, Harold Deuscher, and Walt Gulbranson, are an all-veteran outfit that uses a fast-break offense and an all-court press on defense.

Just on a hunch, we'll predict that the Prowlers will have a half-lost weekend.

Surgery

We've learned that the surgery that was performed on Jack Erickson's left knee, at the University Hospital last week, was quite an operation.

The knee was injured during football practice when Jack, running at fullback in a scrimmage against the Gopher varsity, was hit by line-backer John Baumgartner. Last week the University surgeons made a seven-stitch incision on one side of the knee in order to remove cartilage fragments; and to complete the removal of those fragments, it was necessary to make a six-stitch cut on the other side.

We're hoping that Jack's knee will mend okay.

And speaking of injuries, it comes as good news to report that the personable Pat Finnegan, the former Eveleth high school, North Dakota U, Grand Forks Amerks, and Crookston Pirates, stand-out center-ice man, is recovering, in a Duluth hospital, from surgery to repair a crushed spinal disc. Pat, playing in an Iron Range hockey game, was hit in the back by a flying puck, the injury causing a partial paralysis.

Pat centered the Eveleth line that had Neil Celley and Wally Grant on the wings in 1945, and that line, in the opinion of Eveleth's coach, Cliff Thompson, was the best high school line he has coached.

Rockets go Boom

Roland "Stretch" Erickson, the manager of the Pharmacy Rockets independent basketball team, is wearing an especially wide grin this week, and all because his team scored a 52 to 50 win over Newfolden at Newfolden on Saturday night.

The Rockets were forced to make a spectacular rally in order to gain the verdict, for they trailed by seven points with just minutes to go.

Maynard Johnson, the former Minnesota and Macalester basketball star, was the bomber that nudged Newfolden into the lost column, the rangy center racking up thirty five points, and it was his free throw that broke a 50 to 50 tie.

Miscellany

Ancil Ilstrup, who has been up here several times as a referee in regional and district basketball tournaments, & who is an athletic coach at West high school in Minneapolis, has been stricken by a heart attack.—Tony Dorn, the Thieves' sturdy defenseman, missed last Sunday's game, being out of the lineup on his doctor's orders. Tony has been bedded by a virus infection.—Roger Williamson, co-captain, with Dick Bjorkman, of the Prowler cage team last year, has been promoted to the North Dakota U varsity squad by coach Louie Bogan. Roger, who was handicapped by an ankle injury during the early practice sessions, will again be a team-mate of Dick's.

Lincoln Hockey Team Defeats Greenbush Six

Prowlers Open Regional Schedule with 14-2 Win; Play Crookston Tonight

Coach Dennis Rolle's hockey Prowlers opened their regional schedule on Tuesday afternoon by skating to a 14 to 2 win over Greenbush in a game played at Greenbush. This evening, on the Arena ice, the Prowlers will play the ever-dangerous Crookston Cathedral sextet.

On Saturday night the local squad will travel to Warroad for an important regional game against coach Bernie Broderick's Warriors. And on next Tuesday night, Jan. 13th, coach Oscar Almquist will bring his Roseau high school sextet here for a conference game.

Coach Rolle's two first-string lines accounted for all of the goals in yesterday's high-scoring tussle at Greenbush. Lyle Guttu, wing on the line centered by Marv Jorde in four goals, with Darryl Durgin getting one goal, and Jorde adding a pair. Mike Hajostek, wing on the line centered by Joey Poole, hit the laces for three goals, while Bob Helgeland and Poole each connected for a pair of tallies.

The Prowlers held a 3 to 0 first period lead, and a 6 to 1 advantage at the end of the second period, and rolled up eight goals in the final period.

Greenbush' center, Roy Paulson, was credited with the two goals scored against the Prowler net-minders, beating Billy Maruska for a tally in the second period, and getting a shot past Jack Hoppe in the third period.

Frank Blair Reviews Game, Fish Progress

The ten chief accomplishments of the Minnesota division of game and fish for the biennium ending June 30, 1952, are listed by Director Frank D. Blair in an article, "Game & Fish Progress Report" appearing in the November-December issue of The Conservation Volunteer, official publication of the Minnesota department of conservation.

"The following," Mr. Blair said, "are what I consider to be the chief accomplishments:

"1. The new Roseau River game refuge and public hunting grounds, covering 53,000 acres, is the largest and most outstanding game restoration project in the history of Minnesota game and fish. Cost of land and development will be in excess of $800,000.

"2. The cooperative agreement between the division of game & fish and the department of highways for use of two-way radio communication was the most outstanding coordination of state law enforcement agencies yet achieved in Minnesota. The radio hook-up will consist of 6 bay stations and 12 substations.

"3. Greatest accomplishment in fisheries restoration work has been the gradual control of rough fish. Effects of the intensive program of removal are evidenced in fewer and smaller carp and better game fishing in southern lakes.

"4. Construction during the biennium of 11 rearing ponds, covering 272 acres and with a maximum capacity of 3,536,000 fingerling fish was a record. Total maximum capacity of all rearing ponds is 9,700,000 fingerlings. The goal we have set is 20,000,000 fingerlings per year.

"5. The number of game food and cover plantings to improve game habitat was increased during the biennium from 445,480 pieces in 1950 to 2,685,100 pieces in 1952.

Ford Motor Co. to Observe Fiftieth Birthday in 1953

Ford Motor Company is 50 years old this year.

To mark its 50th anniversary, the company has planned a series of commemorative events during 1953.

Highlight of the anniversary year will be dedication of the company's $50,000,000 Engineering and Research Center in Dearborn, Mich. The ceremony is set for June 16, date of the company's incorporation in 1903. It will be followed by a state dinner to be attended by several hundred national figures.

On the same day, local company officials, Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers and their wives will attend anniversary banquets in 33 United States cities in which Ford maintains plants, parts depots, and sales offices.

A pictorial book, "Ford at Fifty," will be published by Simon and Schuster in April. A portrait of an industrial enterprise taken in its 50th year, the book graphically depicts the American environment and the people who make possible the growth and success of such an institution.

Approximately 500,000 copies of the book will be produced. Each of Ford's 160,000 employes will receive one.

528 Persons Die in Traffic Mishaps in State in 1952

Total Is 84 Less Than in 1951 Despite Marked Increase in Traffic Load

Minnesota motorists ended the year 1952 with one of the outstanding life-saving records in the entire nation, according to preliminary traffic fatality records made public today by the state highway department.

On the basis of incomplete reports, it appears that 84 fewer people lost their lives in traffic mishaps during 1952 than in the previous year. This saving in lives takes on added significance when it is considered that traffic volumes throughout the state increase approximately seven percent during the past year over the 1951 figures.

Barring receipt of reports of later deaths resulting from 1952 traffic accidents, the total of 528 deaths will set a new post-war low for the state, with the previous low death toll of 532 having been registered in 1950. Last year's traffic deaths, however, are certain to be substantially below the 1951 toll of 612.

One of the brightest spots in the 1952 traffic death picture is the reduction in pedestrian deaths, with 110 walkers being struck down, as compared with 128 in 1951. This marks the fifth consecutive year that this type of traffic death has been below the previous year's figure.

A total of 44 deaths were charged against motorists during December, in the preliminary figures, matching the number of fatalities of December 1951. It was only the second months of the entire year 1952 that failed to show a reduction in deaths, as compared with the comparable month of 1951, with the deaths in July being one over those for July 1951.

Burt G. Sundberg, Kittson County Attorney, Is Dead

Burt G. Sundberg, 36, of Hallock, Kittson county attorney, died unexpectedly Thursday at a Minneapolis hospital where he had recently undergone surgery.

Mr. Sundberg was named to the county attorney post in 1950. He was a veteran of four years World War II service with the Navy and was discharged with the rank of lieutenant.

A life-long resident of Kittson county, Mr. Sundberg was born at Kennedy, June 17, 1916. He attended Gustavus Adolphus college at St. Peter and the University of Minnesota and graduated from the University of North Dakota law school, Grand Forks.

He practiced law at Kennedy from 1947 to 1949. He had been a resident of Hallock since 1949.

He is survived by his wife, the former Virginia Moline, whom he married at Watertown, Minn., in 1941; two sons, James and Paul; his mother, Mrs. J. E. Sundberg of Kennedy; and two sisters, Mrs. L. Folson of St. Thomas, N. Dak., and Mrs. L. Brende of Spokane, Wash.

Mr. Sundberg was active in Lions club work in Hallock and was past president of the organization. He also served as deputy district governor for northwestern Minnesota. He was a member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars in Hallock and the Hallock Lutheran church.

Farmer co-ops in Minnesota, according to a University survey, have assets of $227,093,000, of which $113,091,000 is current, against total liabilities of not quite $86,000,000 of which $68,981,000 are current.

Average Man Owes $1,840 as Share of the Public Debt

Amount Compares with $313 Per Capita Owed 20 Years Ago in 1932

The average American owed $1 more in 1951 than he did in 1932, in terms of local debt per capita. But as a federal taxpayer he was $1,527 more in the hole in 1951 than in 1932, again on a per capita basis.

Unbelievers are referred to the seventh and latest edition of Facts and Figures on Government Finance, 1952-53, issued by the Tax Foundation. The Foundation, a private, non-profit research organization, publishes the reference work for editors, public officials and the interested citizen biennially.

Back in 1932, the per capita local debt was only $134. By 1951 it had risen only $1 to $135. However, indicative of the swift rise of federal spending, by 1951 the average man in the U. S. owed $1,840 as his share of all debt (federal, state, and local), as against the $313 he "owed" back in 1932.

The total debt of all government in the U. S. at the end of fiscal 1951 was $282 billion—only about $3 billion less than at the peak of World War II. The federal debt alone, $259 billion, highest in any year since 1946 was the equivalent of about $1,-$650 for every man, woman and child in the nation. The interest on this debt, it is estimated, will amount to about $39 per person by the end of fiscal 1953, making it the highest in the nation's history.

Gross Revenues of Soo Line Down During November

Soo Line gross revenues for the month of November, 1952, as reported today by G. A. MacNamara, president, amounted to $3,166,480 as compared to $3,735,485 for the same month in 1951, or a decrease of $569,005.

For the eleven months' period in 1952 gross revenues were $39,403,666, while comparable figures in 1951 were $38,675,866, an increase of $727,800. Operating expenses for November, 1952 were $258,186 greater than in November, 1951, and for the eleven-month period of 1952 show an increase of $1,138,302 over the same period in 1951.

The net income at the close of the eleven month period in 1952, after allowing for all contingent interest and sinking fund charges accrued up to date, amounts to $1,307,197, a decrease of $751,656 from the comparable period in 1951.

THE NEW REVISED STANDARD VERSION OF THE BIBLE

Pastor Walter M. Pedersen

Perhaps the new translation of our Bible is of more universal interest to our reading public than many other issues of today. Some of you may have been deeply disturbed by uninformed clergy who have attacked the translation in their blind ignorance and prejudice. My aim, in this editorial, is to settle the minds of the disturbed public, to reestablish their faith in the Revised Standard Version. I do not claim to be an authority in the field of Biblical translation, but Dr. John Stensvaag of Augsburg Seminary, Minneapolis, Minnesota, whom I shall quote at length later, is an honest Biblical scholar of unquestioned authority.

Some of the attacks against the new translation are not only a product of blind ignorance but of an ignorance driven by passion which often leads to lies, deception, and blasphemy. As you perhaps have read, one fanatical preacher in Ohio, having difficulty igniting the revised Version with a blowtorch, lately said to his observers, "It's like the devil; it's hard to burn." That an irresponsible individual could speak so viciously in gross ignorance is perhaps understandable, but that a religious paper could call the language of the new revision "the filthy language of the gutter rat" is shocking blasphemy. This same article asserts that in 1900 some Greek papyrus documents were found in the belly of a mummified crocodile. From this document so the article declares, came the New Revised Standard Version. Then the writer proceeds; "After reading carefully the New Testament and much of the Old Testament, I am convinced that instead of coming out of the belly of the crocodile it has come out of the belly of Hell." His contention, that these Greek papyrus documents, presumed to have been found in the belly of a mummified crocodile, are the origin of the Revised Standard Version, is absolutely ridiculous, a blatant lie.

What does an honest Biblical scholar have to say concerning the translation? Dr. John Stensvaag of Augsburg College and Seminary, who appeared in my pulpit at Zion last November, is recognized among Biblical authorities as an honest, sincere, accurate scholar. We will let Dr. Stensvaag speak. I quote:

"What is the truth about the new Bible? From careful study and repeated reading of the New Testament and from careful reading of large sections of the Old Testament, including all crucial passages, I am convinced that it is a noble and authentic translation—one in which we can have complete confidence. The appearance of this Bible is to me a great cause for rejoicing and for gratitude to God. It will help immeasurably to make the Word of God clear and readable and vital for the people of our day. It is a wonderful gift of God to our generation, and I recommend it heartily for public and private use.

"Let us look now at some of the accusations directed against the New Version Some denounce it for departing from the King James Version in several places. But surely it should be self-evident that the question is not that of being true to the King James but to the Greek New Testament and the Hebrew Old Testament as preserved in the manuscripts. A great number of very ancient and reliable manuscripts have been discovered since the King James translation was made in 1611. To ignore these would be a deliberate rejection of the truth, completely unworthy of a disciple of Christ. Let us remember that when Jesus says that not 'one jot or one tittle' shall pass away from the law, he is not talking about the King James but about the Scripture in its original language. Therefore the Revisers sought to determine as carefully as possible what the original text was, and made their translation accordingly.

"The Revisers are accused of deleting the word 'blood' from Col. 1:14 because of alleged hostility to the doctrine of the atonement, but if you look in the American Standard Version, you will find it missing there, too! Why? Because it is missing in the best and oldest Greek manuscripts. The question is: Do we want an accurate text or a text according to our own liking? And notice that in Col. 1:20 the 'blood of his cross' is retained. If the Revisers were determined to eliminate the 'blood' why did they not eliminate it here?

"One of the chief criticisms made of the new Version is that it seeks to detract from the deity of Christ. In Matt. 27:54, for example, the Revisers are accused of Modernism for reading 'a son of God' instead of 'the Son of God' as in the King James. But if you look in the Greek you will find that there is no definite article before 'son.' We do find the definite article in Matt. 16:16, and here the Revisers read 'the Son.' I am sick at heart as I read these unjust and uncharitable indictments coming in the name of Orthodoxy.

"Look in John 1:18 and you will find that the King James reads: 'The only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him; The Revisers, however, add a footnote in their text saying that many ancient authorities read 'God' instead of 'Son.' If the Revisers were deliberately trying to undermine the deity of Jesus Christ, they would certainly have left out this footnote. It is just another evidence that the Revisers were honest men, seeking to give us the facts as they found them.

"Earlier we quoted from an article which claimed that the Revisers had 'consistently removed or toned down references to the deity of Jesus Christ' in the Old Testament. I have examined all the passages in question and find that this is another false and libelous statement. Note, for example, the new translation of Isaiah 9:6. 'For to us a child is born, to us a son is given; and the government will be upon his shoulder, and his name will be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. Can anyone claim that this is a toning down of the reference to the deity of Christ? See also Gen. 49:10 where the new Version has made a Messianic prophecy more clear and pointed than the King James.

"The Revisers are accused of liberalism for eliminating the term 'Jehovah' in the Old Testament. This too, is groundless. The fact is that all Bible scholars, both conservative and liberal, have known for a long time that there never has been a name for God that was pronounced 'Jehovah.' The proper pronunciation was something like 'Yahweh,' but since the introduction of this term would certainly be confusing to the reader, it simply was thought better to revert to the 'LORD' of the King James. The King James, in turn, simply followed the Jewish practice from before the time of Christ.

"The major attack of the critics has been directed against the translation of Isaiah 7:14. The King James reads: 'Behold, a virgin shall conceive and bear a son.' The new version reads: 'Behold, a young woman shall conceive and bear a son.' Here, they say, is clear evidence of Modernism in the new Bible, for here the Revisers reject the virgin birth of Christ. May I say, first of all, that it is not a question of Modernism versus Orthodoxy. As far back as 1942, in a lecture to our Pastors' Institute, I pointed out that the Hebrew word used here ought not to be translated 'virgin' but 'young woman,' and I presented positive proof for this statement. It is not a matter of what we like or would want to see—it is a matter of truth. If the Hebrew text does not say 'virgin,' we have no moral right to translate it so. At Augsburg, at least, we have been taught that 'in life, the highest aim is truth.'

"The elimination of 'virgin' from Isaiah 7:14 has not done away with the 'virgin birth' of Christ or made him 'the son of a bad woman.' The doctrine of the virgin birth is not based on the passage in Isaiah but on Matt. 1:18-25 and Luke 1:26-35. Read these passages and see if the Revisers have in any way toned down the Scriptural teaching of the virgin birth. By rendering Isaiah 7:14 with 'young woman' the doctrine is not undermined in the least—it simply means that the Isaiah passage is not a clear, direct prophecy of the 'virgin' aspect of the birth. Personally, I want to know what the Bible says. Unless the translators give us a faithful rendering of the original text, we can have no confidence in their translation.

"Let me say again that I am glad and thankful to God for the new Version of the Holy Bible. In my estimation it is an excellent piece of work done by first-rate scholars, and I believe it conveys to us God's Word in a more accurate form than ever before. It is in a very real sense the 'oldest' Bible because it is based on older manuscripts, manuscripts nearer to the time of composition, than any previous translation. I believe that those who say that it is 'not a safe book,' who denounce it as 'blasphemous' and label it 'the master stroke of the Devil' are guilty of an enormous sin against Christ and men, and as surely as God lives, they will one day have to answer for their crime.

"Permit me in conclusion to quote briefly from a pamphlet put out to explain the methods and principles observed by the translators: 'There is no place for theology in Bible translation, whether conservative or radical or whatever else. A theological translation is not a translation at all, but merely a dogmatic perversion of the Bible . . . The Bible translator . . . has no right whatever to intrude his opinions into the translation, or permit his dogmatic convictions to qualify or shape its wording. His one responsibility, and it is absolute, is to render the Biblical meaning as accurately and effectively as is possible into appropriate English.' "

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

The Minnesota legislature convened this week for what is certain to be one of the most difficult and money-tight sessions in the history of the state.

Formal organization of the two houses, the inauguration of Governor C. Elmer Anderson, and the usual preliminaries—wherein new and old members become acquainted with each other and with legislative procedures—will dominate the proceedings for at least the opening 10 days of the 90-day session, and then the legislators will plunge into the toughest agenda they have faced in two decades.

The biggest worry, as everyone knows, is the matter of producing sufficient revenue to meet all the many state governmental needs. The Governor's inaugral message gave the general theme of what he hopes the legislature will accomplish, but the main center of interest will be the Governor's proposals for raising additional revenue, and this will come when he delivers his budget message.

Check-list Reveals Score of Big Issues

Some idea of the scope and immensity of the problems our legislators will face during this session can be obtained from running down this check-list which shows a score or more of the big issues we must face in this biennial meeting.

TAXES—This is the big issue. Most everyone agrees that property, income, gasoline, cigaret, liquor taxes are already as high as they can safely go. Can we afford to hike the iron ore tax or should we hit for a sales tax? This may very well become the Number 1 question of the entire session.

SCHOOL FUND—Central to the money problem is the question of what to do with the dedicated income tax fund, which now has a surplus of about $50,000,000. There will be strong pressure to increase the basic state aid from $70 to $100 per pupil, which would mean an increase of $37,000,000 in state support for grade and high schools.

EDUCATION—There are other educational problems than finance. The State Citizens Committee on Public Education through its 50 affiliated organizations, is studying 11 separate proposals for legislative action. These include, in addition to increased state aids, enlarging the power of the state board of education to determine state aid payments, strengthening laws permitting reorganization of school districts, uniform safety regulations for school buses, scholarships for teacher-training students, helping school boards finance extra-curricular activities, establishing standards for county school superintendents, state support for public libraries, and extending the legal school age.

MENTAL HEALTH—The '51 session voted $34,000,000 for this program, and it is certain to be keenly debated, because there have been claims that it has not proceeded well enough to justify the large expenditures. Legislators will have before them the reports of the Legislative Research Committee and their own special interim committee.

SOCIAL SECURITY—The entire field of social welfare is due for much attention. The '51 legislature also created the Minnesota Commission on Aging, which, after 18 months of study, has recommended that social security should be expanded to cover "all employed and self-employed persons including farmers." Its proposals, too, involve many controversial questions.

PENAL REFORM—Also in this general area are the extensive recommendations of the Statewide Citizens Advisory Committee on Penal Reform. Its 49-point program urges the adoption of a drastic new program, which calls for better-trained personnel, improved medical service, and more rehabilitation work for prisoners.

LITTLE HOOVER REFORMS—In the face of the need for many millions more in revenue, the legislators are certain to be in an "economy and efficiency" mood, which should mean that the scores or recommendations of the Minnesota Efficiency in Government Commission should get careful examination. These could involve a top-to-bottom overhaul of state governmental machinery.

HIGHWAYS—Rural representatives are determined that there be a larger sharing for county and town roads in available highway revenue. This could mean an increase in the state gasoline tax from 5 to 6 cents or action on a legislative research subcommittee's report calling for more co-ordinated county systems of highways.

LABOR LAWS—There will be considerable pressure on this front. Labor will be determined to liberalize benefits under unemployment and workmen's compensation laws on which another interim committee has been at work. There will be efforts again to repeal the anti-secondary boycott act and the union suability law.

F. E. P. C.—Up again will be the much-debated proposal that would prohibit discrimination in employment. This may have some chance to pass in this session.

AID FOR CITIES—Municipal officials, more hard pressed than ever for funds, will be seeking further aid from the state in the form of a larger share in state taxes and in enabling legislation that would permit new local taxes.

CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION—The Governor's Advisory Committee on Constitutional revision will be urging new action in this long-controversial field.

Beyond all these major issues there are a host of other problems—arrest powers for liquor control agents, increased investigative authority for state public examiner, an expanded aviation program, appointment of University regents, action on the transit problem in the larger cities, to mention only a few—each of which will be cause for many hours of discussion and deliberation.

Ancient Device

A touchstone is an ancient device for testing metals, especially precious ones. It is a black stone on which a metal such as gold can be rubbed, leaving a streak. An experienced person can estimate, from the color of this streak, the amount of other metal alloyed with the gold. Sometimes a series of "touchstone needles" was used in conjunction with it. These needles were of varying but known proportions of gold with the alloying metal, and could be used to make streaks for comparison with that of the metal to be tested.

Dog Specs

Don't run for a psychoanalyst if you think you see a dog wearing spectacles. Spectacles have actually been made for dogs. Their vision has been tested by removing the scent from a bone and noting at what distance the dog could see it.

Ancient Painting

In his book on painting, written about the year 1400, Cennino recommended that some of the latex (milk-like fluid) contained in fig trees—or some freshly cut fig tree twigs—be added to the white or yolk of eggs used for the binding of painters' colors. This apparently strange usage can possibly be explained by the fact that fig tree latex contains a ferment which catalytically disintegrates the cell membranes present in the egg-white or yolk. Such chemical action would impart a high degree of fluidity.

THIS TRAIN NEVER SEES DAYLIGHT

NEARLY HALF A MILE below the earth's surface, Harold Poylio of Soudan, Minn., drives this underground ore train through narrow iron mine tunnels—hauling ore from the working area to a shaft where it can be hoisted to the surface. A railway system like this is one reason why underground mining is three times as costly as open-pit operations. The mining companies must carry on this job, along with extensive treatment of low-grade ore, to make the most of the remaining supply—a conservation program which promises a bright future for Minnesota's ore resources. But Minnesota's iron mining industry must meet the competition of ores from other areas. It can only do so if its future development is encouraged by fair treatment.

MM model 11A disc harrow turns in as small a radius as any row-crop tractor. Tension springs hold the gangs in a level position so that the harrow penetrates at a uniform depth over its full width. With this construction the harrow is flexible for good work on uneven ground, and one side or the other does not dig in on turns.

Ease of angling is another outstanding feature. A touch on MM's new hydraulic control, called Uni-Matic Power, makes adjustment of disc angle on the go a simple matter.

If your old harrow needs replacing, drop in to see us. We think MM harrows offer you the most in good performance, economy, and dependability.

New Draft Status Is Approved for Guard

Members of the Army National Guard whose induction by selective service is imminent may volunteer for active duty for 24 months under a new Army policy announced this week. This will permit guardsmen to retain their National Guard rank and seniority while in active service.

Brigadier General J. E. Nelson, state adjutant general, hailed the new policy as a boon to both the active Army and the National Guard. "Until now, when any guardsman has been called up for induction by the local board it has been necessary to discharge him from the National Guard," he said. "These men received no credit for their guard service and were subjected to the same course of basic training as men without previous military experience. This was unfair to the man and did not constitute the best use of manpower by the Army"

Under the new policy the Army will be able to make more efficient use of these soldiers. Men who have completed basic training in the guard will be immediately available for advanced or technical training. Many of the guardsmen are fully qualified in their military specialties and will be able to assume positions of responsibility and leadership without additional training.

This policy will also strengthen the National Guard recruiting and training programs, General Nelson said. Although men who join the National Guard prior to reaching the age of 18 years and six months are deferred from induction by selective service, there has been little incentive for men above that age to join the guard program.

"A man could see little advantage in enlistment in the Guard when he knew that he would later be inducted into active service in the lowest military grade," Nelson said. "The prospect of entering active duty in his National Guard grade provides an incentive not only to enlist in the guard but also to work hard to attain the highest possible rank before entering active service."

Men interested in joining the National Guard under this program should contact Lt. John Oven, company commander in Thief River Falls. Complete information about the program has been furnished each local commander.

State Liquor Tax Payments Decline

Val Bjornson, Minnesota state treasurer, reported Friday the state collected $380,000 less from liquor and beer taxes in 1952 than in 1951.

In 1952 the state sold $10,903,188.63 in liquor tax stamps and $2,633,310.36 in beer stamps, a total of $13,536,498.99.

The 1951 figures were $11,348,546.07 in liquor taxes and $2,348,388.69 for beer taxes, a total of $13,816,934.76.

Theme Listed for 4-H Radio Public Speaking Contest

Meaning of Responsible Citizenship to Be Theme, State Leader Announces

Theme of the 11th annual statewide 4-H radio public speaking contest this year will be "What Responsible Citizenship Means to Me," Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota, announced today.

Each year the contest gives an opportunity to 4-H club members between the ages of 14 and 21 to speak on some phase of citizenship. Contestants prepare original talks of from five to seven minutes.

County contests, arranged and directed by local 4-H leaders and county extension agents, must be completed by February 14. County champions will then be eligible to compete in district contests, to be held in the form of radio broadcasts between February 16 and March 5.

Each district winner will be awarded a transportation-paid trip to the Twin Cities to compete in the state contest to be held March 7 on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota. Talks of the state champion and reserve champion will be broadcast.

Cooperating with the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service in sponsoring the contest is the Minnesota Jewish Council.

Cleaning Tub

How can I remove the yellow stain from my bathtub? Probably such a stain is due to iron in the water. Iron stains can often be removed by allowing a solution of oxalic acid to stand in the tub for a time, then flushing well with water. Oxalic acid, which can be obtained at a local drug store, is poisonous and should be used with great caution.

MEMORY LANE

FAMILY PHOTOGRAPHS

Remember when the parlor was used to display family photographs? Grandfather's stern countenance peered from the mantle, and battalions of grandchildren smiled from the piano? Even Cousin Etta's twins gazed coyly from the talking-machine. Aside from making the parlor look like a photographic gallery, it made hours of extra dusting for mother. Remember?

MOST ADVANCED HYDRAULIC SYSTEM IN ANY TRACTOR

NEW FORD TRACTOR

Now, in the new Golden Jubilee Model, Ford Tractor engineers have carried a time-proved hydraulic system to a new high in speed of response, lifting power, dependability and wide usefulness.

This Live-Action hydraulic system gives almost instant action at all times when the tractor engine is running. It handles larger implements and heavier loads. And, with Hy-Trol, it acts even faster when desired. Also possible is an almost unlimited variety of remote cylinder* operations. In addition to all the time-proved advantages of the Ford Tractor's built-in hydraulic system, you get a choice of hydraulic speeds, quick hook-up, smooth operation of remote cylinders* and the ability to handle bigger loads.

The more you learn about the new Ford Tractor the more you will find that it can bring new ease and speed to your farming—new economy, too. Come in—look it over!

*Sold separately

Plummer Man Killed in Auto Crash Sunday

Donald Guillemette Dies When Car Leaves Highway 59 at Bridge

Red Lake county recorded first traffic fatality of [illegible] early Sunday morning [illegible] Omar Donald Guillemette, Plummer met his death [illegible] automobile accident on [illegible]way 59 one mile north [illegible]mer.

The state highway patrol, which was summoned to the scene at 8 a. m., reported that at the time of the accident, about 4 a. m., Guillemette was traveling south toward Plummer, and was alone in the car.

As he approached a bridge over Clearwater river, his car left the road at the left side of the highway, went over the bridge abutment and hit the ice on the river, then bounced and hit the abutment on the south side of the river and rolled over, throwing the driver out of the car, which was a total wreck.

Being off the highway, the wrecked car and driver were not detected until 8 a. m., when two passing motorists from Warroad noticed the situation and called the patrol and the Red Lake county coroner.

Rosary was said at Hunt Bros. Funeral Chapel at eight o'clock Monday evening and final rites were held at nine-thirty Tuesday morning at St. Vincent de Paul's Catholic Church, Rev. Zarzecki officiating. Members of the American Legion posts at Plummer and Thief River Falls served as pallbearers.

Guillemette was born October 28, 1926, at Red Lake Falls. He was in the service for two years during World War II and since his return has been employed as second buttermaker at the Plummer creamery.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Omer Guillemette of Plummer; a sister, Mrs. Jerome Larson, also of Plummer; and a brother, Allen, of Red Lake Falls. Three uncles, Ernest, Elmer, and Albert Guillemette, also live at Red Lake Falls. His father preceded him in death on December 26, 1952.

W. Dairy Day Group to Meet in City Jan. 22

Association to Elect Fifteen Directors at Session in C. C. Room

The annual meeting of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association will be held Thursday afternoon, January 22 at 2 o'clock in the Civic and Commerce rooms in the Auditorium, Stuart McLeod, president, announced today.

The association sponsors the annual Northwest Dairy Day held in Thief River Falls in June, and plans for the fourth annual event will be discussed at the meeting.

Eligible to attend are representatives of all creameries and business firms contributing to the support of Dairy Day. An attendance of fifty or more is anticipated, McLeod stated.

The membership will be asked to approve the articles of incorporation adopted in 1952, as well as the recently drafted set of by-laws.

Another important matter to be acted on will be the election of fifteen members of the new board of directors, of which five will be elected for a three-year term, five for two years and five for one year. Lunch will be served at the close of the meeting.

McLeod stated he had been informed that Lew Conlon, manager of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee and one of the most enthusiastic promoters of Dairy Day, had recently undergone an operation and probably will be unable to attend the session here.

Attractions Signed for '53 County Fair: Dates July 29-Aug. 1

Members of the Pennington county fair board returned last Wednesday night from Minneapolis, where they had attended the annual convention of the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs at the Radisson Hotel.

J. M. Roche, secretary of the board, announced that the dates of the 1953 fair will be July 29 thru August 1 and that the Marlo Shows, here the last two years, had again been signed to present the grandstand show, "Fair Vogues of 1953", including a colorful revue with fifteen dancing girls and ten vaudeville and circus acts.

Other features signed for the 1953 fair include the Joey Chitwood Thrill Shows, here last year, and the Wm. T. Collins carnival attractions, which will be making its first appearance in this city. Action was deferred on auto races, Roche stated.

In the convention business session, O. M. Mattson of Warren was reelected to the post of Ninth district director of the federation.

In attendance at the convention from this city were Frank Hardisty, Stuart McLeod, Jim Parkins, Vernon Copp and Roche.

Trinity Lutheran to Conduct Annual Meeting Tuesday

Members to Hear Reports on Marked Progress Made by Church in Past Year

Trinity Lutheran congregation will meet for its annual dinner and business meeting next Tuesday evening at 6:30 p. m.

After the meal, which is served without charge to the voting members of the church, the congregation will hear the reports of their officers on the spiritual and material status of the church.

More than 150 new members have swelled the rolls of membership to almost 2800 souls during the past year. Attendance at Holy Communion and at the regular services has shown an encouraging growth.

During the past year, besides substantial repair, maintenance and improvement costs on the church building, the congregation has built a $140,000 parish education building for its extensive program of youth guidance. Election of officers for the ensuing terms will also take place at the annual meeting.

Mrs. A. E. Mattson, who left here before the holidays to visit her son, Dr. Donovan Mattson, and family at Jerome, Idaho, is now making her home at Tujunga, California.

Electric Power Was Interrupted Friday Evening

Short Circuit Causes Break on West Side for from One to 2½ Hours

Electric current supplied by the municipal power plant was interrupted Friday night on the west side of the river for periods varying from one hour to two hours and a half.

Morris Owen, chief engineer at the plant, reported that the trouble resulted from a short circuit that developed in one circuit in the underground installation near the Robertson Lumber Co.

East of LaBree av. on the west side of the river, current was off from 6:20 to 8:45, and, in order to make repairs in safety, it was necessary to cut off three other circuits, interrupting service west of LaBree av. from 7:50 to 8:45. Fortunately the temperature at the time was near the 30 above zero mark.

The break in service was the most protracted one since the severe windstorm that hit this city about six years ago. Preparation of the evening meal was interrupted in many homes, and candles were in general use.

Dairy Club to Hear Grand Rapids Man Tuesday Evening

Public Invited to Hear Talk by Superintendent of Agriculture School

C. L. Cole, superintendent of the North Central School of Agriculture at Grand Rapids, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Thief River Falls Dairy club next Tuesday evening, January 20, at 8 o'clock in the Civic and Commerce room in the basement of the Auditorium.

Mr. Cole, who spoke last fall at a Land O'Lakes Creameries banquet in this city, is not only a gifted speaker, but an experienced dairyman as well.

He is credited with being one of the first men in this country to carry out artificial insemination of dairy cows, and has also engaged in much practical research in the field of dairy management.

The meeting is open to the general public, Stanley Nelson, Lincoln high school agriculture instructor, in charge of arrangements, announced.

Gordon Caldis Named Oustanding Young Man of North Dakota

Gordon Caldis, 32, states attorney of Grand Forks county, N. D., and son of Mrs. Carl Hovie of Thief River Falls, was honored Sunday in Minot by the North Dakota Junior Chamber of Commerce, which selected him from a field of 12 candidates for the title of North Dakota's "Outstanding Young Man" of 1952.

Caldis, who is serving his second two-year term as states attorney, was graduated from Lincoln high school here and later from the University of North Dakota Law School in 1948, following Navy service in World War II. He started practicing law the same year.

An active member of 29 civic, fraternal and professional organizations, Caldis is president of the Grand Forks Jaycee chapter and headed the Exchange Club in 1952.

In addition to membership in the state and national law associations, he takes an active interest in such groups as the Masonic lodge, YMCA, the University Alumni Association, peace officers groups of the valley and state, the American Legion, church councils, Parent-Teacher association, the Christmas Seal committee and the North Dakota Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Caldis is a director and stockholder of the Interests and Development Co. of Grand Forks a corporation engaged in oil leasing and development.

In community service, Caldis served three years as county chairman of the Sister Kenny Foundation, retiring last year. He was a captain in the Red Cross drive and supervised two groups of which he is president in the Community Chest residential canvass.

Chairman of the board of trustees of the University Lutheran church, he served on the site selecting committee and is an adviser to the church building committee. He is the University's alumni member on the athletic board of control and sits on the county board of health.

Together with local peace officers, Caldis was active in organizing a committee to minimize the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors.

Caldis, his wife and three children, live at 1632 Belmont Road, Grand Forks.

Rural Schools to Hold '53 Spelling Contest Jan. 17th

National Guard Co. F Members Guests at Banquet Friday

Rev. E. C. Mead Will Be Principal Speaker at Dinner in Legion Club

The Rev. E. C. Mead will be the principal speaker at a banquet in the Legion club rooms Friday evening, January 16, at 7 o'clock, when members of Company F of the National Guard will be welcomed back home following their release from federal service. Harold Anderson, past commander of the local VFW post, will preside over the program.

Mr. Mead's participation in the program will be particularly appropriate, since he also had delivered the address to the guardsmen at a farewell party in January, 1951, previous to their departure for Camp Rucker, Alabama.

Invited to be present for the occasion will be parents and wives or girl friends of Co. F members, as well as Mayor Harry E. Simons, members of the city council and their ladies and representatives of each organization in Thief River Falls.

At the same time a National Guard company will be re-established here with a nucleus of 24 former members of Co. F and two officers, Lieut. John Oven, who will be in command, and Warrant Officer Ivan Bundy, who will devote his full time to the organization.

John O. Swanson, Secretary Bray Mutual, Succumbs

Dies Tuesday at Age of 66; Served Insurance Company for 44 Years

John O. Swanson of Black River township passed away at St. Johns' Hospital at Red Lake Falls Tuesday at the age of 66 years. Funeral services will be held at the Black River Lutheran church at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, Rev. Marvin Chellberg officiating.

Mr. Swanson was born in Bray township, Pennington county, was baptized and confirmed in the Black River Lutheran church and was also a past trustee of that congregation.

For many years he served on township, school, and elevator boards and was the 1st secretary of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Co., holding that position up to the time of his death, a period of 44 years.

After completing his elementary schooling he attended Teachers Training in Red Lake Falls and later taught school for a number of years. After the death of his father, he operated the home farm. His marriage to Miss Dorothea Schneider took place October 4, 1916, at the home of the bride's parents.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothea; two daughters, Mrs. Vincent Kenstad of LaCrosse, Wisc., and Mrs. Earl Anderson of this city; two sons, Clarence at home and Wilbert of Sunberry, Pa; two sisters, Mrs. Annie Lindblom of St. Hilaire and Mrs. Victor Scholin of Thief River Falls; two brothers, Carl of Everett, Wash., and Gust of Detroit, Mich. Eight grandchildren, five nieces, and three nephews also survive. He is preceded in death by his parents, one daughter, four sisters, and one brother.

Tax Delinquency for Pennington Co. Less in 1952 Than in 1951

The Pennington county record in respect to tax delinquency, which has been excellent the past ten years, improved slightly in 1952 to a delinquency of 4.5 per cent, compared to 5.6 per cent in 1951, County Treasurer A. R. Johnsrud reported this week.

With a total levy of $740,587 payable in 1952, taxes paid aggregated $703,579, while $3,779 was canceled or abated, leaving a net delinquency of $33,228.

For the city of Thief River Falls, the levy was $364,857, while tax payments were $354,340, and cancellations or abatements were $1,216, leaving a net delinquency of $9,301 or 2.56 per cent.

Deer Park township, with a delinquency of only 1.1 per cent, made the best record of all townships in the county in 1952, followed by Rocksbury with 1.3 per cent; Polk Center, 1.4; Silverton, 2; River Falls, 2.1; North, 2.7; Norden and Goodridge village, 4.4; Sanders, 4.8; Black River, 5.3; and St. Hilaire, 5.5.

Delinquency in other townships ranged up to 15.5 per cent in Reiner, 12.9 in Hickory and 12.7 in Goodridge township.

Oakland Park San Costs Hold Steady in 1952

Maintenance Expense Down Slightly Despite Rise in Patient Days

Altho over 800 more patient days were recorded in 1952 than in 1951, total maintenance expense at Oakland Park sanatorium last year was fractionally lower at $90,008, compared to $90,330 for 1951, it is revealed in the annual report of Dr. Baldwin Borreson, superintendent, prepared for submission to the sanatorium commission at its annual meeting last night.

Dr. O. F. Melby, who has served as president the past thirty years or more, was reelected to that position, and Carsten Mead of Red Lake Falls was retained as vice president.

Total number of patient days increased from 12,013 in 1951 to 12,874 in 1952, and the total cost per day per patient declined from $6.68 in 1951 to $6.15 last year. Receipts in 1952 totaling $33,402 from state aid, pay patients and miscellaneous sources reduced the net cost per day per individual to $3.62, compared to $4.24 in 1951.

An aggregate of 64,902 meals was served last year at a total cost per meal per individual of 34 cents, compared to 62,319 meals in 1951 at a total cost per meal of 37 cents.

Making up the total maintenance expense last year were administration, $6,139; care of patients, $[illegible]; culinary, $[illegible]; domestic, $7,886; agriculture, engineering, building and grounds, $14,494; traveling expenses, $784; and insurance, $829.

Included in the group were Floyd Johnson, Lloyd Melby, Muriel Magnell, Juliet Wicklund, Aris Gulbranson, Dorothy Melby, Phyllis Nelson, Arlene Gustafson, Ardelle Tangquist, Lois Krohn, and Vivian Lindland.

On Tuesday evening Mr. Bills gave a group of former instructors of this area a course in the latest method of artificial respiration. Attending were Jerry Liemandt, Bob Black, George Bale, Charles Emanuel, Ralph Fischer, Quentin Jones, Mrs. Margaret Race, Bernice Troumbly, Alice Wold, Joyce Locks, and Kathryn Hornbacher.

Farmers Invited to Running Water Clinic in City Next Monday

Farm families of this area will get an afternoon of fun and practical information when they attend the rural electric running water show which will be held on Monday, Jan. 19, starting at 1 p. m. in the city Auditorium, Thief River Falls.

This two-hour "clinic" is one in a series sponsored by Minnkota Power Cooperative, Inc. in conjunction with Red Lake Electric Cooperative and Arc Stores, according to O. J. Overmoen, Red Lake Cooperative manager.

Featured on the show will be a discussion of wells and pumps, with emphasis on the best type of water system installation for this area. The program also includes an entertaining motion picture on water systems, as well as an actual hydraulic demonstration, illustrating the importance of proper water pipe sizes.

Farmers will find particular interest in a discussion of sewage disposal, with an explanation of the planning help available to the farmer without charge. Representatives of the REA Cooperative will outline the special hot water rates that are available, and conduct a "chart talk" which details the basic costs of an investment in a running water system.

Following the meeting, coffee and doughnuts will be served to all visitors while a registration will beheld for an 82 gallon Rheem Electric Water Heater which will be given away at the completion of the show series.

Rambeck Handles 57 Cases in 1952

Number Shows Slight Increase over 1951

Sheriff Arthur Rambeck made a total of 57 arrests in 1952, compared to 48 in 1951 and 62 in 1950, a year-end summary reveals.

Among the cases were: larceny, four; bad checks, four; assault, three; statutory offenses, five; abandonment, four; mentally ill four; senile, five; inebriates, nine; and delinquents, six.

One offender was committed to the state reformatory, nine to the youth conservation commission, eight to the state hospital at Fergus Falls and eight to the state hospital at Willmar. Four served time in the county jail, and eight paid fines.

Council Asked to Rearrange Wards in City

C. C. Committee Also Proposes Changes in Terms of Councilmen

A large accumulation of business confronted the city council at its regular January session Tuesday evening, and the meeting did not adjourn until long after midnight.

Stan Mortenson and John X. Lynskey, members of the governmental affairs committee of the Civic and Commerce association, asked the council to consider the matter of revising the city charter to provide staggered terms for council members, so that terms of all members would not expire as the same time as at present.

The committee also proposed that steps be taken to revise the ward setup, adding one or two additional wards to the present four. It was pointed out that at present the fourth ward is entirely too large compared to the others.

City Attorney Robert A. Wurst said the wards could be rearranged by council resolution, but that the matter of changing terms of office would require action by the legislature. Council President Carl Gjernes said he would appoint a committee to confer with the C. & C. group on the matter.

Four bids were opened for a two-ton truck to be purchased for the street department, the bids ranging from $2,300 to more than $2,700. Final action was deferred until an adjourned session Thursday, January 22. In the meantime the bids will be studied by the street committee.

A group of appointments to various city boards and commissions was given the council by Mayor Harry E. Simons and all were confirmed. The mayor named George Werstlein a new member of the airport commission, succeeding [illegible] and reappointed Wallace Tunberg and Gordon Ballingrud. Renamed on the library board were C. W. Pope, John Lynskey and C. G. Suoen, while Arthur Christianson was reappointed to the park board and F. A. Rinkel to the cemetery commission.

The council approved the application of C. E. Becker of Red Lake Falls for a permit to erect a motel on the west side of Highway 59 a short distance south of East First st. The motel, to cost an estimated $30,000, would include ten units, with access from the highway.

James E. Bye Married in Rochester Dec. 27

The marriage of Miss Patricia Nadolski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Nadolski, to Second Lieutenant James E. Bye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bye of Anoka, formerly of Thief River Falls, was solemnized Saturday evening, December 27, in the Bethel Lutheran Church in Rochester.

Rev. A. G. Hansen performed the candlelight ceremony before an altar banked with Christmas trees, poinsettias, and candelabra. Mrs. Wendell McKibben played a program of organ music and Mrs. Sidney Suddendorf was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white slipper satin gown with long fitted sleeves, lace appliqued on shoulder and front bodice and a horizontal band of lace on the flared skirt which extended into a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a Juliet cap of satin and Belgium lace and she carried a wedding ring bouquet of white anthurium and white bouvardia.

Dressed in shades of blue floor length gowns of nylon net over taffeta with velvet jackets, elbow length sleeves and surplice necklines, Miss Audrey Nadolski was her sister's maid of honor and Evelyn Searle of Geneseo, Ill. and Miss Marilyn Evans of Minneapolis were bridesmaids. They carried bouquets of carnations and holly. Paula Wilson of Houston carried the flowers.

William Bye of Minneapolis served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Roger Morrison of Hutchinson, James Marvin of St. Paul, Maynard Johnson of Thief River Falls and Charles Weaver of Anoka.

Following receptions in the church parlors and at the bride's parents home, Lieutenant and Mrs. Bye left for Fort Lee, Virginia, where he is stationed with the army.

The bride is a graduate of Rochester high school and the University of Minnesota where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Her husband was graduated from Anoka high school and the University of Minnesota where he was a member of Chi psi fraternity and Phi Beta Kappa. He attended Harvard law school for one year before entering the army.

Beef Cookery Is Topic This Month of Home Project

62 Leaders to Attend Training Sessions in City and Goodridge Next Week

Pennington county homemakers will be interested in knowing that the lesson included in the home extension program for this month is on beef cookery. Sixty-two leaders are expected to attend the leader training meetings conducted by the home agent, Sylvia Olson.

The meetings are to be held at the First Lutheran church at Goodridge on January 20th and at the Trinity church in Thief River Falls January 21, 22 and 23. All meetings are to begin at 10:30 a. m.

Among the tasks included in the daily routine of the homemaker is the selecting, preparing, and the serving of meat or its protein equivalent. With the high cost of meat it is important to make use of every ounce of meat which is purchased or produced, to develop its flavor and retain its food value and to use seasonings, condiments, and flavoring ingredients to enhance its natural flavors. The homemakers too must know what food or food combinations can equal meat in nutritive value.

The noon meal will be prepared and served by the leaders followed by a discussion of some of the points mentioned.

The next leader training meeting will be on the topic, "Fabrics you Buy." This will feature many of the new fabrics which are found in today's yard goods and in the ready-made garments together with a brief description of its characteristics.

Local Girl Makes MSTC Honor Roll

Angeline Vraa of Thief River Falls is on the honor roll at Moorhead state teachers college. Students on the honor roll are those who have attained a cumulative honor point ratio of 2.0 or above, as of the end of the fall quarter, 1952. These students are exempt from the attendance regulations of the college.

At Institute

Rev. Benjamin F. Olson, pastor of the Bethel Lutheran Church of Grand Forks is teaching a concentrated study course in the Book of John during the month of January at the Trumpetsound Institute, 705 Dewey Ave. No. Classes resumed Monday after a holiday vacation of three weeks.

On Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings the Scriptures are taught. On Monday and Friday public speaking on the Gospel of John is also taught. On Tuesday and Thursday mornings, classes continue for regular full-time day students and those preparing for the full-time day students and those preparing for the full time Gospel sign ministry. Practical work in silk-screen processing, background painting on signs, scotchlight adhesion etc. will be given the students, Raymond B. Martin teaching.

Union Services Set at Newfolden

The Newfolden churches are planning two union prayer services to be held January 21st and 22nd. On Wednesday, January 21, the services will be held at Bethlehem Lutheran church and on Thursday, January 22 at the Evangelical Free church. Both services will begin at 8 p. m. Members and friends of all churches in the community are urged to attend these services.

Merle Anderson, USN, en route from Norfolk, Va., to visit his parents at Lake Bronson, stopped here Friday to see his sister, Mrs. F. A. Halquist, and family. He returned Tuesday to his duties aboard the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt.

PRETTIEST TEACHER . . . Mrs. Nell Owen of Dallas, Texas, teacher of voice and dramatics, was named from 6,500 entrants as America's prettiest school teacher in the national "Our Miss Brooks" contest.

Mrs. O. J. Lundell returned Tuesday from Wadena where she had spent some time at the homes of her sons, Erving and Paul Lundell. Paul, accompanied by his son Dick, brought his mother home.

Northrop PTA Holds Enjoyable Program Monday

Probate Judge Herman A. Kjos was the speaker at the January meeting of the Northrop school PTA unit Monday evening, and also showed a motion picture dealing with mental hygiene. Mrs. Gunder Legvold briefly discussed Girl Scout activities.

The program opened with community singing led by Frank Summerside and accompanied by Mrs. Curtiss Nelson. Marshall Simons supplied a cornet solo, accompanied by Robert Harmon. Relay games with audience participation completed the evening's entertainment.

Dalzell Speaks in City Auditorium on Sunday at 2:30

Evangelist Ron. Dalzell will speak at a radio rally in the city Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, January 18, at 2:30 p. m. His sermon for the occasion entitled "A Warning To America" has been given before large audiences in several states and in Canada.

Rev. Dalzell has been preaching since he was eighteen years old and has served two pastorates as well as traveling extensively in evangelistic work. He has just recently moved to Thief River Falls and is working, in company with his brother Floyd, in radio and evangelistic work. The program of the Dalzell Party known as Message of Life is carried by a Fargo radio station.

The Sunday rally is to be held in connection with the Dalzells radio work and will feature vocal and musical numbers. The Dalzells play the electric Hawaiian and Spanish guitars, piano accordion and vibraharp.

Sophus Bjertness Elected Chairman of Marshall Board

Fifth District Member Chosen January 6 to Succeed Alvarado Man

Sophus Bjertness, commissioner from the fifth district, was elected chairman of the Marshall county board of commissioners at its organizational meeting in Warren January 6. He succeeds Roy Edman of Alvarado, second district commissioner.

Leslie Grange of Warren from the first district was reelected vice chairman. Andrew Korgen, new member from the fourth district to succeed John A. S. Hoff, and Roy Edman were sworn into office Tuesday. John Rapacz of Argyle is the fifth commissioner. O. C. Toftner was also sworn in as the new judge of probate to succeed A. A. Trost.

Wednesday morning the board reviewed the road program for the coming year. The Great Eastern will be rebuilt as well as several stub roads in the county. H. T. Swanson, highway engineer explained details to the board.

Council Asked to Change Setup of Wards in City

East First st., was present to ask the council why signs barring heavy trucks from the street had been removed in December, saying he had understood the signs would remain in place until the surfacing of the street is completed. He voiced concern that the tarred surface would break down under the heavy traffic. Council members gave assurances that the signs would be replaced before the spring breakup.

A petition was submitted calling for the laying of a three-inch bituminous mat on the block on Atlantic av. South from Third to Second st. and west on Second st. to Horace av., the cost to be borne by the abutting property owners. The petition was referred to the city attorney for study.

Street Commissioner Leo DuChamp submitted the assessment roll covering bituminous treatment of city streets in 1952, the total amounting to $4,335.96. A hearing on the matter was scheduled for the next regular meeting February 10.

Rev. E. C. Mead to Conduct Funeral at Little Falls

Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Mead left Tuesday for Little Falls where Rev. Mead was called to conduct the funeral services for the late Robert A. Tedford which were held at the Little Falls Methodist church this afternoon. Mr. Tedford was for many years active in legal and political circles of the state and was the last of the charter members of the Methodist church of Little Falls. Rev. and Mrs. Mead will return home Wednesday evening.

Wax Coating on Fruits Boon to U. S. Housewives

It took wax to take the wrinkles out of turnips, give new life to the potato and help make oranges, lemons and grapefruit a staple in the northern household.

The treatment of fruits and vegetables with this age-old substance has been one of the major advances in marketing.

A 2300-year-old practice of the Greeks in which mud was applied to a shrub to protect it from cold and dehydration was believed to be the inspiration for the first waxing tests, made with citrus fruits around the turn of the century.

One of the first protective measures tried by citrus growers in the early 1900's was the use of paraffin, applied in crude and inefficient fashion as the fruit ran over brushes whose primary purpose was to clean.

In the early 1920's, however, a method of spraying a fog of wax over the fruit proved to be much more effective and the colorful products of Florida that had been a luxury enjoyed only at Christmas time, if at all, began to trickle northward.

In 1931 another milestone was passed when wax emulsions were used. Water-dispersed waxes in a tank through which the fruit was conveyed provided a sparkling luster. In doing so, however, the emulsion became contaminated with bacteria which spread to all the fruit passing through.

It was then that the makers of Johnson's wax developed a machine for beating the wax emulsion into a foam and allowing it to fall on the fruit.

Final Rites Held for Mrs. Ereka Wallen

Funeral services for Mrs. Ereka Wallen, who passed away in Minneapolis on January 7, were held at the Mission Covenant Church in St. Hilaire Friday afternoon with Rev. J. H. Bowman officiating.

Mrs. Ereka Anderson Wallen was born in Oland, Sweden, August 22, 1865. At the age of 16 she immigrated to the United States and in 1889 married Richard Axel Wallen at Midland, Michigan. In 1905 the family moved to St. Hilaire where Mr. Wallen passed away in 1917. Four years later Mrs. Wallen moved to Minneapolis where she has resided with the exception of some time spent with her son Roy at Grand Marais.

She is survived by four children, Mrs. Geo. C. Weborg of Pendor, Nebraska, Roy of Grand Marais, Hazel and Hazon of Minneapolis; three sisters, Hilda Gigstad of St. Hilaire, Mrs. Ida Anderson of Bowbells, N. Dak., and Mrs. Albin Olson of St. Paul. There are also three grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Funeral Services Held Today For Mrs. J. Peterson

Funeral services for Mrs. John Peterson of Black River township, who passed away at St. Francis Hospital at Crookston on January 10, were held at two o'clock this afternoon at the Gulbranson Chapel. At the time of her death, she was 59 years of age. Final rites were conducted by Vilas Hushiere and Dale Stork. The pallbearers were John Braten, Lawrence Groven, Gilbert Vensland, Ray Magsam, Manual Stuffle, and Max Marciniak.

Beda Pauline Peterson was born in Polk Centre township November 30, 1893, the daughter of John and Mathilda Peterson. She attended the Black River school and grew to womanhood in that vicinity. On November 28, 1931, she married John Peterson, who survives her.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a sister, Therese Burnquist of this city. Her parents, two sisters, and two brothers have preceded her in death.

Eisenhower Urges Nation Support March of Dimes

President-elect Eisenhower meets 1953 March of Dimes Poster Girls Pamela (left) and Patricia O'Neil, of Raleigh, N. C.

NEW YORK CITY—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower called on the American public to support the 1953 March of Dimes being conducted throughout the nation during all of January.

He joined in the annual appeal after meeting the two Raleigh, N.C., sisters who are pictured on the 1953 March of Dimes poster. They are Patricia, 6, and five-year-old Pamela O'Neil, both of whom were stricken with polio but now are recovered completely.

"It's hard to believe that these are the same little girls whose pictures are on the March of Dimes poster," he noted. "Now they're completely recovered from polio, thanks to the generosity of the American people."

He urged all Americans "to help the others like them by joining the March of Dimes."

Later, he joined the poster girls in making a short film which is being shown by television stations throughout the nation.

This year's March of Dimes follows the all-time record polio epidemic of 1952 in which more than 53,000 were stricken. At the beginning of 1953, there were 58,000 polio victims of former years still undergoing treatment, with financial help from local March of Dimes chapters.

Three Die in Hotel Fire at Virginia

Bodies of a man and woman were found late Tuesday in charred ruins of the Ormonde Hotel at Virginia, Minn., swept by fire Monday. Search continued for trace of another woman believed to have perished in the blaze.

Firemen recovered the body of a woman identified as Mrs. George St. Clair, 72, Hibbing, Dr. J. Arnold Malmstrom, deputy St. Louis county coroner, said. The body of the man was believed to be that of Ross Frel, 63, Minneapolis.

The third missing person is Mrs. Dana Ness, 81 Superior, Wisc.

A fireman said bodies of Mrs. St. Clair and that of the man were only about a foot apart. Neither was badly burned.

Holstein Herd at N. W. School Sets Excellent Record

Seven Cows in 1952 Yield Average of More Than 500 Pounds Butterfat Each

The dairy herd of Holstein cattle owned by the Northwest School and Experiment Station at Crookston is making an outstanding record of production. The milking herd made an average of 433 pounds of butterfat in 1952 with seven cows producing averages over 500 pounds.

The highest producer was N. W. Isabella Etta DeKol with a production record of 20,510 pounds of milk and 727 pounds of butterfat during the herd test year or a completed 328-day record for 722 pounds of butterfat.

Another cow, N. W. Inka Fobes DeKol was recognized for her last lactation as the highest producing junior three-year old in Minnesota with a record of 18,265 pounds of milk and 721.1 pounds butterfat. On this production, she was rated as one of the ten highest-producing cows in the state.

All records of milk and butterfat production were made on two-time-a-day milking during approximately a ten month lactation period. The herd is being tested by the Dairy Herd Improvement Association. The Northwest Experiment Station herd is participating in the Herd Improvement Registry through the Holstein-Friesian association of America.

Much of the credit for the building up of the outstanding herd of Holsteins at the Northwest School and Experiment Station belongs to O. M. Kiser, former head of the animal husbandry department at Crookston and his co-worker and successor H. D. Fausch. Professor J. B. Fitch, chief of the department of dairy husbandry, University Farm, St. Paul, has served as a consultant in the dairy breeding program.

Youth in Court on Bad Check Charge

Taken into custody last Wednesday, Clarence Walker, 18, of this city was brought Monday by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck into district court, where he pleaded guilty to a gross misdemeanor, arising from the issuance of a worthless check in the amount of $10. The youth was placed on probation under the supervision of the youth conservation commission.

She Will Cry

Probably only one woman in Australia will shed tears when the atom bomb experts blast the Monte Bello islands from their coral beds some time this year. She's Mrs. J. C. Taylor of Parkerville, Western Australia. To Mrs. Taylor, the supposedly bare, bleak island group is a tropical paradise of colorful coral reefs, alive with fish, turtles and tasty oysters. "I'm not a first-class fisher-woman," Mrs. Taylor maintains, "but on Monte Bello you just can't help catching them. You toss in your line and pull out a schnapper." Mrs. Taylor's visits to Monte Bello usually involved anchoring off-shore in luggers or fishing vessels, as the islands have no fresh water. One time, however, the Parkerville woman and her family did camp out on the now famous atolls. "Crawling turtles and rats woke us up," she recounts, "and we ended up sleeping with our boots on." The Monte Bello Islands, off the north-west coast of Western Australia, have been named by the Australian and British Governments as the site of atomic experiments to be carried out later this year.

Civil Defense to Be Topic Jan. 21st at Red Lake Falls

Pennington Residents Invited to Attend; Area Coordinator to Speak

Red Lake Falls will play host to a civil defense meeting for Red Lake and Pennington counties on Wednesday, January 21, it was announced today by George Abbott, civil defense director for Red Lake Falls.

Te meeting will be held at the Red Lake Falls school house starting at 8:00 P. M. with the general public invited to attend, Abbott stated.

General discussion will be held on the disaster services, enabling the local directors of municipalities to profit by the experiences of their neighbors.

Roy V. Aune, area coordinator, state department of civil defense, will present the state fire plan, explain mutual aid compacts and mobile support units, as well as try to answer questions regarding civil defense.

Municipal and county officials have also been invited to attend.

Freezing Doesn't Improve Food but Retains Flavors

Freezing does not improve foods. But through freezing a greater amount of original flavor and color can be retained than through any other method of preservation, according to Dr. Pauline Paul of the Michigan state college foods and nutrition department.

Original food value is well retained by freezing, too. And it is interesting to note that greater loss of vitamins and minerals comes from careless handling than from frozen storage, Dr. Paul advised.

In considering what products to freeze, a good rule of thumb is that fruits and vegetables which are usually canned will freeze satisfactorily. Meats, poultry, fish and eggs may also be preserved by freezing. There are exceptions, of course—foods eaten raw like lettuce, celery, onions, cucumbers and radishes do not freeze well. Tomatoes and pears are not practicable freezing products, nor are high-starch content foods such as potatoes, rice and macaroni.

In general, freeze only the best—

Four Inches Snow Arrives Tuesday

The heaviest snowfall of the current winter, measuring an estimated four inches, was recorded in this community Tuesday, with little wind accompanying the snow. The ground previously had been virtually bare. Temperatures during the past week ranged from a high of 33 above zero last Friday to a low of 8 below Sunday morning.

Hope to Increase Sales of Savings Bonds During '53

Minnesota must sell more than one hundred million dollars' worth of U. S. Defense bonds in 1953 if it is to meet its quota, it was announced today by Darrell Bandy, Minneapolis, state director. The exact amount is $100,600,000. The national goal is $5.6 billion.

Of the Minnesota goal, it is hoped to get $66,800,000 in Series E bonds (sold only to individuals); $17,800,000 in Series H (an individuals' current income bond placed on sale for the first time June 1, 1952) and $16,000,000 in Series J and K bonds.

At a meeting of the state volunteer advisory committee for Defense Bonds, headed by John C. Cornelius, Minneapolis, it was explained that the increase in sales is needed in order to assist the Treasury in meeting obligations incurred in the war loan drives of 1943.

Petroleum Products

Petroleum products can be servants or destroyers—it all depends on how they are used, according to David Steinicke, Michigan state college extension safety specialist. He said that gases and vapors from these products may be ignited by a flame, a spark or excessive heat. Explosions have occurred from gases and vapors ignited several hundred feet away from where the flammable liquids are stored or handled. Here are some suggestions for farmers. Never refuel a tractor while the motor is running or extremely hot. Check fuel lines frequently to avoid leaky connections. Flammable liquids should never be drawn or handled in the presence of an open flame or other sources of ignition. An underground tank with a pump is the safest method of storing gasoline. Next best method of storing gasoline supplies is in a well-constructed steel tank, located at least 40 feet from farm buildings. If a separate enclosure is used, it should permit vapors to escape in case of a leak or spill.

Oldsmobile's Trim Deluxe "88"

Lowest priced of Oldsmobile's 1953 offerings is this trim Deluxe "88" two-door sedan. A spacious and comfortable interior is enhanced by the new instrument panel that has a decorative circular recess on the driver's side to house the instrument cluster and one on the right side to hold a clock and radio speaker if ordered. The wrap-around single piece rear window and one-piece windshield contribute to greater visibility. Bright new front end styling features a more decorative bumper and grille assembly with ornamental support brackets. Rear fender trim is neat and functional. The Deluxe "88" has a 150-h.p. "Rocket" engine with 8 to 1 compression ratio and new 12-volt ignition.

Former RLF Man Is Interested in New Type Battery

Mel Davis, former Red Lake Falls theatre man and civic leader, is interested in the controversial "Battery AD-X2", being in charge of the Minneapolis branch which distributes this product to Northwest states.

Battery AD-X2, powder that "makes new storage batteries last longer and breathes life into chemically worn out cells which are mechanically sound" was condemned by the National Bureau of Standards several years ago as just another powder.

After four years of battle which was fought all the way up to the United States Senate Committee on Small Business, the company has finally had its product approved by a recognized authority who stated that "Battery AD-X2" actually does more than the company claims.

The story of this four years of struggle for recognition was given prominent mention in a recent issue of News Week.

Home Workshop Dangers As Real as in Factory

Millions of men and women who escaped death and injury in the garden and backyard during the summer are now turning their attention to the basement workshop.

These amateur carpenters and handymen will tackle everything from repairing the leaky roof to building a new room in the attic.

And the fatalities and injuries—which reached 13,000 last year—are expected to hit an all-time high this winter, according to Floyd E. Frazier, safety director for the National Association of Mutual Casualty Companies.

"A circular saw in the basement is just as deadly as one in the factory," Frazier points out. "You can lose a finger, a hand or an eye, by just one careless move.

The association works to prevent accidents so that savings can be returned to mutual insurance policyholders.

Frazier offers these simple precautions to reduce home accidents:

1. Concentrate on what you are doing. Don't be distracted by a radio or conversation.
2. Wear safety shoes and goggles when appropriate.
3. Keep tools and equipment in good condition.
4. Have good lighting over your workbench.
5. Have locks for electric switches if there are children in the house.
6. Keep your working area clean. A spark from a cigarette will find sawdust highly combustible.
7. Keep first aid equipment handy.

Headlight Eyes

Nature did not provide the human eye with very good equipment to deal with the dazzling glare of automobile headlights at night. Headlights are a man-made invention which did not exist when eyes were being adapted to normal outdoors conditions, over ages of evolution. Nevertheless, the eyes make a manful effort to combat headlight glare, and they do a pretty good job at it. The first defense against the dazzle of oncoming lights is the pupil of the eye, with its marvelous ability to contract and expand, and thus vary the amount of light entering the eye. When encountering a rapid increase in brightness, as from an approaching headlight, the pupil is able to decrease its area by 80 per cent in three seconds, as though it were drawing a curtain over most of the eye's window. Behind this curtain, the nerves of the retina have a chance to adapt themselves to the brighter light, and that takes more time. The retina, however, is much better able to adapt to changes in brightness than is the pupil. At its smallest size, the area of the pupil is one-fourteenth of its largest possible size. But the difference in brightness between a dark road and a headlight is much greater than that.

60,000 Trees for Farm Plantings Available Locally

State Forestry Division Distributes Them; Must Order Them by February 1

The state division of forestry will have 15 million trees available for spring planting this year as compared to 7 million in 1952. Approximately 60,000 of these are available to Pennington county farmers for shelterbelt and windbreak plantings. These may be ordered through the PMA, SCS, or county extension offices. However, orders must be in before February 1st and earlier if possible.

The Minnesota department of conservation through its state nurseries is making the trees available to Minnesota farmers to improve windbreak, shelterbelt, conservation, and wildlife plantings. All trees must be used for these purposes and cannot be replanted on other property. Stock available is seedling size, 8-10 inches in height.

A great many Pennington county farms could be improved by more effective or complete shelter belts, said County Agent Ray Mitteness. Farmers that have ground prepared are urged to contact one of the above mentioned offices as soon as possible for 1953 trees.

From the State Capitol

By W. E. DAHLQUIST

Governor Anderson's inaugural message was well received by members of the legislature. To most of the members it was extremely agreeable to hear a message that was an invitation to work together in an effort to find the best possible answers to a lot of knotty questions rather than a proclamation from on high that either you do this or else.

It was a comprehensive message covering a wide range of subjects. It dealt mainly with run-of-the-mill problems, enumerating them as business that must be disposed of. A few of them are highly controversial.

I liked the idea that as head of the administrative branch of our government he was carrying out his responsibility when he pointed to conditions that require attention. I liked his idea, too, that finding the solutions in terms of legislation is a legislative function. I am satisfied that with this approach the relations between the administrative and legislative branches of our state government will be excellent. His closing statement bears repeating:

> "You and I have a job to do for our fellow citizens. Putting personal feelings aside when they interfere, and placing principle and public interest above party, will accomplish results of far-reaching and long-lasting good for the State of Minnesota."

The importance of each branch of our government maintaining and defending its own powers cannot be overemphasized. This system of checks and balances is fundamental and basic to a democratic form of government.

In recent years there has been a conflict between the administrative and legislative branches. The legislature was under constant attack by the governor and the pressure groups that rallied to his frequent calls to arms. The argument generally was one-sided. In the nature of things there is no one individual or agency qualified to speak for the legislature.

But this one-sided war of words nevertheless did bring about an interesting result. By a strange paradox, in trying to make the legislature subservient and weak, the governor made it strong. In several ways the legislature has become more independent and less subject to influence from the governor's office, and this tendency is continuing and appears to be permanent.

Prior to this war the legislature depended mainly upon the Department of Administration, an agency directly under the control of the governor, for information on the needs of the various departments. Now, through its own Legislative Research Council, the legislature is coming up with its own answers to these problems.

In the past the agency that has checked on whether the money that has been appropriated has been spent properly is the Public Examiner, responsible directly to the governor. This session probably will add to the power of the LRC by authorizing it to establish a post audit service, which will make possible a spot check here and there by an agent responsible directly and only to the legislature. The LRC is not under civil service and entirely independent. It appears to be doing a good job.

In recent years too the legislature has strengthened itself by the more extensive use of interim study committees. As a result of this type of between-sessions work many bills of state-wide importance are already drawn and will be introduced early in the session. This should mean more work out of the way by committees early in the session and less pressure in the closing days.

But whatever the reasons were for bringing about these changes, there is no bitterness now. Governor Anderson is off to a good start. His calmer, more moderate and more conciliatory inaugural was encouraging. If he follows through in this manner he may accomplish much of that "job we have to do for our fellow citizens." He may prove to be an excellent executive.

Several of us who have worked on the Claims committee in recent sessions have introduced a bill providing for a Court of Claims. The need for a more satisfactory method of handling claims against the state has been recognized for years. Two sessions ago we submitted a proposal to meet this need but because of the many differences of opinion as to how such a court should function we were not able to get it out of committee. The present bill is based on a study conducted by the Legislative Research Council. Their report gave us a comprehensive picture of what other states are doing in this field. Because of this background study the legislature probably will now go along with the proposal.

The need for a Court of Claims has increased as the activities of government have been expanded. Fifty years ago our state government was a simple organization with little chance of becoming involved in questions of claims. There was ample time during the legislative session to give full consideration to the few that came in. Now hundreds of claims are presented at each session and I know that many citizens who have a grievance go away with the feeling that not sufficient consideration has been given to their problem.

4-H Club News

Steiner 4-H Club

The Steiner 4-H club meeting was held December 22 at Steiner Hall. The topic of discussion was the polio fund drive.

Arlen Solem, Muriel Copp, Helen Sorenson, and Keith Klingness were on the committee that put on the following program: Welcomes were given by Bruce Russell and Paul Klingness and a demonstration on "Christmas Decorations" was given by Muriel Copp. A solo was given by Janet Torgerson, and Helen Sorenson gave a project talk on "Party Ideas." Muriel Copp rendered a song, and a demonstration was given on "Christmas Gift Wrappings" by Arleen Malberg. Mrs. Alfred Solem gave a talk on "Christmas Foods" which were on display. Songs were rendered by Duane Vatnsas, and a skit was given by Kathryn Solem, Richard and Ellen Jorde. To finish the program a group of 4-H'ers presented a Christmas story, "Christmas from the Beginning."

After the program gifts were exchanged and bags of Christmas goodies were passed out to everyone. Lunch was served by A. Steinhauers, E. Andersons, and L. Haagensons.—Arleen Malberg, secretary.

Mavie Club Meeting

The Mavie 4-H club meeting was held on January 9, at the Billy Wayne home. The club voted to pay for subscriptions to the National News Magazine for the families that enjoyed reading it.

The program and recreational features put on by the parents of the Mavie 4-H club members was enjoyed by all who were present. A reading by Mrs. Hamre "What is a Boy?" and also a reading by Andrew W. Oaki "What is a Girl?" Mrs. E. Sanders gave a reading entitled "Why I hate Valentines Day." This was followed by several numbers by Charles Svendsgaard on the concertina.

A demonstration on "Steps in Inserting a Zipper" was given by Mrs. Breznay. Mrs. Oaki gave a demonstration on "How to Make a Pressing Ham."

Mrs. Breznay showed many articles for exhibition in the home assistance group which we passed judgment on as to suitability and practicality.

After the meeting a delicious lunch was served by our hostess, Mrs. Billy Wayne.—Shirley Oaki, Reporter.

Deer Park 4-H Club

The Deer Park 4-H club held its Christmas party December 30. The short program was a recitation by Wanda Lundeen; the Reindeer song by Mary Ann Radniecki. A recitation by Pat Radniecki. Gifts were exchanged. Gifts were also given to the last year leaders from the club. Candy, nuts and apples were given to all. Glorianne Myrum, Reporter.

Cartilage Banks

Cartilage banks are an important adjunct to plastic surgery. Cartilage is the chief "raw material" from which plastic surgeons fashion noses, eye sockets and ears. Until two San Francisco surgeons during World War II developed a method of "banking" cartilage, it was necessary to obtain the tissue by operation from the patient's own ribs. Cartilage remains suitable for grafts after storage for as long as two years in a special saline solution changed weekly.

Painting Isn't as Easy As It Looks to Beginner

Painting is something almost anyone can do—about 60 per cent of all householders have taken to pushing their own paint brushes.

But as any person who has botched up a home paint job can testify, painting isn't as easy as it looks. There are rules to follow and pitfalls to avoid.

A common mistake is to paint when the weather is too hot or too damp. Authorities advise that Fall is the best time of the year for painting. They say the weather then is most likely to be cool and dry.

Since using the right tools makes any job easier, the amateur painter would do well to give careful thought to the selection of his painting equipment.

Paint is of first importance. It pays to buy good quality paint that is made especially for the type of surface on which it is to be applied.

Kuwait Ponders What to Do With $150,000,000 a Year

His Highness Abdullah as Salim as Subah, Sheik of Kuwait, faces one of the world's most pleasant problems—what to do with an income of $150,000,000 a year.

No income taxes cut into this bonanza. There are no restrictions on what he might buy—polo ponies or palaces, gold-plated limousines or block-long yachts.

But instead, Abdullah Salim is wisely turning his sudden wealth into a far better way of life for 170,000 people in an ancient and neglected part of the world. A remarkable transformation is taking place in the tiny sunbaked Sheikdom of Kuwait at the head of the Persian Gulf, the National Geographic Magazine reports in an article by Near East traveler Paul Edward Case.

Kuwait rests on a virtual ocean of oil. Beneath its sands are an estimated 16 billion barrels of black gold—a proved petroleum reserve roughly half that of the United States.

Tapping this pool at a current rate of 800,000 barrels a day, the Kuwait Oil Company pays the Sheikdom an even 50 per cent of all profits.

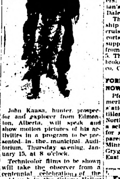
By dynastic law the Sheik receives this money as personal income. He alone decides what to do with it all. In the last few years, his enlightened decisions have given a once-backward country new hospitals, schools, a modern water supply, and an enviable position as potential banker of the Near East.

Boom has come in no uncertain terms to Kuwait's mud-walled capital, also named Kuwait. Shiny cars, trucks and giant earth-moving machinery rumble through busy bazaars among camels and goats. Arabs in flowing robes, nomadic Bedouins and veiled Kuwaiti women mingle with roustabouts from Texas and Oklahoma and businessmen from London. Kuwait works today at the tempo of Times Square transplanted to the desert.

There are many signs left of the old way of life. While tankers gulp oil from a 4,000-foot pier extending into the Gulf from the new-born port-city, Mena al Ahmadi, Kuwait shipwrights still shape teak logs with hand adzes into improvised dhows for pearling, fishing and trading.

Behind the teak gates of Kuwait town, new cement-block buildings are replacing mud houses beside widened, asphalt streets. A new 1,200,000-gallon-a-day distillation plant will suck water from the Gulf, providing the city as well with its first major source of electric power.

Explorer to Talk and Show Movies in City Thursday



John Kaasa, hunter, prospector and explorer from Edmonton, Alberta, will speak and show motion pictures of his activities in a program to be presented in the municipal Auditorium, Thursday evening, January 15, at 8 o'clock.

Technicolor films to be shown will take the observer from a centennial celebration of the gold rush in the Coloma Valley in California to a pursuit of polar bears among the ice floes of the Arctic Ocean.

Engineers Met in Crookston Friday

To Hold Next Meeting in Thief River Falls Feb. 6

The Northwest chapter of the Minnesota Society of Professional Engineers, at its annual meeting in Crookston Friday evening, elected H. R. Chapin, Roseau county engineer, as its president.

Other officers named were Leonard Harris, project engineer with the state highway department, vice president; Carl Larson, assistant district engineer with the highway department, secretary-treasurer, and Douglas H. Stewart, Thief River Falls, director.

Selected as delegates to the state convention were Joseph Seidel, Thief River Falls; George Gibeau, Red Lake Falls, H. Henry and Carl Larson.

The chapter will hold its next meeting in Thief River Falls February 6.

RANUM BROTHERS SHARE IN TRAINING EXERCISE

Participating in the largest training exercise held by the Pacific Fleet since World War II aboard the destroyer USS Brush are two Thief River Falls brothers: Kenneth L. Ranum, electrician's mate fireman, USN, and Dale W. Ranum, fireman, USN.

The vessel is a unit of the 26-ship task force, composed of cruisers, destroyers, destroyer escorts, submarines and service support ships. The ships left from West Coast ports January 5. The two-week operation was broken by a visit to San Francisco, Calif., Jan. 10 and 11.

Avoid Damage

Everybody has to carry at least one pesty bottle when they travel, it seems! And this one bottle can cause trouble if it leaks cologne, medicine or other liquids onto your clothes. Avoid damage by putting the bottle in a moisture-proof cellophane bag, closed at the tip with a paper clip. Then, even if the bottle cap proves unreliable, the liquid can't escape from the bag to spoil your wardrobe.

United States Trade Rides On Carbon Black Super Soot

Carbon black, nothing more than a "super soot," is a relatively scarce critical material, yet so vital in the civilian economy the Federal government dares not stockpile it.

Tires made without carbon black would do well to roll 5,000 miles. With carbon black in their composition, they are good for 30,000 miles and more.

Because tires and other rubber products needing carbon black to toughen them are so important in the everyday life of the country, the government hesitates, as it does in the case of iron ore, to increase the present shortage by amassing supplies for emergency use.

The ancients knew an impure form of carbon black in the messy soot which caked the rocks of their hearths. They used it for prehistoric cave drawings. Egyptians printed papyrus with it. It gave blackness to the ink used to print the first Bible, and it is indispensable in the manufacture of modern high speed printing inks.

Carbon is found in nature as diamonds and graphite, both crystalline forms. It exists in combination as one of earth's most widely distributed and important elements. Carbon black, an uncrystalized form of carbon, is generally manufactured by burning natural gas with insufficient oxygen to consume the component carbon, which is deposited as carbon black on the ceiling or walls of the combustion chamber.

Centers of carbon black manufacture in the United States are the oil fields of Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana, since natural gas is found in satisfactory quantity in oil-bearing sands and rock.

How You See

If you are to see an object, light from that object must enter your eyes. Some things are luminous, or light-giving in themselves—the sun, the stars, a lighted electric lamp, a firefly, a bonfire, for example. But most objects simply reflect light from the sun or some other luminous body. When you see the moon you are really seeing reflected sunlight. A book, a chair, a building are visible by virtue of the light which falls upon them and is bent back to your eyes.

Radioactive DDT Used In Mosquito Control

Radioactive materials that made it possible to trace the travels of flies a year ago are now being used to find more effective ways of killing mosquitoes and other insect pests by scientists.

DDT made radioactive with "hot" carbon, is being used by the scientists to measure the amount of the chemical absorbed by the insects, their developed resistance, and the killing power of the insecticide under varied conditions.

That mosquitoes do develop surprisingly strong resistance to DDT has been confirmed by tests to date. DDT-resistant mosquito larvae absorbed more than six times as much radioactive DDT as non-resistant larvae of the same species and yet the mortality rate was 20 percent less. Light doses of DDT that killed all nonresistant larvae killed only 11 percent of the resistant ones.

Tests show too that DDT is considerably more effective against mosquito larvae (the mosquito as it hatches from the egg) than the pupae (the resting stage which follows prior to adulthood) or the adult mosquito. Eleven times more DDT was needed to kill the pupae than the larvae.

Other tests showed that larvae were able to take nearly twice as much DDT at 90 degree temperatures as at 70 degrees with a much lower death rate.

Fly migration studies a year ago represented the pioneer venture into the use of radioactive materials for insect control research. More than 50,000 flies were fed radioactive phosphorus in those tests making it possible to identify them with a Geiger counter from flies collected in traps at varied distances from the release point.

Arvad Mariners

In some of the most dramatic writing ever dedicated to geography, commerce, and trade, the prophet Ezekiel (Chapter 27) referred to the mariners of Arvad, a small island off Tartus. When besieged, the Arvadians quenched their thirst from sweet water springs in the floor of the salty sea.

Hormones for Pets

Hormones are employed to correct glandular disorders in pets, as in human beings. In addition, hormones have several special uses in medicine for pets. Though it will not put new hair on bald humans, male hormone (testosterone) improves the coats of male dogs. Stilbestrol (synthetic female hormone) is used to halt urinary incontinence in bitches. Testosterone injections are utilized to keep unwelcome males away from spayed female cats and dogs.

Hot Ragweed

"Hot" ragweed, grown in University of Chicago greenhouses, may make future hayfever seasons less uncomfortable to the "sneeze and wheeze" victims of the disease than the season that starts this week. The pollen from the plants just coming into bloom will be used in experiments designed for the first time to find out exactly what happens to the irritating chemicals in the pollen when they are taken up by a living body. The ragweed was successfully grown by a research team headed by Dr. F.M.K. Gelling, professor and chairman of the university's department of pharmacology. It is part of a long range research program of "atomic farming" in which compounds from medicinally important plants are made radioactive in order to trace their precise locations inside the body.

Harbor Improvement Planned for Tangier

The free-wheeling, free-trading international city of Tangier on North Africa's Atlantic coast plans to spend $4,500,000 on improvement of its crowded and inadequate harbor.

A postwar boom in population and construction makes better port facilities essential. Steel, lumber and cement for Tangier's building program must be imported. Present port facilities are largely taken up with already existing shipping—regular oceangoing freight and passenger service connecting with such points as Marseille, Bordeaux, Casablanca and ports in Spain. Hence, many cargoes must be lightered to shore until dock facilities are expanded.

Yes, Tovarisch!

The following story is reported from the other side of the iron curtain. The citizens of Prague had learned that a giant statue of Marshal Stalin was to be erected on Charles square, and soon after a day reporter arrived from Russia to record the popular reaction to the project. He was well pleased when the first Czech he interviewed showed unmitigated enthusiasm for the scheme: "It's an excellent idea, Tovarisch . . . It will give us some shelter against the wind in the winter. It will provide shade in the summer. Every day in the year our little birds will express what we all think of him."

Transplanting Kidneys

Skillful surgeons in France and the U.S. have transplanted whole kidneys from the dead to patients whose own organs had been destroyed by chronic disease. In one successful kidney graft performed by a team of surgeons in Chicago, a healthy kidney was removed from a 49-year-old woman who had died of other causes and placed in a 44-year-old woman both of whose kidneys were badly diseased; the patient was still alive and well two months after the operation. French surgeons have performed three such operations; one of the patients survived 19 days after the operation and the other two were still alive two weeks afterward.

Colombium

Rarely produced in pure form, when it is worth as much as $250 a pound, colombium may yet be of use in the manufacture of jewelry and tableware when more can be separated from the iron with which it is generally found. Nigeria has been producing some 90 percent of the world's supply. The rest comes from the United States, the Belgian Congo and Brazil. Of late, the British have reported new Nigerian finds of possibly extensions to the old fields. It was publicly announced that uranium also was present in this new supply of ore. An indication of colombium's importance can be seen in the fact that in the minds of many metallurgists, the possibility of new colombium finds overshadowed the reported discovery of the uranium, the stuff from which the atom bomb is made.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Expecting a New Baby?

Most parents appreciate the importance of preparing a child for the arrival of a new brother or sister. If the older youngster is only a year and a half old, however, this job of preparation may seem rather hard to handle. Since Jimmy, aged 18 months, has still quite limited knowledge and limited speech, parents may feel that he doesn't notice and doesn't react to changes. "He doesn't understand, anyway," they tell themselves.

It is true, of course, that the very young child who is soon to be the older brother cannot appreciate planned ahead for the new baby, but it is a mistake to think that he does not need some preparation for the event, just the same.

A good way to help make him ready is to think of the kinds of changes that will occur in his life when the new baby arrives. He will certainly have to get used to seeing his mother, up to then his own special property, holding and caring for someone else. So before the new member of the family appears, it's a good idea for mother to pay some attention to other babies and small children in the homes of friends and relatives. Jimmy meanwhile should be having a good time playing. Don't worry about calling his attention to the situation—it doesn't matter if he seems not to notice.

Story telling times can make use of stories about babies; he can look at pictures of babies and gradually become familiar with what their needs are and what they can do. Playing with dolls, especially when mother has time to join him in his play, will help familiarize him with babies.

It will help, too, if Jimmy has some practice in learning to play alone and like it, before the new baby is there to focus this new adjustment. Some different toys may help this preschool child: blocks for building, some sort of simple play house equipment. If he is enjoying new independence of his own, he will be more ready to appreciate the new baby's independence without feeling like a "displaced child" himself.

Prowler Quint Wins over Crookston 62 to 52, Loses to Bemidji

Coach Bob Nick's cage squad recorded a win and a loss in the two basketball games played here during the weekend, with the locals defeating the Crookston Pirates, 62 to 52, in a district contest on Friday night, and losing a 52 to 42 decision to the Bemidji Lumberjack's in a regional game on Saturday night.

Friday night's triumph over Crookston protected the Prowlers' lead in the district conference, with the blue-and-gold having a three wins and no loss record. This week the squad will travel to East Grand Forks for a return game against the Green Wave, and a win for the Prowlers would put coach Nick's club in a favored position in the district tournament pairings.

Except for the first quarter of Friday night's game against the Pirates, when the Prowlers, on some expert work from the free-throw line, scoring on nine of twelve tries, were held to a 15 to 13 margin, the locals handled the Crookston team with considerable ease.

In the second period, with Art Johnson scoring six points, and Gary Humes adding another six-point cluster, the Prowlers moved away to a 32 to 19 lead. And in the third period, with Duane Rafteseth looping in three field goals and a pair of free throws, plus Johnson's eight points, the locals romped into a 50 to 32 advantage. Numerous reserves were moved into the Prowler lineup in the fourth period, and the Pirates, outscoring the locals 20 to 12, pared the game score to 62 to 52.

Johnson, with 19 points, and Rafteseth, with 12 points, were the high scorers for the Prowlers. Center Roger Solheim paced Al Droen's team with 13 points.

In a preliminary game, which was halted in the third period because of light failure, found coach Ralph Skjod's locals holding a 23 to 20 lead.

On Saturday night, an alert and fleet-footed Bemidji Lumberjack team, utilizing an all-court press and a fast-break offense, scored a 52 to 42 win over the Prowlers.

The Jacks, forcing the Prowlers to play Bemidji-style basketball, gained a 15 to 6 first period lead, and a 23 to 12 margin at the intermission. On numerous occasions the smaller and nimbler Lumberjacks would intercept Prowler passes and race in for lay-up shots. Bemidji's bespectacled Jim Lawrence, playing a fine all-round game, notched eight points in the first half and held the locals' Art Johnson to a pair of field goals and two free throws.

Bemidji, continuing to control the play of the game, outpointed the Prowlers, 17 to 10, in the third period, and held a commanding 40 to 22 lead as the final quarter opened.

The Prowlers, after appearing awed by the Bemidji club throughout the first three periods, shook loose in the fourth stanza and outplayed the Jacks, and outscored coach Bun Fortier's club, 20 to 12.

Johnson, after being held scoreless in the third period, erupted for a pair of field goals and four free throws to spark the Prowlers' fourth period rally.

Johnson, with 14 points, and Bemidji's Lawrence, with 14 points, shared the game's high-point honors.

In the preliminary game, a mature Bemidji 'B' squad scored a lop-sided, 81 to 34 win, over the Prowler 'B' team.

The results of the week's play in the Northwest Hockey league, producing several surprise scores, served to bunch the league standings into a vertual knot. Roseau, Grand Forks, and Warroad, the three teams that are sharing the top rung, are a bare point ahead of Thief River Falls and Hallock, and only two points ahead of the cellar-dwelling Crookston Pirates.

The week's prize upsets were fashioned on Sunday when the Crookston Pirates, by a 7 to 4, defeated the high-flying Roseau Cloverleafs in a game played at Crookston. And the rapidly-improving Hallock Lions, by a 5 to 3 score, lowered the boom on the Grand Forks Redwings at Hallock.

This week's games, the results of which should flatten out the league race, will find the Thieves playing at Grand Forks on Wednesday night in an important tussle. And the Warroad Lakers will play the Roseau Cloverleafs at Roseau. In the other Wednesday night game, the Hallock Lions will be at Crookston.

A pair of important games are slated for Saturday night, with the Thieves playing at Roseau, and the Grand Forks Redwings playing the Lakers at Warroad.

Sunday's program will have the Crookston Pirates meeting the Thieves at Thief River Falls; Roseau travelling to Grand Forks; and Warroad playing at Hallock.

CITY WHIST LEAGUE TO PLAY THURSDAY NIGHT

Resuming play following the holiday recess, the four-team city whist league will meet in scheduled match on Thursday evening, January 15th. The matches are slated to be played at the V.F.W. club rooms.

Lincoln Sextet Stacks up Two Decisive Wins

Crookston Cathedral Bows 5-0; Locals Whip Roseau Tuesday 6 to 1

Coach Dennis Rolle's hockey Prowlers won a pair of well-played games during the week, defeating Serge Gambucci's Crookston Cathedral sextet, 5 to 0, here last Wednesday night, and winning, by a 6 to 1 score, over Oscar Almquist's Roseau high school team in a conference game played here on Tuesday night.

The Prowlers will entertain the Williams team in an important conference tilt on the Arena rink on Saturday night, Jan. 17th; and on Tuesday night, Jan. 20th, the locals will travel to Hallock. The game that was scheduled to have been played against the Warroad Warriors at Warroad last Saturday night was postponed because of the flu epidemic that has been raging in that vicinity.

Wednesday night's game against the Blue Wave of Crookston was scoreless until the 5:31 mark of the second period when Marv Jorde slapped a shot past goalie Tam Brunelle. And Jorde, on an assist from Les Sabo, boosted the Prowler lead to 2 to 0 at 7:25; and seconds later, at 7:46, Mike Hajostek tallied to give coach Rolle's club a 3 to 0 margin. Lyle Guttu's two rapid-fire goals late in the third period closed out the game's scoring, giving the Prowlers a 5 to 0 win.

Tuesday night, in a regional conference game played here, the Prowlers defeated Roseau, 6 to 1. The win was the second in conference play for the locals, and gives coach Rolle's club a two win and no loss record against regional competition.

Marv Jorde's sharply-angled backhand shot, at 1:15 of the second period, on a pass from Lyle Guttu, gave the locals a 1 to 0 lead. And Bobby Helgeland, at 3:08, increased that margin to 2 to 0. Roseau's Chuck Dubore, on a shot from ten feet out, beat Billy Maruska to give coach Almquist's club their lone goal at 6:55. Joey Poole, on a solo rush, came in for a goal-mouth shot at 14:27, and the Prowlers held a 3 to 1 lead.

Sid Vraa, back in the Prowler lineup after an absence of several weeks, fed a pass to Guttu for a tally, at 6:59 of the third period. Poole added his second goal of the night when he banged in a rebound shot on Mike Hajostek's goal try.

And Jorde, on a neat bit of skate-work, and with a backhand shot, flipped a tally into the north goal at 12:20; giving the locals a well-deserved 6 to 1 triumph.

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK AT ST. OLAF JAN. 19

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the late president and a United Nations Delegate, will speak at St. Olaf College, Northfield, on Monday, Jan. 19, at 8:00 p. m. She will talk on "The United Nations Today and Our Part in It." It will be her only talk this winter in Minnesota and was scheduled to make up for a cancelled appearance two years ago.

Thieves Hockey Six Defeats Crookston, Bows to Warroad 7-5

The senior hockey Thieves, after scoring a 10 to 2 win over the Crookston Pirates at Crookston on Thursday night, with player-coach Paul Bedard denting the nets for a pair of goals and adding three assists for a five-point evening, had an opportunity to take over the league lead by defeating the Warroad Lakers at Warroad on Sunday afternoon. But the combination of Mike Hupchuk and Ed Kliner proved to be the insurmountable obstacle, with Mike scoring three goals and Torpedo Ed clicking for a goal and four assists, giving the Lakers a 7 to 5 decision over the locals.

The Thieves will be up against top-flight opposition on Wednesday night when they journey to Grand Forks for a game against the Redwings. Wednesday night's game will make the final trip, on the league schedule for the Thieves to Grand Forks, and on their first jaunt over there, in the season opener, the Redwings edged out a 7 to 6 triumph in a very well-played contest.

The locals made short work of their game against the Pirates at Crookston on Thursday night, rolling up a 4 to 0 lead in the first period, with Bedard, Stan Craig, Church Russell, and Don Costello doing the scoring.

In the second period, after Russell, on an assist from Bedard, had tallied a 2:13; Mouse Efteland looped a curve past goalie Bud Schraeder, giving the locals a 6 to 0 lead. Dan Kaye and Ken Little rapped in goals for the Pirates, while Tony Dorn racked up a Thieves' goal, giving coach Bedard's squad a 7 to 2 margin.

The Thieves shoved three goals past the short-handed Pirates, who were playing without the services of Lynn Bend and Scotty Cameron, in the third period to pile up a 10 to 2 victory.

Sunday's game at Warroad was 3 to 1 tussle, in favor of the Lakers, until the third period, when the "curtains" were taken off the goals and eight scores were poured past the two netminders.

Church Russell, at 8:00 of the first period, gave the Thieves a short-lived lead when he beat Harry Barefoot after getting an assist from Stan Craig and Paul Bedard. Ed Kliner, at 11:05, evened the score at 1 all; Willie Toninato, at 16:40, sent the Lakers into the lead.

In the best-played period of the game, the second, the Thieves and the Lakers were raking the opposing goalies with scoring shots, but except for Mike Hupchuk's unassisted tally at 16:01; the gate-men were unbeatable.

In the frantic third period eight goals were registered, four by each team, with Hupchuk of the Lakers getting a couple to complete the "hat trick".

Following the game at Grand Forks on Wednesday night, the Thieves will play at Roseau on Saturday night, and return to the Arena ice here on Sunday for an important home game against the Crookston Pirates.

Soo Line "Investigation"

The results of two weeks of research and investigation reveals that the Art Smith—Ted Nolan—Mel LeFeber—Floyd Litstrom Soo Line Branchliners of the Friday night bowling league, fairly and squarely defeated the Ed Hemerski—Art Burke—Earl Hacket—Billy Walters Soo Line Mainliners in a three-game match rolled over the Playdor alleys a short while ago.

The Branchliners had margin of sixty pins, ninety pins, and a hundred pins in each of the three games for an aggregate of two hundred fifty pins. The Mainliners, bowling without the services of lefty Phil LeGault, claimed that they, the Mainliners, were "below form" against the Branchliners. But that claim was made invalid when the Branchliners offered evidence that it is "normal form" for the Mainliners to lose three straight.

It is probable that the Soo Line "home office" will issue an order, as a result of that bowling match, giving the Branchliners the "right of way," and relegating the Mainliners to the status of a "way freight" gang.

Becoming Crowded

If the Northwest Hockey league experiences another week like the one that has just passed, it's possible that all six of the league members will be in the first division in the loop standings. As of now, it requires but a small blanket to cover the cellar-dwelling Crookston Pirates and the league-leaders. And it is probable that the league race will continue on a nip-and-tuck basis through the schedule's final week, Feb. 25th.

It is becoming evident, too, that the brand of hockey that is being flashed this season is the best to ever come off a stick or blade in this part of the northwest. And there is a good reason for this excellent hockey, for every team in the league has players on its roster that are capable of playing in the professional ranks.

For instance, the Thieves have goalie Jack Peters, a former St. Paul Saints and Baltimore player; defenseman Billy Winters, a member of Eddie Shore's hockey organization; center-ice Church Russell, who formerly played with the New York Rovers and the New York Rangers; and player-coach Paul Bedard, who has had much experience in the Eastern league and with San Diego and Fort Worth.

The Grand Forks Redwings have Ken McKenzie, a former Ranger, and Odie Lowe, a former St. Paul Saint, on their roster; the Roseau Cloverleafs' offense is spear-headed by Wally Stefaniw, a former Eastern League "hot shot"; and the Warroad Lakers have six members of Fort Frances' Allen Cup winners in their lineup.

Local hockey fans, whose memory can recall the days when the hockey rink was on the river below the First Street bridge, and when the local team, reinforced by several players from Roseau, won the state amateur hockey title; and can recall the George Beverly era of later days, when the Thieves were States-Dominion hockey league champions, are agreed that the hockey this year is "tops."

Attention: Golden Glovers

The Region Three Golden Glove boxing tournament will be held at Detroit Lakes on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 23rd and 24th, at the high school auditorium.

There perhaps are several prospective candidates in this area, and these boxers may secure entry blanks from Ambrose Wysoski at the V. F. W. club. The local VFW post has been given a franchise to conduct Golden Glove matches, but Wysoski stated that it would be impossible for the club to arrange a district tournament here this season. He hopes, though, that all the details will be completed so that an amateur boxing program can be started next year.

Ever-Victorious

It is beginning to appear that Paul Bedard's junior hockey team will have an ever-victorious season. On Saturday afternoon, playing on the spacious Roseau rink, the local juniors, by a 6 to 2 score, defeated the Roseau juniors.

Bedard's "power" line—Jack Poole, Glen Carlson, and Chip Strand—accounted for all of the local club's goals. Center Jack Poole tallied twice, and Glen and Chip added two goals apiece.

Minnesota Has Fine Record in Tests for Selective Service

The small percentage of Minnesota selective service registrants who failed to pass the armed forces qualification test is cited as the best record in the nation in the current Minnesota Journal of Education.

From July 1950 to June 1951, the magazine article points out, only 1.3 per cent of all Minnesota selective service registrants were rejected by the armed forces for failure to pass the test.

This was the lowest percentage of rejections in any state in the Union.

Of all men examined during that period, 16.4 per cent were rejected for failure to pass the test. South Carolina, with a 56 per cent rejection record, was at the bottom of the list.

"Minnesota's rank at the top has much to say for our school system," the article points out, "since performance on the armed forces qualifications test is associated with school achievement.

"A valid performance on many of the questions is impossible without at least some schooling. Experience with the test shows that men who attended school for longer periods of time scored in the higest categories."

A. L. Gallop, research director of the Minnesota Education association, author of the piece, points out the strong relationship between the amount of money a state spends on education and the rate of rejections of its registrants for failure to meet minimum educational standards for service in World War II.

Minnesota has a current expenditure per pupil in average daily attendance only slightly above the United States average, however, Gallop notes. Its expenditures are below those of many states much lower on the rejection scale.

"Per capita income serves reasonably well as a general measure of the ability of states to support governmental services," he writes. "Here again, Minnesota ranks well below the average and yet with less ability has done what seems to be a better job of educating its citizens."

The article was based on a statement by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey before the interstate and foreign commerce committee of the house of representatives last June 19.

More Geese Are Transferred to Mud Lake Refuge

The captive goose flock at the Mud Lake national wildlife refuge has been increased by the transfer of 48 additional Canada geese. These geese were moved by truck from the Swan Lake refuge in Missouri, during the period Dec. 2-5.

On December 4th 83 geese were transferred from the summer pen of 150 acres to the winter holding pen located at the headquarters site.

The flock of 131 geese will be wintered together and moved in to the summer nesting area in March.

Approximately 40 geese were raised in the refuge marshes during the 1952 nesting season. The majority of these goslings were hatched outside of the pen, and were the result of birds released on the marsh areas during 1949, and 1950. The captive flock, is expected to gradually increase production as the one and two year old birds mature.

Geese raised within the refuge were observed on many occasions during the summer of 1952 within a radius of 15 miles from the refuge.

The build-up of a large local goose flock will be a slow gradual increase, but every attempt is being made to assure the permanency of the flock.

OUR LAND

Prepared by the Minnesota Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with University Farm, St. Paul

Do Tree Crops Rob Soil?

Some people have an idea that tree crops rob soil. But Parker Anderson, extension forester at the University of Minnesota, points out that, although an acre of trees may yield many tons of wood in form of logs or cordwood, less than one per cent of this weight, according to research, is made up of nutrients. Any seeming depletion is replaced by weathering of minerals in the soil, plus the addition of nitrogen by rainfall and the action of nitrogen fixing organisms in the soil. Trees return minerals and nutrients to the soil in the form of leaf litter, constantly building up poor soils, says Anderson.

Paul Bunyan Job

Face lifting events, where a farm is streamlined for soil conservation in a single day, are well known through the country. But who ever heard of a farmer doing it single handed? That's what Jerome Schansburg, who farms 100 acres near Caledonia in the Houston Soil Conservation District, did. Schansburg didn't do it in a single day, of course. But by working double time, night and day, while his wife did the chores, he treated nearly every acre of his farm according to its capabilities for soil conservation in a single season.

Here's What He Did

He spread 54 tons of lime and applied 2500 pounds of fertilizer. He renovated 12 acres of pasture. He established contour strips on 43 acres of cropland and terraced one field. Schansburg fenced a ten-acre woodlot and also built a contour fence along his pasture to eliminate short rows. Schansburg goes on a near trot from one job to another. How about his wife? She's against it (so she says). "But it's no use trying to talk him out of it."

Land Schools Held

Land appreciation schools were held in 16 Minnesota counties during the past summer. Among the 1400 entered were 4-H club members, FFA students, veterans' agriculture classes and other farmers. Roger Harris, extension specialist in soil conservation at the University of Minnesota, is assisting staging more of these events in county agricultural agents in 1953. Participants learn how to recognize the important physical features of land and soil, how to determine proper land use and the appropriate soil conserving practices.

Livestock Sales at Winter Shows to Be Feb. 26-27

Varied Assortment of Dairy and Beef Cattle to Be Offered at Sale

The livestock sales dates at the 1953 Red River Valley Winter Shows in Crookston have been set for February 26 and 27. Final plans for the sales were completed by the livestock sale committee of the Valley Livestock association at their meeting at Crookston on January 7. The Winter Shows dates are February 23-27.

The livestock to be sold on Thursday, February 26, includes bred ewes and gilts and dairy cattle; a total of 42 bred ewes, 71 bred gilts, 13 dairy bulls, and and 11 dairy cows. A new record will be established at this year's sale in that all 18 head of Holstein cattle consigned come from herds with known production records in the Dairy Herd Improvement association.

The beef cattle sale will be held on Friday, February 27, with 32 bulls and 30 cows offered for sale including 36 Herefords, 15 Shorthorn, and 11 Angus. Howard Schnell, a nationally known auctioneer from Dickinson, North Dakota, will sell the beef cattle. Auctioneers from the Red River Valley counties will sell the sheep, swine, and dairy cattle and assist as ring men at all sales.

Hardware Men to Hold Convention in Minneapolis

More than 3,000 Minnesota hardware dealers and their wives will converge on Minneapolis January 20, 21, 22, to attend the 56th annual Minnesota Retail Hardware Dealers' convention. The theme of the convention will be "Time for a Change."

Retailers will hear outstanding speakers on merchandising, marketing and wholesaling.

Each day exhibits on new products and merchandising methods from the entire United States will be on display in the Minneapolis Auditorium.

Order Chicks Now for Early Delivery

Get Delivery by Mar. 15, County Agent Advises

Now is a good time to order chicks to insure delivery at least by March 15th, County Agent Raymond Mitteness reminds poultrymen that this will enable them to market more eggs during high price months.

Besides producing more eggs, good breeding counts in producing eggs with good market quality, according to Cora Cooke, extension poultry specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Select chicks from stock bred for early maturity so they will lay good size eggs early in the season. Eggs averaging two ounces are best for size. Remember that oversize is just as undesirable as undersize, says Miss Cooke.

Eggs with uniform color and shape and with strong shells aren't the only requirements for quality. The amount of thick white and blood spots are also inherited, so the selection of chicks with good breeding is especially important. Breeders are making some progress in attaining this objective.

Breeding improvement is a slow process, so don't expect perfection in the near future, says Miss Cooke.

The county agent suggests that Pennington county poultry producers obtain a copy of Extension Folder 80, "More Money for Eggs" from his office or the bulletin Room, University Farm, St. Paul 1, Minnesota.

False Lung

A difficult problem in chest surgery is preventing overexpansion or shifting of the remaining lung when a lung is removed on account of tuberculosis or cancer. Mayo Clinic physicians have been testing on dogs a new spare part which they hope will keep the remaining lung in place—a false lung to fill the space left by the missing lung. The false lung, which is made of a clear plastic, has been well tolerated by animals.

TOO MANY BEGS

Two months ago, the community fund drive failed dismally in Thief River Falls. The same type of failure has been noted all over the country where numerous successive charity drives have been asked of the people.

There should be only one solicitation a year for funds and that drive should be the community fund itself. It should be properly organized with all employed persons urged to give a day's wages. We believe the local Chamber of Commerce should adopt a rigid policy whereby any organization which refused to join the community fund would be prohibited from soliciting in the city. An efficient, well-paid, full time administrator could raise more funds with one annual community fund drive than is now raised in the usual dozen campaigns.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

We hope that we don't embarrass Senator Bill by this editorial, but he told us when he left town (at the request of the people) that we could have a free hand with no strings attached, although we would be personally responsible for libel.

One of the things that makes us free people in these United States is that we have the right to disagree with our government by either written or spoken word. We cannot help but disagree with the Governor's opening address to the Minnesota legislature.

The Governor called for increased services to the people and also asked for decreased taxes. Don't misunderstand us, we believe the function of government is to provide services for the people, but it takes taxes to do it. In a period of inflation we do not believe you can have both of the things the Governor asked for.

The Governor also asked that the ceiling be removed from old age assistance, basing his recommendation on the findings of the Senate Interim Commission. This commission asked the 87 welfare boards in Minnesota as to whether or not a ceiling should be removed and 77 of them said, "No." The states of California and Washington tried an experiment along this line and both had to repeal the law after being faced with bankruptcy.

The present Minnesota law is much more liberal than the federal social security law under which it operates, and any departure over and above the federal law is extremely expensive to the state and counties. The present law permits an aged couple to receive up to $120 a month plus unlimited medical care, and this is approximately the maximum amount under which a couple can retire on the basis of their social security number. If this law is passed, welfare taxes, which are already burdensome, will become intolerable when the sky is the limit.

The Governor also asked for expansion of the Youth Conservation Commission. We disagree with its philosophy, but perhaps the thinking behind a YCC is good and certainly the purpose is noble, but this community has had a series of unfortunate results from the YCC because of decisions made at the top level. The only reason it has worked at all here is that we have been fortunate in always having stationed here a man of high caliber. Maybe the reason for its shortcomings is that it has expanded too rapidly and tried to do too much with limited personnel. We think the whole thing needs further study before any expansion is made in that field.

SCHOOL STOP SIGNS

The local police have done all in their power to make drivers observe the stop signs at Lincoln High School. Morning after morning they have stationed a uniformed policeman at that corner and then the drivers obey. But as soon as the policeman leaves, many drivers again pay no heed to the sign. It is a dangerous situation because the school children rely on the signs and are not as careful as usual. Maybe the answer is a policeman in plain clothes with every offender being fined the $25 the law specifies.

CENSORSHIP

Let us hope that censorship of the type recently adopted in St. Cloud never comes into Thief River Falls. We would be the first to admit that much salacious reading material is on our news stands today, but we still think that the founders of our country were wise men when they had the constitution specifically prohibit the government from passing any laws regulating the freedom of the press.

All of us are in agreement that certain publications could be left off the news stands, but no matter how long you debate the question, you still end up with the same problem — who is going to be the judge of what is right and what is wrong?

The decision should be left to one's own conscience, morals, and teachings of his own church. Remember that when you once start censorship of public morals as in St. Cloud, you next get into censorship of politics, and other things, and soon the government is doing your thinking for you as in Russia.

Let there continue to be private codes of censorship, such as the Hays Office for movies, and the recently adopted private code for television. Perhaps a private code adopted by the magazine publishers is the answer.

NEW COURT HOUSE

It is sometimes said that people are judged by the houses they live in. Outsiders must judge business conditions here by our court house.

Why is it that when government condemns a private building, it follows through with action; but it will condemn a public building and then do nothing about enforcing its order.

In our opinion, a new court house would not raise taxes. The present sinking fund levy plus the annual contribution from the municipal store should be sufficient to retire a bond issue in 25 years. And of course the most tragic thing of all would be a court house fire where the vaults would fall apart under the force of a fire hose. And last but not least is the importance of holding court under an atmosphere where people can have respect for our courts and all they represent.

Editor's Note- Robert A. Wurst will be guest editorial writer for the issue of January 21.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

(This service is based on questions asked at Veterans Administration offices in the State. (Answers are supplied by VA.)

Q. I'm a disabled Korean veteran and I plan to take some training under Public Law 16. How much training am I entitled to get? Is it based on my length of service?

A: You'll be permitted to train for as long as is necessary to become rehabilitated up to four years; that is, to the point where you're able to hold down a job in the field for which you trained. Length of training under this law is not based on length of military service.

Q: I interrupted my training under the World War II GI Bill to go back into military service. I've just been discharged, and I find that I'm eligible for training under the new law, or would I be allowed to resume my training under the old GI Bill?

A: If you meet all the eligibility requirements for training under both GI Bills you could take your training under either program.

Q: I am a totally disabled World War II veteran. I want to convert my National Service Life Insurance term policy to some permanent plan of insurance. Is there any limitation because of my disability?

A: Yes. You may convert your term insurance to straight life, 20-pay life or 30-pay life. You may not convert it to any of the endowment plans, while you are totally disabled.

Q: I want to get a GI business loan to buy equipment for a gas station. How many years can I take to pay it back?

A: Under the law, GI non-real-estate business loans may be made for up to 10 years. But your lender has the right to ask for repayment before that time.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Who is This Average Child?

In reading about children, we often run across comments about the "average child," and statements about the "average age" for various sorts of behavior. While these averages are extremely helpful as rough guides for evaluation of an individual child, they shouldn't be taken too literally without thinking also of the wide variety of information behind them.

For example, many studies of children have found that the "average child" says his first word at about 12 months of age. Other groups of children which have been studied place the appearance of the first word at various ages between nine and fifteen months. Individual children within these groups which were studied said their first words at still different ages—a few as early as six month; quite a few not before their second birthday. Despite this wide range of ages, however, most of the children studied in these groups showed "normal" development.

We could find the same differences for other "averages"—for the age of walking, or the age of establishing toilet control, or the age of eating with a fork instead of a spoon. In thinking about an "average" age, we need to remember how averages are calculated. Many children are observed, and the age of the child when a particular bit of behavior appeared is recorded. Then, all the ages are added together, and this sum is divided by the number of children in the group.

Averages are useful—if we use them wisely. They are guides which help to show how an individual child's rate of development compares with the rate shown by other children. In thinking about an individual child, however, we need to remember that he has his own rate of development. What is "average" for all children taken together may not be average for him.

Coal and Gravity

A ton of coal is 2,000 pounds on the surface of the earth and 1,000 pounds at 2,000 miles below the surface. At the center of the earth (4,000 miles), it would have no weight at all because the gravitation from the two halves of an imaginary division of the earth would be equal in both directions.

"the only REAL GIFT is a portion of thyself"
RALPH WALDO EMERSON

There is more to the business of being a thrift and home financing institution than shows in the figures of the balance sheet. Our greatest asset is the knowledge that we are helping folks in this community give a "portion of themselves" to their families and loved ones: a portion of their earnings in a savings account, complemented by better-than-average, twice-yearly dividends . . . a portion of their earnings being paid on a home loan that will lead them surely and steadily to debt-free home ownership and security unmatched.

While the figures in this financial statement reflect the conservative management and complete safety of the association . . . they also give visible proof of the first aim of our business . . . to enable people to save profitably, to own homes practically, to live comfortably and to provide for their future and that of their family by "giving a portion of themselves."

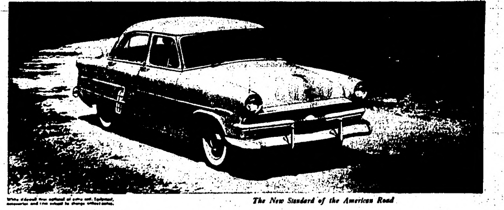
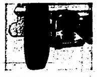
New Ford Miracle Ride
Here's new freedom from bounce, pitch and sway . . . an entirely new standard of riding comfort!

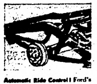
If you've thought it takes gas-eating weight and hard-to-park length to give real riding comfort you ought to try this '53 Ford. For Ford's new Miracle Ride actually seems to lay a carpet of smoothness even over the roughest roads. There's no bounce, pitch and sway to bother you, no uncomfortable roll on curves. Ford's new Miracle Ride marks a new era of riding comfort and quiet. It's another big reason why Ford is worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it!



White sidewall tires optional at extra cost. Equipment, accessories and trim subject to change without notice.
The New Standard of the American Road



80% less road shock! By increasing front wheel travel and redesigning the rubber compression bumpers, front end road shock is reduced as much as 80%. Springs are tailored-to-weight of each model, for best riding comfort, whichever model you buy.



Automatic Ride Control! Ford's Variable-Rate rear spring suspension actually makes the effective spring "stiffness" vary automatically as road and load conditions change. You get a smooth, level, comfortable ride on boulevard or roughest back road.

All day comfort! Scientifically designed contour seats, both front and rear, have thick foam rubber cushions. Non-sag spring construction is firm yet resilient. Automatic Posture Control provides the most convenient seating position for all drivers.

You've got to Value Check this new Ford's 41 "Worth More" features to know why Ford is worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it!

In this new '53 Ford you'll find not only a new concept of riding and driving comfort . . . you'll find more of the things you want and need than in any other car in the low-price field.

You'll find the "Go" you need, in Ford's high-compression V-8 and Six engines (and both thrive on regular gas). You'll find the great, all-round visibility . . . the easy handling, braking and parking you need for today's traffic. And you'll appreciate beauty that "belongs," wherever you may drive. No wonder Ford is the New Standard of the American Road.

TRAINED DRIVERS ESCHEW ACCIDENTS

During the 1948-49 school year 173 Minnesota high schools offered classroom instruction in automobile driving; 90 of them were equipped with practice driving facilities. The following year driver-training high schools numbered 237, the next year 247, and in the 1951-52 school year 287 high schools, more than half of the 485 senior highs in the state, were giving driver training, 192 of them with practice driving facilities. Authoritative records indicate that high-school-trained drivers are involved in only half as many accidents, and not even half as many traffic violation convictions, as untrained drivers.

STRANDQUIST

(Crowded out last week.)

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Mrs. Clarence Borsvold and Mr. and Mrs. George Wikstrom and girls visited with the Wallace Roppers at Donaldson on Monday evening of last week.

A-3-C Peter B. Orcutt and Mrs. Ross Rasmussen and son Neil spent Friday evening visiting at the Oscar Johnson home until train time, when Pete left for Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss. He had spend a 15 day holiday leave here with his folks.

A family gathering for Christmas Day supper at the home of Mrs. Stancyk were Mr. and Mrs. George Labine, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stancyk and daughter Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stancyk and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kleinwachter and sons Johnnie and Paul.

Swan Olson and son A-2-C Wallace of Strandquist, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Olson of Rosewood and Gordon Olson and his girl friend of Warren, were all dinner and supper guests and afternoon visitors at the Rudolph Olson home in Stephen on Sunday.

Mrs. Leon Orcutt left on the train for Minneapolis Saturday evening where she will enter the University hospital. Her little grandson, Jimmy, will be cared for by Mrs. Ross Rasmussen during her absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nelson and family of Middle River and Mr. and Mrs. Nels Nelson of Newfolden were dinner guests at the Eddie Nelson home on New Years Day.

Mrs. Algot Skoglund and Vivian and Erick of Holt and Mrs. Lisa Henrickson visited with Otina Rokke on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hennum and Patsy of Kennedy were luncheon guests at the Wm. Wards home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Novacek and daughter of Greenbush were Sunday afternoon visitors at the Martin Myszkowski home.

Mrs. Anna Carlson, one of our pioneer mothers, passed away Saturday morning at the old peoples home in Thief River Falls where she has spent the past four years. Mrs. Carlson is the mother of Helmar Carlson of Strandquist. She would have reached her 80th birthday in May, had she lived. Funeral services will be held at the Bethesda church here in Strandquist on Wednesday at 2 p. m. with Rev. A. H. Larson officiating. Mrs. Duane Smith of Rolete, N. D. and Mrs. Ella Thompson of Albert Lee, Minn., and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carlson of Effie, Minn. have arrived here for their mother's funeral. Bill Carlson's are staying at the Helmer Carlson home and the two ladies are staying with their sister Emily in Karlstad.

Mr. and Mrs. Lang Gund and Jeffrey spent New Years at the George Gund home at Salol.

Mabel Swenson, John Underberg and Mrs. Elvina Anderson of Karlstad and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Boen had dinner and spent the day at the Kenneth Boen home on New Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Paulson and Nina motored to Enderlin, N. D. Saturday morning where they spent the weekend with the Maurice Paulson family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Monroe and family of Radium, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Larson and family of Karlstad and Mrs. Ella Thun were New Years Day dinner guests at the Douglas Thun farm home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kranz accompanied by Mrs. C. Wintum and Joey of Karlstad visited Sunday afternoon at the Ole Sladeland home at Wannaska.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Carlson, Grandma Lindgren and Mrs. Carl Nelson motored to Grafton, N. D. on Saturday where they visited with Mrs. Christ Olson and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lindgren. Mrs. Nelson visited with her two daughters, the Thompson families.

Mrs. Harry Storeby and Emil Kleinwachter spent New Years Eve at the Ted Olsons at Karlstad.

Mr. and Mrs. Lars Barstad of Thief River Falls spent New Years day and night at the Ted Kimbrough home.

Lois Benson of Roseau and Edwin Mellstrom of Salol, who had just returned from Germany after his recent discharge from the army were Sunday visitors at the Lang Gund home.

Kathryn Warde and Una Mae Kimbrough spent New Years with Yvonne and Annette Wigen at Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Anton Janson visited with Mrs. Christine Wikstrom and Mrs. Geo. Henrickson at the Karlstad hospital on Saturday.

Mr. G. Ball and daughter Helen returned Saturday from a weeks visit in Fargo.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kimbrough, Connie and Eileen of Cavalier, N. D., Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kimbrough and Una Mae and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hageland, Lorelle, Barry, Michael and Curtis were all dinner guests here with Grandma Kimbrough on New Years Day.

Mrs. Ella Thun accompanied George Monroe to the cities and Parkers Prairie on Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kimbrough and Una Mae visited with the Alvin Nelsons in Newfolden a week ago Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Borsvold motored to Kennedy on Sunday afternoon to get Dorothy who had spent a few days with the Clarence Carlsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Anderson of Drayton and Mr. and Mrs. Don Peterson and Craig spent Sunday afternoon and evening at the Willys Stennes home. Darlene and Mariva Stennes, who had spent a week in Drayton with the Andersons also returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson and Walter and Pearl Bratland were supper guests at the Ole Roppe home at Strathcona on Sunday.

Mrs. Martin Peterson and Mrs. L. L. Kimbrough called at the Jonas Sjodin home on Tuesday. Their daughter Clarice of Minneapolis and their granddaughter Marilyn Swanson of Stephen were spending the holidays with the Sjodins.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingvold Rokke and Ralph visited Sunday afternoon at the Melford Rokke home in West Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Borsvold visited with grandma Borsvold on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fisher of Newfolden visited at the Ingvald Rokke home on Saturday.

Lydia Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Stromlund and the Albert Stromlund family were dinner guests at the Howard Rood home at Holt on Saturday.

Wm. Wikstrom had Christmas dinner with the Geo. Wikstrom family in Karlstad and spent the evening at the Zachery Carlson home.

Mrs. Victor Lefrooth, Yvonne, Gordon and Laurel and Vernon Amundson were supper guests at the Oliver Jeune home near Middle River on Thursday evening.

Sunday dinner guests at the Andrew Boen home were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Dagen and Celeste, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Boen, Andy and Renee and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kelly and Michael Jon. The Kelly's and Dagen's were supper guests at the Kenneth Boen farm on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nelson and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Johnson of Middle River and Mr. and Mrs. Gotfred Berggren and family were all Friday evening visitors at the Andrew Anderson home.

What do you suppose Milton Anderson was doing during the wee hours of Christmas Eve? He claims he caught Santa Claus when he was half way down his chimney!

Alvin Nelson of Minneapolis was a Sunday afternoon caller at the P. E. Sihlberg home.

Elmer, Erick, Geo. and Irvin Henrickson and Conrad Wigen were out on a lynx hunt Sunday. They were on the alert for about six hours before they got a good bead on him and then Erick sent the leaded missile that sealed his doom. The hunt ended about two miles west of the Fredrick farm south of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson and Carol and Dorothy Borsvold visited with Grandma Wikstrom at the hospital on Christmas day afternoon and also visited with the Geo. Wikstrom family in the late afternoon.

Again we hear of one of our soldier boys. Mrs. Albert Lofstrom received a letter from her son A/1c Ernest, the other day, from Tripoli, Lybia in North Africa. Ernest is getting along just fine, but will be glad when he can come home. He was promoted in rank about two weeks ago. They had two days of rain there now after 8 months of drought and he says the farmers (such as they are) were out plowing with camels, a very slow process. The people there, he says, are very poor indeed.

Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson of Newfolden spent Sunday afternoon and evening visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Thief River Falls, Minn.

The City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, met in regular session in the Chambers in the Municipal Building on December 9, 1952; the meeting being called to order at eight o'clock P. M. with all members present.

Minutes of the meetings of November 13th and 18th, were read and the same were so approved.

Monthly reports of the Clerk, Treasurer, Fire Department, Weighmaster, Chief Operator of Water Treatment Plant were presented, examined and ordered filed.

Application was presented by Robert Bredeson for renewal of Dry Cleaners license Bredeson Cleaners, 215 Main Avenue No. and the same was on motion of Alderman Fuller, seconded by Hunt, approved and ordered issued.

Applications for building permits were presented, as follows: Stanley Hanum, 2 new residences, cost $10,000 each, Lots 6-7, Block 8, Wonderland Addition. Alderman Hunt moved approval and issuance of permits, which motion was seconded by Alderman Lund and the same was carried.

Pursuant to Notice duly published in connection with a proposed assessment against benefited property by reason of construction of Walks, curbs and gutters along Reserve Avenue, Maple Avenue and Merriam Avenue, all in accordance with petitions heretofore filed, the Council proceeded to hear and pass upon any and all objections thereto. No persons interested therein appeared with objections to such proposed assessment. Alderman Christensen then introduced a resolution adopting the proposed assessment, providing that the same be made payable in three annual installments with interest at the rate of 6% from the date hereof and moved the adoption of such resolution. Alderman Fuller seconded such motion. The roll was called on question of adoption and all members voted in favor thereof. The resolution was then declared by the President, passed and adopted.

There was presented by State of Minnesota, a lease in the matter of rental of quarters for the State Highway Department, in the old Water Treatment Plant, from and after February 1, 1953 for a three month period, at $75.00 per month. Alderman Lund moved that the same be accepted subject to the approval of the City Attorney, and that the proper officers of the City be authorized and directed to execute the same on behalf of the City. Alderman Bergland seconded the motion and the same was duly passed by unanimous roll call vote.

There was presented by Harry Hendrickson, Superintendent of Electric System, a form agreement signed by W. S. Thomas, 321 South Duluth Avenue, in which said W. S. Thomas agreed to pay the City a certain standby for service for during the months during which his place of business was not operating in order to reimburse the City for the expense incurred in providing three phase service. Alderman Christensen moved that such agreement be referred back to the Water and Light Committee for further study and it was so ordered.

There was presented by Chief Engineer of Power Plant a recommendation that the salary of Harry Jasperson, Operator, be increased in the amount of $10.00 per month, effective as of December 1, 1952, having completed six months satisfactory service. Alderman Fuller introduced a resolution approving the same and establishing the salary as recommended and moved adoption of such resolution. Alderman Lund seconded the motion and the resolution was thereupon passed and adopted.

There was presented by D. H. Stewart, Consulting Engineer, a preliminary report in the matter of lands to be acquired for overflow reservoir of Water Treatment Plant Discharge. Alderman Lund introduced a resolution that the Council determine to acquire by condemnation the properties generally described as approximately all that portion of Lots Two, Three Four and 6 of Block One, Zeh's Addition below the 1110 contour line based on Mean Sea Level datum 1929 adjustment and that the City Engineer be directed to prepare and present to the Council such plat of survey or description necessary to explain the same and the property to be taken or interfered with and moved the adoption of such resolution. Alderman Christensen seconded the motion. The roll was called on question of adoption and all members voted in favor thereof and such resolution was declared passed.

Alderman Fuller moved that Aldermen Gjernes, Lund and Chief Operator Harold Johnson investigate the premises in the matter of discharge course of materials from Water Treatment Plant and report back to the Council. Alderman Christensen seconded such motion which was adopted.

Chairman Christensen of the Street Department Committee reported to the Council that the Bee Truck in operation of the Department for the past four years was in very bad condition also that no further moving of buildings thru and on city streets should be allowed until permit has been granted by proper authorities and that application for such permit should indicate the route proposed in such moving. A motion was also introduced by Alderman Christensen that further sales of gravel from the pit on the land owned by the City in Marshall county be discontinued and that such pit be fenced, by the Street Department, the gravel henceforth to be used solely for municipal purposes. Alderman Bergland seconded such motion which was duly adopted.

Alderman Fuller then moved that the Clerk cause notice to be published calling for proposals for the furnishing for use by the Street Department One 2 Ton Truck, chassis and cab only in accordance with specifications of the department, bids to be opened and considered on January 13, 1953. Alderman Bergland seconded the motion which was adopted.

Alderman Fuller introduced a resolution directing transfer of funds from the Electric Fund and Liquor Dispensary Fund to various funds appearing on the City Books to balance the operating deficits of such funds during the fiscal year 1952 and to transfer to certain agencies of the City the amount of tax funds to which they are entitled and moved the adoption of such resolution. Alderman Hunt seconded the motion. The roll was called on question of adoption and all members voted in favor thereof, whereupon the President declared the resolution adopted.

Alderman Hunt introduced a resolution approving for payment various current bills against the City and moved its adoption. Alderman Christensen seconded the motion and by a roll call vote the same was unanimously passed and adopted.

The meeting was thereupon declared adjourned.

CARL GJERNES,
President of the Council.

SMILEY . . .

By Mrs. Jim McCrum, Rt. 3, city

An excellent attendance made the Smiley 4-H meeting a success Friday evening at the hall. The roll call was answered by each member present by naming a favorite automobile. A short business session was followed by a program consisting of a demonstration "Cleaning the Breakers" by Dennis Nelson; a project talk "Care of Tires" by Marlin Hutmaker; a clever radio skit with Dianne Lendobeja as narrator; a project talk, "Color, Comfort and Cheer," by Marilyn McCrum. Mrs. Sylvia Olson, home demonstration agent, presented two movie slides, "What to Wear with What" and "Safety on a Tractor" — both very interesting. There are four new members. They are June Helgeland, Dolores and Joan Lyzcowski and Duane Helgeland. Refreshments were served by the Adam Lendobeja and the Art Christiansen families. Games and relays were played.

A birthday party was enjoyed at the J. W. Lendobeja home on Monday evening honoring Mrs. Lendobeja's mother, Mrs. Marshall Kays. Other guests were Mr. Kays, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kays and son Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lendobeja.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Miller and Mrs. Dave Bruggeman returned a week ago Sunday from a two and one-half weeks holiday trip. The Millers visited in Mayfield, Kentucky with his parents and other relatives. On their way to Kentucky, Mrs. Bruggeman stopped off in Chicago for a visit with her father and sisters. Enroute home the Millers came back via Detroit, Mich. where they visited Mr. Miller's relatives there, then via Chicago to pick up Mrs. Bruggeman.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ege of Thief River Falls were Sunday visitors of Miss Clara Olson.

Jim McCrum returned Sunday evening from St. Cloud. He had accompanied his sister, Mrs. Harry J. Bragg, by car the previous day.

The S-K twins have a hockey team now. They defeated the Silverton hockey team Sunday afternoon on the river rink below the Walter Lendobeja place.

Culver Kisch left Sunday for Milwaukee for an indefinite visit with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ristau (Audrey Kisch).

Mrs. Adam Lendobeja is a patient in the Northwestern hospital. We sincerely hope for her complete recovery from a bronchial ailment.

The Helperettes meet this Wednesday, Jan. 14th at the home of Mrs. Bill Grundhaus. Election of officers will be the highlight.

Mrs. J. W. Lendobeja attended a pink and blue shower at the D. J. Lund home in Thief River Falls. The honoree was Mrs. Jerry Mickley. The guests were Mrs. Derwood Lund, hostess, Mrs. Lendobeja and Mrs. Glen Peterson. All these young women were classmates at Lincoln High.

There will be a "Polio Festival" at the Smiley hall Saturday evening, Jan. 17. The proceeds from this talent show and dance will all go into the polio fund. This benefit affair should hit the good spot in your heart. Come, help to make it a success.

The Smiley Community Club will meet Friday evening, Jan. 23rd at the hall. There will be a whist party after the business meeting. All old members will automatically be considered members until notified of release. Let's make this a good meeting by coming for a game or two of whist and lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lendobeja were Sunday dinner guests at the Dave Christensen home in Hazel.

Local Unit National Guard to Reorganize Friday Night, Jan. 16

Minnesota's 47th Infantry "Viking" Division will return to the cities and towns of the state January 16 after two years of active Federal service. In simultaneous ceremonies conducted in 58 towns throughout Minnesota, including Thief River Falls, 85 divisional units will return to National Guard status, Brig. Gen. J. E. Nelson, adjutant general, announced.

The occasion will mark the second anniversary of the departure of the Vikings for Camp Rucker, Alabama, in January 1951. Of the more than 6000 officers and men who left with the division at that time, some 2000 will be on hand for the reactivation. Of the 4000 who have not returned, many transferred to the regular army and remained in service. Forty-one members of the unit died in the service. The others were discharged on completion of their enlistments.

Focal point of the reorganization ceremony will be at the division headquarters in St. Paul's National Guard armory. There civil and military dignitaries headed by Governor C. Elmer Anderson will be present as the orders are read reconstituting the division as a part of the Minnesota National Guard. Portions of this ceremony will be broadcast over radio stations WCCO Minneapolis-St. Paul, KDAL Duluth and KILO Grand Forks from 9:30 to 9:45 p. m.

Enlistment of new members in the units of the 47th Division will begin on January 16, J. E. Nelson said. Membership initially will be limited to 50 per cent of the officers and 25 per cent of the enlisted men called for in official strength tables. Men who desire to become members should contact First Lieut. John Oven, local unit commander, or Warrant Officer Ivan Bundy, immediately before vacancies are filled. Bundy will be stationed in the veterans room in the Auditorium Monday thru Friday, 8:30 to 5:30.

The universal military training and service act provides that men who join the National Guard before reaching the age of 18 years and 6 months will be deferred from induction so long as they perform satisfactory service in the guard, General Nelson pointed out.

Commander of the 47th Division since 1946 is Major General Norman E. Hendrickson of Minneapolis. General Hendrickson commanded the Division throughout its service at Camp Rucker. Assistant Division Commander is Brig. Gen. P. C. Bettenburg of St. Paul.

Although the division stayed at Camp Rucker for its entire period of active service, more than half of the members of the unit were transferred to overseas assignments, mostly to Korea. Vacancies caused by departure of these men were filled by draftees and by officers and men returning from overseas.

Reactivation of the guard units on January 16th will result in the army having two 47th Divisions on its rolls. Under a recent law passed by Congress, the division at Camp Rucker will be retained in service for three additional years and will be designated as 47th Infantry Division (AUS). In the meantime, Minnesota Guard units will be organized and designated as 47th Infantry Division (NGUS). This duplication will continue until January 1956, at which time the AUS Division will be removed from the active roster.

6 Counties Keep Perfect Traffic Records in 1952

Beltrami and Mahnomen Included in Group with No Traffic Deaths in '52

Six Minnesota counties hung up death free traffic records during 1952, according to preliminary reports released today by the Minnesota Safety Council. Their fine achievements, according to Arthur V. Rohweder, council president, reflect the statewide gains made during the past year, when 80 fewer lives were lost in the state than in 1951 which had but two counties maintaining perfect records for that year.

No deaths from traffice accidents were reported from Beltrami, Cook, Cottonwood, Dodge, Kanabec and Mahnomen counties. Just missing this select group because of fatal accidents in December were Lincoln, Rock and Waseca counties.

Rohweder cited Beltrami and Kanabec counties which in 1951 had nine and ten deaths, respectively, and their perfect records of 1952. In the more populous counties, Ramsey saved a total of 12 lives, reducing deaths from 45 to 33; St. Louis, having both a relatively large population and extensive road-mileage, was able to cut down its traffic fatalities from 67 to 41, for a saving of 26 lives, while Stearns county sharply reduced its deaths from 19 to only five.

Marshall County Making Survey of Sugar Plant Labor

In order to determine the amount of labor which would be available should an additional sugar beet processing plant be located in the Marshall county area, a labor survey is being conducted this week by the Minnesota state employment service office in Thief River Falls.

The survey is being conducted for the Marshall county resources development committee, which is gathering information to present to potential sugar beet processing companies which may move into this section of the Valley.

Labor for a beet processing plant is needed on a seasonal basis for approximately 100 days, starting in October. It would provide employment for farmers during a normally dull late fall season.

Survey cards will be mailed on Thursday to approximately 5,000 boxholders throughout the area. Recipients are urged to reply to the questions and drop the self-addressed postage-paid cards in the mail without delay. All information will be assimilated in the employment service office in Thief River Falls and will then be made available to the resources committee.

Less than half the sugar consumed in the United States goes directly into the kitchen. Nearly 60 per cent is sold to food manufacturers.

Output per man day at U. S. bituminous coal mines is 7 tons —a 50 per cent increase in 15 years.

There are about 700 bituminous coal preparation plants—where the product is cleaned, sized, and screened—in the U. S.

Grenier Renamed To Head Red Lake Board 22d Year

When Frank P. Grenier was elected chairman of the Red Lake county board of commissioners at its organizational meeting January 6, it was the 22nd consecutive time he has held that post.

The first district representative has been a member of the board for 34 continuous years.

Grenier succeeded Sam E. Hunt as chairman, who held that position 21 years previously. Thus in the past 42 years only two men have been chairmen of the board.

Star Light, Star Bright

A lovely "starlit" Christmas door can be made by cutting star-shaped holes in a panel of plywood the same size as your front door. The cut-out stars should vary in size and the openings should be covered with different hues of gelatin paper . . . rose-red, blue and gold. The outer surface of the door is painted a rich amethyst color and sprinkled with glitter while the paint is still wet. A string of Christmas tree lights, strung onto the door before the panel is attached, provide the source of the "starlight."

Mrs. Len Olson is at present staying with Mrs. Garcelon at Bagley.

Verne Tharaldson left Monday morning for Duluth to attend a Standard Oil Convention. Dick Aos is taking care of the gas delivery during Vernys absence.

With the beginning of 1953 your reporter would like to wish all the readers of the "Gully News" a Happy New Year, and with the passing of 1952 thank all those who during the past year have so willingly given me news for the column. This has especially been appreciated when news has been written down or telephoned without being asked for. At times "real" news has been left out because I haven't found out about it or because those that have the news have asked to keep it out of the papers. At other times news has been left out by mistake. When that has happened it has not been intended and I ask your pardon and continued patience.

Mavis Lunde and Yvonne Tharaldson had the following as guests for New Years Day dinner at the Eat Rite Cafe, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Tharaldson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lunde and family, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Paulson and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Paulson, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Larson and Orville Bratvold.

On Saturday, Dec. 27, 1952 Miss Evangeline Lunde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lunde of Gonvick became the bride of Herbert Larson, brother of Mrs. Henry Nyland of Gonvick. The wedding ceremony was performed at the parsonage at Bagley by Rev. Fred Sommers. The brides only attendant was her sister, Mavis Lunde and Harlen Lunde, brother of the bride attended the groom. The bride wore a grey suit with navy blue accessories. The bridesmaid wore a navy suit with tan accessories. Mrs. Larson is a graduate from the Gonvick High School. She is now employed at the Eat Rite Cafe. Mr. Larson is a graduate of the Fosston High School and is working in Gully with the Co-op Shipping Association. Mr. and Mrs. Larson plan to make their home in Gully for the present time.

Joyce Tharaldson, nurse at the State Hospital at Fergus Falls spent from Monday evening until the following Tuesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Tharaldson. She spent Thursday night with Mavis Lunde and her sister Yvonne at the Cafe. Yvonne Tharaldson spent Saturday and Sunday at her parental home after scalding both her arms while making coffee at the Cafe. Gloria Tharaldson helped out at the Cafe.

Woman's Heart

A woman's heart, popular songs notwithstanding, is not as vulnerable as we have been led to believe. The American Heart Assn. reports that for the past 20 years the heart disease death rate has been on the decline for women and on the rise for men. There is no greater danger, however, for men or women, of dying from heart disease today than there was 50 years ago. The increased numbers are due, the association says, partly to the aging population and partly to improved diagnosis (many heart disease deaths of 50 years ago were unrecognized as such).

Leans over backward to do a good job

NERVELESS FRANK SLIWA leans into space from this power pole to grip a slack wire and pull it taut. He's a lineman, one of the small army of men who build and maintain Minnesota's ever-growing number of electric power lines. Among the state's biggest electricity users is the iron mining industry—buying vast amounts as part of its annual $100 million in purchases of services, equipment, supplies of all kinds. And the mining industry can buy still more from Minnesota's job-providing firms if it is successful in developing low-grade ores and taconites. Because then it will actually become a manufacturing industry—needing more, spending more, assuring more benefits to every Minnesotan.

Indonesia

Largest Moslem country in the world in terms of people, Indonesia is the hinge around which the future of much of southeast Asia swings. Its people fervently wish to remain neutral in the conflict between East and West. "Merdeka", meaning freedom, has been their rallying cry ever since they declared independence on the heels of World War II and began a four-year struggle to make it stick. Indonesia's main island is Java, seat of its capital, Djakarta, new name for old Batavia. Home of more than half the nation's people, Java is the most crowded region of its size on earth.

POSTAL MEN A HARDY LOT

Walter Beltz started 38 years ago delivering rural mail out of Morgan, using a horse and buggy on the 27-mile route; in 38 years he used up the horse and 13 automobiles while his route more than doubled to 59 miles with 163 boxholders, now at 70 he is retiring.—On rural routes out of Slayton, John Moran hung up a record of 42 years before recently retiring.—"Oldest postal substitute in the United States" lost this title when Arvid Hanson became a regular clerk in the St. James postoffice after nearly 26 years as a substitute.

The Cat Whiskers

It may surprise old-timers who used to tinker with crystal radio sets during the twenties, and before, that the crystal and the cat-whisker are still important in the latest radio advancement. Recently Ezio T. Casellini of Salem, Mass., was awarded Patent 2,595,063 for a crystal amplifier which is partially described in the Patent Office Official Gazette as "a semi-conductor unit comprising a semi-conducting crystal, a metallic mesh grid on the surface thereof and catwhisker contacts to said crystal . . ."

Slash Cost of the House, Save Money on Mortgage

Better planning and careful drawing of the contract can slash the cost of a house and save money on a mortgage.

Since the major part of the purchase price of a new home will have to be borrowed, the mortgage put on a home today will determine for years to come, whether you will have a home you own or be tied to a home that "owns" you.

To get the best terms, you should know what is being offered by the lending institution.

Whether you are building or buying, you can save on a mortgage by sticking to easily marketable property, desirable location, near schools, shopping and transportation. "Stay away from freak layouts, untried construction materials and plumbing equipment."

In securing a mortgage contract, you should inquire with the lending institution about features in the contract that will make home-ownership more comfortable: fire

World's newest V8 powers
BUICK'S GREATEST CARS IN 50 GREAT YEARS

Here you see pictured the Golden Anniversary ROADMASTER—engineered, styled, powered and bodied to be fully worthy of its paragon role in this fiftieth year of Buick building.

A quick listing of simple facts will reveal just cause for celebration.

★ It has the world's newest V8 engine. Vertical valves; 12-volt electrical system; 180 pounds lighter; entire engine is so compact, a new, more maneuverable chassis has been built around it.

★ It has 188 Fireball horsepower. A new Buick record; engine horsepower per pound increased 40%.

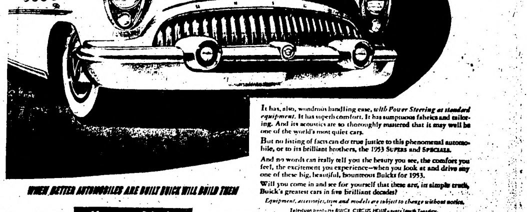
★ It has a compression ratio of 8.5 to 1. Highest compression on the American scene today; bettered fuel economy.

★ It has a dynamic-flow muffler. For the first time in automotive history, a muffler with zero power loss.

★ It has a new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive. Now adds far swifter, quieter, more efficient getaway to infinite smoothness at all speed ranges.

★ It has new braking power. Most powerful braking action of any Buick in fifty years; plus the new ease of Power Brakes, optional at extra cost.

★ It has a still finer ride. The softest, steadiest, most buoyantly level ride that Buick's advanced engineering has yet produced.



It has, also, wondrous handling ease, with Power Steering at standard equipment. It has superb comfort. It has sumptuous fabrics and tailoring. And its acoustics are so thoroughly mastered that it may well be one of the world's most quiet cars.

But no listing of facts can do true justice to this phenomenal automobile, or to its brilliant brothers, the 1953 SUPERS and SPECIALS.

And no words can really tell you the beauty you see, the comfort you feel, the excitement you experience—when you look at and drive any one of these big, beautiful, bounteous Buicks for 1953.

Will you come in and see for yourself that these are, in simple truth, Buick's greatest cars in five brilliant decades?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Increased Performance in New Chevrolets

The low, sweeping lines of the 1953 Chevrolets are exemplified by this four-door sedan in the "Two-Ten" series, which this year offers increased performance, comfort and convenience in addition to a complete re-design. Apparent in this view are the enlarged front and rear vision, new fender and hood contours and a fresh grille treatment that enhance the rugged beauty of the cars. Four-door sedans are also available in the "One-Fifty" and the new Bel Air series.

Keeping Watermelon

Cut watermelon tends to develop a rubbery surface and dry out if left in your refrigerator without adequate moisture-protection. And everybody knows what happens when the noble cantaloupe is refrigerated without a jacket. Pretty thing . . . but what an odor! So here's a thought: press a sheet of moistureproof freezer cellophane against the cut surface of your melon, and tape the edges back against the skin with cellophane tape. This holds aroma and moisture inside the fruit.

Selective Service Rules Are Clarified

By Col. Lloyd Lillygren

(This article pertains to classification rules and principles.)

Section 1622.1 (a) provides for the general principles of classification as follows:

"The Universal Military Training and Service Act, as Amended, provides that every male citizen of the United States, every other male person admitted to the United States for permanent residence, and every other male person who has remained in the United States in a status other than that of permanent resident for a period exceeding one year, who is between the ages of 18 years and 6 months and 26 years, shall be liable for training and service in the Armed Forces of the United States, and that persons who on June 19, 1951, were or thereafter are, deferred under the provisions of section 6 of such Act shall remain liable for training and service until they attain the age of 35."

Each Selective Service registrant may be classified in one of 17 classifications. It is the Local Board's responsibility to decide, subject to appeal, the class in which each registrant shall be placed. Classifications are not permanent; they may be changed from time to time as changes in laws, regulations or conditions require.

Each registrant will be considered as available for military service until his eligibility for deferment or exemption from military service is clearly established to the satisfaction or exemption from military service is clearly established to the satisfaction of the Local Board. The registrant should understand that his classification is determined solely on the basis of the written information contained in his file. It is his responsibility to keep his Local Board informed (by writen notification) of any change of status which may affect his selective service classification.

The Selective Service Regulations provide that each registrant shall be classified in one of the following classes:

CLASS I-A: Available for military service.

CLASS I-A-O: Conscientious objector available for noncombatant military service only.

CLASS I-C: Member of the Armed Forces of the United States, the Coast and Geodetic Survey or the Public Health Service, and certain registrants separated therefrom.

CLASS I-D: Member of reserve component or student taking military training.

CLASS I-O: Conscientious objector available for civilian work contributing to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest.

CLASS I-S: Student deferred by Statute.

CLASS I-W: Conscientious objector performing civilian work contributing to the maintenance of the nationl health, safety or interest.

CLASS II-A: Registrant deferred because of civilian occupation (except agriculture and activity in study).

CLASS II-C: Registrant deferred because of agricultural occupation.

CLASS II-S: Registrant deferred because of activity in study.

CLASS III-A: Registrant with a child or children; and registrant deferred by reason of extreme hardship and privation to dependents.

CLASS IV-A: Registrant, who has completed service; sold surviving son.

CLASS IV-B: Officials deferred by law.

CLASS IV-C: Aliens.

CLASS IV-D: Minister of religion or divinity student.

CLASS IV-F: Physically, mentally, or morally unfit.

CLASS V-A: Registrant over the age of liability for military service.

Registrants who were in a deferred classification on June 19, 1951, or who have been given a deferred classification after the date of June 19, 1951, remain liable for military training and service until they attain the age of 35.

The following classifications, existing on or after June 19, 1951, and before the registrant reaches the age of 26, constitute deferments which extend military liability to age 35:

(a) CLASS I-D as a member of the National Guard who enlisted at any time subsequent to February 1, 1951, before attaining the age of 18 years and 6 months upon the proclamation of the Governor of the state.

(b) CLASS I-D as a member of the ROTC or other officer training program.

(c) CLASS I-D as an accepted aviation cadet applicant.

(d) CLASS I-S as a high school or college student.

(e) CLASS II-A as a registrant occupationally deferred.

(f) CLASS II-C as a registrant given an agricultural deferment.

(g) CLASS II-S as a registrant given a college deferment.

(h) CLASS III-A as a registrant maintaining bona fide family relationship with child or children or because of extreme hardship or privation to dependents. (This does not include registrant in III-A on June 19, 1951, because of wife only. His liability was not extended).

(i) CLASS IV-B deferment extended to certain officials.

(j) CLASS IV-F as a registrant who is physically, mentally or morally unacceptable.

Traffic Mishaps Decline Locally During Past Year

57 Accidents Reported by Police Chief in 1952 Compared to 68 in 1951

The number of traffic accidents in Thief River Falls reported to police declined in 1952 to 57, compared to 68 in 1951, it is revealed in a year-end summary prepared by Police Chief Ken Judy.

Included in the 1952 total were 53 automobile collisions, compared to 61 the previous year; two train-car collisions and one between a car and a bicycle, while one mishap involved a pedestrian. Of the drivers, 89 were men and 19 were women.

Damage in collisions in 1952, in cases where the amount was $50 or more, aggregated $12,281, Judy reported. Traffic law violations were involved in 36 or more of the 57 mishaps.

3,102 Marshall Co. School Pupils Get Mantoux TB Tests

Dr. Baldwin Borreson Reports Total of 101 Reactors Are Detected

With a total enrollment of 3,487 pupils in Marshall county's schools, 89 per cent or 3,102 of them were tested in a comprehensive county-wide Mantoux program during 1952, Dr. Baldwin Borreson, superintendent of the Oakland Park sanatorium in Thief River Falls, reported last week.

Out of the 3,102 that took the test, only 83 reactors of whom there was no previous record found and there was a group of 18 that was previously known to be positive, making a total of 101 pupils.

This is a relatively low percentage and quite a different picture from what it was 10 or 15 years ago, Dr. Borreson stated.

Every school in Marshall county was contacted and most rural schools were tested 100 per cent. There were a few absentees due to minor illnesses and also a number that did not take advantage of the program from lack of interest and other scruples, but on the whole the response was very creditable, commented Dr. Borreson.

Tax Delinquency Hits Record Low in Marshall Co.

Tax delinquency in Marshall county in 1952 reached a new low for recent years and total taxes collected by the county treasurer's office reached a new high of over $1,000,000, John W. Sands, newly appointed county treasurer, reported last week.

Of the 1951 taxes due in 1952 only $44,265 remained unpaid at year's end. This compares with a tax delinquency of 5.1 per cent delinquency the previous year.

The townships of Bloomer and Middle River were the only ones with no delinquency and those with less than $75 in delinquent taxes included: Augsburg, Roxville, Eagle Point, East Valley, Tamarac and Wanger.

State Winners in 2 4-H Livestock Contests Named

Two 15-year-old boys have won top honors in the state in two 4-H livestock contests, Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota, announced today.

They are Reynold Ward, St. Vincent, state champion in the Ten-ewe contest, and Marvin J. Huiras, Fairfax, state winner in the ton-litter project.

Reynold raised 14 lambs from his 10 cross-bred ewes and sheared 85 pounds of wool. Total weight of his lambs at the end of 135 days was 1,402 pounds or an average of 100.1 pounds per lamb.

Runner-up in the ten-ewe contest was Donald Holte, 15, Perley, who raised 16 Hampshire lambs to a total of 1,409 pounds in 135 days, an average of 88 pounds per lamb.

Marvin won top placing in the ton-litter contest with a litter of 17 Grade Yorkshire pigs which weighed 4,010 pounds at the end of 180 days, an average of 235.88 pounds per pig.

NATURE NOTES

Two different persons around Elysian reported seeing a striped gopher cavorting about during the Holidays. At one time he was carrying a bunch of straw, which is perhaps a warning: bedding down for the rest of a bad winter.—A hen on Anton Rosinka's farm near Eveleth went through a little preliminary training with a 3½x6¼-inch egg, with three yolks, then shot for a record with a 3¼x8½ inch half pounder.

MAIL ORDER CATALOG

Remember when the mail order catalogue used to come? Next to Christmas it was about the biggest event of the year. Father and mother spent hours, by lamplight, figuring and pondering over its pages. By day you and Sister read it from cover to cover. It contained as much fun and entertainment as a comic book does today. Remember?

Security Measure

Because of security reasons, employment of the Central Intelligence Agency is not reported to the Civil Service Commission to be included in federal employment totals.

Noggin, Piggin and Treen Were Heard in Early USA

"Treen" in its earliest use was a plural for "tree". Later the word was applied to woodenware generally. "Noggin", a small wood mug, was a common item of the treen trade of 150 years ago. So was the "piggin", a baby bucket that had a stave sticking up to serve as a dipping handle.

The noggin and the piggin were prime tools in family life when Abraham Lincoln was a boy and water was commonly carried by hand to house from spring, creek or well. They were also prized as measures in the sale of whisky when it retailed at a penny a snort and at 25 cents per gallon jug—with the consumer providing his own jug.

Whisky not only came cheap but American blood ran hot in those days. Duels were fought, and these very often, with noggins or piggins for weapons. The piggin preceded the bungstarter as an instrument for enforcing peace in the common saloon, history records.

Whittling boys of Colonial times grew up into carpenters who were kings of labor all over the Colonies. Others became shipwrights. Sons of this breed came to Boston in due course, to build the Constitution of white oak from New Jersey and white pine from Maine. Around 20 years ago new masts were cut for the old flagship, then and now a floating museum, in a Columbia River sawmill. They were Douglas fir. The mainmast timber was 36"x 36" and 112 feet long. The main yard timber was a 90-footer.

Why Spuds Turn Brown

Potatoes turn brown when peeled because of compounds in the potato called tyrosin and tyrosinase. A complex chemical reaction occurs when the inner layer of the potato is exposed to oxygen in the air, and leads to the formation of a pigment called melanin, which gives the brown color. Melanin is also responsible for the color of dark hair, brown eyes, and the skin of the colored races.

Kashgai Axiom: Carry A Gun but Never Gold

"Keep your gun by your side and leave your money with your wife."

Kashgai tribesmen of southern Iran still live by this fierce old adage for keeping out of trouble. Women are the family bankers. The husbands, bred to the saddle as herdsmen and hunters, hold horse and gun above all other possessions.

Ammunition is expensive, so the long-winded Kashgais sometimes run down exhausted desert partridge on foot. Again, a chief will stand in his stirrups at full gallop and kill five fleeing antelopes with five shots. It saves bullets, but more important, it would be a disgrace to miss.

How these proud and independent people, descendants of the legions of Genghis Khan, came to medieval Persia and retained their tent-dwelling way of life down to modern times, is told by an adventurous American couple, Jean and Franc Shor, who traveled to the Kashgai's high summer pastures in the Zagros Mountains of Iran as guests of a hard-riding chieftain with a law degree from Oxford. They witnessed the annual fall migration of 100,000 Kashgai wanderers, back toward winter grazing grounds by the Persian Gulf.

Heat and Height

The temperature rises to high values at great altitudes. From about 28 degrees below zero, F. at 55 miles, it gradually increases to about 4000 degrees at 400 miles, and may reach even higher values at greater heights. However, even though the temperature is high, this is not very hot, for temperature has a different meaning under such conditions. It refers to the average speed of the molecules of which the air is made. With the density of air at sea level, the faster they are moving, the hotter it is. At an altitude of 400 miles the density is only about 1/700,000,000,000th of sea level air, really a very high vacuum. So few molecules are present that, in spite of their rapid motion, they have no appreciable heating effect. The temperature that an object would assume in outer space would depend mainly on the radiation it absorbed from the Sun, or some other star that was nearby.

Mammals

According to zoologists there is good evidence that all mammals, whether they now inhabit land or sea, originally lived on the land. The first mammals, it is believed, were descended from land-living reptiles whose own remote ancestors, probably, originally came from the sea. Experts on development of the mammals think that whales have developed from ancient hoofed animals, strange as this may seem.

Comfort in Dallas

Summer heat may soon be no more of a bugaboo for the home owner than winter cold is now. Well heated homes in winter have long been taken for granted, but the American public has stifled in summer because of the fear that air conditioning is too expensive for residential use. However, two six-room, completely air-conditioned homes, selling for $12,500, go a long way towards dispelling this fear. They are the first houses completed in a 210-unit Dallas, Texas, development, a large-scale, low-cost housing project boasting complete year-round air conditioning. Each of the homes in this project will be equipped with an air conditioner and a warm-air furnace, tied together with a common duct system.

Scientists Seek Solution To Snake Problems

Rattlesnakes affecting the petroleum industry?

This may seem a little remote. But the Richfield Oil Corporation has engaged the University of California at Los Angeles' snake expert, Dr. Raymond B. Cowles, to investigate a rattlesnake problem that exists in its California oil fields.

The survey will take place in the Richfield fields in Kern, Santa Barbara, and Los Angeles counties where the reptiles occur in large numbers.

Dr. Cowles visualizes two approaches to the problem. One is to decrease the local snake population around oil drilling installations. This can be done by trapping and other means now being explored. The other is educating the workers about snakes.

Fear of snakes in general, oil field workers not excepted, mostly is psychological, he points out. If it is impressed upon the workers that snakes seek to avoid human beings as much as the latter seek to avoid snakes, half the problem is solved.

"The great danger is coming on to a snake before he can see you.

Too Many

If a germ divides in two every half hour, and all live, how many would there be at the end of 24 hours? 281,474,976,710,656 is the number. This is equal to one multiplied by two, the product multiplied by two, that product multiplied by two again, and so on 48 times. The result is called the 48th power of 2. Such powers may be calculated by actually carrying out the tedious multiplications, or they may be obtained from published tables of powers.

Antarctica Is Seen as Possibility for Airport

The frequently contested claims of some 12 nations to segments of Antarctica can be traced in part to the strategic value of the continent's frozen wastes in the plans of global air transport.

This is the opinion of Dr. Juan Lagomarsino of the University of Uruguay's national institute of geographical observations.

"If you will glance at the map," said Dr. Lagomarsino, "you will note that Antarctica lies just in the middle of the course between Australia and South America.

"In this regard, I should like to point out that the Australian cities of Sidney, Melbourne and Perth, as well as the capital, Canberra, are

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

The 1953 legislative session opened on a calm and cautious note last week. The opening formalities, wherein the conservative majorities in both houses set up the machinery for the session's work, came off smoothly and there seemed to be a minimum of friction as the legislators proceeded to their tasks, which everyone agrees will take some real work to accomplish in the 90-day legislative period.

With their large majorities, the conservatives displayed a temper of self-confidence, having now had seven consecutive sessions of control, which gives them a deep background of experience and know how in legislative organization and procedure.

But there was not present this time any display of challenge and cocksureness, which has in the past sent the session off to an irritable start. Instead, on all sides there seemed to be a mood of humbleness and a desire to get down to the session's business in a spirit of harmony.

Liberals in Tame Mood, Too, As Session Opens

The liberals noted with obvious satisfaction that their minority strength in the house was now 46 out of 131 members and, for the first time in many sessions, they actually had a caucus of 15 members out of the senate's 67. There was a minor flurry in the senate, when the liberals' leader, Senator George Siegel of St. Paul, challenged the conservative leadership on the question of the number of patronage jobs that were being filled for the session.

But, for the most part, the liberals were in a tame mood, too. The note of defiance that sometimes characterizes the session's opening hours was missing as liberals made it clear they regarded the house speaker, John A. Hartle of Owatonna, as fair, and that they were prepared to co-operate in expediting the session's work.

Fred Cina, the liberals' house leader, set forth a group of procedural demands, and Majority Leader Roy Dunn said he thought some of them would be accepted. These included an enlargement of the press gallery to include weekly, labor, and radio representatives, use of the voting machines on votes taken in committee of the whole, the televising of house sessions, proportional representation of liberals on house committees, and automatic discharge of bills from committees if they have not been acted upon within 20 days after referral.

How long the spirit of co-operation would last was anybody's guess, but for the time at least the waters are unruffled.

Legislators Cautious In Reactions to Inaugural

Both conservatives and liberals were guarded in their reactions to Governor C. Elmer Anderson's inaugural message. Most legislators voiced agreement with the Governor's objectives, but said they would withhold judgment until they heard his ideas concerning the raising of new revenues, which he was to give them this week.

Liberals were quick to insist that the Governor's program was much like their own, and they predicted that, if he insisted upon realizing many of his points, he would encounter the same kind of conservative opposition that former Governor Youngdahl did during his terms in office.

Major items among the Governor's recommendations were arrest powers for agents of the liquor control commissioner, removing the ceiling on old age assistance, extending veterans' benefits to Korean ex-soldiers, expansion of youth conservation, creation of a department of public safety, increased state aids for schools, creation of a flood control commission, passage of F.E.P.C., establishment of a metropolitan taxing authority for large cities, creation of a long-term commission to investigate basic revisions in the tax structure, improvement of the presidential primary law, and new facilities for mentally retarded children.

Session to Get Many Proposals for Reform

It was clear last week that this session will have to grapple with a number of proposals involving the reorganization of the structure of state government.

The Governor urged the adoption of a number of recommendations of the Little Hoover commission. This was followed by the report of State Auditor Stafford King, who urged, among other recommendations, that accounting procedures for all of the state's more than 100 agencies be centralized in his office.

And among the early bills introduced in the senate was one calling for the creation of an auditor of all state accounts who would be responsible to the legislature. As it is now, there is a pre-audit performed by the State Auditor, who is an elected official responsible to the public, and a post-audit performed by the public examiner, who is responsible to the governor. The Little Hoover group recommended a change in this procedure, with the legislature itself being responsible for the post audit.

Sales, Beer, Iron Ore Are Tax Possibilities

Advance reports on the Governor's budget message indicated Anderson was preparing to recommend increases in beer and iron ore taxes. Most legislators shied away from talk about a sales tax, but there was firm belief that a proposal of a 3 per cent levy on all sales, excepting food and medicine, would get careful consideration.

Animal Behavior Depends On Many Brain Impulses

The behavior of animals apparently varies with the frequency of impulses received and transmitted by the brain.

This is indicated in experiments with "radio-equipped" rats on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California. Dr. J. A. Gengerelli, professor of psychology, is conducting the experiments.

Remote stimulation by radio waves through tiny antennae connected to the brains of the rats produced varied responses at different frequencies.

For example, at a low frequency a rat's whiskers and face muscles would vibrate. At a higher frequency the rat would rotate slowly to the left. The performance at each frequency was consistent.

Another interesting observation was that when the flow of current was reversed by rearrangement of receiving equipment, the behavior was reversed. That is to say, a mirror image of performance under the original setup occurred.

To illustrate: An impulse of a

Seconds Plausible

Beaming a pencil of strong light into the dead man's eye, the detective saw there, etched on the retina, an image of the killer's face! All that remained was to arrest the guilty party. Such is the thrilling, "scientific" solution of the crime, as given by some detective tales and mystery movies. It's too bad, but it just isn't so. Yet there are enough grains of truth in the idea to make it sound plausible. It is a fact that the outline of an image can be imprinted on the retina, and will remain there so that another person can see it. But for such an image to be recorded, the pupil of the receiving eye must be wide open and the eye must be exposed, at close range, to a bright light for a minute and a half, or more. But another person, peering into the eye, can't see the image. The eye must be removed under a yellow sodium light and the retina "developed" in an alum solution.

Biggest Cannonball of All Was Made to Wreck Walls

The biggest "cannonball" ever made was never intended to be fired from a gun.

Weighing five tons, this enormous black sphere of tough manganese steel nevertheless has destruction for its purpose, according to Steelways, magazine of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Swinging in monstrous arcs at the end of a fifty-foot steel cable suspended from the ninety-foot boom of a powerful crane, this wrecking ball makes rubble of slum tenements almost as fast as artillery fire or bombing could do.

Since the first wrecking ball started its smashing during the heyday of the Manassa Mauler, its terrific wallop was promptly dubbed the "Dempsey punch." It was well named.

In clearing 1200 buildings from a square mile area on New York's east side to make way for Peter Cooper Village and Stuyvesant Town, both modern apartment developments, four wrecking balls knocked down an average of six six-story buildings a day.

Gory Subject

Ever wonder how the coroner in that murder movie estimated the time of death of the victim? Here's one way it can be done. Subtract the internal body temperature from 98.6 degrees Fahrenheit, the normal temperature. Divide the result by 1.5. This gives the number of hours that have elapsed since death. Of course, this isn't completely accurate since the amount of clothing and fat affect the cooling rate.

Upside Down

In Pittsfield, Mass., after deep study, cops discovered why a motorist's license plates—611 969—did not correspond with the number on his registration papers—696 119: the plates had been screwed on upside down.

Reeling Silk

Reeling the silk is the process of unwinding it from the cocoon onto silk reels . . . a process which has undergone many refinements but no essential changes since the days of Hsi-ling-shi. Hot water, in basins, is still used to melt the sericin, to make it possible to unwind the cocoon. A single silk filament is far too fine for reeling, so several cocoons are unwound at the same time, and, as they bob about together in the basin, their filaments are drawn together. By a simple system of pulleys, the filaments are drawn through a tiny porcelain eye, and the melted sericin, which glued the cocoon, now glues the silk filaments into a single thread. This thread passes over a couple of pulleys to double back on itself for a twist that wrings out any remaining water, and then on to the reel. (It is later re-reeled and twisted into skeins). By this time, the sericin has hardened, and the silk thread has a stiff, hair-like feel. The sericin will be boiled off, either before or after weaving, to uncover the natural beauty of the silk.

Trans-Sahara Traveling Is Via Uncertain Ways

Roads are sometimes miles wide and often disappear. Bus and airline schedules change so often that yesterday's schedule may be obsolete.

These are some of the characteristics of modern Trans-Saharan transportation, according to Dr. Benjamin E. Thomas, assistant professor of geography on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

Dr. Thomas is making a study in this field under an office of naval research grant. He has just received additional funds from this agency for further studies.

There are two main Trans-Saharan bus routes, the geographer points out: (1) Bidon 5, strictly a business route, which crosses the heart of the Tanezrouft, the world's largest area of completely barren desert, and (2) the Hoggar route, which caters more to tourists, has more oases and a greater variety of scenery.

In the soft, sandy stretches of Bidon 5 tracks may fan out so that the road becomes miles wide. This is because each driver attempts to find a new course. If he sticks to ruts of a predecessor he may sink into the sand and get stuck. Stone-pile markers keep drivers on course in areas where wind and sand may cause roads to disappear.

Plane and bus schedules are altered by weather conditions and demand by customers. Land travel is practically non-existent in summer.

Natives still hope for a Trans-Saharan railway, but Dr. Thomas thinks economics rules this out for the present. Modern transportation has replaced the camel caravan on long routes. But the "ship of the desert" still has no rival for intertribal trade and native travel, he adds.

HANSON FROZEN SILAGE CHOPPER

- Safer — Easier handling — Self propelled
- Faster — No waste
- No more feeding frozen chunks

The operator simply guides the chopper as it crawls forward, no pulling or pushing, it hugs the silo wall and cuts to a depth of 3 inches in the toughest corn or grass silage. Farmers who have grass silage, know how packed and solid it gets. The Hanson Frozen Silage Chopper mulches up the entire surface in a few minutes, leaving it fluffy, easy to handle and palatable.

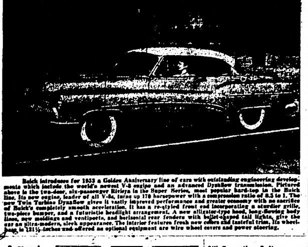
1953 BUICK—NEW POWER, PERFORMANCE, STYLING



Buick introduces for 1953 a Golden Anniversary line of cars with outstanding engineering developments which include the world's newest V-8 engine and an advanced Dynaflow transmission. Pictured above is the two-door, six-passenger Riviera in the Super Series, most popular hard-top in the Buick line. Its new engine, leader of all V-8s, turns up 170 horsepower with a compression ratio of 8.5 to 1. The new Twin Turbine Dynaflow gives it vastly improved performance and greater economy with no sacrifice of Buick's completely smooth acceleration. It has a re-styled front end incorporating a sturdier grille, two-piece bumper, and a futuristic headlight arrangement. A new alligator-type hood, long-flowing body lines, new moldings and ventiports, and horizontal rear fenders with bullet-shaped tail lights, give the car an ultra-modern, sleek appearance. The interior features fresh new colors and tasteful trim. Its wheelbase is 121½ inches and offered as optional equipment are wire wheel covers and power steering.

Smallest Star

The smallest star seems to be a very faint star, visible only through large telescopes, in the constellation of Monoceros, the unicorn, a group visible in evenings of late winter to the east of Orion. The star, known only by its catalog number, L 886-6, is believed to be about 2500 miles in diameter, which is only slightly larger than the Moon, and smaller than Mercury, the smallest planet. Yet into this tiny sphere is compressed some 40 per cent more matter than the Sun contains, so its density is extraordinarily high. Its discoverers Dr. W. J. Luyten, of the University of Minnesota, and Dr. E. F. Carpenter, of the University of Arizona, estimates that it is 35 million times as dense as water. A match-box, full of the stuff in this star, would weigh 1000 tons on Earth.

Tangier Grows

The free-trading factors and the international government have had much to do with Tangier's expansion. A national of almost any country can enter the city with little trouble, and he can remain as long as he likes. This freedom has resulted in an influx of refugees as well as traders. The refugees are of all varieties and political faiths. Some fled Hitler Germany; others left Germany after the Allied victory; some escaped the Iron Curtain, and some are members of unsuccessful revolts. The law in Tangier is happily divided to take care of the different segments of the population. Americans are in a class by themselves. They are subject only to United States law, under treaties signed with the Sultan of Morocco early in the 19th century.

Only Colorado has more bituminous coal than Illinois.

Absolute Zero

The temperature of absolute zero is about 460 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, or minus 273 on the Centigrade scale. Heat is a movement of the molecules of which a material is made, and the faster they are moving the higher is the temperature. As a thing cools, these molecules slow down in their motion, and at absolute zero they would come to rest. Obviously they cannot move any more slowly than when they are standing still, and that is why absolute zero is the limit of coldness. Scientists have been able to reach temperatures within a few thousandths of a degree of absolute zero.

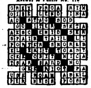
PUZZLE NO. 319

Answer to Puzzle No. 318



Silk Properties, Culture Are Described In General

Silk is the filament a silk-worm spins for its cocoon. The silk-worm is actually the caterpillar of the silk moth (Bombyx Mori), and its cocoon is the shell it constructs to protect itself during its growth from caterpillar, to chrysalis, to moth.

A single cocoon is made of a continuous filament of silk which the silk-worm extrudes from its body and throws about itself, layer within layer, into a thick, smooth, symmetrical wall larger than a robin's egg, smaller than a pigeon's.

Along with the silk filament, the silk-worm emits a gummy substance called sericin. This is the cement that glues the silk filaments into a firm, hard cocoon.

The culture of silk, then, is the care of the little animal that produces the silk filament, from egg through to cocoon (and, with breeders, to the moth as well). It is a most delicate process, requiring scrupulous care and tireless patience throughout the entire cycle.

In Japan, from which we receive the bulk of our raw silk, and in Italy, from which a fine grade of silk is imported in comparatively small quantities, the culture of silk of a uniformly high grade has been developed with about the same scientific and governmental regulation that our scientists and our government have devoted to the production of pure milk.

Here's How to Care For Auto-Crash Hurt

Just about everyone planning a trip by automobile skips over the possibility of an accident.

Accidents do occur, however, and surprisingly few persons have even a rudimentary knowledge of the care and treatment which should be given those injured in a wreck.

Simple injuries often are made much more serious and require longer periods of hospitalization because someone moves the victim.

As a part of the continuing safety programs of mutual insurance companies, by which they attempt to lower costs and return savings to policyholders, the companies urge everyone to learn the few simple rules of caring for those injured.

Every car should be equipped with a first aid kit. Its value is immeasurable if an accident does occur. The things to remember are:

1 Get a doctor and ambulance.
2 Never move a victim unless it's necessary to avoid fire danger or the possibility of other vehicles' piling into the wreckage.
3 Keep the injured warm and quiet with head low and minimize shock.
4 Cover open wounds with a sterile dressing or cloth.
5 Bleeding from a severed artery can be controlled by applying a compress firmly above the cut.
6 Broken bones should be bound in splints by someone trained in first aid or a doctor.

Grandeur That Was Rome Was in Squalid Setting

Present day advocates of public housing would have had "a field day" in ancient Rome during the days of the Roman Republic.

The tenement buildings of Rome were rickety and shabby fire-traps bursting with the poor, including hordes of unemployed Latin farmers from the provinces.

Apparently, every day was wash day in Rome. There was a continuous display of linen on the balconies and in the porticoes of the mean, little houses with crumbling and peeling facades.

The shops were not much better, although some boasted awnings that had been torn and discolored by the wind and rain.

The hapless crowd [illegible] the stoops, night and day, fighting for a breath of air in the foul, crowded slum atmosphere.

History research experts point out that "the city streets of ancient Rome were not much better than the houses. They were dirty, narrow and crowded and jumbled with booths and peddlers and donkeys. In fact, they were so mean and narrow that teaming was forbidden by day and country produce and other supplies had to be hauled by night."

Average daily cost for care and treatment of polio patients in Minnesota has risen from $13 in 1948 to $[illegible] a day. Daily costs for some respirator cases run up to $40 and more.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Pretty "Foxy" Terrier

Talking about dogs the other night—and Sandy Johnson topped everything off with a tall story about his fox terrier, "Boscum."

According to Sandy, "Comes bird season and that dog won't stir if I take down my rifle. Same if it's deer season and I go for my shotgun—he won't move, but he's scratching at the door if I so much as look at my rifle!"

One day, Sandy decided to fool him. He took down both his shotgun and his rifle — and swish, Boscum was on his way! So Sandy put the guns back and took out his fishing rod. He went outside and there was Boscum—digging like crazy for worms!

From where I sit, a dog that can outguess humans is as rare as a human that can outguess other humans. For instance, I like a glass of beer with lunch but I wouldn't think of pouring you one without first asking. Everybody has preferences—and it's finding out what they are and respecting them that keeps freedom from "going to the dogs."

Decrease Is Beginning In Irish Cattle Fairs

Colorful Irish livestock fairs, for centuries important in Ireland's rural life, are decreasing in number but will never disappear completely.

This is the conclusion of Joseph P. Haughton, lecturer in geography at Trinity College, Dublin.

Mr. Haughton points out that while fairs are held in a network of Irish towns of 1,500 to 5,000 population, they are not the same thing as the weekly markets of English or continental European country towns.

The fairs, which can be traced back to the fourteenth century, are held as often as once a month. They are essential to the Irish farmer for the sale of his young cattle and sheep, and to a lesser extent of other livestock. In the past almost all livestock in Ireland was sold at fairs, but fattened cattle and hogs are now sold largely to buyers who appear at individual farms.

The decrease in the number of country fairs has been marked in the past 100 years. Mr. Houghton says that in 1852 such gatherings, often attended by much of the rural polulation in a village or town area, numbered 1,297, as compared to 602 in 1952.

An indication of the decrease of social function of the fairs is noted by Mr. Haughton in the increasing appearance of auctioneers. Cattle sales at fairs formerly were made almost entirely in deals between farmer and buyer, after protracted bargaining often compromised by a third party, or "tangler."

New Lifeboat

A new inflatable rubber lifeboat is now being installed on navy ships to combat the age-old problem of protection from exposure for survivors cast adrift by a sea disaster. Capable of providing 70-degree protection for 15 survivors in either sub-zero or blistering tropical waters, the new lifeboat developed by the navy and the B. F. Goodrich company will replace all previous similar types of navy emergency equipment. Navy tests have proved that dead-air space insulation maintains a comfortable temperature inside the lifeboat, regardless of the weather outside. Using the principle of the thermos bottle, this insulation in the boat's canopy and floor liner holds the radiant heat from the bodies of the survivors.

Accidents Kill More Young Than Any Single Disease

Accidents are a greater threat to the lives of young children than any single disease, Dr. George M. Wheatley, New York pediatrician, said in an article in Today's Health.

"Accidents kill about 5,000 children between the ages of one and four every year," Dr. Wheatley reported. "The natural drive in children to explore the bright new world, to put objects in their mouth and to climb and run about all combine with immaturity of body and mind and inadequate parental teaching and supervision to contribute to this appalling loss of young lives.

"Fuller understanding of child behavior, greater use of minor injuries as learning experiences, and keener awareness of the accidents likely to occur are guides to parents in 'immunizing' the preschool child against serious injury or untimely death."

He cited the experience of an insurance company. Between 1930 and 1947, the death rate of insured children under five from all diseases combined declined 70 per cent. The accident death rate dropped only 23 per cent.

"The chief weapon against the common childhood diseases has been immunization," Dr. Wheatley said. "Against accidents, the main weapon is education—particularly of parents."

Motor vehicle mishaps, he said, are the most common cause of fatal injuries, with burns a close second. Drowning, falls and poisoning are other major causes, with almost half of these accidents occurring in or around the home.

Army Enlists Arctic Ice As Ally Against Enemy

Arctic ice will be one of our strongest allies in World War III, should it ever come.

In this region our armed forces have made a new friend of the ice by using huge floats for bases. These giant pieces of ice, some covering hundreds of square miles, are practically indestructible. Their trip through the Arctic Sea, before they float out into other oceans, should take at least five years . . . some may remain in the Arctic for decades. No amount of battering from lesser floes would damage them . . . so structures may safely be built on them.

This discovery may give us extra hours of warning of approaching hostile bombers, bound toward what heavy trucks do to pavements. Others are:

A heavy truck damages a highway more at night than it does during the day. The explanation is simple: The surface of a thick concrete slab absorbs and loses heat more quickly than does the bottom. When the surface cools off at night it contracts and turns up slightly on the ends, thereby taking more punishment from passing trucks.

A truck that hugs the edge of the road damages the highway more than does the truck that holds to the center. Again quite simple. Being near the edge, the heavy weight bends the concrete more.

I'm DUST
When your clothes are all wet
And hung out on the line,

223 Deer Taken in Mud Lake Refuge During '52 Season

51 Adult Bucks and 58 Adult Does Killed Last Fall, Final Tally Shows

A complete tally on the results of the special season within 17,000 acres of the Mud Lake national wildlife refuge revealed that a total of 223 were taken by hunters, during the regular state season.

Fifty-one adult bucks, five spike bucks, 30 fawn bucks, 58 adult does, and 40 female fawns were checked through checking stations—additional deer were taken but not checked through the stations, and a small number were found dead—the crippling loss.

The heaviest deer taken was a 275 pound buck. Twelve deer (adult bucks) weighed over 200 pounds hog-dressed.

Banding returns from deer tagged within the refuge show that a considerable number of Mud Lake deer move off the refuge each spring. A number of returns have been from deer taken up to 40 miles from the point of banding; this would indicate that Mud Lake deer play an important part in populating the surrounding areas, and for this reason proper management of the herd necessitates continued study on the winter populations, fawn production, and annual kill.

For those interested in the economics of wildlife management it can be stated that 20,000 pounds of hog-dressed venison was checked through the gates.

Booklet Explains Income Tax Laws

Government Pamphlet Clarifies Regulations

Designed to aid the average citizen in filing his individual income-tax return is a 146-page booklet available at the U. S. Department of Commerce regional office, Minneapolis.

In the new edition, many provisions of the 1951 tax law which are just now going into effect are fully explained. In addition, the booklet covers in a series of short articles, rulings of the bureau of internal revenue, representative court cases and numerous questions often arise when completing tax returns.

Deductions, family exemptions, nontaxable income and other factors involved in submitting the federal income tax return are covered in the publication. The booklet, entitled "Your Federal Income Tax, 1952" may be obtained at 25 cents (no stamps) at the U. S. Department of Commerce, R-207, 607 Marquette avenue, Minneapolis 2, Minn.

Plants, Like People, May Store Up too Much Fat

Plants, like animals, store up large amounts of fat for the future. Acetic acid, a major constituent of vinegar, plays an important part in the buildup of this fat supply in peanuts, according to recent experiments by P. K. Stumpf, division of plant biochemistry, and Guggenheim Fellow Eldon H. Newcomb, University of California college of agriculture.

Acetic acid molecules, two-carbon units, are converted into longer fatty acid chains. Fatty acids, in turn, are built into 16- to 18-carbon fat molecules.

Immature, living peanut seeds were sliced into thin sections and bathed in different radioactive compounds for several hours. The radioactive compounds chosen were various carbon-containing materials that might be converted into fatty acids.

SO LONG, PAL, NOW YOU PULL THE LOAD A WHILE!

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor of the Times:

The defeat of Amendment No. 5, on November 4th, was not the end for the campaign for more and better roads in Minnesota farm areas. It has only intensified the farm areas into greater efforts for more and better roads, which rural communities are entitled, as well as the urban spots thruout the state.

Funds must be found, and will be found, to carry out this program in the State, which cannot longer be by-passed.

The legislature has made this action mandatory by the consolidation of rural schools thruout the state. Consolidation cannot be successfully carried out without roads over which to transport our children to centrally located high schools.

The daily delivery of mail thruout our rural areas demands better roads in order that the delivery of mail can be accomplished with order and dispatch.

The seasonable marketing of all farm products demand roads over which these products can be delivered from farms to villages and city markets and not stalled on its way to market in mud holes, low grades and ditched cars and trucks.

Well, the question is how, where and when can we produce the money with which to do the work. That question is not as complicated as we believe if we will only consult and cooperate with one another.

Senator Leonard R. Dickenson from Bemidji, Beltrami County is already boosting for a one cent gasoline tax for rural roads in the state. We believe that Mr Dickenson is on the right track, because of the defeat of road funds under the proposed amendments.

In the first place it was not the intention of the original highway boosters in Minnesota that our state trunk highways should take over the freight traffic from our railroads who operate their cars on steel rails. If this condition is to continue it is but fair to all concerned that they assist to build roads thruout the rural areas which furnish the major part of their traffic in the state.

We believe that our legislature should readjust all truck licenses in the state based on weight and load that they may pay a fair price for the upkeep of the roads which they destroy because of uncontrolled loads, tearing our roads to shreds, be they local or state trunk highways.

With the extra cent gas tax and the readjustment of truck licenses in the state we believe that we will be one step closer to our Farm to Market and School Roads in the State. Gentlemen, it is up to you to act! What our Legislature will do is not for us to say. Ours is only a suggestion with all due respect for their knowledge and cooperative spirit we believe that they are ready to do their part to give us road legislation which will solve the road problems in Minnesota.

Modern Plastics Hasten Day of Fireproof Homes

American builders rapidly are approaching the day of the fireproof house, in the opinion of Frank Sohn, home consultant of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company.

There's evidence of the swing to better fire prevention in every home built today, said Sohn. Improvement may be credited to the following factors:

Much greater use of non-burning materials, such as plastics, metal and glass.

Modern design, which has eliminated many of the old fire booby traps.

Development of fail-proof heating equipment.

Metal window sash, fireproof paint, entire walls of glass and fire-resistant roofing had reduced the fire hazard so far as the shell of the house is concerned. Fiber glass insulation for walls and roof provides an additional fireproof barrier and the plastic laminate inner walls being introduced by some builders add further protection.

Inasmuch as 52,000 fires annually in America result from misuse of electricity. One of the greatest strides has been in the development of urea plastic wiring devices—switches, wall plates, outlets and sockets—which do not burn or warp when exposed to sparks or a blaze. The urea devices meet rigid fire underwriters' restrictions, while products made of other type plastics do not.

Other contributions toward the completely fireproof house include metal kitchen equipment, the greater use of patterned glass for wall partitions and the use of noncombustible dry wall construction.

The trend toward metal-and-glass furniture, glass fiber draperies and upholstery material and small, non-flammable rugs also is a boon to fire prevention, he said.

This Professor Needs Your Old Whale Hairs, Please

Any old whale hairs around the house? Dr. Leon A. Hausman, Rutgers University professor, would like to have them.

Dr. Hausman, orinthologist and nationally-famed hair researcher, confessed to Watson Davis on CBS' "Adventures in Science" program recently that his hair collection is "fresh out" of whale hairs. It seems that they are extremely hard to find, even on a whale.

The whales, even the 150-ton variety, have only a few. That's part of the problem. There are just a few around the huge mammal's mouth. Then too, there is the difficulty of collecting them. Having so few, whales won't peacefully stand around while their hair is pulled—that is, if you could get that close.

Whale hairs occupied only part of Mr. Davis' interview with the noted Rutgers University scientist.

Dr. Hausman's long-standing preoccupation with hair began when he was assigned to compare microscopically his own hair with that of a 3,000-year-old Egyptian mummy as the subject of his Cornell doctoral thesis.

Since then his reputation in the field has taken him into law courts as an expert witness in cases ranging from hit-and-run driving to murder. He has established in court whether a fur coat was a genuine $7,500 mink or a $1,200 dyed imitation.

He has worked with archeologists who found Indian robes in Arizona caves. Whether they were made of hairs of bison or of sheep could solve the date of their manufacture since sheep were known to have been introduced by the Spanish at a certain date.

The Human Race

Where did the human race originate? Although it is not known with certainty, the consensus of opinion among scientists who have worked on this problem is that the ancestors of modern man differentiated from other types of related animals somewhere in the great Asiatic land mass, about a million years ago.

Company F Is Given Hearty Welcome Here

175 Persons Attended Homecoming Banquet Friday at Legion Club

Fifty of the 87 members Company F of the National Guard who left for army duty at Camp Rucker, Alabama, in January, 1951, were formally welcomed back home at an enjoyable banquet held Friday evening in the Legion club rooms under the sponsorship of the local American Legion and VFW posts.

Approximately 175 persons attended the event, including the guardsmen, their ladies and parents, city officials and representatives of various local organizations. Harold Anderson, former commander of the VFW post, served as toastmaster.

Lieut. John Oven, commanding officer of the new guard unit being set up in the city, introduced the guardsmen who were present, and he stated that all but two members of Company F were now back in the United States after having seen service in various parts of the world.

Mayor Harry E. Simons greeted members of the company, and said their home community is proud of their record in service.

A recording of a message from Captain A. C. Tiedeman, former commander of Company F, now living in California, was presented, in which he expressed gratification that the men were safely back home, and wished success to the new company being formed under the direction of Lieut. Oven and Warrant Officer Ivan Bundy.

Principal speaker on the program was the Rev. E. C. Mead, who had also served in that capacity at the farewell banquet tendered the company previous to its departure two years ago.

He said the safe return of the [illegible] our faith in the efficacy of prayer, and declared that during their service the members of the company had shown strength of character, manhood and patriotism.

Local citizens, he said, owe the men every possible assistance in resuming their places in the community, and the state and nation also owe them tangible recognition.

Greetings also were extended to the men by Gordon Nohre, commander of the Legion post, and Ambrose Wysoski, senior vice commander of the VFW.

Dancing concluded the evening's program.

Zion Church Picks Officers Monday

Annual Meeting Hears Reports of Good Year

Members of the Zion Lutheran church congregation heard reports of a year of progress at their annual business meeting in the church parlors Monday evening. With a budget of more than $25,000, the various departments of the church were shown to be in excellent financial condition.

Officers elected include John Jacobson, secretary; Matt Guttu, deacon; Mrs. Oscar Arndtson, deaconess; Dr. Ralph Helm and Ralph Fischer, trustees; Clifford Vigness, Sunday school superintendent, and Reuben Lockrem vice supt.; Merle Lindberg and Harlan Wiseth, auditing committee; and Matt Guttu, Lloyd Lamp, Bernie Moslof, Eugene Nesland, George Rockstad and Art Dicken, ushers.

Rev. Walter M. Pedersen, pastor, reported that the parlors and lower portion of the parish hall have been plastered preparatory to tiling the floors and installing new kitchen equipment. This work will complete the church building project.

List Schedule for Revenue Agents

An internal revenue agent of the Thief River Falls zone office will be at the municipal Auditorium in this city February 2, 7, 9, 14, 16, 21, and February 27 through March 16, except Sundays from 8:15 a. m. to 5:15 p. m. to assist taxpayers with the filing of current federal income tax returns.

Richard Burtness Winner Statewide Cow Clipping Event

RICHARD BURTNESS

Richard Burtness, student in the Lincoln high school vocational agriculture course and son of John Burtness of Silverton township, won the state Future Farmers cow clipping contest held last Wednesday at University Farm, St. Paul, as a feature of Farm and Home week. He was accompanied to St. Paul by Stanley Nelson, Lincoln high school agriculture instructor.

Taking 12 minutes and 20 seconds to complete the job, Richard scored 87.3 points to win the $50 first prize awarded by The Farmer magazine. Second prize of $30 went to Roger Stahl of Hibbing, who scored 86.6 points; and third prize of $20 was won by Eldon Heckael of Watertown with a score of 86.3 points.

The prizes were presented to the winners by Miss Marlene Jensen of Ada, who had been crowned Northwest Dairy Princess in Thief River Falls last June.

The contestants clipped hair from the underline, rear legs, udders and hind quarters of dairy cows as an aid to quality milk production. Judges were Myron Clark, state commissioner of agriculture; W. S. Moscrip, president of the Minnesota Dairy Industries committee; and Floyd Thompson, executive secretary of the Minnesota Creamery Operators and Managers association.

Richard had the thrill of participating Wednesday night in a television show over Station KSTP, St. Paul, and also made a tape recording which was broadcast over Cal Karnstedt's Land O'Lakes program Thursday morning. The youth, who already owns two cows and two calves, said he was setting the prize money aside for the purchase of another dairy calf.

Dairy Day Group Meets in City at 2 p. m. Thursday

Representatives of creameries in this area and local businessmen contributing to the support of Dairy Day, an annual event in Thief River Falls in June, are invited to attend the annual meeting of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association in this city Thursday afternoon, January 22, at 2 p. m., President Stuart McLeod announced this week. The session will be held in the Civic and Commerce rooms. Principal business will be the election of 15 members of the board of directors, and approval of the articles of incorporation and by-laws adopted in 1952. Lunch will be served following the business session.

Small Turnout at DFL Conference

Delegates Appointed to Conference in St. Cloud

L. J. Lee of Bagley, Ninth district DFL chairman, was the principal speaker at a poorly attended county DFL conference in this city Saturday. He discussed the state conference to be held at St. Cloud January 31 and February 1, and also spoke on organizational problems, as did H. O. Chommie of this city.

Chas. I. Richards, county chairman, presided over the meeting, at which six delegates and six alternates were appointed to attend the state conference.

The county executive committee was authorized to appoint five more members to the county committee.

Union State Bank Retains Officers

Deposits Increase More than $200,000 in 1952

Directors and officers of the Union State bank were reelected at the annual meeting January 13, at which reports were submitted showing substantial progress made by the institution in 1952.

Officers include E. O. Peterson, president; Elmer Bratsch, vice president and cashier; L. I. Campbell, Roland Erickson, N. H. Koltuem and Miss Laura Lund, assistant cashiers; and E. O. Peterson, Andrew Anderson, H. A. Brumund, Bill Ekstrand and Justus Larson, directors.

With total assets of $5,343,811 on December 31, the bank had deposits of $4,924,322, an increase of slightly more than $200,000 compared to the year previous.

The bank has a capital structure of $319,614, including $100,000 capital; $150,000 surplus; and undivided profits and reserves for contingencies, $69,614.

398 to Pay Personal Property Taxes of Over $100 This Year

Appearing elsewhere in this issue of the Times is the 1953 Pennington county personal property tax list, preparation of which was completed recently in the office of County Treasurer A. R. Johnsrud. The tax is due and payable before March 1.

The number of property owners called upon to pay taxes of $100 or more increased from 317 in 1952 to 398 this year. Of the total 167 are in Thief River Falls, nine in St. Hilaire, three in Goodridge and 217 in the rural areas.

The Lakehead Pipeline company, which is assessed in several townships, is called upon to pay the largest tax in Pennington county well over $10,000.

Nine firms in Thief River Falls and the Farmers Cooperative Grain and Seed Exchange in the Town of North each will pay in excess of $2,000. Heading the list are Land O'Lakes Creameries, $8,064; C. Gustafson & Son, $3,139; Great Northern railway, $2,976; and L. B. Hartz Stores, $2,951.

Man of the Year

Mothers Plan March on Polio January 29th

Seven Women's Groups to Share in Campaign in Residence District

Representatives of seven local women's organizations, at a meeting last Thursday evening completed arrangements for the annual Mother's March on Polio to be held Thursday evening, January 29, starting at 7 o'clock.

The drive, to be conducted in the residence districts of Thief River Falls, will be under the direction of Mrs. Elmer Zachar and Mrs. Orris Johnson. Participating groups will include the Woman's club, Does and auxiliaries of the Legion post, VFW post, Eagles, trainmen and firemen.

Alvin Christofferson, publicity director, announced that any local talent wishing to appear on the radio polio show in the Auditorium February 7 should register with him or at Station KTRF.

Good progress in the canvass of the business district has been reported, but neither here nor in the rural sections of the county has the solicitation been completed.

The home talent show presented by the Smiley Community club in Smiley hall Saturday evening attracted a full house and netted approximately $75 for the polio fund. Kern Olson served as master of ceremonies over the entertaining program, and Al Christofferson showed a movie film dealing with the treatment of polio.

Noper Farm House Damaged by Fire

Fire Department Saves House from Destruction

The local fire department Saturday morning saved from destruction the house on the V. C. Noper farm one-half mile west of the city, occupied by the Russell Hilligoss family.

Fire had broken out in the walls and ceiling of the kitchen, and had gained considerable headway when discovered shortly after 9 a. m. Firemen ascribed the blaze to a faulty chimney, which it was found necessary to take down because the fire had destroyed the supports holding it. Chief Roy Langevin estimated the damage at several hundred dollars.

The department was called Thursday at 8 a. m. to the Elsie Bugge home at 321 State av. S. when an oil heater became flooded, no damage resulting. A chimney fire developed Thursday evening at 332 Crocker av. N., but caused no damage.

A false alarm brought out the firemen in subzero weather Friday morning at 2:30, when a man working in the vicinity of the Land O'Lakes elevator on Davis av. turned in an alarm thinking the building was on fire. However, it proved to be merely chimney smoke swirling around a wall of the building.

Kiddies Carnival Date to Be Feb. 5

Conflict with Mothers' Polio March Eliminated

To avoid a conflict with the Mothers' March on Polio Thursday evening, January 29, the date of the Kiddies Carnival in the Auditorium, originally scheduled by the Lions club for that evening, has been set back to Thursday evening, February 5.

The change in dates, recommended by Tom Fuller, general chairman, was approved by the club at its luncheon meeting last Wednesday noon in the Rex Cafe.

R. E. Eldevik, chairman of the club's attendance committee announced that an attendance contest will start February 4, with Leonard Goulet and Tom Fuller as captains of the opposing teams.

Wallace Tunberg, member of the airport commission, introduced Frank Buttomer, vice president of North Central Airlines, who was in the city to speak at a meeting that evening of the Civic and Commerce association.

Banquet Speaker

FRANK N. BUTTOMER

Vice president of North Central Airlines, is shown above as he addressed the annual dinner meeting of the Civic and Commerce association last Wednesday evening in the Eagles auditorium.

C & C Banquet Attracts 180 on Wednesday

Frank N. Buttomer, Vice President No. Central Airlines, Guest Speaker

Fully 180 members attended the annual meeting of the Civic and Commerce association last Wednesday evening in the Eagles auditorium, and heard a discussion of airline operations by Frank N. Buttomer, vice president of North Central Airlines, which is now serving Thief River Falls.

Ward Nichols, retiring C. & C. president, spoke briefly in commendation of the work of the board of directors and various committees during his two-year incumbency, and then turned the gavel over to his successor, Lester A. Ihle, who had charge of the remainder of the program.

Ihle paid tribute to the accomplishments of Nichols and his co-workers, and said the association is now on a solid foundation. He said efforts will be continued further to cement friendly relations between this community and the Canadian people as well as with surrounding communities.

In his address, Mr. Buttomer briefly reviewed the history of commercial aviation during the past forty years. He commented on a current trend in the direction of shorter flights serving the smaller communities, and added that there is room for plane service as well as for railroads and bus lines.

Air service, said Buttomer, gives Thief River Falls a competitive advantage over communities lacking that facility, and he closed by expressing the hope that local people will give the airline their support.

Also speaking briefly were Bob Ceronsky, operations manager, and David Keenan, district traffic manager. Ceronsky stated that navigational aids are now being installed at the local airport to increase ability of the plane operators to combat unfavorable weather conditions.

Music during the dinner hour was supplied by Bob Sjulestad and Erwin Cline.

The annual report of the association prepared in the office of Secretary Glenn Carlson was distributed at the meeting in the form of a profusely illustrated four page newspaper size sheet. It won many favorable comments.

Don Adolphson, a student at the University of North Dakota, spent the weekend at his home here.

Four Girls in Tie for 1st in Rural Spelling Contest Saturday

Four of 27 pupils who competed Saturday in the annual Pennington county rural school spelling contest made perfect scores of 100, it was announced this week by Mrs. A. C. Matheson, county superintendent, who conducted the event, assisted by the teachers.

She added that in order to determine which of the four will represent this county at the Red River Valley contest at Crookston in February, it will be necessary to hold an elimination contest, which has been scheduled for Friday, January 30.

The four, all girls, who made perfect scores include:

Sharon Tasa of District 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Tasa and pupil of Milton Myrom.

Jeanine Raymond, Dist. 127, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Raymond and pupil of Mrs. Norman Voldness.

Alice Lawson, Dist. 29, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lawson and pupil of Mrs. J. Jornlin.

Janice Johnson, Dist. 147, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norval Johnson and pupil of Miss Gunda Engen.

Tied for second place with with scores of 96 were Verna Hanson, Dist. 56, and Bonnie Radniecki, Dist. 52. Marlene Hanson of Dist. 42 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Odin Hanson, was the winner of the oral spelldown. She is the pupil of Clarice Bengston.

Goodridge Man Ill with Bulbar Polio

Ray Wells of Goodridge was stricken with bulbar polio last week and on Thursday was taken to Grand Forks where he is in an iron lung at the Deaconess Hospital. His parents, Mr and Mrs Andrew Wells of San Diego, were notified of his illness and arrived in Grand Forks by plane on Friday evening. Mr. Wells is married and and the father of three children.

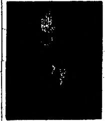
304 Pupils Absent from Classes in Schools Monday

A total of 304 pupils in the public schools, approximately 15 per cent of the total enrollment, were absent from their classes Monday, in addition to three teachers, Supt. W. G. Claffy reported.

The big majority of the absences were due to the flu, which is prevalent in a mild form, in addition to which several cases of mumps have been reported.

Of Monday's absences, 63 were in senior high school, 70 in junior high, 71 in the Knox school, 57 in Northrop and 41 in Washington.

Eisenhower Assumes Presidency Tuesday



PRESIDENT EISENHOWER

President Sets Goal of Peace with Honor for New Administration

In impressive exercises in Washington, D. C. Tuesday, Dwight D. Eisenhower was inaugurated as president of the United States, and he set for his new administration a goal of peace with honor.

It must be, he said, a peace based on strength and unity, and there must be no appeasement because "a soldier's pack is not so heavy a burden as a prisoner's chains."

The induction of the new president, a Republican, marked the retirement from public office of Harry Truman and the end of a twenty-year span of Democratic rule.

In a brief inaugural address from a platform beneath the great grey dome of the Capitol, Eisenhower laid down for "free men everywhere" a challenge to join together against the world menace of communism.

For America, the new President accepted a role of leadership in this mighty effort to gain abiding peace, "to produce this unity, to meet the challenge of our time."

Bareheaded under a warm sun, fighting through a haze, Eisenhower slowly repeated after Chief Justice Vinson of the Supreme Court the oath that brought to an end a 20-year era of Democratic rule and embarked the GOP on its "great crusade."

The GOP followed through with an immense inaugural victory parade. Mile after mile, between walls of yelling, happy humanity, it rolled along Pennsylvania Avenue from the Capitol to the White House.

All that was only a prelude for something more Tuesday night, a pair of inaugural balls bringing to an end a three-day spree of celebrating by the Republicans.

An estimated 125,000 persons assembled in the vast Capitol plaza looked on in person. Radio and television carried the ceremony to many millions and the Voice of America took it overseas in 46 languages and dialects.

Beneath the left hand of the 34th President was his own West Point Bible and another which George Washington used on that first inaugural day.

Turning toward the thousands of fellow Americans gathered to honor him, Eisenhower waved his hands aloft in spread eagle fashion, flashed his infectious grin, and accepted a volley of applause.

Suddenly solemn, the new chief executive offered up a little prayer for all to hear, a prayer he had written himself. He asked Almighty God to dedicate the new administration fully and completely "to the service of the people," regardless of station, race or calling.

Over 200 Attend Annual Meeting of Trinity Church

All Officers Reelected, $37,200 Budget Adopted at Meeting Tuesday

Altho attendance was reduced considerably due to the current flu epidemic, more than 200 persons attended the annual congregational dinner and business meeting of Trinity Lutheran church Tuesday evening.

Rev. G.S. Thompson, pastor, presided, and gave his annual message, in addition to which reports were submitted by the various officers. An operating budget of $37,200 was adopted for the current year.

In the election of officers, Frank E. Tunberg was renamed vice president; B. I. Froiland, Clifford Bjorkman, Gordon Ballingrud and Ralph A. Luhman, trustees; Kalmer Ostby and Clifford Hedeen, deacons; and Harold Rasmussen, head usher.

The congregation voted to engage a new parish worker and to apply for an interne assistant to succeed Dale Larson at the expiration of his term in June.

At the close of the meeting, Robert J. Lund spoke in praise of the services rendered by Rev. and Mrs. Thompson and presented them with a handsome cash gift in behalf of the congregation and its auxiliary organizations.

Northern State Adds to Surplus

Deposits Gain $426,000 During the Past Year

Deposits in the Northern State bank showed a substantial increase of $426,000 during the past year, it was revealed in reports submitted at the annual stockholders' meeting Tuesday afternoon. Deposits aggregated $3,532,000 as of December 31, with total resources of $3,792,000.

At the end of the year $50,000 was paid into the surplus account from undivided profits, giving the institution a combined capital and surplus of $250,000.

Kenneth E. Lindberg was elected to the board of directors, succeeding the late C. M. Berg. Reelected to the board were George A. Belto, George W. Werstlein, Alfred Skarstad, and A. M. Magnuson.

Officers reelected include Mr. Belto, president; Werstlein, vice president; Lindbergh, cashier; and Lester J. Gustafson, assistant cashier.

It was announced that a night depository will be installed shortly west of the main entrance to the bank for the convenience of patrons wishing to make deposits after banking hours.

Alice Anton - Kenneth Miller Nuptials Read

Rev. V. E. Schroeder officiated at nuptials Friday evening for Alice Darlene Anton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Anton of this city. It was a double ring ceremony, at 7:30 p. m. in St. John's Lutheran church.

Wagner's "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Elaine Bessler for the processional, and Miss Naomi Jensen sang "Bless This House" and "I'll Walk Beside You!" Miss Gladys Hanson also sang "Because."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white organdy, designed with fitted bodice buttoning down the back, long sleeves pointing over the hand, and a full skirt of lace tiers extending to a long train edged in lace. She wore a fingertip veil and carried a shower bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations on a white Bible.

Miss Joyce Anton was her sister's only attendant. Her gown was of peach colored organdy and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white carnations and yellow roses. Herbert Swenson was bestman, and ushers were Gordon Miller and Richard Miller, brother and cousin of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Anton were hosts to their friends and relatives at a reception in the church parlors following the ceremony. The bridal party was seated at a table centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Serving as waitresses were Janice Anton, Patricia Anton, Luella Mehrkens, and Carol Mehrkens. Delores Ramstad was in charge of the guest book, while Donna Ballingrud and Janet Heieren had the gift table.

Mrs. Anton received her guests in a green print dress with a corsage of yellow roses and pink and white carnations. The groom's mother was attired in a teal dress with a similar corsage.

For their wedding trip to Milwaukee, Wisc., and Mammoth Cave, Kentucky, the bride donned a wine knit suit with black accessories. The new Mr. and Mrs. Miller will be at home at 1217 Knight Ave. N. in this city.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, class of '52, and has been employed at the Bratrud Clinic in this city. Mr. Miller, also a graduate of Lincoln high school, class of '47, has recently been discharged from the army and is now employed as parts manager at Forkenbrock Motor Co.

Betty Matzke Ardell Liden Married Friday

In a double ring ceremony at Trinity Lutheran Church at eight o'clock Friday evening, January 16, marriage vows were exchanged by Betty Jean Matzke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Matzke of rural Thief River Falls, and Ardell Liden, son of Mr., and Mrs. Oscar Liden of this city. White carnations decorated the altar before which the ceremony was read by Rev. G. S. Thompson.

The bride was attired in a powder blue suit complemented with red accessories and carried a bouquet of red roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Douglas Odegaard, who wore a dark blue suit with a corsage of pink roses. Lyle Liden, brother of the groom, was best man.

Twelve guests were present at the reception given at the home of the bride's parents. Following a wedding trip to Duluth, Mr and Mrs. Liden have returned to make their home at 623½ Horace Ave. North. The bride is continuing her work as bookkeeper at the Consumers Co-op Co and the groom is employed by Lind Motor Supply.

Mrs. I. R. Geving Reelected Head of Trinity Aid

Couple United in Marriage December 27

Miss LuVerne Arlyce Ness, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ness of rural Gully, and Charles A. Davids, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davids, Sr. of rural Gonvick, were united in marriage at Trinity Lutheran Church on December 27. Rev. G. S. Thompson read the double ring service. Don West of Minneapolis, brother-in-law of the groom, sang "A Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. West furnished the music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown cut entrain and a circular veil of illusion net edged with Chantilly lace. She carried a colonial bouquet and her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift from the groom. Attending the bride was her sister, Mrs. Clifford A. Hanson of East Grand Forks, wearing a pink floor length dress designed with a hoop skirt.

Flower girl was Sandra Hanson, niece of the bride, who wore a green gown and carried a junior colonial bouquet. Robert Davids Jr. of Gonvick was best man.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Winnipeg and are now at home at 2416 Nicollet av., Minneapolis. Mrs. Davids is a graduate of the Gonvick high school and in June graduated from the area vocational school at Thief River Falls, later being employed as a nurse. The groom received his honorable discharge from the service in December following seventeen months of service in Korea.

Business Women Met January 13

Florence Anderson, Kay Barzen Lead Discussion

The program of the January meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club, held in the Terrace Room of the Rex Cafe, January 13th was in charge of Florence Anderson, whose topic was radio and television. With the help of Kay Barzen, she led an informal discussion of Judge Sarah T. Hughes' record entitled, "Full Partnership to Promote Democracy." With over two thousand B.P.W. members in the state alone, it was felt that members could do much in helping fight Communism.

A gift of clothing bought with a fund of a dollar per member was presented at Christmas time to a needy family, it was announced. A going away gift was presented to Minnie Combours who is leaving for Fargo.

Delegates to the winter board meeting at the Radisson Hotel Feb. 7th and 8th are the chairman, Lucille Hulbert, and Kay Barzen, alternate. Rummage Sale plans were postponed until February.

Martha Narverud, Lucille Hulbert, Ruth Lundgren and Ellen Peterson reported on the results of their part in the polio drive in the business district.

Radio Speaking Contest for 4-H Youth February 7

Pennington County Club Members Will Seek to Enter State Contest

Four-H club members in Pennington county will again have an opportunity to enter the statewide 4-H radio speaking contest for 1952-53, County Agent Ray Milteness announced today.

This year's competition will be limited to 4-H members between the ages of 14 and 21.

"What Responsible Citizenship Means to Me" has been selected as the topic for discussion. Contestants will prepare original speeches, five to seven minutes in length, on some aspect of the subject, emphasizing acts of citizenship in the home, at school and in the community.

A bibliography of reading material on the subject is available at the county extension office. Public and school libraries and many civic organizations will also have material on the topic.

The contest for Pennington county is being held in the Auditorium in Thief River Falls on Saturday, February 7, at 1:30 p. m.

The University of Minnesota agricultural extension service, in cooperation with the Minnesota Jewish Council, is sponsoring the speaking event, which is now in its eleventh year. The Jewish Council is providing more than $1,300 in awards for county, district, and state winners.

Some Classes in Evening School to Start Next Week

Others Held up for Time Being Pending Approval from State Department

Evening school classes will be held at the area vocational school in this city in most subjects, as previously announced, but beginning dates are temporarily being postponed because of the time required to obtain certain final approvals from the state level, C. W. Pope, director, announced today.

All people who have signed up for courses will, as previously stated, be mailed a notice giving all necessary information as to time, place, fees, and hours.

Some classes will begin next week while others will begin as soon as all plans and approvals have been completed, which will be in the near future.

The various classes will meet either once or twice a week, and in no case, will the total hours of the course exceed thirty. No meetings will be scheduled for Fridays.

Gustafsons Show 1953 Nash Models

New Engine Presented in Ambassador Model

Nash Motors last week announced its new 1953 Ambassador and Statesman models, featuring original continental styling and numerous mechanical advancements.

Highlighted by the advanced styling of Pinin Farina, renowned European custom body designer of Turin, Italy, the new models are on display in the show rooms of C. Gustafson & Son, local dealers.

The 1953 Statesman is powered by the new "Powerflyte" engine, and a new optional LeMans Dual Jetfire engine is offered in the Ambassador. New Nash power steering is available for the first time in the Ambassador model. Many new exterior solid and two tone colors and interior upholstery and trim selections have enhanced the beauty of all models in both series of cars, he said.

A new custom hardtop convertible, called the Country Club, is featured in the full line of two and four door custom and super sedans in both series.

Treatment of Pets

Just like human beings, dogs are treated for congestive heart disease with sedatives, diuretics and digitalis. A wire-haired terrier, according to a recent veterinary journal report, lived four years, to 13 years of age (the equivalent of 90 in man), on digitalis. Dogs occasionally suffer from congenital heart defects resembling the "blue baby" condition and relieved by a similar operation. X-rays are employed in the treatment of pets with cancer, and X-rays plus the Barium meal are used to locate foreign objects they may have swallowed. Vitallium alloy is being introduced into the repair of dog and cat bone injuries. Pet surgery utilizes all the standard techniques of human surgery, from asepsis and anesthesia to oxygen, blood transfusions, intravenous feeding and nutritional supplements.

That Shy Guy

By Clarence Sydney

BILL WATCHED as she moved by in the arms of the dark haired man. She was perfect as far as Bill was concerned. With her laughing pixie-like face and her compactly well curved figure.

She was the type of girl he had dreamed of all his life, and never hoped to find. And now that he had found her, there was the dark haired man.

Bill watched them dance. He felt rather out of place at the party, but you can't refuse to attend when the invitation comes from the boss. It was the office anniversary party, and all the personnel from all the departments were there.

Being new in the office, he knew only the small group that worked in the audit section. There was Jack, Tony, Don, Martha, Fred another man named Bill and her. Her name was Lois, and he had said less than a score of words to her in the four days he had been with the company.

He watched her and the dark haired man—he was named Jeff, and he was a vice president in the company. They danced well and Bill was painfully aware that they had danced together often.

Not like when Bill had asked her for a dance. Then he felt clumsy. Lois faltered and followed raggedly. She was quick to learn, and by the end of the number, she could follow his lead easily, but not as she followed Jeff out there now.

The music ended, and Bill glanced around to see where the couple had stopped. They were looking across the floor at him, and talking. They started over in his direction.

"How are you enjoying the party, Bill?" Jeff asked.

"Fine. Just fine."

"Why not take Lois over for some punch? I have to see Mr. Baxter for a few minutes."

Bill was elated. "Would you like some punch?" he asked.

"Very much," Lois answered, and her smile made her whole face light up. When she smiled like that, Bill thought her the prettiest girl he had ever known.

They had the punch, they had a dance, and they had still another dance. Bill glanced around and saw Jeff standing off to one side, talking to the blonde telephone girl. Jeff smiled and nodded as Lois and Bill danced by.

There was something in the smile, or the attitude of Jeff that got under Bill's skin. How could a man be so obviously confident of a girl's love to leave her with another man so long?

Bill made a decision. For tonight, he was going to change. He turned quickly to Lois. "How about us getting out of here? I'd like to talk to you. Ever since I first saw you, I knew that you were . . ."

He broke off as a heavy hand pounded his back. It was Jeff, his face still wearing that aggravating grin despite what he had heard. And he couldn't have mistaken what Bill was trying to tell Lois. "How are you two enjoying the party?"

Lois smiled impishly. "Apparently Bill isn't enjoying it too much. He wants to leave."

Jeff laughed. "You know what Bill means. He would rather have you all to himself. Right, Bill?" He nudged Bill.

Bill felt his face flush hotly. Jeff grinned at Lois. Angrily he said, "That's right. I want to tell her I love her, and . . ."

"Hey, Jeff broke in. "Wait a minute. Don't go telling me that. Get out of here. Go on, both of you. Tell her, Bill, not me."

Lois gripped his arm. "Gosh sakes, yes. I want to be the first to hear it, anyway. Then you can go around telling other people." She started to lead him to the door.

Bill followed confused. "But Jeff . . . I thought that he . . . you . . ."

Lois smiled and her face shown brightly. "You tell me first. Then we can tell him. After all, I think the girl ought to know about it before her brother, don't you?"

Canada Dry Line to Be Produced by Kiewel Company.

Local Firm Is Granted Exclusive Franchise for Local Production

Installation of new equipment for production of Canada Dry beverages at the Kiewel Products company plant in this city is expected to be completed in the near future, although immediate delivery of Canada Dry products can now be made, Ben J. Kiewel, manager, announced this week.

The bottling firm was recently chosen by Canada Dry and awarded an exclusive franchise for local production of the Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc. line of beverages. The firm has been active in bottling Nesbitt Orange, Squirt, Pepsi Cola and Hires root beer for many years.

To insure maintenance of quality standards, the Kiewel Products company management and bottling staff will be in contact with Canada Dry's central control laboratory in New York. Samples will be shipped to the laboratory for double checking on purity and flavor. In addition, regular tests will be made by the plant's own chief bottler.

Funeral Services For J. Lundberg Conducted Today

Funeral services for John Lundberg of St. Hilaire were held at two o'clock this afternoon at the Evangelical Lutheran Church, St. Hilaire. Rev. Joseph Bowman officiated at the service and the remains were laid to rest in the Community cemetery at St. Hilaire. Mr. Lundberg was 64 years of age at the time of his death on January 17.

The deceased was born in Joliet, Illinois, September 11, 1888 and came to Pennington county in 1904. He farmed in that vicinity until ten years ago when his health began to fail, then moved to St. Hilaire.

He is survived by his wife, Nellie; one daughter, Mrs. John Van Deusen of Enderlin, N. D.; two brothers, George of Detroit, Mich., and August of Joliet, Ill.; and a granddaughter, Judy Van Deusen. He is preceded in death by his parents.

Books and Bathing Suits Have Something in Common

"It's possible that books and bathing suits may have something in common," says noted Duke University English Professor Allan H. Gilbert. How can they?

"Fashions in clothes and fashion in literature have always been mirrors of society," the eminent Renaissance scholar explains, "and it is interesting to note how the two often reflect similar features."

Today the similarity seems to be between the comparative informality of modern dress and the tendency to use informal every-day language and events in our modern literature, he says.

For example, today's young men and women are much more sensibly dressed for some activities than their grandparents.

After all, Professor Gilbert says, shorts are most suited for tennis, breeches for horseback riding, and so on. And swimming is certainly much simpler without skirts, hose, and shoes.

But some of today's clothing is neither very practical nor very artistic, in Professor Gilbert's opinion. "High heels, many hats, and such garments as strapless dresses are designed in such a way as to deny the very shape of the body," he says.

"Somehow, in spite of the relative simplicity of some of our clothing, we seem determined in the long run to get away from naturalness."

But the ladies are not the only ones at fault.

"The clothing of men is now superlatively ugly," he says. "What could be more horrible than the knife-edged creases in trousers which make it appear that men are incased in stove piping. Why, it's an attempt to deny the very nature of cloth, clothing, and legs."

Coast of Oman Once Was Lair of Pirates

Modern civilization's thirst for oil today leads fleets of tankers safely along coasts where once lurked fanatical Moslem pirates even more ferocious than the corsairs of Algiers and the coastal brigands of China.

The shores are those of Oman, a land of blazing desert heat and generally primitive inhabitants which hugs the coast of eastern Arabia.

An independent Sultanate with strong ties to Britain, Oman looks north over the Persian Gulf, east across the Gulf of Oman and south upon the Arabian Sea.

The ships heading for the Persian Gulf and the oil of Bahrein and Abadan pass these coasts without stopping.

Were they the towering British or Dutch East Indiamen of the 18th century, however, some of their number would have halted perforce, sailed down by screaming Wahabi pirates seeking not only

Four Cars Suffer Damage in Pair of Collisions in City

Two car accidents, the most costly of a half-dozen mishaps occurring on slippery streets in the city during the past week, resulted in damage to the four cars involved of nearly $400, police reported.

Frank Barzen, driving north on Duluth av. Thursday afternoon failed to notice a stop sign at Sixth st. and collided with a car driven by Mrs. Josephine Sloan. The Barzen car sustained an estimated $145 damage and the Sloan car $130.

Cars driven by Milton P. Hedlund and Peter S. Oftedahl collided Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Horace av. and Second st. Damage to each of the cars was estimated at $50.

B.P.O. Does Show Film January 27

Demonstrates Remedial Treatment of Paralytics

The film, "The Journey Back" will be presented following the regular meeting of the B. P. O. Does next Tuesday evening, Jan. 27, with all Elks and their wives and Does and their husbands invited. Mrs. R. O. Larson will show the film and Dr. Theodor Bratrud will give a brief talk concerning it.

"The Journey Back" demonstrates the progress and techniques employed in treating the paralyzed and speechless, that they may relearn to walk, to talk, and to regain the capacity for living again. This picture was made in the Minneapolis Veterans Administration hospital in the summer of 1949 for a showing in Paris at the International Neurological Congress.

All members of the cast are actually employed or served as volunteers at Fort Snelling.

If any other organization would like to show the film, they make arrangements with Mrs. R. L. Noper, Phone 174.

Area Headquarters of Soil Conservation Service Set up Here

One of seven soil conservation districts in Minnesota, comprising Area I, will have its headquarters in Thief River Falls, under a new arrangement that was to take effect January 15, it was announced in St. Paul by Herbert A. Flueck, director of the U. S. soil conservation program in this state.

Negotiations for office quarters for the agency in the city are now in progress. In charge of the office will be Arthur C. Libby, formerly of Moorhead, and the area to be served includes Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Koochiching, St. Louis, Lake, Cook, Itasca, Clearwater, Beltrami, Polk, Red Lake, Pennington and Marshall counties. Four men will comprise the local staff.

Other areas and their headquarters include Area II, Fergus Falls; III, Stillwater; IV, St. Peter; V, Marshall; VI, Owatonna; and VII, Rochester.

Mr. Flueck stated that the realignment program is part of a nation-wide plan inaugurated by the soil conservation service to streamline its operations.

North Minnesota Educators Meet in City January 31

The Northern Minnesota Education association will conduct a workshop at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls Saturday, January 31, starting at 10 a. m., it was announced this week by Paul Steffenson of Park Rapids, president of the association. The morning session will be devoted to meetings of committees, which will report at a general meeting at 1:30 p. m.

C. C. Membership Drive under Way

Winners to Eat Steaks; Losers to Dine on Beans

Winners in a Civic and Commerce association membership contest now in progress will eat steaks while the losers will have to be satisfied with beans, it was announced today by Elmer Bratsch, chairman of the membership committee.

Starting the contest following a kickoff breakfast Monday attended by 48 workers, one of the two opposing teams is captained by Bratsch and Hugh Carlson, while the other is led by Lucian Krause and E. B. Benson.

The contest will continue thru Friday, January 30.

1952 HIGHWAY TRAFFIC UP 6 1/2% OVER '51 MARK

Traffic on Minnesota's rural trunk highways during 1952 increased an average of 6 1/2 per cent over 1951 volumes, according to data based on records obtained by the state highway department's automatic traffic counters. Every month of the year showed gains over corresponding months of the previous year, although January and September gains were very slight. March, however, showed an increase of more than 20 per cent over the corresponding month of 1951. Traffic volume gains for 1952 were 54 per cent over the 1951 figures, says the Department.

Vast Wilderness

The Antarctic is a vast wilderness of rugged topography and sparse unusual animal life. Skua gulls viciously attack penguin eggs and young, and almost anything they consider edible. Men must keep out of the way of killer whales and huge leopard seals. There is one mountain peak of 20,000 feet. The Gilbert Grosvenor range averages 13,000 feet. In the perpetual light of half the year, sunburn on the bottom of the chin and the palms of the hands is a real threat. "Antarctic white-out", caused by multiple reflections of sunlight, causes aircraft crashes and makes men disappear completely from the view of colleagues only a short distance away. The interior of the continent is less well known than the sunlit side of the moon. Authorities, among them Admiral Byrd and Dr. Henry J. Warman of Clark university, have suggested that surplus human foods could be stored in the great Antarctic refrigerator against an emergency.

Businessmen Are Thanked for Help Given State Guard

Following the recent disbanding of Company C of the Minnesota state guard, which has been replaced here by a National Guard unit, Captain George Mackenroth of the state guard today thanked local businessmen for the wholehearted support they had given the organization, as well as for serving lunch to the members following their weekly drills.

Value of Eyeglasses Ruined By Unorthodox Wearing

A good way to make an opthalmic specialist shudder is to pull your eyeglasses 'way down toward the tip of your nose when you read. To be sure, the glasses magnify more in that position, but a large part of their value is ruined.

For glasses do much more than just magnify. When properly placed before your eyes, they correct errors of vision. They focus the print so that the letters are sharp; they eliminate blur; they avoid double vision; and they prevent the distortion of the print due to astigmatism. All this is sacrificed when the glasses are not correctly placed.

The lens of the eyeglass and the natural lens of your eye should form a single optical system, operating as one. But they can do that only if the glasses are kept in exactly the right position. It is the job of ophthalmic specialists to see that your glass lenses are precisely suited to your individual needs and that they are so placed as to combine properly with your eyes.

Once your individual requirements have been established by a thorough examination, the delicate operations of grinding, gauging and polishing the lenses must be performed. Then the specialist measures the distance between your pupils so that when your lenses are placed in their frames or mountings the optical axis of each lens may be exactly matched with the pupil of each eye. Furthermore, he makes sure that each lens is at the correct distance in front of each eye and that it is set at the right angle.

And even that isn't all. The frames, the nosepiece, and the earpieces must be adjusted so that the glasses will be completely comfortable and you will not be tempted to move them out of place.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Grace Stewart, Pekin, Indiana: I remember going to mill with my father as a small child. We took corn to be made into meal and I fed the ears into the corn sheller while my father furnished the power to turn the mill. We always went to Becks Mill, south of Salem, Ind., in Washington County.

From Mrs. Nettie Rogers, 3118 Dorcas, Omaha, Nebr.: I remember when my father went to a "turkey shoot" at Thanksgiving time. Being a little short of ammunition he melted my mother's pewter spoons for his gun. He came home with a big wild turkey. It was so large mother cooked it in the wash boiler.

From Mrs. Lucy Hunt, Drum, Ky.: I remember when I used to work a yoke of steers named Brit and Bully to snake fire wood for the big fireplace in our log cabin. I also remember when I used to pick blackberries and carry them three miles to Grundy, Va., to sell them for five cents a gallon. With the money I bought calico for three cents a yard to make a dress.

From Mrs. Lillian Craig, Lynwood, Calif.: I remember when Uncle Nick Chickodowze, who lived across from the Craig Chapel, had his cobbler shop in the corner of his kitchen. He wore a leather knee apron and had a large wooden tray with different compartments before him. He sewed shoes with a waxed thread by hand and used wood pegs to resole shoes.

Storm in Brazil

A tempest in a coffee pot has lately been brewed in Brazil, world's greatest coffee producer, by Saude, the official magazine of the national health education service. "One should not be deceived by the false sense of well-being given by alcohol and coffee," said Saude, "which deprive the body of indispensable nourishment and rest." Since the entire economy of Brazil rests upon coffee, and since the country is currently engaged in a $1,500,000 campaign to get norteamericanos to drink even more of it, the reaction in Brazil generally can be imagined—think of Florida after a blast against citrus fruit by the United States Public Health Service.

Trail Events of Week Listed

By Mrs. Albert Aaknes, Trail

Mrs. Otto Voeltz and Shirley, Mrs. Albert Aaknes and Kathy were shoppers in Fosston Saturday.

Sylvia Voeltz is employed at the Ervin Weberg home after school, while Mrs. Weberg is taking care of the corner tavern.

Tom Carlson of Gully underwent surgery at the Bagley hospital. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

Gynther Gunderson of the West coast was a brief caller at the Albert Aaknes home Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Radniecki and Anthony were brief callers here with her sister Mrs. Albert Aaknes. Her husband was also a business caller at Gonvick.

Week ago Monday shoppers in Thief River Falls were Mrs. Albert Aaknes, Mrs. Otto Voeltz and Shirley.

Trail V.F.W. auxiliary held their regular meeting Wednesday evening Jan. 7 at the hall. Plans were made to have a dance on Jan. 31, the proceeds to go to the Polio fund. Door prizes will be given away. Hostesses were Mrs. Albert Aaknes and Mrs. Christine Kolling.

Olai Hedin had his house moved into town from his farm. It will be located just north of Ed Nepper's house on the west side of town.

Last Thursday shoppers in Grand Forks were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Olson and Mrs. Vera Kvare of Fosston, Mrs. Gladys Olson and Mrs. Jim Graham.

Shoppers in Bagley last Monday were Mrs. Russell Evje, Mrs. Dale Carlson, Mrs. Carl Halvorson, Mrs. Gladys Olson, Mrs. Jim Graham, Mrs. Johnnie Agnes and Vincent, Mrs. Thor Lund, Mrs. John Moy.

Lyle Lund is now stationed at Parks Air Force Base near Pleasington, Calif. He is located only forty miles from his aunt, Mrs. Donald Hughes, who lives at Palo Alto, Calif.

Nicholas Agnes passed away at his home in Hill River Twp. after an illness of several years. He was 55 at the time of death. Mr. Agnes was born Jan. 3, 1898 and attended country school at Ridgelawn. He was united in marriage to Martha Brandt of Haymarsh, N. D. June 3, 1930 in the St. Clements Catholic church. In addition to his wife he is survived by one daughter Bernice of Crookston; four sons, Charles at Onamia, Minn. and Harold, Ernest and Clarence at home; his father John Agnes Sr.; one brother, John P. Agnes, Jr. both of Hill River Twp.; two sisters, Mrs. Stanley Depta, Washington State, Mrs. Maggie Weber of Trail. His mother, one sister and one daughter preceded him in death. Services were held Friday Jan. 16 at the St. Charles church near Trail.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tanem on the arrival of a baby boy born Jan. 15th at the Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls.

If anyone sees a plane skimming across the snow, it's only Albert Aaknes and Jim Votova's new snow plane. The boys made it this winter. They took it out for the first test Sunday.

Lloyd Erickson is employed on the snow plow at Fosston.

Tom Qually of Gonvick was a brief caller at the Albert Aaknes home Monday.

A farewell party will be held at the Gully hall Thursday night Jan. 22 for Melford Bergerson, who will leave for the army Jan. 27.

From the State Capitol

By W. E. DAHLQUIST

Neighbor Don Sinclair is a member of the committee on Reapportionment which is giving serious consideration to the one problem that is assigned to it. Now, with the 1950 census figure available, obviously this is the session that should rearrange the pattern of legislative districts.

There is not a member of the legislature who will not agree that there should be reapportionment. The reason we have not had reapportionment is because of the difficulty in getting enough of the members to agree to one plan.

On the basis of the state's present population the average size of 67 legislative districts would be about 40,000. One district in Hennepin County now has a population estimated at more than 150,000. The people of that district have a right to complain. But considering the fact that districts generally follow county lines, most of them average up fairly well.

All of the small one-county districts are in southern Minnesota. Wabasha County has a population of 16,878. Meeker and LeSueur have less than 20,000, and McLeod, Faribault and Renville have less than 25,000. It would not be difficult to figure out a few reasonable combinations that would shift more seats to the metropolitan area.

With one or two exceptions the northern districts average out well now, and the number of their representatives in the legislature probably would not be changed with reapportionment providing the total for the state remained the same. The shift to the metropolitan area would have to come from the southern part of the state.

It is conceivable that at some future time the majority of the state's population will be concentrated in the metropolitan area. My guess is that rural Minnesota will never go along on a reapportionment plan that would give the metropolitan area control of the legislature. There is considerable support for the idea that one house should be elected on an area basis and the other on the basis of population as we elect our National Congress. In order to maintain a satisfactory balance between the rural and urban interests that may be the logical solution.

Another idea that may be a factor in solving the immediate problem is a proposal to make the effective date of the apportionment plan several years later. This would present members with an opportunity to get better acquainted in areas they might later serve. For some of the old timers who know their period of service is drawing to a close anyway it would be less difficult to support the changes. We probably would get a more sensible and better balanced reapportionment if the effective date were moved back. The important thing is that there be reapportionment; whether it be made effective in 1954 or 1956 is not a matter of great consequence.

Governor Anderson delivered his budget message Wednesday. There was nothing unexpected in what he reported and to me the impressive thing about the program was the prayer of the Chaplain after the joint meeting of the House and Senate had been called to order.

In his brief prayer he pointed to the fact that this was a meeting to consider the budget. The budget represented dollars and the dollars we would be spending represented the time and energy of the taxpayers of the state. In summing it up he asked that we might be given wisdom in this great responsibility. Never have I said "Amen" more fervently.

The needs for the coming biennium are very great. There are not enough dollars to meet these needs on the basis of the requests before us and what present taxes are producing. We these needs on the basis of the requests before must either curtail some desirable services or dig deeper in to the pockets of the taxpayers. To make the right decisions as these questions occur in our deliberations will require a great deal of wisdom — and considerable courage.

Whatever we do will be displeasing to some. The right answers probably will be there that provide the greatest good for the greatest numbers over a period of time.

But maybe our garden has a few weeds that need to be tossed out.

The Governor's budget calls for the spending of about three hundred million dollars a year for each of the next two years. From my experience with budgets I am satisfied that with careful pruning millions of dollars can be saved without curtailing any necessary service. Two years ago there was a terrific hue and cry because we had cut quite drastically into some of the recommended appropriations, but those who cried so loudly then have somehow survived.

There are times for all of us when we cannot afford to do all of the things we want to do and that, of course, makes us very unhappy. Government agencies are like individuals, and without reflecting in any way on the qualifications of the good people who direct our various state agencies, I am sure there are enough unnecessary services and enough waste and inefficiency in the performance of those services that are necessary to make possible a five percent savings across the board if they were eliminated. Five percent of three hundred million is fifteen million. If it had to be done I think we could reduce taxes. One of these days it will have to be done.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor The Times:

In regard to the improvement of farm roads, it was very encouraging to know Senator Leonard S. Dickenson from Bemidji and Albert Anderson from Clearbrook, Minnesota agree on this problem.

We are in the northwest part of Pennington county in Minnesota. State Highway No. 1 is the only road available for our use in hauling our grain and livestock to market. We have mail service. However, the carrier travels over horse and buggy roads that were built by our forefathers over fifty years ago, and there is no improvement in sight for these roads.

The consolidation of our rural schools throughout the state is a very fine thing for our rural youth, but the state school system gave no thought to the ride these children must take in the morning. Some children walk three-fourths of a mile to meet these buses.

I think the central high school board in cooperation with the county board of commissioners should take the road building job away from the township supervisors as these men and farmers or eighty per cent of them have no road building experience.

I would like to see the day when our county road engineer would take over and plot our county where mail and school bus roads should be built. I think this system would give us all much benefit, farm to market roads, our school buses and also our fine free mail service.

I have lived in this township and county more than sixty-four years and we have roads that have never been improved.

If this kind of a streamlined road system could be worked out we could call it "The Road Booster Days."

This is a fine column and I enjoy reading it very much.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

(This service is based on questions asked at Veterans Administration offices in the State. Answers are supplied by VA.)

Q: I know a woman who is drawing indemnity payments because of the death of her husband in service in Korea. She's the only living person eligible to receive the money; he had no children, living parents, brothers or sisters. What happens if his widow dies before receiving all the indemnity installments?

A: If she dies, and there is no other living person eligible to receive the installments, no payment of the unpaid installments may be made under the law.

Q: How is Korean GI Bill entitlement used up in the case of veterans taking flight training?

A: For flight trainees, entitlement used up at the rate of one day for each $1.25 paid to them as education and training allowances.

Q: I'm getting a VA pension, and I'm now figuring out my income for the year to see whether it falls below the ceiling. I have a part time job. Do I figure the actual amount of take home pay that I get, or am I also supposed to include deductions for a retirement plan and for income tax?

A: In computing your yearly income, you must include the deductions as well as the take home pay.

Q: How much may I borrow on my permanent National Service Life Insurance policy? Also, what's the interest rate charged on such loans?

A: You may borrow up to 94 percent of the reserve value of your insurance. Interest is charged at the rate of four percent per year. The VA office to which you pay premiums will be glad to tell you what the reserve value of your policy is.

East G. Forks Takes Prowler Quint 49-40; Warren Here Friday

Coach Harold Sullivan's East Grand Forks' Green Wave, with guard Ron Jeffrey and forward Darrel Winlaw applying fuse-lighting spark, exploded for a 17 to 3 lead over the Prowlers in the first period of the 31st district basketball game played at East Grand Forks on Friday night. With that commanding lead, the Green Wave maintained control of the game to register a 49 to 40 triumph.

On Friday night, January 23rd the Prowlers will play Fred Petrich's Warren Ponies in a district tilt on the local court. And on Wednesday night, Jan. 28th, the locals will make a short trip to Red Lake Falls for a return game against the Eagles.

For the first couple of minutes of Friday night's game at East Grand Forks, the Prowlers played the Green Wave on even terms, with the score being 3-all. Winlaw opened with a Green Wave free throw; and Duane Rafteseth notched a free throw on Howie Stallmo's foul. Jon Falgren scored a one hander for East Side; only to have Gary Smith counter with a rebound, to even the score at 3 and 3.

Winlaw's three field goals, and four goal outburst by Jeffrey, gave the alert and ball-hawking Green Wave a 17 to 3 margin.

East Grand Forks, "double teaming" big Art Johnson, held the Prowler center to a lone field goal in the first half, that being a shot from the lane in the second period.

The Prowlers in the second half, and especially when Grant Gulseth was moved into the lineup, shook off their erratic play and out pointed the Green Wave. Johnson, held to two points in the first half, came back to tally six field goals in the second half, and his fourteen point total was runner-up to Darrel Winlaw's high point score of eighteen.

Lincoln Hockey Six Takes Hallock 8-0

Marks Sixth Straight Victory for Prowlers

Coach Dennis Rolle's hockey Prowlers maintained their lead in the regional conference by scoring a surprising 8 to 0 win over the Hallock high school sextet in a game played at Hallock on Tuesday night. The victory was the sixth of the season for the blue-and-gold without a loss, and gives the locals a conference record of four wins and no losses.

In Tuesday night's game at Hallock, the Prowlers, on goals by Joe Poole and Mike Hajostek, gained a 2 to 0 first period. The Prowlers added a pair of goals for a 4 to 0 lead at the end of the second period, and then erupted for four tallies in the final period, giving the Prowlers an 8 to 0 lead, and goalie Bill Maruska his third shutout of the year.

The Prowlers will play at Grand Forks on Thursday night, meeting coach Bob May's Redskins in North Dakota U's Winter Sports Building. On Saturday night Max Spohrer's Greenbush sextet will play the Prowlers here; and on Tuesday night, the Warroad Warriors will be here.

4-H Club News

St. Hilaire Club

The St. Hilaire club held its regular meeting at the St. Hilaire schoolhouse on January 8.

The money earned by Barbara Black and Cherry Johnson while working at Bjorkman's was acknowledged and it was voted to give both girls a dollar refund. It was also voted to give $5.00 to the polio fund.

The program consisted of a musical number by Jimmy Kolden on his guitar and mouth-organ, a demonstration by Shirley Ann Wilk on "Making a Lampshade," and a duet by Shirley Ann Wik and Donna Busse.

Movies were shown by County Agent Ray Mitteness on "Polio" and "Tractor Safety."

David Thompson and Roger Kolden showed racers they had made for their farm mechanics project.

Lunch was served by Corbets, Koldens and Sorensons.

Next month's program is to be a Valentine party.

Rocksbury 4-H Club

The Rocksbury 4-H club met on January 14, 1953 at Valhall.

A report was given on the Christmas boxes and Christmas caroling on December 26.

The program began with a piano solo by Roger Grundhaus. A movie on "Tractor Maintenance" was shown, and a demonstration was given by Marilyn Gunderson on "Making Crepe Paper Picture Frames." Following this two more movies were enjoyed, "The Wilson's go to Town" and "The County Fair."

Lunch was served by Ervin Chapman and Martin Mathson families.

Our next meeting is on February 11.—Jan Finstad, reporter.

Sanders 4-H Club

The Sanders 4-H club held its meeting January 9th at the John Uggerud home. It was decided to give some money to the Polio fund. There was group singing, piano solo by Janice Bakka, demonstrations "How to make a flower vase," by Dennis Swanson, and "Dry Cleaning eggs" by Jimmy Larson. Duet by Martha Uggerud and Ardellis Rondorf and musical selections by Bob Swanson and Ted Larson. An interesting talk on junior leadership and demonstrations was given by County Agent Ray Mitteness. Lunch was served by Mrs. John Uggerud and Ardellis Rondorf. Our next meeting will be February 13th at the Mrs. Anna Welsch home.

Pennington 4-H Boys Compete for Livestock Judges

Pennington county 4-H'ers interested in livestock judging began practice this week for the contest held at the Winter Shows at Crookston. County Agent Ray Mitteness announced that two groups are working, one on dairy and one on general livestock which includes beef, sheep, and swine.

Weekly practice meetings are held on farms where good livestock is available to work on. After several meetings for the entire group two teams will be selected to practice for the contest on February 23rd. Each team consists of four members.

Several of last year's dairy team are back and show promise for this year. However, only one from the general team of '52 is still in 4-H work.

Local Student in Concordia Play

Robert Williams, Thief River Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Williams, was chosen to play the role of Thyrsis in the one act play, "Aria da Capo," to be given February 20 and 21 in the college chapel as the winter production of the Concordia theatre. Robert is a junior at Concordia college in Moorhead.

More Care in Household Would Avert Bad Accidents

How many burns and how many cuts would you have had if you had kept a record of them for you and your family this past year?

Many of the accidents that happen around the home are due to carelessness. When you are preparing your meals are you careless in the use of knives? Do you try to slice off sections by holding the meat or vegetables in your hand and cutting toward you?

How many times have you opened a tin can and been cut with the jagged edge? What kind of a can opener do you own? There are many good types on the market, some that are fastened to the table or the wall, using a good steel knife to open the can and turn the edges in at the same time. So many people try to open a can with a poor can opener, the can slips, and the individual is often cut.

How many times has a person in your home slipped on water or grease that had spilled? Have you thought about the position of the handle on kettles as food is cooking on the stove? Be sure that they are turned in toward the wall away from the front of the stove while cooking.

Is it possible for your kitchen curtains to drag over a stove, even a hot electrical plate, and perhaps create a fire? The sooner we become safety conscious the sooner New Hampshire will be a safe place in which to live. Remember, more accidents happen in homes than on the highways. Make your home safe, today.

Tailor-Made Drugs

One of the goals of medical science has been the development of tailor-made drugs — specific drugs against specific diseases. An important step in this direction is the recent discovery of the complex chemical structure of terramycin, the antibiotic effective against more than 80 human diseases. Knowing the molecular architecture of the drug the scientists may be able to identify the mechanism that actually knocks out disease. This specific arrangement of atoms can then be changed slightly in the hope of producing a tailor-made drug with new medicinal possibilities.

Accidents account for more than 6 per cent of Minnesota's annual deaths.

New International Bureau Promotes Safety at Sea

Sailormen's age-old dreams of one day setting out on their voyages with full and accurate information of the seas they must cross approach reality nowadays, thanks to the little-publicized International Hydrographic Bureau in the tiny principality of Monaco.

The Bureau, of which the United States and 27 other countries are members, recently met in its sixth conference. Founded in 1921, its high purpose is "to render navigation easier and safer in all the seas of the world."

It does this in many ways. Among them, it seeks standardization of charts and other navigational aids issued by the various maritime nations. It serves as clearing house for information that comes to it from members, and it uses its good offices in such important undertakings as the current effort to coordinate the geodetic grids of all the high seas.

Formal cooperation between seafaring states is comparatively new. Jealous of rivals for commerce and colonial empire, nations traditionally kept secret the information picked up by their merchant sailors and their navies.

The "Pathfinder of the Seas," U. S. Navy Lieutenant Matthew Fontaine Maury, was one of the first to realize that steam vessels would soon shrink the world areas, and that mariners would no longer be able to go it alone.

BURNING TRUCK BRINGS OUT FIREMEN TUESDAY

Firemen were summoned Tuesday evening to Horace av. N., where a truck owned by Victor Anderson caught fire. The blaze burned the wiring and part of the cab before being put out.

How to Fight a Fire In Your Automobile

What do you do in case a fire breaks out in your car? This question will confront an estimated 80,000 to 100,000 farmers and residents of small towns during the year, according to C. M. Rowley, chief fire prevention engineer for the Kemper group of insurance companies.

Hundreds of drivers and their passengers will be burned and total property damage from fire and explosion will reach or exceed $5,000,000, he warns.

To minimize the dangers, the following fire-fighting procedure should be used in rural areas:

1. Be sure to have a car fire extinguisher handy and in good working order.

2. As soon as the fire is discovered, turn off the motor. This may be enough to put out a blaze in the electrical system. It also cuts the hazards of a whirling fan and of pumping gasoline.

3. Get all passengers out and don't let them stand closer than 50 feet from the car. Don't forget the fire extinguisher when you leave.

4. Have someone call the fire department—even if the blaze seems to be small.

5. Keep your back to the wind when fighting the fire.

6. Always spray from the outside. Never get in or under a burning car.

7. Attack the blaze nearest the gas tank first. Remember, the less gasoline in the tank, the greater the danger of explosion.

8. Air out the interior and be sure the cause of the fire has been eliminated before re-starting the motor.

If you have no extinguisher handy, follow rules 2, 3 and 4 with special emphasis on keeping 50 feet away from the flaming auto.

Einstein Shift Expedition Completes Work in Africa

From half way around the world, Yerkes Observatory astronomer Dr. George Van Biesbroeck has reported to the National Geographic Society that his "Einstein Shift" expedition reached its goal.

With a completed set of photographs of the night sky over Khartoum, capital of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Dr. Van Biesbroeck obtained the data with which he hopes to verify that light from the stars can bend in space.

"Today, only 95 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade, we began taking down the telescope, which we found in good operating condition in spite of a heavy layer of brown desert dust," the Chicago University astronomer and physicist wrote.

The telescope had been set up last February to photograph the stars during the February 25th total eclipse of the sun. Recently Dr. Van Biesbroeck returned to

Painting With Lightning

Much research in the field of paint application is behind the development of a new method of employing high electrical potentials. Like many revolutionary discoveries, it's based on the application of elementary principles. When electricity reaches a certain potential, it will discharge. Lightning is an example. This principle is applied to the new method of applying coatings. The article to be coated is carried by the conveyor past a radically new type of spraying "head." A source of electrostatic high potential having one terminal grounded and the other connected to the head creates a strong electrostatic field between the head and the article to be coated. As the product enters the sphere of influence, the irresistible attraction causes the paint to be drawn from the head in the form of a fine spray and deposited on the product.

Early Polishing

Polishing furniture back in Roman times was a land and sea operation. Citrus wood was much used for furniture in those days, according to researchers and the first step was to give it a coating of wax and then bury it in the ground while it was green. When it came into the workman's hands it was put beneath a heap of corn for several days. By this process, the wood lost weight. To harden it, and provide a preservative, the wood was immersed in sea water for another period. To bring out a final polish, the skin of a skate fish was briskly applied to the surface.

Cause of Arthritis

The indication that the cause of arthritis is a living organism was revealed indirectly by finding that in addition to gold salts, which have long been used to treat patients suffering with arthritic diseases, certain antibiotic drugs are effective in killing the L organisms. Tests on the L organisms were begun after it was discovered that these living agents, while invisible in tissues, could be isolated from the genital tracts of persons ill with rheumatic diseases and in certain circumstances grown in the laboratory on artificial media.

Tuberculosis Victims Can Live Out Normal Lifetime

Tuberculous patients have excellent prospects of living out a normal lifetime provided the disease is detected early and they receive adequate treatment and careful medical supervision afterwards. This is shown by the experience of a life insurance company in controlling tuberculosis among its employees long before the introduction of the new anti-tuberculosis drugs.

The use of systematic case-finding procedures at the home office of the company is reflected in a reduction in the incidence of new cases from 9.8 per 1,000 in 1930-1932 to only 0.3 per 1,000 in 1948-1951, or a decline of 95 percent. Moreover, most cases were detected early. No less than 70 percent of the cases discovered in the past two decades have been in the minimal stage; only three percent were far advanced.

Employees found to have active tuberculosis were treated promptly and well. Every effort was made to keep them under sanatorium treatment until they were ready to return to full time employment. Consequently, for all employees treated for pulmonary tuberculosis at the company's sanatorium between 1919 and 1945, 58 percent were in satisfactory condition on discharge, and of the minimal cases no less than 73 percent. Only one percent of the cases admitted with minimal disease died at the sanatorium.

Minnesota has experienced polio epidemics in four of the last seven years—a total of well over ten thousand cases.

False Teeth for Baby

A group of dental researchers, working on the theory that many dental problems can be traced to defects starting in baby teeth, predicts there will be more false teeth, bridges, crowns, fillings and even plates for babies. The scientists say that growing mouths can become deformed when lost infant teeth aren't replaced with false ones. Sixty per cent of adult teeth deformities result from this early neglect, they estimate.

Thieves Sextet Has Had Busy Week: Plays to Tie, Win and Loss

By recording a draw, a loss, and a win in the three games played during the week, the senior hockey Thieves added three points to their league standings, having an aggregate of eight points.

Tonight, with the face-off slated for 8:30 on the Arena rink, the locals will play the rapidly-improving Hallock Lions. On Sunday, Jan. 25th, the Thieves will make their second appearance on the Roseau ice, playing Bob Sykes' Cloverleafs.

Playing at Grand Forks on Wednesday night, the Thieves sifted four goals past goalie Ralph Engelstad in the first period, and added a tally early in the second period to gain a 5 to 0 lead. But the Redwings, on a pair of goals by Bob Krumholz and a single tally by Prince Johnson, pared that lead to 5 to 4 as the final period began.

Buzz Johnson's goal, at 4:08 of the third period, gave the Redwings their game-tying scoring.

The Thieves, playing at Roseau on Saturday night, kept within reach of the high-flying Leafs until midway in the third period, when, after Gordy Simpson, on a solo rush, had broke up a 4 to 3 game, Roseau rammed in a pair of quick goals for a 7 to 3 triumph. Don Stay, the league's leading scorer last season, tallied three goals for the winners.

Returning to their home ice on Sunday afternoon, the Thieves, with Murray Balagus back in the lineup following an absence of several weeks because of an injured left hand, outscored the Crookston Pirates to register a well-earned 7 to 2 win.

After Balagus, on a rebound shot at 1:07, had given the Thieves an early lead, the Pirates, on a face-off in the local zone, made the game even-up on Spanky Sullivan's slap shot at 8:38.

The game was played at 1-all until the 11:50 mark of the second period when Balagus took a pass from Church Russell in front of the Pirate net and beat goalie Bud Schraeder. Jerry Lavergne, on a breakaway, scored at 15:25, pulling Schraeder out of the cage with a neat stick maneuver.

Goals by Don Costello, Balagus, Bob Amundson, and Tony Dorn, boosted the locals' lead to 7 to 1 in the third period before Crookston's Bob Kaye, at 18:00, scored the game's final marker, with Carl Mattson and Heck Bourgeois on the assists.

Hockey Prowlers Win 6 to 2 over Williams Sextet

Locals Play Grand Forks Central High Thursday; Greenbush Here Saturday

Coach Dennis Rolle's hockey Prowlers continued their local-ice winning streak by scoring a 6 to 2 victory over coach Gene Kafka's Williams sextet in a regional conference played here on Saturday night. Not since January of 1950 have the Prowler ice-men been beaten on the Arena rink, and that defeat, a 9 to 2 trouncing, was administered by a Williams team coached by Al Braga.

This week's hockey schedule will find the Prowlers playing Grand Forks Central at Grand Forks on Thursday, Jan. 22nd. On Saturday night, Jan. 24th, the Greenbush sextet will play the Prowlers at the Arena; and on Tuesday night, Jan. 27th, coach Bernie Broderick's powerful Warriors will attempt to "scalp" the locals in an important coference game here.

The Prowlers turned in a fine brand of hockey in defeating Williams on Saturday night, holding a 3 to 1 first period lead, and 5 to 1 advantage at the end of the second period.

The Prowler scoring was paced by right-wing Mike Hajostek, who scored three goals, getting a pair of tallies in the first period, and finishing off the "hat trick" with a goal in the second period. The other Prowler goals were marked up by Bob Helgeland, Sid Vraa and Marv Jorde.

The Williams' first period tally was scored by the Wolves' veteran center-ice player, Gerry Roberstad. Vernon Bale slapped in the rebound on Les Nelson's shot at 11:29 of the third period to record the game's final goal.

Thief River Falls H. S. (6)

Goal—Maruska. Defense—McMahon, Sabo, Vraa, Aase. Wings—Hajostek, Helgeland, Gutu, Durgin, Teal, Quesnell. Centers—Poole, Jorde.

Basketball Band Will Perform at Game January 30

The Lincoln high school basketball marching band will put on its second marching performance of the season between halves of the Grand Forks-Thief River Falls basketball games Friday evening, Jan. 30.

Dave Vaaler will narrate the band show over the public address system with frequent references to "Snerd's Gullible Goodies," a fictitious breakfast food which supposedly is sponsoring the second band show.

The 60 piece marching band will play several numbers to depict the fishing story. They are "Anchors Aweigh," "Row, Row, Row Your Boat," "Lazy Bones," "Too Fat Polka," and "Three Little Fishies."

Grand Forks at Warroad.
Hallock at Crookston.

The Grand Forks Redwings, picking up four points during the week's play by marking up a win and a pair of draws, moved into a first place tie in the league lead, sharing that honor with the Warroad Lakers. The Lakers, edging out the Hallock Lions, 5 to 4, in a game played at Hallock on Monday night, moved past the Roseau Cloverleafs and go into firstplace deadlock with the Redwings.

There are a number of important games on this week's schedule, with particular interest being centered on tonight's contest between the Roseau Cloverleafs and Warroad Lakers at Warroad; and the Hallock Lions vs. Thieves game at Thief River Falls. In both instances, the visiting teams, by scoring wins, can move ahead of home team in the league rating.

On Sunday afternoon, the Thieves will play the Leafs at Roseau, and the local sextet will have to win or tie to gain a season's split with Roseau. And Sunday's schedule will find the Grand Forks Redwings playing the Lakers at Warroad, and that game, between a pair of the league's first division club, should attract a capacity crowd.

Prowler Quint Whips Halstad Tuesday 59-48

Locals Start off with Lead of 23-9 at End of First Quarter of Game

Coach Bob Nick's Prowlers raced away to a substantial 23 to 9 first period lead in their basketball game played against the defending regional champion Halstad Pirates here on Tuesday night, and then were hard-pressed to maintain their advantage over the hustling Pirates. The locals held a 36 to 23 lead at the intermission, and a 46 to 37 bulge at the end of the third period, and won the game by a 59 to 48 score.

Duane Rafteseth hit on a one-hander from the lane to open the game's scoring; Gary Smith added a free throw; Grant Gulseth dropped a jump shot into the east basket; and Art Johnson rolled in a lay-up, giving the Prowlers a 7 to 0 lead after 2:20 of the period had elapsed. The Prowlers, setting up their plays in a neat fashion, and with Johnson slapping in rebounds, pulled away to a 23 to 5 advantage with a couple of minutes to play. Marlyn Aanenson, the lone returning regular from last year's Halstad regional champions, tallied with a free throw, a field goal, and another free throw, to bring the score to 23 to 9 at the end of the quarter.

From the second quarter on, the game had a different trend, with the alert Pirates recovering more than their share of rebounds and held-ball tips. The Prowlers were outpointed, 14 to 13, in the second period; and by a 14 to 10 margin in the third period.

The locals held a nine-point lead at the start of the fourth quarter, and Art Johnson flipped in a field goal to give the Prowlers 48 to 37 lead. Frank Steenerson added a pair of Halstad points on free throw, and after Art Johnson had notched a gift shot, Steenerson scored on a rebound, and the score was 49 to 41 with six minutes to play. LeRoy Aasland pushed in a two-hand overhead shot, and Gulseth hooked in a field goal. Rafteseth added a free throw, only to have that point evened on Garry Anderson's free throw for the Pirates. Art Johnson's rebound gave the Prowlers a 56 to 42 lead with less than three minutes to play.

With a commanding lead, coach Nick inserted several reserves in the Prowler lineup, as did coach McLeod of the Halstad Pirates.

Prowler B's Edge Goodridge 56-52

Locals Trail 29 to 26 at Intermission Time

In an exciting preliminary game played here last night, coach Ralph Skjod's Prowlers 'B' team, trailing by a 29 to 26 score at the intermission, rallied in the third period to outpoint coach Dick Edlund's Goodridge club 17 to 10, in the quarter and pile up what proved to be the winning points, gaining a 56 to 52 triumph.

Dale Liggett, playing at forward for the locals, looped in ten field goals and four free throws to garner the game's high point honors. Vernon Becker, with 18 points, and Del Thorson, who was uncanny with his jump shots in the second period, during which Goodridge racked up twenty points, hit for 15 points to be the Goodridge high scorers.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Quite a Record

The hockey Prowlers have compiled quite a record in their series of games against the Roseau high school club. Since the 1944-45 season, when hockey was given sanction and supervision by the state high school league, the Prowlers have, including the games here last week, played Roseau in twenty-four games. And of that number the locals have won fifteen, tied six, and lost but three.

Considering the hockey tradition that is Roseau's, such a record is remarkable, and it is too lop-sided to be maintained.

Incidentally, a look at the records reveals that the Prowlers haven't been beaten on the Arena rink since Williams scored a 9 to 2 win one January evening in 1950. Since that time the locals have stretched their home-ice winning streak to twenty-four games.

That string of home-ice triumphs, which should be lengthened to twenty-five on Saturday when the locals play Greenbush, will be given its most severe tug on Tuesday night, Jan. 27th, when coach Bernie Broderick's Warroad Warriors play here. And it won't be considered an upset if the Warriors snap that string, for Warroad has earned a rating, by their recent victory over Eveleth, as one of the state's top-ranking teams.

Elmer Poole, who has seen Warroad in action this year, contends that on the local ice the Prowlers are a pair of goals stronger than the Warriors, and that Tuesday night's game will be a victory for coach Rolle's squad. It is only fair to recall that Elmer is the fellow who predicted that Harry Mathews would defeat, and probably by a wide margin, Rocky Marciano.

Earning Their Wage

Bud Brossoit, Ginny Christian, Jimmy Medved, Paul and Dan McKinnon, all of whom are products of northwest junior and high school hockey, are proving standouts as members of teams in the Central hockey league. Bud, who was a wing here with the Prowlers and the Thieves, is playing at Rochester and, including the game on Sunday, has marked up 17 goals and 27 assists for a 44-point total, to hold third place in the league's individual scoring race.

Christian, a former Warroad and North Dakota U player, is with the Hibbing Flyers, and Ginny has tallied 16 goals and assisted on 13 tallies for an aggregate of 29 points. Jimmy Medved, the smooth play-making center-ice man who came out to Crookston Cathedral, and he is now playing with the Minneapolis Millers, under Dan McKinnon, has a thirty-point total, having scored 13 goals and 17 assists.

The odds are that in the selection of the Central league's All-Star team, at least three of those five boys will be given consideration. Their performance gives proof that hockey up here has "come of age."

An Odd Penalty

Quite a story to the broken-stick penalty that the Thieves' Billy Winters received at Grand Forks last Wednesday. Bill broke his stick during a melee along the boards, and as he skated past the penalty box on his way to the Thieves' box, he grabbed Lloyd Johnson's stick. Lloyd was in the penalty box for an infraction. Referee Gordy Hayes stopped play, levied a two-minute penalty and a ten-minute misconduct on Winters for not continuing on to the Thieves' box to get a new stick.

What makes the foul newsworthy is the fact that it was put into rule books because of the tactics of Bill's uncle, Artie Somers. Somers, who was a top-flight hockey player with the Chicago Black Hawks, became a manager after he quit active play. Somers made a practice of stationing fellows along the blue-lines with extra sticks, and whenever a player on Artie's team broke a stick all they had to do was skate to the nearest blue-line and get a replacement. The rule, a two-minutes penalty and a ten-minute misconduct put a stop to that strategy.

A Team Triumph

Paul Bedard's junior hockey club proved, by defeating Art Salpacka's Roseau juniors, 5 to 4, here on Saturday afternoon, that they are developing into a team. The locals won that game in spite of the fact that their "power" line of Jack Poole, Glen Carlson, and Chip Strand, were held scoreless.

Taking up the slack that was caused by the white-washing of the Poole-Carlson-Strand trio, was done by Jimmy Hall, Jim Reese, Duane Glass, and Greg Ranum. Hall Scored twice, and Reese, Glass, and Ranum tallied a goal apiece.

Selective Service Operation Explained

By Col. Lloyd Lilygren
SERIES III

(This articles pertains to Local Boards and their responsibilities.)

It is not clear in the minds of the public where the responsibility of classification lies. Section 1622.1 (b) of the Selective Service Regulations establishes this very clearly:

"It is the local board's responsibility to decide, subject to appeal, the class in which each registrant shall be placed. Each registrant will be considered as available for military service until eligibility for, deferment or exemption from military service is clearly established to the satisfaction of the local board."

There are 131 local boards in the State of Minnesota. Each county has at least one local board established for that county. Some counties have more than one local board, depending on the population.

In this connection everyone should know that a local board consists of not less than 3 male members, appointed by the President upon the recommendation of the Governor. Minnesota has a few boards having more than 3 members serving thereon but not more than 5 members on any one local board. Recommendations for local board members have come largely through the membership of the local board or recommendations by service organizations. These men receive no compensation for the services they render to their country.

The local board will receive and consider all written information pertinent to the classification of a registrant, applying the law and regulations as set forth in SERIES I.

The age range for registration (18 through 25 years) is so narrow that we cannot overlook the high probability that each physically fit young man will have his turn at service or training, but that in itself makes the proper timing of service more important.

The big "$64 question" confronting each local board is: When should the registrant be classified in a class available for service and processed for induction?

Now?, in 6 months? In 12 months? in 5 years? in 10 years?

OR when the registrant reaches the age of 34?

It is a very difficult question to answer and a tremendous decision to make. We are dealing with human lives. The responsibility of a local board in sending a youngster into service to the far corners of the earth, including Korea, is far-reaching. It can and does upset the lives of many more people besides the registrant.

The job of being a board member isn't an easy one. To defer one neighbor's boy and induct another in his place is most difficult. Therefore, the local board should insist that every registrant or his employer prove without a shadow of a doubt that the registrant is entitled to a deferment, as prescribed under the regulations in the interest of our national health or safety, in order that he be permitted to remain at home on the farm or in industry.

Remember that every time a deferment is granted, the local board in question must seek a replacement to take the place of the registrant deferred, because all calls for manpower for the armed forces must be met if our country is to be adequately protected.

By continually granting a registrant deferment after deferment, if he is not entitled to it, gives him a false sense of security because sooner or later he will have to serve in the armed forces. During his deferments, the registrant builds up his farm operation, then because the supply of manpower is nearly exhausted, he is called for service.

The repercussions are many because the registrant has been led to believe that he was secure in his position through these deferments. Protests are heard from the registrant against the unfairness of delaying for years service that perhaps could have more conveniently been rendered when he was younger but instead given deferment upon deferment.

It would seem more logical that a registrant should discharge his obligation to the armed forces as soon as it is possible to do so in order that he could return to a normal way of living and assuming his position in our economy.

If a father getting along in years feels he needs his son now, surely 5 or 10 years from now the need would be greater.

Lightning Strikes Twice

Lightning can strike the same place many times. The very fact that it struck once in a particular place proves that it can strike there again, if conditions are the same. A tall building, like the Empire State building, which projects high above nearby structures, may be struck repeatedly. In general, however, low buildings such as homes are seldom struck more than once, because chance plays so great a part in determining the path of the lightning discharge. There is so vast a number of possibilities that the likelihood of all the conditions being reproduced again in exactly the same way is very small.

Mario Lanza and Doretta Morrow are the singing and romancing sweethearts of new Technicolor musical, "Because You're Mine," coming to the Falls screen Wednesday thru Saturday. It marks Lanza's first role since his huge success in "The Great Caruso," and introduces Miss Morrow to the screen, following her hit on the Broadway stage in the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "The King and I."

U. M. Economist Advises Against Depression Worry

Says State of Mind of Citizens Is Important in Current Situation

A University of Minnesota economist warned last week against undue worry over what may happen to the nation's economy when the defense program tapers off.

Speaking at a Farm and Home Week session on the St. Paul campus, O. B. Jesness head of the agricultural economics department, stated that "This worrying over what is coming can be good or bad. It will be very useful if it prepares us for changes and leads us to make adjustments which will keep the worst from happening. On the other hand, it is conceivable that we might worry ourselves into a sizeable depression, because it is no use blinking the fact that our state of mind may become very important in a situation such as this."

He pointed out that appropriations for armament are not translated immediately into war plants and defense materials and that the armed services have a considerable backlog of unexpended funds from earlier appropriations.

"Apparently the program could continue well into 1954 at the present rate of activity, even though no new funds were appropriated. The budget which will be laid before the session of congress in just a few days contemplates a continuation of the present program, and any curtailment that the administration which takes office next week may make is not likely to alter that situation materially," according to Dr. Jesness.

The University economist said that the change ahead is a leveling-out with perhaps some moderate downward adjustment, rather than any drastic downturn.

Marshall County Insurance Firm Reports for 1952

Insurance Policies in Force Rise $3,000,000; Losses of $21,000 Paid

With more than $23,000,000 of insurance in force and a $5,000 gain in profits to be added to the surplus, the Marshall County Skandinaviske Mutual Fire Insurance company enjoyed another successful year in 1952, directors learned at their annual reorganization meeting held recently in the company's office at Newfolden.

The amount of insurance in force showed an increase of approximately $3,000,000, Carl A. Johnson, president, reported.

Due to the extremely dry weather conditions during the past year which created unusual fire hazards, losses were up over normal years. Losses paid out this year totaled approximately $21,000. Total assets of the company are now over $120,000.

The directors of the company are: Carl A. Johnson, Warren, Ole E. Hjelle, Ben Fisher, A. O. Gudim, Newfolden and Melvin Torgerson, Thief River Falls. The board organized by electing the same officers to function the coming year, namely, Mr. Johnson, president; Mr. Hjelle, vice president; Mr. Fisher, treasurer; and Mr. Gudim, secretary.

Mr. Hjelle and Mr. Gudim were chosen as delegates to the State Association Convention to be held in St. Paul, January 22 and 23.

State Lists Low Bids on 14 Trunk Route Projects

Receipt of bids on 14 trunk highway construction projects, with the low proposals totalling $2,184,771, was announced today by State Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann. He stated that contracts on these road improvements will be signed shortly to permit an early start on the 1953 construction program.

Included in the projects is a bridge which will be built over the Red River of the North between Robbin, Minn. and Drayton, N. D. and to be financed jointly by the two states.

The projects in this section of the state include: Clearwater County, T. Hs 2 & 92—Grading and paving of 1.2 miles and other allied improvements in Bagley, Hallett Construction Co., Crosby, $201,161.

T. H. 2 — Fixed-time traffic control signal system at the intersection of Main and Third streets in Bagley, H. B. Allen Co., Inc., Des Moines, Iowa, $1,700.

Kittson County, T. H. 11—Bridge No. 0690 over the Red River of the North between Robbin, Minn. and Drayton, N. D., Helseth Engineering Co., St. Paul, $652,066. (Joint project between Minnesota and North Dakota).

CIVIL AIR PATROL

For the past year or two there has existed an alarming condition in our Air Force and ; we presume, the Navy. It is, simply, that for all the clamor of young men to join these services, very few of them want to fly. For the first time in history the services are having to look desperately about for young men to volunteer as aviation cadets—and this at a time when a period of military service is compulsory for almost all young men.

It doesn't take one of the Joint Chiefs to know that if an all-out war should develop the need for additional pilots and other flight personnel will multiply many times and if we don't get them we might as well convey the fee simple title for the whole country to Uncle Joe right away and get it over with as painlessly as possible. The reserves would take up the slack for awhile but ultimately the source can only be from volunteers out of our supply of young men. You cannot draft men to fly.

No one can seriously say that this hot-rod generation is afraid of speed or machinery; and, although there has been a rash of military airplane crashes the past few weeks, the over-all accident rate in military flying is much lower than it was just a few years ago when there was a tremendous surplus of applications for flight duty.

All this obviously points to something wrong with the attitude of our young men in the 18-27 year age group. We must assume that it is nothing basically wrong because if it is our nation and civilization aren't long for this world. My own theory is that it is simply a lack of interest on the part of our youth in flying, and they aren't interested because no one has given them much opportunity to be interested.

That situation can be remedied. There is in nationwide existence the Civil Air Patrol, an auxiliary to the U. S. Air Force. One of its primary functions is to interest and educate our youth in flying. It has other important and better known functions such as emergency and rescue work and Civil Defense cooperation. There is a local organization. Many of you will soon be requested to take out an active or associate membership. We suggest you take the type suited to your individual circumstances. And in case some good souls might mistakenly apply to this guest editor John Lynskey's very commendable criticism of the multiple-charitable-donation situation existing here and elsewhere, let me assure you, it ain't no donation.

WAIT 'TIL NEXT YEAR

I think everyone is pleasantly surprised at the performance of our Prowler basketball team. We all looked forward to a pretty dismal season with the graduation of almost all members of last year's powerhouse team. It wasn't long before we learned that these boys would make it entertaining for any opponent and a little too entertaining for most. No doubt we underestimate the progress boys of that age can make from one year to the next under competent and diligent coaching.

COMMUNITY CENTER

Some time ago I was one of a group of citizens who made some preliminary plans toward obtaining what, for lack of a better name, we will call a community center for this area. We were thinking of an indoor swimming pool. Other cities of our size have long had them. We were also thinking of public lounges for people who come to our city to shop. To say the least these plans have remained very preliminary. I know we all have our hands full with hospital and court house now but I still think it's a good idea. These things aren't done over night and this might be a good time to start overcoming the inertia.

Editor's note—Miss Katherine Barzen will write the editorial column for the issue of January 28.

Looking Backward

1923—THIRTY YEARS AGO

F. J. Stebbins was reelected president of the Pennington County Auto club.—H. Buck was elected temporary president of the newly organized Rocksbury Community club.—Landlord Julien Provencher of the Evelyn Hotel was threatening to give away a carload of clocks to stop people from calling the hotel to ask the correct Time.—J. J. Richter of the Thief River Iron Works attended a convention in Minneapolis.

1933—TWENTY YEARS AGO

Robert J. Lund was reelected ninth district director of the Minnesota Federation of County Fairs.—Oscar C. Paulson was named head of the local volture of the 40 & 8.— O. E. Wilson of Wyandotte township was elected president of the Plummer creamery.—David Belcher won the all-ver medal in a WCTU declamatory contest.—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brumund left for their winter home at West Palm Beach, Fla.

1943—TEN YEARS AGO

Pennington county residents contributed more than $150 to Russian relief.—Members of the Frank Clinton family and Ed Hill were ousted by a fire in 30-below weather from their apartments at 603 LaBree av. N.—Robert J. Lund was reelected a member of the state fair board.—The mercury registered low readings of 30 to 40 below zero four days during the past week.—Dr. W. P. Kaisler of Medina, N. D. took over the chiropractic practice of the late Dr. L. V. Johnson.

America's average per capita meat consumption 220 years ago was 126.2 pounds, last year 138.4, estimated for 1952, 140.7. In that period butter dropped from 16.7 pounds to an estimated 9 pounds a year.

Lieut. Governor Nelsen Declines National Office

Because he "has a contract with the people of Minnesota to serve as lieutenant governor" Ancher Nelsen, Hutchinson, this past week turned down the offer of a key position in the department of agriculture in Washington.

The invitation to accept an executive post in the Eisenhower administration came from the new secretary of agriculture, Ezra Benson. At Secretary Benson's request Nelsen flew to Washington early last week for a conference.

The lieutenant governor's decision to continue in the state office to which he was elected in November was made after several days of deliberation.

Most Poisonous

Manufactured gas is considerably more poisonous than the natural variety. This is because the manufactured gas contains carbon-monoxide, which is so highly toxic that if it is present in only one part in a thousand the person breathing it will suffer immediate injury. Carbon monoxide is not present in natural gas, which consists mostly of methane, or marsh gas. Methane can be breathed without injury over a short period of time. In fact, coal miners often breathe small amounts of methane over long periods without injury. Of course, one could not breathe natural gas very long, since the oxygen necessary to the body would be kept away, and the person would suffocate.

MAKES WOOD LAST LONGER

CHIEF GRADER Eslie May takes a core sample of a hemlock log to determine how well the wood has been "cured." For the log has been chemically treated to increase its useful life in an underground iron mine. This is one kind of conservation practiced by Minnesota's iron mining companies. On a vastly larger scale they are conserving high-grade ore supplies by costly underground mining and low-grade ore processing. And if the mining industry is successful in developing taconite production, America will have an ore supply for generations to come—with ever-increasing prosperity for Minnesota and all its people. A fair deal for Minnesota's iron mining industry means a good deal for you.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rutkowski took their son Wallace K. Rutkowski M.M.F.N. to Brooks last Tuesday evening, when he left for Norfolk, Va., after spending since Friday with his folks. Wallace is on the aircraft carrier U. S.S.F.D. Roosevelt. He has been on maneuvers in Cuba, Haiti, northern Europe, at which time he crossed the Arctic Circle, and visited Scotland and England, Portugal, Augusta, Palermo, Sicily, Golfe-Juan France, Taronto Italy, and Gibralter.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Larson and Mavis Lunde visited at the Clarence Lunde home near Gonvick Sunday afternoon. Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Larson were guests at the Elvin Yrjo home.

Mrs. Stanley Ellegaard and girls visited with her father, Art DeGelder at Fertile from Tuesday until Sunday when Mr. DeGelder brought them home.

Supper guests at the Albert Nyland home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Roald Haugen, Dianne, Dennis and Donny, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Singer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Manly Paulson.

Dennis Haugen seventh grader was the only one in the upper grade room to receive a perfect attendance certificate for the first three months of the school year.

Mrs. Henry Sollen celebrated her birtday Saturday. Others who remembered the day and came to wish her a "Happy Birthday" were Mr. and Mrs. Manly Paulson; Mrs. Roald Haugen, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sollen and Sandra of rural Fosston and Mrs. Laura Langseth of Fosston and Marilyn Langseth nurse at Northwestern Hospital, Thief River Falls. Mrs. Paulson and Mrs. Otto Sollen brought decorated birthday cakes and all enjoyed lunch together.

The Lund Ladies Aid met for its first 1953 meeting Wednesday, Jan. 14 with new officers in charge. Mrs. Kenneth Forsberg conducted the meeting and Mrs. Ray Norgaard, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. Virgil Knudson led devotion, Mrs. Paul Lundmark led the Bible study. Mrs. George Ness, charities secretary, gave a topic on charities. Mrs. Rodger Melbo was chairman for the hostesses who included, Mrs. Kenneth Forsberg, Mrs. Elmer Berr, Mrs. Virgil Knudson, Mrs. Curtiss Melbo and Mrs. Arnold Brovold. The tables had white candles on white table cloths for decorations. Mrs. Sophie Olson, treasurer, reports the free will offering for lunch amounted to $36.95. Other dept. sec. who will serve during the year are, Mrs. Oscar Johnson, missions, Mrs. Henry Kutson, education, Mrs. Lewis Ellertson, life membership and in memoriam. Visitors at the Aid that day included, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Engstrom, Carol and Hallie Oftelie, Mrs. Roy Randal, Mrs. George Norquist and Mrs. Kenneth McKercher of Gonvick, Mrs. Victor Shelquist and Donna, Mrs. Genhart Dokken and Mrs. Henning Shelquist and girls of Clearbrook, Mrs. Aletta Nyland and Mrs. Albert Nyland.

Mrs. Russel Ringstad came on Saturday from Minneapolis to spend until the 27 of Jan., with her parents, Harry Melbos and at the Alfred-Ringstad home before leaving for Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Thorson had as guests in their home a week ago, Pastor Johnson, who came for the services in the parish and this weekend they had Pastor Landvik as their guest. He was accompanied here by Norris Ellertson who spent the weekend with his parents, Ed Ellertsons and Mrs. Russel Ringstad. Norris rode back with Pastor Landvik and also Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Sevaldson of Mankato who have spent some time visiting with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Knudson.

Visitors at the H. T. Harvey and Arnold Brovold homes Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Arveson and [illegible] Saturday afternoon Mrs. Harry Hanson and Howard visited there.

We are happy to report that Anton Knudson has returned to his home from the Fosston hospital where he was a patient for several days.

Gully had its first substantial snow of the winter last Wednesday when several inches fell. We find that this makes Dewey Eckerson, snow plow owner and Virgil Knudson, operator, very happy.

NORTH . . .

Mrs. Ray Rude, Rt. 1

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Carlson and Susan and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Rude were luncheon guests at the Ray Rude home Sunday and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jablinske and children were guests there.

Mrs. Ernest Berry has been at her home in Cavalier this last week due to the illness of her mother who is confined in a hospital in Grafton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rude accompanied their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs Ernie Rude to the banquet given in honor of the National Guard.

Mr. and Mrs Curtis Swanson helped LuVerne Rondorf celebrate his birthday Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Jablinske were luncheon guests at the Clayton Bruggeman home Tuesday evening.

Rudolph Jablinske returned home Thursday after being in the local hospital two weeks.

Cost to the March of Dimes for the treatment of one polio patient for one month is $800. One respirator or "iron lung" costs $1,500 and the price of a single hot pack machine is $350.

WESTERN EGGS
JACK FROST

NORCAL BRONZE POULTS

100% From Western Eggs!

We hatch ONLY eggs flown direct from the original NORCAL STRAIN in California. We do NOT hatch from any local Norcal breeders. These eggs are produced from flocks that are Pulorum clean and have been tested for Paratyphoid (which can be just as troublesome as Pullorum). No eggs are shipped from flocks with any record of Sinusitis or other respiratory disease.

YOUR ASSURANCE OF QUALITY & PROFIT!

Despite last year's uncertain market, our breeders made good profits. Practically 100% of last year's customers have already reordered our NORCALS. Our Beltsville White Poults are also in great demand.

WE DELIVER TO YOUR DOOR

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Avoiding Those "No's"

If mother says, "Would you like to get dressed and have some orange juice now?" many a child between one and three will answer with a defiant "No". Then mother may use all her persuasive power in arguments to win the child to her side—but often the arguments only make things worse.

It seems best not to give young children opportunity for this sort of balkiness. When dinner time comes, lead him to the table in a matter of fact way, perhaps talking to him about what he has been doing before. Dressing and undressing can be speeded along by simply beginning to button or unbutton clothes, without mentioning what you're doing and thus giving him a chance to argue about it.

This does not mean, however, that one should not be tactful and considerate when dealing with a child. As most mothers can well testify, it is highly important to keep children in a cooperative mood. If it is necessary to interrupt a child for dinner while he is absorbed in playing with his blocks, take him along to the table with a few blocks still in his hands, and then the blocks can be "forgotten."

Should your three-year-old be working on a puzzle at bedtime, a remark like "Finish up the puzzle so I can see what it looks like before we go up to bed," is certainly more considerate than saying "Time for bed now. Put the puzzle away," thus stopping the play just when it is most interesting. Any child can be more cooperative when he can see and feel your interest in what he is doing.

"Balkiness," or the child's need to create and maintain needless arguments, can often result from a parent's over-insistence on the child's accepting the adult's decision in every situation. Growing independence, in the child, demands growing opportunity to make his own decisions. Take a long-range view and avoid the "little" crises of turning simple situations into endless arguments. A little tolerance helps a lot.

Aspirin and Flowers

Does aspirin help to preserve cut flowers? No. Tests have shown that it has no such effect. However, there are commercial products available which do keep cut flowers presentable for longer than usual. These work by slowing the maturing process in the flowers.

They took a dog sled TO HELP PUT 'PHONE CALLS THROUGH

It was during one of the winter's heaviest snowfalls that the line from Richardson to Pine Pass* went out. Finding the trouble was comparatively easy—line testing equipment located it two miles up in the mountains near Eagle Falls.

Fixing the line was something else again. With drifts up to 30 feet high in the pass, trucks were out of the question. Carrying tools and wire through the snow was too much—even for rugged telephone linemen.

What they needed was a dog sled, and so . . .

With a team of Huskies and their trainer, repairmen Ed Olds and Jack White mushed their way up the mountainside. Roped together for safety, they crawled out on the frozen crust and spliced the wire.

As Ed Olds later reported, "Once we got there with the dog team, the rest of the job was routine."

*The names have been changed, but the story is true.

Undernourishment

Good eating habits, important throughout life, gain an added importance when persons reach retirement age. Undernourishment in old age is often the reason for excessive complaining, loss of sleep, anxiety, and even too much weight. To keep the appetite sharp in later years, the U.S. Bureau of Human Nutrition offers these suggestions: exercise lightly, keep regular mealtimes, and keep food attractive with color, crispness, and seasoning.

Marked Man

Overseas, a Belgian recently demonstrated a method of giving burglars a bad time. He catches them red-handed and probably redfaced. Just as the thief gets under way with his burgling business, a spring releases a charge of red powder that showers him. It won't hurt him, but the more he tries to rub the powder off the redder it gets, and he becomes a marked person for the first cop that comes along.

The foregoing resolution was seconded by Commissioner Lindberg and Carried.

A list of 72 voters of the County for Grand Jury duty during 1953 and a list of 144 voters of the County for Petit Jury duty during 1953 were submitted to the Clerk of District Court.

Commissioner Tasa offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption. Commissioner Lindberg seconded the motion and on roll call declared unanimously carried.

WHEREAS, Pennington County has on its County Road System some very important roads carrying heavy truck traffic which requires a higher type road which being beyond the means of the County to build and maintain same roads would (in cooperation with the neighboring Counties) make a good connection with existing State Trunk Highway System.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: by the County Board of the County of Pennington that we hereby request our Representatives in the State Legislature to sponsor and introduce a bill before their respective Legislative bodies designating additions to the State Trunk Highway System including in same the following described route in Pennington County as Trunk Highway Route, and to work for its passage to the best of their ability.

Beginning at the Southeast corner of Section 34, T152N, R39W, Hickory Township, Pennington County, thence Northerly along State Aid Road No. 12 a distance of 6.0 Miles to the intersection of State Aid Road No. 1, between Sections 3, T152N, R39W, and Section 35, T153N, R39W, thence Westerly along State Aid Road No. 1 a distance of approximately 20.0 Miles to the intersection of Trunk Highway No. 59, or if possible to extend the same Westerly along State Aid Road No. 1 to the West boundry of Pennington County a distance of approximately 40.5 Miles and there terminating.

Commissioner Hanson offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption. Commissioner Anderson seconded the motion and on roll call declared unanimously carried.

WHEREAS, it is desirable, whenever feasible and practical to make connections between existing, or future and existing State Trunk Highway Routes, for economical transportation.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, by the County Board of the County of Pennington that we hereby request our Representatives in the State Legislature to include and support the addition of the following described Pennington County Road to the State Trunk Highway System. (Supplementary to the route requested and described in Resolution (No. 1) heretofore adopted).

Program Announced for Winter Shows at Crookston Feb. 23-27

Agricultural authorities of state and national fame will participate in the many activities of the Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston February 23-27. Program committees and cooperating organizations have selected outstanding authorities in their fields to appear on the programs during the week, according to T. M. McCall, president of the Winter Shows board of managers.

The general schedule for the week includes: Monday, February 23—judging contests and soil conservation day; Tuesday, February 24—crops day, garden clubs day, and junior livestock Futurity day, and judging of livestock, crops and poultry; Wednesday, February 25—livestock day with program, livestock judging, stockmen's dutch lunch, and 4-H club day; Thursday, February 26—potato and sugar beet day, legislators' day, and valley farmer and homemakers' day.

The opening sale of livestock will be held on Thursday, February 26, at which time bred ewes and gilts and dairy cattle from leading herds and flocks of the Red River Valley will be sold to livestock breeders. The final day of the show, Friday, February 27, will feature the beef cattle sale in which 32 bulls and 30 cows of the three leading beef breeds will be offered for sale.

For the evening programs at the Winter Shows, Monday evening will be community night in which the entire shows will be open to the public. The Tuesday evening, February 24, speaker will be Oliver P. Vickery whose subject will be "My Moscow Invasion," a firsthand report on Soviet Russia today, and Wednesday evening, February 25, George Grim of Minneapolis will speak on "South American Countries in the World Picture." On Thursday evening, February 26, the subject will be conservation of wild life and natural resources with a national authority as speaker.

Music features for the evening programs will be the male quartet contest on February 24, the Crookston municipal band on February 25, and the 9th district Legion band on February 26.

Women's programs have been set up for Tuesday, February 24, 9th District Garden and Flower Society meeting, and Thursday, February 26, an illustrated travelogue on Norway by Miss Margaret Larsen of the Northwest School faculty.

Eagle Bend Youth Winner of Brown Swiss 4-H Award

Verne Kotval, 19, Eagle Bend, has been named outstanding Brown Swiss 4-H club member in the state, Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota announced today. He will receive a watch as his award.

Canton winners in the Brown Swiss contest are Phyllis Sprenger, Plainview; Larry Sharkey, Hanley Falls; Shirley Steinbring, Isanti; Donald Meyer, Fergus Falls; and Lillian Sollie, Fertile. They will receive Swiss bells. County winners were given certificates.

Awards are provided by the Minnesota Brown Swiss Breeders' association.

6,000 Campers in State Parks in 1952 Season

Nearly 6,000 people used the tent and trailer camp grounds in Minnesota state parks during the past season, which was almost double the record for 1951 season, according to the annual report of Lew Fiero, director of the state park system.

During 1952 a total of 5,952 campers used 3,474 tents and 729 trailers in the park camp grounds. Out-of-state visitors numbered 3,022 and there were 2,930 Minnesota people who took their summer vacation in a tent or trailer.

Gooseberry Falls State Park, near Two Harbors, seemed to be the most popular for camping, accommodating 1,320, of whom 792 used tents and 103 came with trailers.

Itasca was second highest in camping attendance with 1,039 campers, 671 using tentage and 178 having trailers.

Lake Bemidji State Park accommodated 722 registered campers of which 425 used tents and 100 used trailers.

At $35 an ounce the United States owns something over 20,000 long tons of gold, worth $23,300,000,000. Nearly $1 billion in silver is on hand, at $1.29 per ounce.

Status of Korean Veterans under GI Bill Is Explained

Fargo VA Center Calls Attention to Rules on Enrolling in Colleges

To help avoid delays for Korean veterans planning to enter school for the first time under the GI Bill at the opening of the spring semesters, the Veterans Administration today pointed up some of the major difficulties experienced to date under the new law.

Mr. Medley, manager of the Fargo Veterans Administration center, stated that the new Korean GI Bill laid down strict requirements, which, if not complied with fully by the veteran, will necessarily cause delays in issuing his certificate of eligibility and, or, payment of his subsistence allowance.

Instructions which must be observed closely are:

1. Supply all information requested on the application (VA Form 7-1990) for certificate for education or training. Applications must contain: (a) the name of the objective (the highest specific degree sought) or, if below-college-level training, the list of courses desired; (b) the program (all courses needed to reach the objective;) (c) the name of the state-approved institution to be attended.

2. The enrollment certification submitted by the school to the VA listing the veterans' current courses must conform with the courses listed on the certificate issued the veteran.

3. The monthly joint certification by the school and veteran as to training compliance must be complete and submitted to the VA promptly at the end of each month's schooling.

Mr. Medley also cautioned veterans to make a definite decision as to their desired objective before obtaining a certificate and entering school since the new law permits only one change of course. If advisement and guidance from VA counselors is desired, the applicant can check the appropriate block on his application.

Under the new Korean GI Bill the veteran-trainee receives all payments from the VA, from which he pays his tuition and other expenses. Monthly training certifications received by the 10th of the succeeding month, usually will permit payment of subsistence by the 20th of the month.

Revised Edition of Booklet for Dairymen Issued

County Agent Ray Milteness announced this week that he had a fresh supply of a revised edition of Extension Bulletin 218, "Feeding the Dairy Herd," one of the University of Minnesota's most historic and best-read publications.

Extension Bulletin 218 is a handbook which, in one form or another, the University has been furnishing to dairymen ever since 1894. Twenty-seven separate editions have been printed, and nearly 500,000 copies have been distributed to Minnesota farmers since it first appeared.

Authors of the latest edition are H. R. Searles, R. W. Wayne and R. D. Leighton, extension dairymen, and T. W. Gullickson, professor of dairy husbandry at the University.

Concentrated in the pocket size, 55-page book are sections on keys to profitable dairying, principles of feeding, summer feeding, winter feeding, and management actors.

Sub-sections deal with the dairy cow as a market for home-grown feeds, kinds and uses of roughages, concentrates, the fresh cow and the dry cow, minerals, computing rations and valuable information on many other topics both for everyday use and for planning the dairy program.

Single copies may be obtained from the county agent or the Bulletin Room, University Farm, St. Paul 1, Minnesota.

Send in your local news items to the Times, your friends and relatives would appreciate the courtesy.

Marshall Tax Rates Show Upward Trend

While the new tax rates for the state and county governments show a slight decrease, most Marshall county taxpayers will note an increase in their taxes payable this year due mainly to general increases for schools and some townships and villages.

The new tax rates for Marshall county have been compiled in the office of J. W. Sands, new county treasurer.

Six of the eight village high school districts have increases in tax rates while only two, Alvarado and Argyle have a decrease in their rates.

Marshall county's new rate for county government purposes will be 55.37 mills in comparison to 57.60 mills for last year. The state rate for non-homesteads and personal property was decreased from 7.72 mills to 6.84 mills while the state rate on homesteads was decreased from 4.93 mills to 4.58 mills.

Rates were increased in all or parts of 50 school districts and were reduced in all or parts of 37 school districts. The rates in 28 townships were reduced, 17 increased and one remained the same, while nine villages increased rates, one reduced and one has no change.

Newfolden, which has the second lowest combined rate of any of the high school district communities in the county, increased its total rate from 176.83 mills last year to 186.20 mills this year. The new rate includes 99.11 mills for the school and 21.88 mills for the village.

Combined rates for the village of Middle River will show but slight variation between the two years. The new combined rate is 221.46 mills in comparison to 224.04 mills last year, with the new rate including 140.35 mills for the school district and 21.9 for the village.

Strandquist has the highest combined rate in the county with a total of 272.12 mills in comparison to 223.23 mills last year. The new rate includes 138.08 mills for the school and 71.83 mills for the village.

All compilations of combined rates used the highest rate category for each of the school districts, all of which affect platted property. The state non-homestead and personal property rates were also used in the compilations. Rural lands will bear a slightly lower rate in each district.

Newfolden Scene of 4-H Leaders' Meeting Jan. 22

The annual 4-H leader institute of Marshall county adult and junior leaders will be held Thursday, January 22, in Newfolden high school gymnasium beginning at 10 a. m., Marshall Co. Club Agent Milton Sands announces.

The 125 adult and junior leaders of the county's 4-H clubs will be among more than 10,000 4-H leaders in the state who will be given special help through district or county institutes early in 1953.

"The 4-H Leader and the Local Club" will be the theme of the one-day meeting.

Principal speakers at the institute will be Osgood Magnuson, district 4-H club supervisor, and Evelyn Harne, state 4-H Club agent.

MEMORY LANE

THE OLD STOVE

Remember when the old stove not only provided heat for cooking and warmth but in many homes served as an "incinerator as well" To burn the contents of the waste basket outside, when it could help start a fire, or keep one burning in the stove, would have been considered quite a waste. Remember?

Jet Warfare Furnishes Field for Rare Metal

Jet warfare in the Korean skies is a long way from tropical British Nigeria and the bleak countryside of Norway, but it is directly affecting the lives of many people in those places.

The scarce metal colombium is the link. Jet engines operate at terrific heats. Steel alloyed with colombium is currently regarded as the best material for engines that will not melt in the searing temperatures.

The Western world, obtains its major supply of colombium from Nigeria, where it is being mined in conjunction with tin. Because the end of the Nigerian supply may be in sight, industry eagerly awaits quantity production from Norwegian fields discovered only in the past several years.

Meanwhile, Western anxiety has not been allayed by reports of rich colombium ore finds in the Ural Mountains of Russia and in Communist-held southern Manchuria. The anxiety is reflected in United States withdrawal of the metal from the civilian economy.

Fastest Trucks Easiest On Roads, Tests Reveal

Don't blow your top when a 20-ton truck barrels past and the breeze almost swishes you off the highway. He's doing you a favor.

How come? Well, the final report of the Maryland road test just released gives proof that a speeding truck causes less damage to the highways you helped to buy than does the creeping behemoth toiling slowly along. The wheels of the slow truck, engineers explain, stay on each slab of concrete longer and have more time to bend it.

The paradoxical inverse relationship between speed and road damage was only one of the many hitherto little-known quirks brought out in the mass of data collected by highway experts who conducted the Maryland test to find out

By Arthur Naftalin

Minnesota legislators this week were digging deep into the state's tough financial problem for the next biennium, and, with Governor Anderson's surprisingly "moderate" budget proposal before them, many were confident that the session will be able to meet all revenue needs without any extreme tax increases.

House Majority Leader Roy E. Dunn said, in fact, that he was hopeful that the 1951 record of no new taxes and no increased taxes could be repeated. But, in the face of the Governor's request for a general revenue fund budget of $165,000,000—an increase of $7,166,000 over the last biennium—the overall prospects were not too good that Dunn's hopes could be realized.

In any event, as this week opened the legislators had before them the main outlines of the problem, the ultimate solution of which will turn on their decisions with respect to the following main questions:

Should school fund be diverted? The Governor recommended that $5,338,000 be diverted from the income tax fund, which is ear-marked for public school aid, for use in educating and caring for children in seven state institutions. Others are urging that part of the $50,000,000 surplus in the fund be used for the University or state teachers colleges. Those proposals are certain to encounter the firmest opposition from school groups.

Increase iron ore and beer tax? To raise new revenue the Governor proposed to increase the iron ore tax from 12 to 14½ per cent, which would yield an estimated $6,336,440 in new income; the lowering of labor credit allowances for ore companies, for another $600,000 in new money, and increasing the per barrel tax on beer from $1.10 to $2.20 on 3.2 beer and from $2.20 to $3.20 on strong beer, for another $3,500,000. The overall total of new income would be $10,436,440. These proposals, also, are certain to arouse much controversy.

Adopt 4 per cent shrinkage formula? The Governor introduced a new wrinkle in state budgeting which is going to require some careful study. While his budget asks appropriations totalling $165,895,000, he points out that material and employment shortages in recent years have made it impossible to expend all amounts voted by the legislature. Therefore, the Governor suggested that the legislature authorize expenditures for the total $165,000,000 budget, but that appropriations allow for a shrinkage factor of 4 per cent, which would make necessary the appropriation of $6,635,000 less or a total of $159,259,000. Adoption of this formula would represent an interesting, if risky, venture in state public financing and considerable debate will unquestionably take place before any final action is voted.

Use of revenue fund balance? Two years ago the legislature appropriated the $21,000,000 surplus in the general revenue fund, and it was expected that the fund would be completely exhausted. The Governor, however, reported that there would be a balance at the end of this biennium (June 30) of $5,720,000, and he recommended that this balance be appropriated. In view of the precedent of two years ago, it is a reasonably safe bet that this recommendation will be followed.

University appropriations? One of the toughest questions the legislators will have to face is the needed increase in funds for the University of Minnesota. The Regents have requested an additional $8,500,000 for the biennium. The Governor recommended only $1,526,000 increase. University spokesmen are certain to press for a larger increase than recommended by the Governor, and this matter could become entangled with the question of diverting part of the income tax school fund.

Mental hospital improvements? The Governor's second largest recommended increase is for mental hospitals. He asked $29,176,000, an increase of $3,795,000. This has become an area of serious dispute, with citizens groups that have been studying the problem over a long time insisting that we are still only beginning our solution of the problem, but a report of the legislative research committe has pointed to many economies that it believes can be made in the program.

Penal reform? With the difficulties at Stillwater still freshly before them, legislators will probably respond favorably to the Governor's request for an additional $981,000 for penal institutions.

Youth conservation commission? A somewhat more controversial matter is an additional $341,000 for the youth conservation commission, which some leading legislators have never supported very enthusiastically.

Brucellosis program? The Governor recommended the creation of a $1,000,000 fund for work in the prevention of undulant fever and Bang's disease, which causes an estimate economic loss of $50,000,000 to cattle and swine owners in the United States each year. If all goes well on other economic matters, this program may very likely get legislative support.

New buildings? New state buildings are not financed out of the general revenue fund but rather from dedicated funds. But the legislature still has control over how much can be spent for new buildings. Anderson whittled $14,000,000 from building requests, but still recommended spending $23,557,000 for this purpose, including $6,500,000 for the proposed new hospital for mentally retarded children, a $1,300,000 food service building at the Willmar state hospital, [illegible] for a therapy addition at Gillette state hospital for children; $305,000 for a gymnasium at the Faribault school for sight saving; $450,000 for a boys' dormitory at the Faribault school for the deaf, and $300,000 for a new childrens' center. Argument over these new constructions will come when the Governor's proposal for additional financing is discussed. He recommended the levying of an additional one mill property tax levy.

Dark of The Moon

The best proof that the Moon has no light of its own is that the half of the Moon on which the Sun's rays are shining is always bright, while the opposite half is always dark. At the new phase the Moon is nearly between the Earth and the Sun, the Moon's sunlit hemisphere is turned away from us and we cannot see it. A few days later it has moved a little to the east of the Sun, so it remains visible in the west after sunset and a narrow crescent of the bright half is turned to our view. At this stage we can often see the dark half shining with a faint light but this is due to "earthshine," or light from the Sun which the Earth reflects back to the Moon. At full Moon, when it is opposite to the Sun, the entire illuminated portion is visible from Earth.

What Blindness Costs the U.S.

An estimated $125,000,000 is expended annually in educating and caring for the blind. In addition there is the cost of compensating industrial workers for blinding eye accidents. An estimated 80,000 men and women have lost one eye in industrial accidents, and another 8,000 are completely blind from injuries. The total cost to industry—in compensation, medical expenses and lost production—is well over $200,000,000 a year. Of course the full cost of blindness in terms of human suffering can never be calculated.

OUR LAND

Prepared by the Minnesota Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with University Farm, St. Paul

Rotation Boosts Profits — "Yes, a good rotation increased the profits on my farm," says Kenneth Brogen, secretary of the Becker County SCS. "When I can double my yields by having a rotation with 2 years of alfalfa-brome in six years of cropping, it is well worthwhile."

"It was just by accident that the big difference in yields came to my attention. I knew I could expect some difference in my crop yields, but I never expected twice as much. The reason it was so apparent this year was due to a different field arrangement I adopted. A field where I had plowed down alfalfa-brome was split in two, and another field that hadn't had alfalfa brome yet was also split in two. Therefore, I had seeded oats and wheat in half of the field that had alfalfa-brome plowed down and the other half in the field that hadn't had any alfalfa brome in it as yet. The difference was noticeable throughout the growing season especially in color, top growth, and in the amount of moisture that was available for plant growth."

Plans to Expand—"You see, we had a semi-drouth in our area this year. We had about 7 or 8 inches of rain from the time we put our crops in until harvest, and where the soil had organic matter from plowing down the alfalfa-brome, the moisture we got from the spring thaw and the small amount of rain we got this year stayed in the field, giving the crop enough moisture to grow on. With the results I got from the first field I had in my six-year rotation, I sure am anxious to get the rest of my farm established in the rotation, because it's the amount of money per acre I have left after the expenses are subtracted that I am interested in, not the amount of land I can run over a poor rotation."

Canners Boost 4-H Conservation— New impetus was given the 4-H soil conservation project in Minnesota recently with the announcement of substantial financial support from the Minnesota Canners' Association. This support is being used for leadership training, demonstration awards, state land use judging contest, educational folders and project training materials, says Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader.

World's newest V8 with a million miles behind it

HERE, in literal fact, is the most advanced V8 engine ever placed in a standard-production American automobile.

It is the first such V8 to reach an 8.5 to 1 compression ratio, and the first with a dynamic flow muffler that cuts power loss to zero.

It is the first V8 to utilize vertical valves together with a 12-volt electrical system instead of the usual 6. It is also the first designed with new "I" type intake manifold to replace the "Y" type conventionally used in V8s.

It is, quite simply, the first V8 Fireball Engine—the engine that brings electrifying performance to the greatest Buicks in fifty great years—the engine that powers the 1953 Buick ROADMASTER with 188 hp, and the 1953 Buick SUPER with up to 170.

Naturally, this spectacular new V8 has been proved—by eight years of developing, testing, improving, perfecting—and by more than a million miles of driving through desert, mountains, cities and plains. Only then did Buick engineers mark it: Released for Production.

But these hard-to-please engineers gave these Golden Anniversary Buicks far more than new power.

They gave them, too, a still finer ride, more superb comfort, new braking power and handling ease—and a sensational new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive* that adds new quiet and whip-fast getaway to absolute smoothness.

Nothing, we believe, will do more justice to your automobile dollars—or to your love of magnificent motoring—than a visit to us right now.

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

OUR LAND

Prepared by the Minnesota Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with University Farm, St. Paul

Rotation Boosts Profits — "Yes, a good rotation increased the profits on my farm," says Kenneth Brogen, secretary of the Becker County SCS. "When I can double my yields by having a rotation with 2 years of alfalfa brome in six years of cropping, it is well worthwhile."

"It was just by accident that the big difference in yields came to my attention. I knew I could expect some difference in my crop yields, but I never expected twice as much. The reason it was so apparent this year was due to a different field arrangement I adopted. A field where I had plowed down alfalfa brome was split in two, and another field that hadn't had alfalfa brome yet was also split in two. Therefore, I had seeded oats and wheat in half of the field that had alfalfa brome plowed down and the other half in the field that hadn't had any alfalfa brome in it as yet. The difference was noticeable throughout the growing season especially in color, top growth, and in the amount of moisture that was available for plant growth."

Plans to Expand—"You see, we had a semi drouth in our area this year. We had about 7 or 8 inches of rain from the time we put our crops in until harvest, and where the soil had organic matter from plowing down the alfalfa-brome, the moisture we got from the spring thaw and the small amount of rain we got this year stayed in the field, giving the crop enough moisture to grow on. With the results I got from the first field I had in my six-year rotation, I sure am anxious to get the rest of my farm established in the rotation, because it's the amount of money per acre I have left after the expenses are subtracted that I am interested in, not the amount of land I can run over a poor rotation."

Canners Boost 4-H Conservation— New impetus was given the 4-H soil conservation project in Minnesota recently with the announcement of substantial financial support from the Minnesota Canners' Association. This support is being used for leadership training, demonstrations, awards, state land use judging contest, educational folders and project training materials, says Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader.

World's newest V8

with a million miles behind it

Television treat—the BUICK CIRCUS HOUR—every fourth Tuesday.

HERE, in literal fact, is the most advanced V8 engine ever placed in a standard-production American automobile.

It is the first such V8 to reach an 8.5 to 1 compression ratio, and the first with a dynamic flow muffler that cuts power loss to zero.

It is the first V8 to utilize vertical valves together with a 12-volt electrical system instead of the usual 6. It is also the first designed with new "T" type intake manifold to replace the "Y" type conventionally used in V8s.

It is, quite simply, the first V8 Fireball Engine—the engine that brings electrifying performance to the greatest Buicks in fifty great years—the engine that powers the 1953 Buick ROADMASTER with 188 hp, and the 1953 Buick SUPER with up to 170.

Naturally, this spectacular new V8 has been proved—by eight years of developing, testing, improving, perfecting—and by more than a million miles of driving through desert, mountains, cities and plains. Only then did Buick engineers mark it: Released for Production.

But these hard-to-please engineers gave these Golden Anniversary Buicks far more than new power.

They gave them, too, a still finer ride, more superb comfort, new braking power and handling ease—and a sensational new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive* that adds new quiet and whip-fast getaway to absolute smoothness.

Nothing, we believe, will do more justice to your automobile dollars—or to your love of magnificent motoring—than a visit to us right now.

THE GREATEST BUICK IN 50 GREAT YEARS

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

SMILEY . . .

By Mrs. [illegible] McCrum, Rt. 2, city

The Polio benefit affair at the Smiley Hall was an outstanding success Saturday evening. The hall was filled to capacity for the excellent talent program. Emceed by Kern Olson of Thief River Falls. The program, under the chairmanship of Norman Johnson and assisted by Mrs Rudolph Hanson as accompanist for several of the musical numbers was as follows, vocal selection by Gerald Sanders; piano solo by Arlene Peterson; vocal solo by Darlene Aubol; vocal trio, Sharon and Yvonne Johnson and Corinne Torkelson; accordion number by Marlin Hutmaker; vocal duet by Beverly and Shirley Oaki of Mavie; vocal solo by Harold Anderson of Thief River Falls, vocal duet by Craig and Carolyn Torkelson. The Ladies Chorus of the Bethany church sang two numbers. A humorous reading by Marvin Pearson of Black River. "Nickolina" was sung by Dennis Skallet accompanied by his father Alton Skallet on the accordion vocal solo by Mrs. Arnold Hammer; humorous vocal selection by Harold Anderson; vocal trio by Sharon and Yvonne Johnson and Corinne Torkelson; a vocal ditty by Kern Olson; a short talk by Ray Mitteness, county agent; and a short explanatory sketch of various Polio benefits by Alvin Christopherson of Thief River Falls who also presented the movie relating to polio patients. Mr. Christopherson was assisted by Mr. Mitteness in presenting the movie. Cake and coffee were served and dancing was enjoyed to the music of Alton Skallet, Ray Olson and Robert Petersen. The net proceeds from the affair came to $67 which was beyond all expectations. A sincere thank you goes to all those kind people who helped to make it a success.

A Treatise on Bread Softeners

In the stresses and strains of competition for the Housewife's food dollar, parts of the Baking Industry have stooped to deception in their campaigns to accomplish their ends.

Preying on the Housewife's honest desire to supply her family with the very best of food, they have come up with the fallacy that "SOFTNESS denotes FRESHNESS" in baked goods, especially bread. The field of Emulsifiers was explored. Two types were found, namely, the mono or DiGliceride, a vegetable type and the polyoxyethylene monostearate a chemical type. Of these two, the latter or chemical type was found to be the most efficient.

Now let us analyse these products and see just what these million dollar words mean.

Mono: meaning one, single, alone, etc., Di a prefix meaning two-fold, twice or denoting two atoms or groups. Glycerine: an ester of Glycerol.

Poly: a prefix meaning many, several, excessive, etc.

Oxy: a combining form meaning sharp, shrill, acid as in oxygen.

Ethylene: (from Ethyl) a colorless, gaseous, unsaturated hydro-carbon forming an ingredient of coal gas (C2H4-or C H2- C H.2) and obtained in other ways as by action of concentrated sulfuric acid and alcohol.

Monostearate: a salt or ester of stearic acid.

Most of the above are toxic chemicals, altho small amounts may not have too much effect on the human system. But why truck with it? The Food and Dugs Administration wants it banned.

Governor Requests $165,000,000 to Run State Next 2 Years

Gov. C. Elmer Anderson asked the Minnesota legislature Wednesday to approve a record $165,-865,086.77 budget to run the state for the next two years, and to increase iron ore and beer taxes to help finance it.

The total general revenue fund budget compares with $158,728,-846.21 being spent during the two year period ending June 30. The tax program the governor offered would affect the same items as the proposal of former Gov. Youngdahl to the 1951 legislature, which refused to impose any new taxes.

To help balance the budget, the governor suggested that $5,-332,786.26 be diverted from the income tax school fund to help pay the most of care and education of children in seven state institutions. The 1951 legislature diverted a million dollars for this purpose.

The income tax fund now is dedicated to aids for elementary and high schools. The governor said he feels such aids should be increased, but left the amount to the legislature. He reported the fund is in "excellent shape," with an estimated balance of $56,894,621.12 as of next June 30, and estimated receipts during the next two years at $115 million.

Outside his general budget, the governor proposed a $23,577,-000 building program, to be financed over the next 15 years by a property tax levy ranging from .99 of a mill to 1.06 mills.

The budget message, which called for increased appropriations for all but one major department, disclosed for the first time that there will be a balance estimated at $5,720,081.95 in the general revenue fund on June 30. Until Wednesday there had been no indication there would be any balance.

The budget is the first in history to take into account the fact that usually from four to five per cent of the money appropriated is not spent. The governor pointed out that about $4,300,000 of the money appropriated for the current two year period will not be spent. He said applying this factor would reduce his recommended appropriations to $159,259,204.82.

He estimated present tax sources would yield $143,104,112 during the next two years. Besides the anticipated balance, he said there would still be needed $10,436,440 to balance the budget.

He suggested that iron ore occupation and royalty taxes be increased by two and a half per cent—from 12 to 14½. He estimated this would bring an additional $8,336,440 into the general revenue fund the next two years, based on anticipated record shipments of 80 million tons on taxable ore each year.

Capitol Chat

By Mrs. Coya Knutson
Rep. 65th District

Wednesday, January 14, we were assigned our committees. Walter Day received the following: Appropriations, health, welfare, temperance and liquor control, insurance and reforestation, which is a new committee made up of eleven members. In the last session, the appropriations committee met 93 times, averaged 2½ hours per meeting. Day was present at 90 meetings. Did someone say "Headache" committee?

My committees are the following: Elections, health, towns and counties, University and welfare.

Food for thought. We hear a great deal about honesty and integrity in government these days. In checking vote recounts of the legislative candidates of the House, the liberal candidate increased his county and won the election!

Civil defense shelter signs pervade the entire building of the Capitol.

We felt like youngsters, singing "Happy Birthday" to Representative Langley on Tuesday.

Wednesday, January 14, the Governor conducted a "class" in the House on the State Budget. The Governor stated: "The mining companies are taking out of the ground a vital resource which, when exhausted, cannot be replaced, and there is perhaps some justification for requirement of a somewhat heavier tax contribution from them. The labor credit, provided some years ago to assist and encourage operation of mines with high labor costs does not need to be kept up to the present levels in times like these when market conditions supply unusual incentives for mining of low as well as higher grade ores.

"The Minnesota tax on beer has not been raised, I am informed, since inception of the law taxing beer. I am advised that 24 states now tax strong beer at a higher rate than Minnesota does and 32 states tax 3.2 beer at a higher rate than Minnesota does. The proposed tax on beer is small. It would amount to only a fifth of a cent on a glass of beer and only a third of a cent on a bottle.

"You will see that the increased taxes from these sources and the aid from the income tax school fund will be sufficient, with our present tax sources, to balance the budget."

Ho-hum, we had another long weekend—nice for us, but hard on the taxpayer's pocketbook.

47th Viking Division of National Guard Is Reorganized Friday

The 47th Viking Division is back in Minnesota again. In ceremonies conducted in 58 towns throughout the state Friday evening, 85 units of the Division resumed their status as elements of the Minnesota National Guard.

It was two years ago today that these units received the orders which placed them in the active military service for 24 months. Within a few days they had moved by train, truck and air to Camp Rucker, Alabama, to initiate intensive training.

Although the 47th Division remained at Camp Rucker for the entire period, more than 60 per cent of the personnel were transferred out as replacements, most of them to Korea.

Of the more than 6000 Minnesota officers and men who left with the Division two years ago, some 2000 were on hand for Friday's activities. They will form the nucleus for the reactivated division which will immediately start recruiting to reach its authorized strength.

Center of the ceremonies was at the division headquarters in St. Paul's National Guard Armory. There state and military officials took part in colorful ceremonies.

Governor C. Elmer Anderson accepted the colors for the state of Minnesota in a message broadcast over WCCO to all National Guard units in their home armories. Governor Anderson welcomed the 47th Division home. He commended the Division for serving "with marked distinction."

"I know that I speak not only for myself, but straight from the hearts of every citizen of Minnesota when I say we are justly proud of the magnificent contributions which you have made," the Governor said. "I am confident that ere long the reactivated elements of the Minnesota National Guard which are being reconstituted this time will in every way be indistinguishable from those fine organizations which answered the Nation's call to duty two years ago."

Commander of the National Guard Division is Major General Norman E. Hendrickson of Minneapolis, who returned from Camp Rucker early last week. General Hendrickson has commanded the Division since its original activation in 1946.

15 Directors Named by Dairy Day Assn. Here

Final Action Taken Meeting Thursday on Incorporation of Unit

Nearly forty members assembled in the Civic and Commerce room in the Auditorium Thursday afternoon for the annual meeting of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, Inc., sponsor of Dairy Day held each June in Thief River Falls. Lester A. Ihle presided in the absence of President Stuart McLeod, who was out of the city.

Principal business was the election of a board of fifteen directors of which five will serve for three years, five for two years and five for one year. Gil Thompson of Ada served as chairman of the nominating committee, others appointed including Irving Meade of Roseau, Walter Schoen of Fosston and Ray Mitteness of Thief River Falls.

The following directors were unanimously elected: For a three-year term: Stuart McLeod, Glenn Carlson and Elmer Bratach, all of this city; H. A. Petry, Ada, and Russell Larson, McIntosh. Two-year term: Irving Meade, Roseau; Chester Traaseth, Bagley; Clifford Skime, Roseau; and J. M. Roche and L. A. Ihle, Thief River Falls. One-year term: Walter Schoen, Fosston; H. E. Elseth, Argyle; Robert Qual, Grygla; and Ray Mitteness and W. E. Dahlquist, Thief River Falls.

Other important business transacted at Thursday's meeting included final approval of the articles of incorporation and by-laws, which were accepted with minor revisions after being read by Attorney Stan Mortenson.

Referred to the board of directors for consideration was a proposal that large tents be rented to protect dairy calves which are displayed and judged on Dairy Day on Second st. north of the Auditorium and arena.

Secretary Glenn Carlson read a letter from the Cloquet Chamber of Commerce stating that plans were being considered to stage a dairy day in Carlton county in June, and asked a conference with a committee of the local association relative to organizing the event.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

G. N. Blood Donors Car to Visit City April 20 thru 24

Arrangements Made by Red Cross Officers at Meeting in Rex Monday

The Great Northern railway blood procurement car, which last summer made its first visit to Thief River Falls, will be stationed in this city April 20 to 24 inclusive, it was announced this week by Alvin Christofferson, who again will serve as procurement chairman.

During its stay here last year, the car received donations of 430 pints of blood, and a quota of 500 pints has been set for the coming drive. The blood is sent to Kalamazoo, Michigan, for processing, and then is turned over to the armed forces.

Arrangements for the car were made by officers of the local Red Cross chapter at a meeting Monday afternoon in the Rex Cafe. Mrs. Andy Williamson, Mrs. L. B. Hartz, and Mrs. Margaret Race were appointed to assist in lining up the staff of necessary assistants and handling other details.

Bray Insurance Company to Meet Next Wednesday

The postponed annual meeting of the Bray Mutual Fire Insurance Co. will be held next Wednesday afternoon, February 4, at 1 o'clock in the school auditorium at St. Hilaire, it was announced by Edgar Naplin, who has been appointed acting secretary to take over the duties of the late John O. Swanson, long-time secretary, who died earlier in January.

Over 215 Members Signed up to Date in Current C & C Drive

nd Pastorate

REV. J. O. JACOBSEN

Who at the recent annual meeting of the Evangelical Free church congregation tendered his resignation as pastor, effective next August when he will have completed thirty years of faithful service to the congregation. Rev. Jacobsen is the dean of local pastors, having served longer than any of his contemporaries. He stated that he would announce his future plans at a later date.

The annual membership drive of the Civic & Commerce association is now in its second week, with teams competing closely for the steak and bean dinner to be held at the completion of the solicitation drive. Results so far are very encouraging with over 200 renewal of membership cards and 17 brand new members signed up. Both figures are an increase over last year's figures for the same period. The drive is scheduled to come to a close on Friday and final tabulations will be made at that time for the winning team.

Many of the Civic & Commerce committees have been holding meetings during the last week. The civic development committee headed by M. D. Starekow met and decided to take action on two important subjects, that of conducting a survey of public rest rooms, now functioning in several communities, to be started in this city, and the other the study of youth recreation and the possibility of a city recreation center.

The conventions, public relations, tourist trade, and area trade committees also met within the week and voted to adopt a large Thief River Falls welcome badge to be worn by employees and employers alike during store hours. The purpose of the button will be to acquaint shoppers and store personnel as each button will have a space especially provided where the name of the employee will appear, and to show those in the trade territory that they are really welcome in the city.

Another button of the same nature was adopted at the meeting which will be used by delegates who attend celebrations, conventions, etc. throughout the territory. This button will announce that the wearer is from Thief River Falls and will bear the words "We Welcome You," and "The Northwest's Finest Shopping Center."

A tentative schedule of store hours and holidays was agreed upon at a meeting of the merchants committee and the bureaus. This will be voted upon the latter part of this week or the first part of next week.

40 Majorettes to Appear at St. Paul Carnival Saturday

Group to Be Sponsored by Gould National Battery Company of St. Paul

Approximately 40 members of the Majorette drum and bugle corps will march in the St. Paul Winter Carnival parade Saturday, January 31, it was announced this week by Mrs. David Carlson, director. The girls were chosen on the basis of points given for attendance, cooperation, and ability.

The unit will be sponsored by and will represent the Gould National Battery Co. of St. Paul. Mr. Henry Barnes, president of the firm, extended the invitation and is now completing the arrangements.

The local unit has been given a position near the head of the parade and will serve as escort for the car bearing screen actor Robert Cummings.

The girls will leave here Friday night by special car on the Soo Line and will leave St. Paul the following night. They have been holding outdoor rehearsals every evening this week regardless of weather conditions.

During their stay in the Cities, the group will have their headquarters at the St. Francis Hotel in St. Paul and the Minneapolis-St. Paul Street Railway Bus Company will furnish chartered buses for transporting them around the city.

New Phone Rates in Effect Feb. 28

Rates to Be Increased from 10c to 60c a Month

As a result of the recent approval by the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission of an application by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company for a revised rate schedule, patrons of the Thief River Falls exchange will be called upon to pay slightly higher rates effective with the billing period starting February 28.

The rate for business one-party phones will be increased from the present figure of $7 per month to $7.60, while for two-party business phones the rate will rise from $6 per month to $6.50.

Old and new rates for residence phones will be as follows: One-party, $3.50 and $3.80. Two-party, $3 and $3.20. Four-party, $2.75 and $2.85.

Telephone bills for homes in the rural areas will rise from $3 per month to $3.25, and for rural business phones from $4 to $4.60.

Kiddies Carnival to Furnish Fun in Auditorium Feb. 5

Lions Club Sponsoring Annual Entertainment for Local Youngsters

To provide additional midwinter entertainment for local children, the Lions club will stage its annual Kiddies Carnival in the Auditorium Thursday evening, February 5, it was announced today by Tom Fuller and R. S. Eldevik, co-chairmen of the event.

Among the stands which will be in operation at the carnival are a fish pond, country store, beauty parlor, dart game, pin the donkey's tail, basketball toss and tip the bottle. Dr. E. S. Amesbury again will have charge of the balloon stand, while a committee headed by Jack Edmiston will operate a hot dog stand. Several clowns will be present to enliven the proceedings.

The Lions club will meet in the Rex Cafe next Wednesday evening at 6:15, and following dinner the members will adjourn to the Auditorium to set up stands and decorations for the carnival.

Airline to Make 2 Flights Each Day to Minneapolis

Effective Sunday, February 1, the North Central Airlines afternoon plane from Grand Forks to Minneapolis will stop at the Thief River Falls airport at 4:55, instead of overpassing this city as it has done to date, Chet Matthews, local manager, announced today. The morning flight leaves the local airport for Minneapolis at 11:25. Northbound flights from Minneapolis arrive here at 10:19 a. m. and 3:49 p. m.

Police Chief Judy Warns about Dogs

Police Chief Ken Judy today issued a stern warning to local dog owners to keep their dogs from congregating in school yards or otherwise running in packs. He added that the canines have become a nuisance in the city, and that, unless they are kept under control by their owners, they will be picked up and impounded.

Eagles Auxiliary Plans for Benefit Card Party Feb. 3

Affair to Raise Funds for March of Dimes and Muscular Dystrophy

A fund-raising project for research into the disease of muscular dystrophy is being undertaken by the members of Thief River Falls Auxiliary of the Eagles cooperating with the Eagles aerie, according to Mrs. Robert Erickson, auxiliary president. The local auxiliary will join with other Eagle auxiliaries throughout the country in raising money for this project.

A whist, bridge and canasta card party will be held in the Eagles auditorium Tuesday Feb. 3rd starting at 8 o'clock. Tickets are 50c each which includes lunch and prizes. The proceeds will be divided between the polio March of Dimes and muscular Dystrophy Fund.

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas is the honorary national chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Assn. of America. National entertainment committee chairmen are the comedians Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

Muscular dystrophy is a progressive wasting away of the muscular system by starvation of the muscle tissue and is a fatal disease, which strikes primarily at children and for which, at the present time, there is absolutely no known cure.

A child afflicted with the disease rarely lives beyond adolescence. The disease, however, is not contagious. Adults less frequently die of the disease but the loss of muscular power drastically limits their activities.

First Federal Has Good Year in 1952

Savings Accounts Gain $592,000, Hit $2,328,000

Savings accounts in the First Federal Savings & Loan association aggregated $2,328,190 at the end of 1952, showing a gain for the year of $593,135, President Stanton R. Dahlen reported following the annual meeting of the association last Wednesday.

Home mortgage loans in effect at the end of the year totaled $1,869,702, while assets of the institution were $2,436,806, a gain of $381,225 over the preceding year. Reserves amounted to $101,361.

Dr. O. F. Mellby and W. W. Prichard were reelected to the board of directors, with hold-over members including Judge Paul A. Lundgren, Dahlen and H. A. Baumann.

Dahlen was reelected president, Dr. Mellby, vice president; Milton J. Relerson, secretary-treasurer; and Lorena Huot, assistant secretary.

Council Buys New Truck for Street Dept.

To Advertise for Bids on Limousine Service for Airline Passengers

After further considering four bids, which had been opened at a meeting January 13, the city council at an adjourned session Tuesday evening voted to buy a two-ton 1953 model Dodge truck for the street department from the Forkenbrock Motor Co. on its base bid of $2,468. Four local dealers had entered bids on the equipment.

It was voted to open bids February 18 on the franchise to provide limousine service for passengers to and from the municipal airport for the period of one year.

Council President Carl Gjernes appointed Mayor Harry E. Simons and City Attorney Robert A. Wurst on a committee to confer with state legislators on a bill to provide staggered terms for council members. The purpose is to provide more continuity by not having all terms expire in the same year. Also to be studied is the matter of rearranging the ward setup in the city.

Gjernes also appointed five appraisers in condemnation proceedings to acquire a plot of ground south of the water treatment plant. Named were O. I. Ihle, C. E. Hellquist, W. W. Prichard, Helmer Ostrom and Lars Hylden. Owners of the land, which is low-lying and without improvements, are Lester Taggart, Amond Aase, Nohrald Lawson, Andrew Anderson and Francis Midderigh.

Chief of Police Ken Judy was instructed to order limited parking signs to be installed on the Pennington Hotel corner for the accommodation of buses taking on or discharging passengers there.

A communication from the library board was read, announcing that a salary increase had been given members of the library staff. Some of the aldermen questioned the authority of the board in the matter, and the question was referred to the city attorney for a report.

The council authorized the transfer to Arthur O. Erickson of the 3.2 beer license held by Ed Relier at 200 LaBree av. N.

Special School Election Feb. 10

Plan to Acquire Site for New Playground

A special election will be held in the Thief River Falls school district, No. 18, Tuesday evening, February 10, with the polls in the municipal Auditorium to be open from 7 to 9 o'clock, it was announced today by Andy Williamson, clerk of the board of education.

The purpose of the election is to vote on a proposal that the district purchase for $7,000 a tract of land in Rafteseth's addition southwest of Lincoln high school to be used for a playground and athletic field.

The board contemplates using the site of the present athletic field later on as a location for a projected new school building.

125 Women from Seven Local Organizations Will Share in Canvass

One hundred and twenty-five women, representing seven local organizations, will assemble at the municipal Auditorium Thursday evening, January 29, at 6:45, preparatory to starting out at 7 o'clock on the Mothers March on Polio in the Thief River Falls residence districts.

Transportation to their assigned posts will be provided for the women, who will be making their canvass under the direction of Mrs. Elmer Zachar and Mrs. Orris Johnson. The solicitors will cover the entire city including the roundhouse, Horseshoe and other outlying areas.

Householders are asked to turn on their porch lights until after the solicitors have made their rounds. Following their canvass, the women will be treated to coffee and doughnuts in the Civic and Commerce room.

Organizations which are supplying workers include the woman's club, B. P. O. Does and auxiliary units of the American Legion, VFW, Eagles, trainmen, and firemen.

The next big event in the current March of Dimes campaign will be the annual radio polio show in the city Auditorium Saturday evening, February 7, starting at 8 p. m. Alvin Christopherson and members of the staff of Radio Station KTRF will emcee the show, which will include talent from Thief River Falls and surrounding communities.

Dime pledge cards were distributed this week to children in the local schools and will be picked up Friday, it was announced.

222 Soo Line Workers Call TRF Their Home, Says Supt. Hamerski

Evidence of the important role played by the Soo Line railroad in the Thief River Falls economy was supplied by E. A. Hamerski, superintendent of the Winnipeg division, in a talk at the Lions club luncheon last Wednesday noon in the Rex Cafe.

Introduced by Cliff Bjorkman, program chairman, Hamerski, recalled that his company began serving this city with its line from Minneapolis in September, 1904, and that within six years following, the Wheat Line into North Dakota and the line to Duluth were put into operation.

The speaker stated that the Soo Line has 235 employes working out of Thief River Falls, with an aggregate annual payroll of $1,130,000. Counting their families, widows and pensioners, he said, the Soo Line "family" in this city numbers 815 persons, or 11.3 per cent of the total population.

Of the 222 workers who call Thief River Falls their home, he added, 177 own their own homes, with the remainder living in rented quarters.

Hamerski declared that the Soo Line is constantly seeking to improve its service, and that its passenger train facilities, especially on the Minneapolis-Winnipeg run, compares favorably with those of other leading railroads.

He stated that Diesel locomotives are now being used on all trains out of Thief River Falls with the exception of the passenger train to Duluth.

New N. W. Hospital Administrator Is Selected by Board

Harold W. Peterson of Hallock Will Take Over Duties Here February 1

Harold W. Peterson, who has served the past year as administrator of the Kittson County War Veterans Memorial hospital at Hallock, will come to Thief River Falls February 1 to take over the duties of administrator of Northwestern Hospital in this city, it was announced this week by L. B. Hartz, president of the hospital board.

Mr. Peterson, who also has operated the hospital at Karlstad, was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1926 with a degree in education, and for an extended period taught in Minnesota high schools. In 1943 he moved to Alaska, where he also was engaged in educational work.

He returned to Minnesota in 1950, and took a graduate course in hospital administration, serving his residency under Dr. Benjamin W. Mandelstam, director of Mount Sinai Hospital in Minneapolis. Immediately following, he went to Hallock.

No Disease Found in Mantoux Test of 521 in Schools

51 Old and New Reactors Are Given X-ray Exams, School Nurse Reports

Out of 521 pupils, faculty members and the maintenance staff of the public schools who recently were tested under the Mantoux tuberculosis program, there were four new reactors among the faculty and six among the students, Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, announced this week.

She added that all of the 51 old and new reactors were X-rayed during the past two weeks, and that no evidence of disease was found in any of the cases.

Of the 56 faculty members tested, 28 were X-rayed, including 24 old reactors and four new ones. A total of 143 seniors and vocational students were tested, and three were X-rayed, including two old reactors and one new one.

Of 156 freshmen tested, seven were X-rayed, six being old reactors and one new. Knox kindergarten: 49 tested and three X-rayed, one old reactor and two new. Northrop kindergarten: 61 tested, none X-rayed. Washington kindergarten: 34 tested, none X-rayed.

Maintenance staff: ten tested and seven X-rayed, all old reactors. Office staff: two tested, none X-rayed. Teacher training: ten tested, three X-rayed, including one old reactor and two new ones.

Number of Pupils Absent Declines Slightly Tuesday

The number of absences in the public schools Tuesday was 272, compared to 304 for a week ago Monday, Supt. W. G. Clafty stated. He added that an incomplete survey by Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, indicated that about 50 per cent of the absences were caused by the current flu epidemic. The absences were distributed as follows: Junior-senior high, 106; Knox, 63; Northrop, 73; and Washington, 30.

Fern Jarshaw Becomes Bride of L. Bruggeman

Miss Fern Jarshaw, daughter of Mrs. Tillie Jarshaw of Newfolden, became the bride of LeRoy Bruggeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bruggeman of rural Thief River Falls in a ceremony performed at St. Bernard's Rectory at ten-thirty o'clock on Saturday morning. The double ring service was read by Father Kavagh Patnode.

The bride was becomingly attired in a wool suit of medium blue, with accessories to match. Yellow roses and white carnations made up the bride's corsage. Miss Florence Jarshaw, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Laura Tiede, a close friend of the bride, was bridesmaid. Miss Jarshaw wore a navy suit and the bridesmaid a suit of rust faille, both with accessories to match and a corsage similar to that of the bride. Gresmond Bruggeman, cousin of the groom, was best man.

A wedding dinner was given at the home of the bride's mother following the ceremony. The serving table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with bride and groom figurines. Mrs. James Jarshaw was the assisting hostess.

Following a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Bruggeman have returned to Thief River Falls where the groom is employed by the Falls Implement Co. The bride is an employee of the Land O'Lakes ice cream plant in this city. In the spring they plan to move to their farm east of town.

Progress [illegible] VFW Auxiliary Sewing Project.

Mrs. Mary Webakowski, VFW Auxiliary chairman, announced this week that splendid progress had been made on the Auxiliary sewing project. To date the articles sent out include sixteen pairs of pajamas, four bathrobes, twenty-six bibs, and sixteen covers. Handkerchiefs and scarfs are now being made. The Veterans Hospitals are filled to capacity and these items are badly needed. Anyone wishing to help with the sewing is asked to call 1250W.

Meeting of Girl Scouts Held Monday

The local Girl Scout association met Monday evening in the basement of the auditorium, with Miss Doris Peterson, president, conducting the meeting. Plans were made for the observance of International Month in February, by contributing to the Juliette Low Fund, and by making window displays to illustrate the eleven Girl Scout program fields. The candy box orders were compiled and it was found that over 1600 have been sold.

There are now twenty troops organized in the city and the meetings are held in the schools and the Trinity parish house. One leader is still needed for second grade, Washington school.

Equipment consisting of pup tents, reflector ovens, and craft materials were listed as being available to any troop who contacts the office when needed.

Leaders were taught songs to bring back to their troops. Mrs. Ted Mills and Miss Stella Tostenson were in charge of the meeting. Miss Ruth Beddie, area director, is in Minneapolis attending an executives' conference.

Birthday of Arthur Udstrand Noted Saturday

Mrs. Arthur Udstrand entertained a group of relatives and friends Saturday evening in honor of her husband's birthday. The evening was spent socially and at 11:30 the hostess served a delicious lunch. Two beautiful cakes centered the table and several gifts were presented to Mr. Udstrand. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rux, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mattson, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Carlson, Mrs. Myrtle Peterson, Mrs. Mildred Rux, Harry Rux, and Wallace Mattson.

Mrs. J. N. Swanson Feted on Birthday Friday Evening

Relatives and friends entertained at the J. N. Swanson home Friday evening, honoring Mrs. Swanson on her birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Geving and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swanson and family, and Claire Jones, all of Goodridge; Mrs. Herbert Sprague of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Timm, Dianne and Kenneth, and Harold Olson of rural Thief River Falls. Wishes for a happy birthday were also received by telephone from the Clayton Johnsons of San Diego and the Floyd Olsons of Detroit Lakes. The evening was spent socially and in playing cards and the lunch brought by the guests included a lovely birthday cake.

Auxiliary of VFW Needs Materials for Cancer Pads

The VFW Auxiliary Unit is again issuing a plea for old sheets, pillow cases, white shirts, or any white cotton material for use in making cancer pads.

The group, under the direction of Mrs. R. W. Nelson, cancer chairman, is meeting every Wednesday evening at the club room or some other specified place, and they are accomplishing a great deal toward lessening the suffering of cancer patients.

Most of the pads and the hospital gowns, which are made from old shirts, will be sent to VFW headquarters, from where they will be distributed as needed, but many of them will be kept here for use locally.

Mrs. Nelson requests that the white cotton material be brought to the Hartz store, the VFW club room, or they may be brought to her home at 322 St. Paul Ave. So.

City of Bemidji Wins Honors for 'Citizen Action'

Minneapolis and Bemidji were among 11 American cities cited Monday for awards as the "All-American cities" of 1952 for "citizen action" in important civic affairs.

The awards were made by Look magazine in co-operation with the National Municipal league.

In Minneapolis, the citizens committee on public education was named as the leading group responsible for overcoming legal restrictions in obtaining revenue for new schools and for sponsoring Citizens School week as a morale builder.

The Bemidji award was for citizen leadership in the fight for funds to expand inadequate school facilities and also for a successful citizens' battle which led to a new charter and council manager form of government.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

(This service is based on questions asked at Veterans Administration offices in the state. Answers are supplied by VA.)

Q: I'm planning to study law and also take a bar review course, under the Korean GI Bill. What do I put down on my application form?

A: You should list both your objectives — which probably will be Bachelor of Laws Degree — and the bar review course. You must list both in order to get both.

Q: I want to get a GI loan to buy a house. What is the largest amount of money I may borrow from my bank?

A: The size of the loan depends entirely on the amount of money your bank or any other lender is willing to lend. The only limit is on the amount of guaranty that VA can issue on the loan. That limit is 60% of the loan up to a maximum of $7,500.

Q: I am getting retirement pay from the armed forces. Is it possible to pay premiums on my National Service Life Insurance policy by allotment?

A: Yes, provided proper arrangements are made with the service department from which you are receiving your retirement pay.

Q: Before I went back on active duty, I was going to college under the World War II GI Bill. I'm about to be discharged, and I want to know whether I can continue with my studies under that law.

A: You will be permitted to resume your training under the World War II GI Bill, provided you begin within a reasonable period after your discharge. Also, your conduct and progress must have been satisfactory while you were in school before, and must have GI entitlement remaining.

Dairy Housing to Be Studied on Tour Thursday, Feb. 5th

Ralph Wayne of U. of M. and County Agent Ray Mitteness in Charge

Everyone interested in dairy housing is invited to attend the dairy improvement tour on Thursday, February 5. Ralph Wayne, extension dairymen specialist, University Farm, and Ray Mitteness, county agent, will be in charge of the program.

Two farms located in Red Lake and East Polk counties will be visited. Those interested should meet at the city Auditorium at 1 p. m. After a brief discussion on dairy housing the group will leave at 1:30 p. m.

First stop will be at the Castleman farm located three miles west of McIntosh. Here a reconverted stanchion type barn will be visited. The top of this barn was destroyed by fire two years ago. To the concrete block walls and floor remaining a quonset type building has been added and milking parlor and a pipeline milker having been installed.

The next stop will be at the Leonard Casavan farm west of Brooks. Here the entire barn was destroyed and a complete new unit has been constructed. This will accomodate 40 cows and the entire unit including equipment and labor was constructed for less than $5,500.

The tour will be over by 3:30 p. m. There will be coffee and doughnuts at the last stop. Mitteness stated that farmers are invited to bring their wives. They will be interested in this labor saving type of dairy farming.

4-H Club News

Kratka Club

The Kratka 4-H club met January 23, at the Albert D. Hanson home. Due to the absence of President Clarice Austin, vice President James Wilson presided. The radio speaking contest was discussed and it was decided that someone from our club take part.

The Kratka 4-H club members wish to extend a hearty "thank you" to the B & W for their kindness in letting us have our bake sale in their store January 17. Our proceeds amounted to $12.35 which was turned over to the polio fund. Our club also voted at the December meeting to give $10.00 in addition to our bake sale proceeds. We feel that the polio fund needs all any of us can possibly give.

A short program was given consisting of group singing, a demonstration on "The Proper Way to Set a Table" by Mary Ann Lendobeja, a project talk by James Wilson, on "Choosing a Dairy Heifer" and a piano solo by Mary Ann Lendobeja. Mrs. Sylvia Olson discussed and showed slides on good grooming for young men. She also showed a movie entitled, "The Wilson's Go To Town."

Lunch was served at the close of the program by Mrs. A. Burstad and Mrs. A. D. Hanson. —Ralph Hanson, reporter.

New City manager to Serve Bemidji

James F. Deneen will take over Feb. 15 as Bemidji's first city manager under a recently enacted new charter.

Deneen, 62, currently holds a similar post at Montevideo. Before that, he was Crookston's city engineer. He had held each of those positions for periods of five years.

Seventeen applicants filed for the Bemidji job, which became available Jan. 1 at an annual salary of $7,200. Prior to that date, Bemidji had operated under a mayor-council form of government.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Matheson and daughter of Minneapolis arrived here Sunday evening to spend the week with Mrs. Matheson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Werstlein.

6,684 Male and 6,281 Female Residents of Pennington Co. in '50

Males numbered 6,684 and females 6,281 among the 12,965 inhabitants of Pennington County enumerated in the 1950 census, according to final figures announced by the Bureau of the Census.

The county's population included 12,957 whites, one negro and seven persons of other races.

The median age of the population was 29.8 years, while 9.3 per cent were 65 years old and over. The number of children under 5 years old was 1,440. The number of persons 21 years old and over was 8,009.

Among the 4,844 males 14 years old and over, 2,937 were married; among the 4,501 females of these ages, 2,942 were married. Among the 2,755 married couples living together, 2,625 lived in their own households, while 130 were sharing the households of others. The total number of households was 3,615 and the average population per household was 3.51 persons.

Of persons 14 years old and over, 5,178 were in the labor force, comprising 81.2 per cent of the males and 27.6 per cent of the females in this age group. Of employed workers, 4.4 per cent were engaged in manufacturing.

Of persons 14 to 17 years old, 85.3 per cent were in school. In the group 7 to 13 years old, 100 per cent were in school. The median years of school completed by persons 25 years old and over was 8.7.

The median income in 1949 of families and unrelated individuals was $2,243.

The data on education and income are based on inquiries made of a sample of one in five of the whole population, while the other data are based upon complete enumeration.

Phone Facilities in City Expanded, Says Manager Rau

Improvements under Way to Improve Service on Local and Distant Calls

Nearing completion is a telephone service improvement and expansion program that will give Thief River Falls telephone users faster service on local calls, together with additional facilities for long distance calls to Viking, Middle River, Roseau and Baudette, according to A. J. Rau, Northwestern Bell Telephone company manager here.

Another operating position has been added to the switchboard, raising the total to 12 positions. Operators sitting at these positions can accept either local or long distance calls, Rau said, which means that the additional operating position will permit calls to be answered more promptly. Prior to this addition, the switchboard has been crowded and during the busy hours operators were short of facilities with which to answer calls. About 13,500 local calls go through the Thief River switchboard each day.

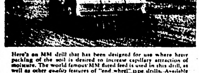
Another long distance circuit has been completed to Viking, and additional circuits to Middle River and Baudette will be completed within the next two or three weeks, Rau stated. Thief River Falls is an important long distance center for Northwestern Bell, with about 40 long distance circuits connected to the switchboard. About 500 long distance calls are handled each day.

In addition to calls originating with Thief River Falls telephone users, the operators handle the switching of long distance calls from several nearby smaller communities, including Badger, Baudette, Goodridge, Greenbush, Middle River, Newfolden, Plummer, Roseau, St. Hilaire, Strathcona, Viking and Warroad.

Funeral Rites For K. O. Byklum Set For Saturday

K. O. Byklum, pioneer resident of the Grygla community, passed away at his home on Tuesday morning. Funeral services will be held at Our Saviour's Lutheran church at Grygla Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. J. M. Erickson officiating. The complete obituary will be published next week.

MOLINE-MONITOR PRESS WHEEL DRILLS
Increase the Attraction of Moisture. Assure Better, More Uniform Yields



Here's an MM drill that has been designed for use where heavy packing of the soil is desired to increase capillary attraction of moisture. The world famous MM fluted feed is used in this drill, as well as other quality features of "end wheel" type drills. Available with either single or double discs, this drill can also be converted to a regular "high wheel" type drill by addition of hitch, seat or covering chains and a pair of high wheels . . . you actually have two drills in one. MM quality drills give you all-steel balanced construction and a big capacity zinc-grip galvanized steel hopper for long life. Visible seeding, high quality pressure springs and rods, roller bearings, careful handling of seed, even distribution and uniform depth are quality features that progressive farmers look for, and get, in MM Drills.

Pallbearers were Joe Champoux, John Demarais, Sr., Albert Gervais, Henry Paquin, Pete LaChance, and Omer Houle.

Mr. Benoit was born May 10, 1872, at Weedon, Quebec, Canada. When he was seven years old he moved with his parents to Springfield, Mass. The family lived there three and a half years until they homesteaded in Poplar Grove township, Red Lake county. When a young man he became manager of a grain elevator in Red Lake Falls and later was elevator manager at St. Hilaire. After his retirement he moved back to Red Lake Falls.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. A. Paridis of Yakima, Washington, and several nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Carrie Sandum left today for Chicago where she will visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Kost.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Help Children's Security Spread

People who have studied human development agree that individuals, from infancy to old age, have two consistent personality needs—the need for security and the need for self-assertion. Security throughout the years of childhood should have an expanding meaning.

The new baby's need for security is met through his mother's care and attention; his dependence on his mother is rather complete, and the gradual accumulation of having his needs met over a period of time helps him feel security with his parents.

As the baby grows into the young child, his need for security expands further to include other members of the family, the physical surroundings, the security of being loved by his parents. Thus far, security for the child is a product, really, of his parents.

With the first day of school, the security feeling needs to be carried over to the teacher. For many children whose home security has been inadequate, the security offered by the teacher and the school may help to make up for lacks at home. As time goes on, new sources of security appear: playmates, friends, clubs, gangs, activities.

These new sources can be most meaningful to the child if they are built on a firm basis of home and parent security. Later still, boy friends and girl friends become a new security source. Increased skills, greater independence, more selfconfidence join the trends toward maturity; as a mature adult, the child of yesterday must become a source of security for others.

Some parents, perhaps immature themselves, find so much satisfaction in loving their child that they discourage his security expansion beyond the home. He cannot grow and progress without moving away from dependence on them, and if parents find their own security in keeping him dependent, he will remain immature and inadequate.

The reward for parents in seeing a child attain his own security is partly in knowing from the childs' earliest days that this is a major goal of parenthood—to help the child as he grows expand his security sources beyond the narrow ones of childhood, so that in turn he can provide security and love for the next generation.

Area Dairy Farmers Reveal New Trends in Dairy Operations

Recent trends in dairy farming in this area were studied by a group of local men in a tour of three area farms last Friday. With Ervin Peltier, manager of Goodman Farm Electric, as chauffeur, the group included Art Stenberg, County Agent Ray Mitteness, Allan Larson of Silverton, and the Times reporter.

Farms visited included those of Ernest Castleman of Erskine, Albert Stardig of McIntosh and Leonard Casavan of Brooks, each of which are utilizing new ideas in dairy farm practices. Their operations were described as follows by County Agent Mitteness:

Ernest Castleman. He has a reconverted stanchion type barn. Here the top of the barn was destroyed by fire leaving the concrete block walls and floor remaining. To this was added a quonset type building and a flat roof constructed on the old walls remaining. The quonset building is the loafing area and under the flat roof is the holding area, calf pens, milking parlor, and milk house. A three stanchion-in-line stall is being used with a pipeline milker.

Albert Stardig: An entire new unit using a quonset building 34 feet wide. A 12x16 foot milk house is attached to the end. The space above the milk house is used for feed storage. This unit also has in line type stall but uses regular bucket milk machines. Here the calves were housed in a separate building. As with Castlemans' all feeding, except grain at milking, was done outside and the young stock ran with the milking herd.

This herd was on D.H.I.A. and was averaging around 400 pounds butter fat per cow with several over 500 pounds. The cows were grade Holsteins. Mr. Stardig was feeding silage, both alfalfa and corn, and alfalfa hay for roughage. This was being fed only once a day in the morning. The only evening work was milking the 17 cows and bedding. This was done in 1 hour by one man.

Leonard Casavan: A unit similar to Stardigs' only larger. The building is 34x100 feet and will accomodate 40 cows and the young calves. The calves are being housed in the loafing area and the herd is also watered here. All hay and silage is fed outside and grain while cows are milked. This unit will meet Grade "A" specifications.

As with the other herds the cows were grade Holsteins and the Roseau Breeders service was being used. The cows in this herd were averaging about 50 pounds of milk per day at the Brooks creamery. No cow was over 4 years old. Mr. Casavan plans to expand to a herd of 35 cows and will be milking 25 next year. He would also like to join the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, he said.

Capitol Chat

By Mrs. Coya Knutson
Rep. 65th District

Tuesday, January 20, I had possibly my one chance in a lifetime to meet and visit with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. Undoubtly the best-travelled First Lady in our history, she calls herself simply and modestly an "average housewife." As one housewife to another, we talked United Nations. She said the United States is setting the entire pattern for world freedom. She praised Minnesota's United Nations as "a shining example."

She praised particularly its cooperation with labor and cooperative groups and suggested that the American Association for the United Nations set up a program whereby one or two persons in the state groups become authorities in the various fields in which the United Nations is interested. She stated that the greatest objections to the United Nations in Congress seemed to be in the "region of the pocketbook." She said it is foolish to close our eyes to what is going on in other countries.

"I don't know why we are so afraid of Communism," she said; "the dangerous areas are the countries of the world where the masses of people barely exist." Mrs. Roosevelt spoke to the student body of St. Olaf College.

Members of the House had the opportunity, for the first time in history, to view the Presidential Inaugural on TV.

After our sessions have adjourned in the afternoons, we are privileged to hear heads of the various state departments who acquaint the members with their functions and duties. One important statement was made by Mr. Clark of the State Department of Taxation that there is no foundation for the reports that industries are leaving the State of Minnesota because of its high tax level. In an all-over tax program, Minnesota ranks 31st in the nation.

Walter Day, Bill Dahlquist and I are going into a discussion huddle on the subject of roads in our district. In the meatime, may I refer you to Bill Dahlquist's column as an introduction to the subject.

Polio Foundation to Buy $5,000,000 Gamma Globulin

To Be Distributed to Polio Sufferers Thru U. S. Research Council

Basil O'Conner, president of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, said in a recent statement that the total amount of gamma globulin reported on hand in the United States on December 18, 1952 was 6,100,000 ccs., of which 5,000,000 ccs. were in the hands of the armed forces.

The total amount of gamma globulin that can be produced between Jan. 1 and June 30, 1953 is 5,940,000 ccs., of which the National Foundation has agreed to purchase 3,090,000 ccs. at an estimated cost of $5,000,000 so that they can be placed in the national pool to be distributed by an allocation board to be appointed by the National Research Council in Washington, D. C.

If the presently existing 6,100,000 ccs. of gamma globulin and the 5,940,000 ccs. of gamma globulin to be produced were placed in the national pool, there would be 12,040,000 ccs. available for polio, measles and infectious hepatitis (jaundice).

However, there has to be deducted from this 12,040,000 ccs. of gamma globulin, 3,500,000 ccs. presumably to be retained by the armed forces, leaving in the national pool 8,540,000 ccs. of gamma globulin. Of this amount it is estimated that 2,000,000 ccs. will be required for civilian use in measles and infectious hepatitis, leaving available for polio in the 1953 season, only 6,540,000 ccs. of gamma globulin, or 934,000 average doses.

NEW EYE TEST CHART

Optometrists to Use New Chart in Checking Vision

The Minnesota Optometric association announced the adoption of a new visual recognition standard to supersede the conventional Snellen letter chart long used in eye examinations. Arabic numerals, each with the same total area of blackness, are used in the new chart instead of the miscellaneous letters and symbols on the Snellen Chart.

Dr. Harold L. Carlson, Mankato, president of Minnesota optometrists, hailed the chart as one of the most important new developments in vision testing in the last 75 years, since the Snellen standard was adopted.

A subject with "average" vision will achieve a score of approximately 1 by the new visual recognition standard, corresponding roughly to the 20/20 fraction by the Snellen test. Normal deviations will be in plus scores above and below plus 1. Below normal scores will have minus value. Plus means "pass" and minus means "fail."

CHANGE SUNDAY SCHEDULE IN THE COVENANT CHURCH

Effective next Sunday, February 1, Sunday night services will be at 7 o'clock until further notice in the Mission Covenant church, said the pastor, L. W. Lindholm. He stated that offerings next Sunday are toward the congregation's share in support of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fadel, missionaries in Japan, who left here two years ago. Mrs. Fadel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ulvin.

Mike's Getaway

By Jay Blaine

Sheriff Fred Handy left the jail with a bunch of papers in his hand and went out alongside the building. A beaten up old car stood in the space between the jail and the court house. A few men were lounging about. The sheriff lifted his tall form into the car and stood up. He looked tired.

"Gentlemen, we're here to auction off this car to the best bidder. Property of Mike Rundell, a prisoner, who desires to clear up his—'er, obligations. Do I have a bid."

The men gathered around.

The home town men, at least, knew about Mike Rundell. He was in trouble because he had used a fraudulent check to buy goods at the Empire Store. Mike had insisted that he was only an innocent party. He had taken the check from another man, believing it good, so he claimed. The sheriff felt sorry for Mike, despite the fact that Mike's past record was not good and that he had run with a bad bunch. If Mike could raise the money, he'd probably go free. Mike's family needed him.

"Speak up, gentlemen," said the sheriff.

"I'll give thirty-five dollars," said some one.

"Thirty-five I'm offered. Who'll raise it?" said the sheriff.

"Forty."

"Fifty."

After a pause some one said "Sixty".

Sheriff Handy waited again, then said, "Come now, gentlemen, it's worth more than that to anyone."

"I'll bid seventy-five dollars," came a voice from the jail window. "I won't see it given away."

It was Mike Rundell himself.

"I guess we got to recognize Mike's bid," said Handy. None went higher.

"Where'll he get the money?" some one called.

The sheriff hadn't thought that out at all. He paused. One of the strangers spoke up.

"I'm a friend of his. I'll lend him the money on his note. Take me in and I'll fix it up."

At the cell door Sheriff Handy took out a big key and turned it in the old-fashioned lock. Inside was Mike Rundell, whose black eyes glowed strangely as the pair came near. Mike really was mild looking. The sheriff started to pull the door open outwardly when he felt something hard pushed against his back.

"H'ist your hands, sheriff, and keep quiet. No funny business now." A hand slid over the sheriff's clothing searching for weapons.

"Now get inside, sheriff. Keep quiet. You can come out now, Mike."

Inside the cell the sheriff turned slowly to get a better view of his visitor, something he had neglected to do before. The man had meanness written all over him. Mike made no move.

"Come on, Mike," said the man.

"I ain't coming," he said. "I'm through with you, Bleeker. You got me into this mess in the first place. You better git."

Bleeker stared, mouth agape. Then he swiftly slammed the cell door shut and left quickly, saying, "Stay here and rot, then. I'm throwing this key into the river."

Sheriff Handy looked at Mike.

"Know him, do you?" Handy asked.

"Sure. Hadn't been for him I wouldn't be here. He fixed the check, then tricked me."

"We'll get him," said the sheriff. "I know where to find him."

Sheriff Handy stepped forward, put his hand through the bars and opened the door.

"Spring's broke in the lock. Door hasn't really been locked for a year. Just a bluff."

"You mean I could have walked out any time?"

"Sure. I knew you wouldn't go far. You can go now. I'll see that you get the money for your car—unless you need it yourself."

"Thanks, sheriff. I got a little boy. Don't want him to know his daddy was a jailbird."

From the State Capitol

By W. E. DAHLQUIST

On Saturday night of last week I was corrupted with a free meal by the public employees of the state and the Twin City area and found myself surrounded by St. Paul police women and a welfare worker, dealing with juveniles. Suddenly we were up to our ears in the youth problem.

They were not starry eyed theorists. They were advocates of the old fashioned corporal punishment. Sparing the rod was spoiling a lot of children and they were all in favor of a back-to-the-woodshed movement and quick. For the state's youth conservation program there was a big Bronx cheer.

Most of the crime today is committed by juveniles 18 years of age or under; by youngsters who have no respect for authority at any level. A large share of them came from so-called "good" homes. Those who are dealing with this problem at first hand, watching the endless parade of delinquent boys and girls day after day, are genuinely disturbed about what seems to be a trend. The condition is worsening.

Governor Anderson is recommending a substantial increase in the appropriation to the Youth Conservation Commission. Maybe before we go any farther with this program, however, it would be well to take our bearings and make certain we are moving in the right direction.

Obviously this program is not accomplishing its purpose, which may be due to the shortcomings of the program itself or it may be due to its administration. The agency was established for the purpose of assisting local authorities in their youth problems. We hear many complaints from local officials that the state's youth authority, instead of strengthening local law enforcement agencies, has weakened them.

It is clear that the state agency cannot be successful without the confidence and cooperation of local police and court officials. The youth problem is a problem that must be solved at the community level. Delinquency will be under reasonable control only as there is respect for local authority and it is the local authority that must be strengthened.

The state bureau of criminal apprehension has been cited as an example of a state agency that serves a useful purpose giving assistance to local police officers in special cases. There is excellent cooperation between this state agency and local authorities. Maybe the YCC can learn how to correct some of its shortcomings by observing how the crime bureau functions.

But getting back to the party and the police women, I liked the idea one of them expressed, something like this, "What most of these young thrill seekers need is the thrill of an old fashioned spanking — and spanked until they really holler 'Uncle'". She was a very motherly type and I liked her a lot.

Equalizing the cost of education between urban and rural areas becomes increasingly important if we are to proceed with school district reorganization. Two years ago the Legislature established a 50% differential in favor of agricultural land on the first 50 mills levied for maintenance. That formula has created as many problems as it has solved.

Superintendent of Schools, W. G. Claffy conducted a survey recently on how this formula is working out in northwestern Minnesota and brought up some interesting figures. For instance, there is a per pupil unit taxable valuation of more than $8,000 for the children attending the Kennedy school from the rural area compared to a valuation per pupil unit of less than $1,500 in urban Kennedy. The taxpayers of Kennedy gain by having the rural area added to its tax base even with a 50% differential.

Roseau, on the other hand, it penalized by such a differential. Urban Roseau has a valuation per pupil unit of $1,224 while the per pupil unit valuation of rural Roseau is only $884. It appears, therefore, that rural Kennedy and urban Roseau are carrying more than their fair share of the load.

Of 17 districts responding to the question, 14 favored a graduated differential, and that seems to make sense. Now to work and get agreement on a fair graduation.

We have introduced a bill calling for a study of health, accident, medical care and hospitalization insurance and I am satisfied that it will serve a useful purpose. Insurance of this kind is practically a "must" for the head of a family, but judging by the number of complaints I hear about the inadequacy of the protection people have paid for we probably need a few changes in the rules on what can be sold and how.

In the field of fire insurance we have adopted standard forms and we don't worry about what is in fine print. Such standardization is not possible, and perhaps not desirable, in the field of health and accident insurance, but some degree of classification of these policies and contracts according to their limitations should be possible.

The important thing is that the buyer of protection should be informed on how much, or how little, protection he is getting.

The livestock inventory of Minnesota's eight hospitals for the mentally ill as of last June 30th was: Cows 523, heifers and heifer calves 414, bulls, 11, bull calves 46, steers 73, brood sows 466, boars 11, pigs 2,490, hogs 518, chickens 9,721, turkeys 3,032 and horses 48. Butterfat averages for the hospital herds varied from a low of 300 pounds at St. Peter to a high of 455 pounds at Willmar.

Prowler Quint Wins from Warren 50-41; G. Forks Here Friday

Coach Fred Petrich's Warren Ponies held a slight edge in the play in their district basketball game against Prowlers here on Friday night until the final two minutes of the third period when coach Nick's squad, with the score at 31-all, rapped in ten points while holding the Ponies to a lone free throw, to gain a 41 to 32 lead.

The Prowlers maintained that margin in the final quarter, winning the game by a 50 to 41 score. In the preliminary game, the Warren 'B' team, with rangy center Norman Bystol doing the bulk of the scoring, defeated the Prowler 'B' team, 50 to 27.

On Friday night, Jan. 30th, the Grand Forks Redskins, the defending North Dakota state champions, will meet the Prowlers on the local court. And on Tuesday night, Feb. 3rd, coach Ambrose Kramer's Roseau team will play the locals on the Lincoln high school floor.

Warren, with every man in their lineup scoring at least a point, gained an early 10 to 6 lead over the Prowlers in the first period of Friday's game here.

The Prowlers erased that four-point Warren lead in the second period, and it was only on a last-second basket by Kay Herbranson, that the Ponies were able to leave the floor at the intermission with a tied score.

The hectic third period was touch-and-go until the 6:20 mark when, on a rebound shot, Art Johnson evened the score at 31-all. Duane Rafteseth, who was the game's high-point player, drove into the lane and lofted a one hand toss into the eastbasket at 6:45, giving the Prowlers a 2-point lead. Rafteseth and Gary Smith looped in free throws. Herbranson scored a point on a free throw for the Ponies. Smith and Aasland flipped in field goals, and a pair of gift shots by Smith, gave the locals a 41 to 32 lead as the period ended.

The Prowlers, playing a ball control style of basketball, held off the Ponies in the final period, and increased their lead to 49 to 36 with less than three minutes of play remaining. Both coaches sent reserves into the game in the waning minutes of the contest.

Rafteseth's 16 point total was the game's high; while Herbranson and Jack Fraser, both of Warren, were runners-up with 12 points apiece.

The Warroad Lakers, gaining a draw with Roseau on Wednesday night, picking up a point, and defeating the Grand Forks Redwings, 5 to 4, on Sunday, to add two points to their league standing, moved on to the top rung, holding a one point advantage over the runner-up Roseau Cloverleafs. The Lakers, though, will be hard-pressed to hold their league lead this week for the schedule sends Warroad to Crookston on Wednesday night, and to Roseau on Sunday afternoon.

An important league game will be played here on Wednesday night with the Grand Forks Redwings making their first appearance of the year here when they meet the Thieves on the Arena rink. The two teams share third and fourth place in the league standings, with each club having ten points. In the two previous games between the two teams, played at Grand Forks, the Redwings marked up a win, by a 7 to 6 score, and a 5-all tie.

Prowler Six Opens Crucial Series Jan. 29

Locals Drop First Game of Season to Redskins of Grand Forks Friday

The hockey Prowlers will enter the "make or break" week of their season's schedule on Thursday night, Jan. 29, when, playing at Warroad, they play the first of three "on the road" regional conference games. Following the game at Warroad on Thursday night, the Prowlers will play Oscar Almquist's up-and-coming Roseau sextet at Roseau on Saturday night; and on Tuesday night, Feb. 3rd, coach Rolle will take his squad to Williams for a game against coach Al Braga's club. The results of these three games should "place" the region's number one and two teams in the conference standings.

The Prowlers dropped their first game of the season on Friday night when, by a 3 to 2 score, they were defeated by coach Bob May's Grand Forks Redskins in a game played at Grand Forks.

It was a combination of some red-hot goal-tending by the Redskins' Harold Corcoran, who kicked out thirty-four Prowler on-goal shots, and some "off line" sniping by the Prowlers, that accounted for the Grand Forks triumph. On numerous occasions the Prowlers sifted through the Grand Forks defense for close-in shots, with Corcoran making the "save," or having the shot hit the goal-post.

Ralph Hjelmstad, a freshman wing, provided the Redskins with their three goals, getting a goal in each period. Hjelmstad scored the game-winning tally at the 7:42 mark of the third period when he banged in Chuck Johnson's rebound to break a 2-all deadlock.

Mike Hajostek racked up the two Prowler scores, intercepting a Redskin pass in the first period and racing in for a goal at 10:09. At 3:47 of the second period, on a face-off, Hajostek took a pass from Marv Jorde to tie the game at 2-all.

On Saturday night, with several of the Prowler reserves playing the bulk of the game, the locals had a comparatively easy time in recording a 11 to 3 win over Greenbush. Center Joey Poole scored three goals for the Prowler, while wing Lyle Guttu added a pair of goals to the locals' total.

Clarence Grabinske, Greenbush' veteran wing and defense player, accounted for all of the visitors goals, getting the "hat trick" in the third period.

AIRPORT NEWS

A recent caller at the airport was Ernest B. Purath, who has been stationed at the Ramey Air Force Base in Puerto Rico, and who is now visiting with his parents at Red Lake Falls.

Joe Devorah, airport manager at Fergus Falls, and Milton Diamond and Ed Anderson, of Fergus Falls flew in Friday in a Cessna 170, to attend to business matters in Thief River Falls.

Pat Valgren and Ralph Anderson flew over from Grand Forks on Sunday to pick up George Busse's Cub which they recently purchased.

Two more Grand Forks fliers, Howard Degerness and Beau Young, flying a Cessna 120, were also here on Sunday.

G. A. Frahm, formerly of Thief River Falls and now of Valley City, N. D., and R. L. Frahm from Grafton, were here Sunday in a Cessna 140.

R. Derarcy from Rainy River, Ontario, and John Sonstegard from Spooner, Minnesota, stopped at the airport Sunday with an Aeronica.

Edgar Hetteen from Roseau and Roy W. Hagenstad of Minneapolis flew down from Roseau in Hetteen's Piper Cruiser on Monday. Hetteen reported that on Saturday they had flown non-stop from Regina, Saskatchewan, to the Pine Creek, Minnesota, international airport, the first airport of its kind in this country. Hetteen was the first pilot, and Hagenstad the first passenger, to stop at this new airport.

North Central Airlines personnel stationed permanently at our airport are Chester Matthews, station manager, and George Bell, station agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Matthews left last Friday for Madison, Minnesota, to visit with Mrs. Matthews parents.

Max Koenig Dies

Word was received here Sunday of the death of Max Koenig, who passed away at the Rest Home at Lake Bronson on Saturday, Jan. 24th. Mr. Koenig had been a patient at the rest home for the past couple years; before that he had been cared for at the rest home in Middle River.

Max Koenig was born in Austria on November 9, 1863, and came to the United States as a young man. He worked on farms in North Dakota for several years before coming to Minnesota. He operated a meat market at Thief River Falls for some time before coming to Espiee Township, Marshall County where he proved up on a homestead. He was married and after several years of marriage his wife passed away. After his wife's death he moved into Grygla where he lived until poor health made it necessary for him to enter the Rest Home. He was 89 years, 2 months and 14 days old at the time of his death. Mr. Koenig leaves no close relatives.

Funeral services are being held Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 28, from the Collins Funeral Home at Middle River with Rev. Hanson of that city officiating and the latter will also perform the graveside rites when interment is made in the St. Olaf cemetery at Grygla. Pallbearers are Harold Bush, Sivert Salveson, John Johnson, Fred Bucholz, Fred Cuno and Oscar Knutson.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Erickson had a letter from their son Gerald, which he had written while in Wilmington, Delaware. Gerald a senior at the North Dakota Agricultural college at Fargo, majoring in electrical engineering was given the trip to Delaware by a firm wishing to interview him to fill a position in the company.

B. H. Fonnest Called by Death

B. H. Fonnest passed away on Thursday morning, Jan. 22, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alton A. Anderson. Mr. Fonnest had been failing in health the past few years and died at the age of 76 years, 6 months, and 25 days. Funeral services were held from the St. Olaf Lutheran Church of Grygla on Tuesday, Jan. 27 with Rev. J. M. Erickson officiating. Burial was made in the St. Olaf cemetery. Pallbearers were Harold Bush, Fred Cuno, Oscar Knutson, John Rustvold, John Williamson, and Sivert Salveson.

Bardinius Fonnest was born in Fillmore County, Minnesota, on June 26, 1876. When he was two years old his parents moved to Elbow Lake where he lived until 18 years old. His family then moved to Grant County where he remained until 1901 when he came to Valey Township, Marshall Co. and lived on a homestead. On December 13, 1905 he was united in marriage to Agnett Margida Gaare at Grygla, who preceded him in death last June 11. They lived on the farm until 1915 when they moved into Grygla. They operated a cafe until 1928 after which Mr. Fonnest was employed at the Grygla Cooperative Store for several years.

Mr. Fonnest leaves to mourn his passing two sons Tron of Thief River Falls and Palmer of Grygla; two daughters, Mrs. May Werner of West Allis, Wisc., and Mrs. Adella Anderson of Grygla, 1 brother, Nels Fonnest of Tintah, Minn.; 1 sister, Mrs. Anna Eggen of Sisseton, S. D.; 8 grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his wife, one brother, and a grandchild.

Mrs. Byron Dirk Dies

Death claimed another resident of this community when Mrs. Byron Dirks passed away on Wednesday, Jan. 21. Mrs. Dirks, who had been ill for a long time with cancer, died at the home of a sister, Mrs. Ella Lambertson of Ada. Funeral services and burial were held at Ada on Monday, Jan. 26. Besides her sister, Mrs. Dirks is survived by her husband of Grygla and one daughter.

Sofus Bjertness left on Wednesday for St. Paul to attend the annual state convention of Co. Commissioners.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morehouse of Thief River Falls visited at the Clarence Peterson home on Sunday. Patty Peterson, who had spent the weekend at her parental home returned to Thief River Falls with them on Sunday evening.

Dr. Douglas Adkins, Jack Adkins, both of Minneapolis, Kahler and Peter Adkins of Thief River Falls were callers in town on Saturday.

Friends were grieved to hear of the illness of Dr. C. M Adkins of Thief River Falls who has so faithfully served this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Erickson and family of Chisholm spent a few days here a week ago attending to business matters and visiting with friends and relatives.

Andrew Morken and Milton took Mrs. Andrew Morken to a Thief River Falls hospital Sunday where she remained for treatment.

Hjalmer Rafteseth and Delores and Duane of Thief River Falls visited at the Sam Salveson, John Rustvold and Lawrence Hesse homes on Sunday. They were acompanied by Daphne Hesse who spent the afternoon at her parental home.

Albert Moe and Truman Quanrud of Grand Forsk accompanied the Elmer Hyllands on their trip to Minneapolis.

Mrs. Leonard Haack is a patient at a Thief River Falls hospital where she had an operation on January 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Holbrook of Thief River Falls visited at the Harold Bush home on Sunday afternoon.

Harold Bush, Sofus Bjertness, and Carl Holbrook made a trip to Middle River an Sunday to assist with funeral arrangements for Max Koenig.

Gene Goldstrand of Big Falls spent the weekend at the Wm. Hanson home. He was accompanied back to Big Falls on Sunday by Mrs. Goldstrand and Danny, who have spent the past two weeks at the Hanson home.

Mrs. Olaf Warnes of West Allis, Wisconsin, arrived Sunday having been called by the death of her father, B. H. Fonnest.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Strom of Crookston spent several days visiting at the Elmer Strom home leaving the early part of this week.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Emeline Ingles, Kendrith, Idaho: I remember when old fashioned spelling bees were the favorite social function of the community. Two would choose sides, each trying to get the best spellers. Sometimes it was the parents against the youngsters; sometimes it was the men and boys against the women and girls. Each side lined up on opposite sides of the room and the last speller down was the honored one.

From Mrs. Edward Koch, Ft. Recovery, Ohio: I remember, in the church I attended as a child, the men all sat on one side of the aisle and the ladies on the other, and when the sexton (as he was called) took up the collection he didn't use a plate, but had a long pole, nicely varnished with a black velvet bag fastened on one end, and to the bottom of this bag was attached a small bell. He would stand in the aisle and pass this bag down the length of the pew, giving it a vigorous shake in front of each person in the pew, who, in turn put in a penny. Since the collection was taken after a long sermon, there was probably a reason for the bell.

From Mrs. Mabel Cadotte, Kelly Lake, Minnesota: I remember the little Ford with the square lights high up on the sides. The motorists wore long coats called "dusters". The men wore caps and goggles, the women long veils over their hats. There were women drivers in those days. They always drove from the front seat, not the back.

Thieves Win and Lose 2 Games During Week: G. Forks Here Tonight

It was a pair of crowd-pleasing hockey games that the Thieves gave the fans this past week, defeating the Hallock Lions here on Wednesday night, and losing to the Cloverleafs, 3 to 2, at Roseau on Sunday afternoon. On Wednesday night, at the Arena rink, the Thieves will play the Grand Forks Redwings, and that game should attract a capacity crowd.

In addition, there will be preliminary game played between the Red Lake Falls PeeWees and the Thief River Falls PeeWees, with the winner of the game gaining a berth in the state PeeWee tournament at Eveleth on Feb. 7th and 8th. The regional PeeWee game is slated to face-off at 7:00 P. M.

Wednesday night's game against the Hallock Lions, which was played before a small crowd, produced some of the season's finest hockey. The speedy Lions, with Don Kelpin getting the goal, broke a zero to zero game by beating Jack Peters at 9:58 of the second period. At 10:32, Tony Dorn scored on a blue-line shot.

George Ballance, getting a pass from veteran Wilf Beaulieu, hit with a long shot at 18:44, giving the Lions a 2 to 1 edge. But not for long, for Paul Bedard, on a solo rush, found the net with a sharply-angled shot at 19:16.

The game, which was featured by some crisp passing and precision hockey, was 2-all until 13:53 of the third period when Church Russell flipped in a backhand shot. In quick succession, Jerry Lavergne, Murray Balagus, Dorn, and Lavergne again, rapped in goals, giving the locals a 7 to 2 win.

Playing in Roseau's picture-book rink on Sunday afternoon, the Thieves, on goals by Russell and Bedard, moved into a 2 to 0 first period lead over the Cloverleafs.

But the locals failed to hold that lead, for the Leafs, with Ray Baumgartner getting all three goals, scored at 8:30, 18:27, and 18:58 of the second period to move ahead 3 to 2.

In the hectic final period, the Thieves, with better than two minutes to play, pulled their goalie out of the net, sending a forward on the ice in an attempt to score the tying goal, but Roseau's agile Don Collins proved unbeatable in the Leaf's net, booting out several one-goal shots.

Local Boxer Will Compete in State Event Next Week

Adrian Larson of Thief River Falls, winner of district and regional light-heavyweight Golden Gloves boxing titles, will participate in the state Golden Gloves tournament in Minneapolis beginning on Feb. 2nd.

Larson, who has just recently been discharged after having been in active service with the U. S. Marines in Korea, entered the district Golden Gloves tournament at Crookston last week.

And in the Region three finals at Detroit Lakes on Saturday night, Larson, by a TKO, defeated Ron Broberg of Detroit Lakes to win the light-heavyweight senior division title.

CCC Grain Loan Deadline at Hand

O. J. Houske, County PMA Head, Issues Reminder

Oscar J. Houske, chairman of the Pennington county PMA committee, today reminded local farmers that the final date for completing CCC loans or purchase agreements on barley, oats, wheat, flaxseed, or rye, is January 31.

Any farmer who wishes to take a loan on grain stored on the farm must make his application to the county PMA office not later than January 29th in order to permit time to obtain the sample and submit it to the grading laboratory for analysis.

However, any producer who desires to make a loan on warehouse-stored grain, or a purchase agreement on either farm-stored or warehouse-stored grain, may do so until the final date.

Since the PMA office is not open on Saturday, Friday, January 30th, will be the final date on which farmers will have an opportunity to take advantage of price support protection for their 1952 crop grains.

Prowler Six Defeated by Warroad 4-2

Local Team Loses First Home Game in 26 Starts After Leading 2 to 0

The hockey Prowlers lost their first game in twenty-six starts on their "home" ice on Tuesday night when the Warroad Warriors came back from a 2 to 0 deficit early in the second period to tie the game at 2-all, and score two goals in the final stanza to win by a 4 to 2 margin. The two teams are scheduled to play off a postponed game at Warroad on Thursday night.

The win was particularly gratifying to Warroad for the Warriors entered the game without the services of their coach, Bernie Broderick, who is hospitalized at Warroad with a virus infection. The Warriors, though, were ably handled by assistant coach Jimmy Doyle.

After a bang-up and scoreless first period, the Prowlers broke into the scoring column early in the second period when Marv Jorde's centering out pass, from off to the side of the north goal, was deflected into the net by Warroad's goalie, Bob Lewis. And at 6:40 of the second period, during a melee in front of the Warroad net, the Warrior's defenseman, Earl Poole, covered a loose puck in the crease. McMahon was given a penalty shot, and the Prowler defenseman gave the locals a 2 to 0 lead by flipping the disc thru Lewis' legs.

Roger Christian, on a solo rush from deep in the Warroad zone, stick-handled through the Prowlers and came in for an open shot after feinting goalie Bill Maruska out of the net. And six seconds later the Warriors had evened the score at 2-all, with Jack Stoskopf feeding a pass out to Bill Christian, and the young Warroad center-ice player angled a shot into the laces.

The thrilling game was at a deadlock until late in the third period when, after some loose defensive play by the Prowlers, Stoskopf recovered the puck in the Prowlers zone, and set Bill Christian up for a ten-foot shot, the score being made at 13:58. With the Prowlers playing "five-man up" in an effort to tie the game, Stoskopf, at 14:44, broke away for a solo rush, carrying in for an easy shot.

The summary:

Thief River Falls H. S. (2)

Goal—Maruska. Defense—McMahon, Sabo, Vraa, Kavoral. Wings—Gullis, Durgin, Helgeland, Hajostek. Centers—Jorde, J. Poole.

Wanted: A Hockey Crowd

The senior hockey Thieves, and the club officials, are perplexed as to the reason, or reasons, for the drastic drop in crowd attendance here. The Northwest hockey league has the best balance ever, with every team in the circuit boasting "name" players in their lineups, and with the possibility that the playoff positions will be in doubt until the schedule's final week.

The fans that were in attendance at the game here last Wednesday night, with the Hallock Lions playing the Thieves, are agreed that that was the finest brand of hockey to ever show on the Arena rink. The game, which had only one penalty, that a second period tripping infraction by Hallock's George Ballance, was touch-and-go until the final six minutes of the third period, when the Thieves broke up the 2-all game, scoring five quick goals.

And the prospects are that another bang-up game will be put into the records tonight when the Grand Forks Redwings meet the Thieves at the Arena tonight. The Redwings, a club that has been favored to win the league title, will have such stand-out players as Bun Nicholson, Ken McKenzie, Odie Lowe, Jack Mason, Don Crough, Wendy Feist, Bob Krumholz, and Buzz and Prince Johnson, in their lineup. Nicholson, a former goalie for the Toledo Mercurys, and who has been in the nets for the Hallock Lions as a substitute for Loren Williams, has replaced Ralph Engelstad as goalie for the Wings.

McKenzie, playing at a wing on the line centered by Odie Lowe, played in the American hockey league last season, and is still capable of playing that brand of hockey. Lowe is a former St. Paul Saints player; and defensemen Jack Mason and Don Crough have both had professional hockey experience. In addition, the Redwings have those former Olympic team members, Buzz and Prince Johnson.

Let's hope there is a rush on the ticket windows at the Arena tonight, for hockey is too fine a winter-time activity to be allowed to "die" because of lack of fan interest.

PeeWee Hockey Climax

Paul Bedard's PeeWee hockey club will "climax" their season here on Wednesday night when as a preliminary to the Thieves vs. Grand Forks Northwest hockey league encounter, they play the Red Lake PeeWees in a Region seven finals game. The winner of this game will enter the state PeeWee tourney at Eveleth on Feb. 7th and 8th, and will be paired to play the representative of Region five, the Iron Range, at 4:00 p. m. on Saturday, Feb. 7th.

The squad that coach Paul will send on the ice tonight against Red Lake Falls, and which has twice beaten the Lakers this season, will have three forward line—Jack Poole, Chip Strand, and Glen Carlson; Duane Glass, Jimmy Hall, and Art Cloutier; and Greg Randa, Dale Glass, and Colin Reese. The blue-liners will be chosen from Jimmy Reese, Duane Erickson, Bob Sauve, Fred Dablow, and John Wennberg; and in the nets will be the people's favorite, Cal "Murphy" Offerdahl.

If the Red Lake Falls PeeWees can beat this local outfit they'll be deserving regional champions.

What Tickets?

To secure tickets to last week's inauguration was a simple matter compared to the obtaining of pasteboards for the Minnesota vs. North Dakota hockey series at Grand Forks next week. The reserved seat tickets have been sold out for several weeks, and the chances of getting a "rush" seat are slim. The latest report we have is that there will be seats in the rafters—if you bring your own rafters.

Miscellany

An interested spectator at Wednesday night's hockey game between the Thieves and the Hallock Lions was Alois "Lottie" Wambach of Moorhead. Lottie, who was an all-round athletic star for the Moorhead Spud team in the mid-20's, played his hockey with the Fargo-Moorhead Comets. Lottie met Bob Bell at the game on Wednesday, and the two had a great time re-hashing their hockey experiences, particularly in re-playing the games between the Comets and Roseau. Bell, in those days, was goalie for the Leafs. The name Don Costello will be missing from the Thieves hockey lineup, and in its stead will be Ron Castelane. Ron has been playing as Don Costello, but now that he has been re-instated by C. A. H. A. he can use his real name.

Ted Mills Heads Local Rifle Club

Ted Mills was elected president of the Thief River Rifle club at its 26th annual meeting January 20 in its room in the arena. Other officers named were Jerry Liemandt, vice president; Everett Amundgard, secretary; Einar Swanson treasurer; and W. G. Maves, executive officer.

Shetler Hatchery Entertains 125 Turkey Growers

Shetler's Hatchery and Poultry Service entertained 125 turkey growers from thruout this section of the state at a dinner party in the Legion club rooms last Thursday evening. Three representatives of the Archer-Daniels-Midland Co. of Minneapolis presented discussions and slides dealing with turkey feeds and diseases and related subjects. Roy Shetler, proprietor of the local firm, also spoke briefly.

Selective Service Operation Explained

By Col. Lloyd T. Lilygren

SERIES IV

(This article pertains to the authority of the state director and appeal board.)

There has been some misconception about the authority the local boards have in granting deferments—especially agricultural and occupational. They do have such authority.

Obviously, the authority cannot supersede the law and the regulations. It is patent that while a local board must use judgment, discretion and plain common sense, it also utilizes every available source of information in classifying a registrant and it cannot depart from the law of the regulations NOR must it be forgotten that the national director and the State Director have the authority to appeal a classification, either in behalf of the government or the registrant, if they believe the law and the regulations have not been followed.

If the national director or the state director takes an appeal, he must direct the file either to the national appeal Board or to the state board of appeal.

It is highly important—and I cannot over-emphasize the fact that the national director and the state director do not have the power of classification of any registrant—but they do have the power to take an appeal.

The state director has the responsibility in his state to see that no registrant is wrongfully inducted into service before his turn. All fathers and mothers, including the registrant, should appreciate that every precaution is taken by the local board, the state director, and the appeal board, to insure them their sons will not be inducted until their number is reached. All calls for induction must be met by each and every local board. It is therefore difficult to defer one son, and by so doing, go to another family and take its son. We all want to be sure, without a shadow of a doubt, that the registrant deferred is rightfully so in the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest.

We have coordinators representing state headquarters, who periodically check the local board operations and various classifications of all registrants to see that, in state headquarters judgment, they meet the requirements of the law and regulations.

Where the state director does not believe the local board is correct in their classification of any registrant, he has no alternative but to take an appeal to the state board of appeal when he deems it to be in the national interest or necessary to avoid an injustice. Let me repeat, the state director does not have the power to classify any registrant, but he does have the power to appeal from any determination of a local board in his state at any time.

The appeal board consists of five good men and true, who are appointed in the same manner as the local board members. They receive no compensation for their patriotic efforts; it is merely for God and Country.

These five men of the appeal board represent the activities of its area and as such include one member from labor, one member from industry, one physician, one lawyer, and one member from agriculture.

The representative from labor evaluates matters relative to labor; the businessman evaluates matters relative to industry; the physician evaluates matters relative to medical statements; the lawyer evaluates matters relative to the legal profession; and a farmer evaluates matters relative to agriculture.

No personal appearances can be granted before the state board of appeal. As a body they convene alone and sit in judgment with only the written contents of the file, applying the law and regulations. No outside influence is permitted.

Parking Meters Augment Funds of Minnesota Cities

16,741 Meters in State Earn Average of $82.55 Each During Past Year

Forty-four Minnesota municipalities have found that the use of parking meters to regulate curb-side parking has also become a quite profitable source of added income.

In a recent study conducted by the highway planning survey of the Minnesota department of highways, the number of meters and revenue produced in each of the 41 municipalities having them indicated wide variances in their use and productiveness. According to the data furnished the planning survey, a total of 16,741 meters were in operation during 1952, earning $1,382,108, or an average of $82.55 per meter for the year. Differences in fees, stringency of enforcement, heavy accumulations of snow and many other factors result in the great variations in financial returns.

Minneapolis, by virtue of its being the largest city in the state, also had the greatest number of parking meters, with 2,660 reported in operation and producing $390,509 for an average of $146.80 per meter for the year. Glenwood, on the other hand, with its population of 2,666, was the smallest community reported utilizing meters. Its 148 meters brought $5,197 into the city's coffers, or an average of $35.11 per installation. Jackson, however, had only 60 parking meters, the smallest number operated by any Minnesota municipality, but they brought in a total of $3,678 or $61.30 per meter.

Of cities in Northwestern Minnesota, Crookston, with 240 meters, reported revenue of $11,662 or $01.00 per meter, while Detroit Lakes, with 206 meters, earned $12,188 or $60.62 per meter.

Welfare Costs up in Marshall in '52

Total of $338,876 Spent During the Past Year

Welfare costs of Marshall Co. rose slightly in 1952 over 1951 but were lower than total payments made in 1950, according to figures supplied by Earl Kalther, executive secretary of the Marshall county welfare board. He also anticipates higher costs in 1953 but the county's share will be less because of increased federal aid.

A total of $338,876 was spent for welfare in the county during the year with 831 residents or 5 per cent of the county's population receiving aid in some form or another during the year. This includes 433 getting old age assistance, 176 children and 49 adults receiving aid to dependent children, and 176 persons receiving relief. Nine persons received aid to the blind with the state and federal governments paying all these costs.

Marshall county supplied 30.58 per cent or $103,637 of the total payments of $338,876 with the balance paid by the state and federal governments, mostly by the latter.

Farm Land Prices Hit New State High in '52

Prices for Minnesota farm land reached a new high in 1952, University of Minnesota agricultural economists reported today.

The report came from A. A. Dowell, who was professor of agricultural economics before becoming director of resident instruction for the University's Institute of Agriculture in December, and Orlo Sorenson, research assistant in agricultural economics.

Based on a survey of 400 farm real estate brokers scattered throughout the state, the report shows that the average price of farm land in the state in June, 1952, was $107 per acre, compared with the previous high of $104 in the 1920-21 period. Only in the southeastern, east central, and west central districts did values fail to top the 1920-21 peak, and in the west central district the difference was not significant.

June, 1952, per-acre averages, compared with 1920-21; southwestern, $175, vs. $152 in 1920-21; west central, $90, vs. $88; east central, $58 vs. $68; northwestern, $68 vs. $57; northeastern, $42 vs. $24.

Along with the new average price peak, Dowell and Sorenson also found a decline in the farm land market activity during the past year. Farm real estate brokers reported 31 per cent fewer farms sold in the state as a whole during the first five months of 1952 than during the corresponding period in 1951. The decrease was fairly uniform in all parts of the state except the east central and northeastern districts, where it amounted to only 18 and 9 per cent, respectively.

About 31 per cent of the brokers who answered a question on the number of farms for sale reported an increase in listings on June 1, 1952, compared with the same date in 1951. Forty-eight per cent reported no change, and 21 per cent reported a decrease.

Dowell and Sorenson point out that the actual increase in the number of listings on June 1, 1952, over June 1, 1951, may have resulted from fewer sales during the first five months of 1952 rather than from an increased desire on the part of owners to dispose of their properties.

Reports on 1063 voluntary farm land transfers from January 1 to June 1, 1952, indicate that 81 per cent of the buyers were active farmers, meaning that only 19 per cent of the farms were bought for speculative or other purposes.

According to the brokers, the most important reasons for the decline in farm land market activity appeared to be (1) the poor 1951 corn crop in many areas, (2) an increasing number of prospective buyers who lacked the required down payment, and (3) greater difficulty in getting farm mortgage credit.

Factors tending to reduce the number of farms offered for sale included (1) relatively high returns over a period of years from farm real estate compared with returns from other investments, (2) the expectation or fear of continued inflation, and (3) income tax considerations.

While it is too early to conclude that the farm land boom has reached its peak, said Sorenson and Dowell, it is not too early to suggest caution on the part of prospective buyers with limited funds. "A farm is worth what it will earn over a considerable period of time, not what it will earn in one or a few especially favorable or unfavorable years," they stated.

Number of telephone employees in Minnesota has increased 51 per cent since the last war, wage payments have increased 154 per cent, requiring 67c of every dollar revenue.

OUR PUBLIC LIBRARY

Not long ago Dr. George Gallup, the poll-taker, made a study of the book-reading habits of the American people. His conclusions were discouraging. He reported a dismal lack of bookstores in the United States. He said Americans are generally poor informed, and that they do not read books.

In speaking of the lack of bookstores, Gallup said nothing about the wonderful system of public libraries in this country. Americans don't have to buy books, when they can get them at their public libraries.

In our well-managed local library there is a total of 21,822 books with nearly 7,000 borrowers in 1952. Circulation last year reached 70,601, and 1,111 new books were put on the shelves.

For a small fee, persons outside of Pennington county may borrow books, and the area thus served reaches as far north as Baudette. Twenty-five schools borrowed books in 1952.

I received these figures from Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, chief librarian, who says the library serves "as a community center, a general information center, and a library." "Often," she remarked, "the library is the first contact with people who come to town."

This tremendous service goes on under immense handicaps with the most pressing problem lack of space. Bookshelves are everywhere. Some reference material must be kept in the basement. The overcrowding is in an acute stage.

I believe one of the basic needs of this community is a larger library. The need is so urgent, I feel, it should take precedence over any other local community building project. I do agree with Dr. Gallup, when he says, ". . . every person should spend some time each day widening his intellectual horizons. Through books, he can cover the equivalent of many college educations."

SKATING CLUB

An infrequent visitor at the Sports Arena last Thursday evening expressed amazement at the large number of enthusiastic skaters who had turned out for their weekly skating session. Like this visitor, there may be others who are unaware of the reactivation of the Thief River Falls Skating club.

Credit goes to Marjorie Wangenstein Teigtmeir and Bud Syverson, who sparkplugged the reorganization. Through their efforts we now have the services of a Canadian skating teacher, Erick Abbott, who is here every Thursday.

More than a hundred skaters are taking lessons from Mr. Abbott. Lessons are given in groups. That way the charge per person is extremely nominal. However, both instructor and skaters are somewhat handicapped because of the brief time allotment during which lessons must be given. Ice skaters feel it would help if the instructor could teach the younger children during the latter part of the afternoon. Perhaps the Recreation Board will be able to make some such arrangement.

You would be surprised at the rapid progress some of the teen-age girls are making. Last Thursday they were spinning and jumping after only two lessons. I'm sure Bud and Marjorie feel this progress is a heart-warming reward for the time they spent in reorganizing the club. By the way, membership is open to everyone. There are no age-limits.

About two years ago I watched a small boy trying to learn to skate. His face was red with effort, and his clothes white from falls on the ice. He would take three hurried steps and proceed to fall flat on his face; then up again, he would repeat the three struggling motions with dogged determination, and there he was again sprawled on the ice.

He took this terrible punishment evening after evening. At the end of the season he had made no progress. His trouble, we learned, was caused by skates so large he couldn't stand upright in them on the ice.

Poorly fitting skates are a tremendous handicap. If a Skate Exchange Center could be started, parents could buy skates that fit at the beginning of the season. The next year, skates could be turned in at the exchange center and a second-hand pair bought for the child. Such a non-profit skate exchange would solve the problems for children and parents. Parents could buy skates so the children could grow out of them instead of into them.

Report to the People

By Governor C. Elmer Anderson

Impressions Of Inaugural

Last week brought one of the most inspiring experiences in my days as your Governor and in my life as an American citizen. I saw a man become President of the United States.

Joining with scores of other Minnesotans, I traveled to Washington to see Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard Nixon take their respective oaths as President and Vice-President. All Governors are especially invited to this quadrennial affair. They represent their states in the various official functions.

It was a rare privilege for me to represent you people of Minnesota at this inaugural, but more than that it was a never-to-be-forgotten experience as an American citizen. It made me more conscious than ever of the blessings of our democracy and all the other things which make America great. It was thought-provoking to see a man stand there in all the solemnity of this occasion and take upon himself the greatest obligation that can be assumed by anyone in the world.

President Eisenhower—or, any President—cannot do the job alone or even with a good staff. All of us citizens, whether in government or not, must help.

What Appealed Most

Naturally there were some things about the inaugural trip to Washington that had more appeal than others.

The thing which I liked most about the President's inaugural was his prefacing of his address by a little personal prayer he had written shortly before the ceremony began.

What I enjoyed most in the way of contacts was the large number of former Minnesotans or those temporarily absent from the state who came up and introduced themselves. At practically every function I met some of these Minnesota people. Several were service men. Some were on special duty in connection with the inauguration. As a matter of fact, the military aide assigned to me was Major Jack Hanthorn, who lived at Robbinsdale and practiced law in Minneapolis before being called back into the marine corps a couple of years ago.

Billboard or outdoor poster advertising was born in the United States in 1850—P. T. Barnum the client, Jenny Lind the attraction, John Donnelly the bill poster.

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

Minnesota's mental health program—a subject of increasing controversy—is the first major problem to command the serious attention of this legislature.

Last week the house appropriations committee and the senate finance committee opened hearings on the division of public institutions' requests for funds, and members of these committees found themselves plunged deeply into as difficult and technical a problem as they are likely to face.

Before them were not only the detailed requests of the division but also two reports the legislature itself had requested, one from the Legislative Research Committee, the other from the interim committee on mental health and the youth commission. In addition, there were a series of "white papers"—which took sharp issue with the LRC findings — issued by two citizens groups that have been actively spearheading progress in the mental health field.

Vast Growth in Program Since 1946-47 Biennium

At the insistence of former Governor Luther Youngdahl, the 1947 legislature began the tremendous expansion in the mental health program. Appropriations, which for 1946-47 had been slightly over $8,000,000, have vastly increased, until for the current biennium $25,234,000 has been authorized.

For the forthcoming biennium, Governor C. Elmer Anderson has requested an increase of an additional $4,000,000. In view of the generally tight budgetary picture, many legislators have been demanding a thorough study of the program, in an effort to make certain that further increases in funds are justified.

Both reports authorized by the legislature raise serious questions about how economically and efficiently the present appropriations are being spent, and the interim committee's report charges the citizens' groups with having "advocated unwise expenditures."

Emotionalism Charged In Handling of Problem

Issuance of the various reports—and criticisms of the reports—have sharpened the controversy over mental health. The interim group charged the lay groups with "emotionalism," contending that public officials have been condemned as "antimental health," if any proposed activity in the name of mental health was questioned."

The interim report accused laymen supporting the mental health program of having "excused waste, extravagance or mismanagement as being in a sacred cause."

Replying to the legislative studies, spokesmen for two citizens' groups — the Minnesota Mental Hygiene Society and the Citizens' Mental Health Committee—claimed the studies were "seriously deficient" and that they do not allow for the "extraordinary complexity of mental illness." They implied that the studies reflect an "accounting" or "business" bias that does not take full account of the humane factors involved in mental care.

Leirfallom Cites Gains Made Under Program

Jarle Leirfallom, acting director of the division of public institutions who has been presenting the division's case to the legislative committees, remained aloof from the growing controversy. He thanked the LRC for its report, saying he felt it provided valuable information that could be used as a "checklist" in perfecting improvements. He frankly admitted there had been deficiencies in organization and administration, many of which are not subject to simple remedy.

But he cited the gains made under the program—which testimony was later supported by Dr. Ralph Rossen, who had served for two years as mental health commissioner—pointing to better diets for patients, better treatment, elimination of restraints, an increasing discharge rate, growth in voluntary admissions which "show public confidence in the program," improved personnel, addition of modern buildings and equipment, and a change-over in philosophy of treatment from "custodial care" to "active medical treatment."

Overcrowding, Charges Two Points of Dispute

Critics of the program insist that state mental hospital are not overcrowded, that there are several hundred empty beds. To this the citizens' groups reply that, by considering adequate standards of floor space and safety from fire and other hazards, there is a condition of overcrowding.

A second point in dispute is the question of charges for care. Under existing state legislation, a patient or his family cannot be charged more than $10 per month. Of the 11,244 patients on June 30, 1952, 6,000 made no payment, according to the LRC report, which recommended increasing amounts chargeable in cases where there is ability to pay and a more vigorous collection policy. In the view of the citizens groups, this proposal would not cut costs by reducing the number of patients, but would only shift the burden from "one class of people to another."

Viewed in an overall way, the problem of mental health in Minnesota is complicated by two "new" factors: (1) the success of the program is helping to remove the stigma attached to treatment for mental problems with the result that more people are being committed voluntarily, and (2) there is a rapid increase in the proportion of elderly patients—reflecting a basic social factor of our aging population—and these persons are not as susceptible to treatment and cure leading to discharge.

RANDEN . . .

By Mrs. E. Ostlund, Grygla

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Davy returned to their home here Wednesday from Helena, Mont. and Stanley, N. D. where they have spent the past 30 days visiting some of their children.

Mrs. Ben Anderson and Alice Arnevik visited with Mrs. Fred Ice Tuesday.

A number of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ostlund for a shower Thursday. This is the second shower they've given them. The first I reported last week were the Randen and Skime Community and this was the Wannaska folks. The afternoon was spent visiting and lunch was served with Mrs. Sigestad of Wanaska as hostess. A number of gifts were presented to the honored guests.

Clarence Davy returned home from near Williston, N. D. where he has been employed in the oil fields Monday.

Louis Kopp, who has been doing Clarence Davy's chores during his absence left for Wadena, Minn. to visit his daughter who has entered the hospital for major surgery.

Mrs. Ezra Davy helped in the Bill Edberg home several days of last week during Mrs. Edberg's stay in bed after the birth of her baby boy Clifton Carl.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Surprise Ending!

That raffle for our Volunteer Fire Department went over fine. We're going to have money to get a new engine—and then some.

Our local merchants really donated some wonderful prizes. Like Buzz Ellis, the radio-TV dealer, giving that big television set . . . and the Supgrove Motors putting up a brand-new car.

There was a humorous note, too. The prize of a year's supply of coal—donated by Baker Coal Yard—was won by Mrs. Thayer, whose husband is the biggest fuel-oil dealer in the county! What did Mrs. Thayer do with the coal? She gave it to a church she's not even a member of. (Her Church uses her husband's fuel oil.)

From where I sit, that's real generosity. But then, Mrs. Thayer never did believe in dividing people into groups. She's "for" everybody — whatever church they go to, whether they like TV or radio, people who enjoy temperate beer, people who don't. A really warm-hearted person.

World's newest V8

OUR hat's off to the men who made the 1953 Buicks what they are—the greatest Buicks in fifty great years.

They came up with a new kind of V8 for the SUPER and the ROADMASTER—a brilliant V8 Engine with a long list of engineering "firsts."

They redesigned the F-263 Fireball 8 for record horsepower and compression in the spirited Buick SPECIAL.

They kept every inch of room in the roomiest six-passenger Sedan in America—and still shortened its turning radius considerably.

They did new wonders with the wonderful Million Dollar Ride. They stepped up visibility, comfort, handling ease, control.

And man!—what they did with getaway!

They dreamed up, designed and developed a new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive* that whisks you away quick as a wink—and just as smooth, almost as silent.

In fact, no other car in the world gets away with all the combined quickness, quiet and smoothness of a Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Buick.

Wouldn't you like to see for yourself just how great these Golden Anniversary Buicks really are? Drop in soon—we'll be happy to do the honors.

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

MAYFIELD . . .

By Mrs. Ole Austad, Rt. 2, Oklee Phone 1482

School in Dist. 60 was closed Friday as teacher, Miss Senora Swanson was sick. Several of the pupils also have been absent due to the flu.

Our neighborhood was saddened by the death of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anderson, long time residents of this community.

Mrs. Anderson had been sick with the flu about a week when she had a heart attack and was taken to the Northwestern hospital where she passed away Saturday morning Jan. 24.

Mr. Anderson had been a patient at the hospital and later at the rest home in Erskine, where he passed away Sunday January 25, after lingering illness. They will be buried at the Ebenezer cemetery. They were charter members of the Ebenezer church. The date for the funeral has not been set.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon McMahon and Karen and David Femrite attended services in Thief River Falls Sunday, also visiting at the Harvey and Hilton McMahon homes.

HANSON FROZEN SILAGE CHOPPER

- Safer — Easier handling — Self propelled
- Faster — No waste
- No more feeding frozen chunks

The operator simply guides the chopper as it crawls forward, no pulling or pushing. It hugs the silo wall and cuts to a depth of 3 inches in the toughest corn or grass silage. Farmers who have grass silage, know how packed and solid it gets. The Hanson Frozen Silage Chopper mulches up the entire surface in a few minutes, leaving it fluffy, easy to handle and palatable.

Frozen ore boat gets new look

HELD FAST IN THE ICE of Duluth's harbor, huge ore boats are being readied for a new shipping season. Here a shipyard worker chips paint from the bow of one of them. The big ships are part of a fleet of 270 such carriers being overhauled and repaired during the winter at Great Lakes ports. And on the iron ranges other winter work is in progress—preparing for a new ore shipping season. This year-round work, usual in the ore industry today, assures steady jobs, steady income for the thousands of ore miners and their families—means benefits for all Minnesota. A fair deal for Minnesota's iron mining industry means a good deal for you.

Crookston Station Surveys '52 Weather

The weather summary for the central Red River Valley of Minnesota has been prepared by Dr. O. C. Soine, agronomist and weather recorder at the Northwest School and Experiment Station, Crookston. In his summary of weather, Dr. Soine points out that a prolonged drought in March, April and May followed by a dry September and October featured the weather for 1952 in this general area.

The lack of moisture in the spring resulted in poor germination and uneven stands of small grains while the dry fall greatly reduced the meadow and pasture crop as well as fall sown grains. The abundant rains during June, July and August brought along a fair crop in spite of the dry spring.

The total precipitation of 17.64 inches for the year was 2.65 inches below the long-time average of 20.29 inches, and marked the second consecutive year of below normal moisture in this area. The year 1951 ended with a moisture deficit of 3.14 inches. The 1.52 inches of rain in November came at an opportune time to help build up the subsoil moisture for the coming crop year. Eight months of the past year were below average in moisture and the snowfall was considerably below the 1951 record.

Another feature was the milder weather as measured by the mean temperature for the year which was 41.21 degrees—1.77 degrees above normal. A month by month comparison shows that eight were above the long-time average. January was nearly 5 degrees colder than usual while February was nearly 10 degrees warmer. The past month of December was 7.52 degrees warmer than the long-time average. The extremes in temperatures resulted in a high of 99 degrees warmer than the long-time average. The extremes in temperatures resulted in a high of 99 degrees on August 15 and a low of -38 degrees on January 28. It is interesting to note that the lowest temperatures for 1951 also occurred on January 28 with a low of 33 degrees below zero.

The frost-free period of 125 days was 3 days shorter than the long-time average of 128 days. The last frost in the spring occurred on May 16 and September 19 marked the first fall frost.

The following summary gives the month by month data compared to the long-time averages.

	Total 1952 Inch	Precip. 50-yr. av. Inch
January	0.66	0.54
February	0.19	0.67
March	0.34	0.83
April	0.69	1.62
May	0.36	2.73
June	4.77	3.30
July	5.77	2.85
August	2.44	2.87
September	0.45	2.03
October	0.17	1.37
November	1.52	0.86
December	0.30	0.62
Total	17.64	20.29

Hudson Motor Car Co. Producing New Lower Priced Line

The Hudson Jet, new low-price Hudson car was presented Friday in the Curtis Hotel, Minneapolis, at a preview for members of the press and business leaders in the Upper Midwest area.

Guests at the preview today saw a compact, ruggedly constructed car of the most modern design that weighs only 2800 pounds and accommodates six passengers. Its high compression engine provides exceptional gasoline economy and develops considerably more than 100 horsepower.

The new car will be manufactured in two series, the Jet and the Super Jet. Hudson is in the process of beginning production on the car, and shipments to dealers will begin shortly.

Drowning and Gun Mishaps Take 146 Lives During 1952

State Safety Council Reports 129 Injured in Minnesota Last Year

Sudden and tragic death by gun or drowning accidents ended the lives of 146 people in Minnesota last year and 129 suffered minor to crippling injuries to make a total of 275 accidents, Carl W. Moen, secretary of the water and firearms section of the Minnesota Safety Council, reported today.

"With the exception of 1949, when there were 325 accidents reported, the 1952 record is the highest in the last nine years," Moen said. "We note there seems to be a trend toward more youth accidents, the water accidents increased from 52% in 1951 to 57% in 1952 and the same ratio holds for the firearms accidents."

Drowning accidents took the lives of 62 youths under 21 while 20 were killed in firearm accidents and 75 were injured.

The toll of 38 dead by firearm accidents is the largest over the period of nine years. During the pheasant, duck, deer and grouse seasons, 22 hunters were shot, and 83 suffered injuries from a slight flesh wound to the loss of a foot, arm, eyes, and other permanent handicaps.

In addition, 62 firearm fatalities and injuries have occurred during the small game seasons, by the use of guns for shooting birds, cats, rats, bottles, targets and other activities. Sixteen were killed, and 46 were injured in the miscellaneous accidents.

Judging Contests on Winter Shows Program Feb. 23

Judging contests will again be an outstanding educational feature of the forthcoming Red River Valley Winter Shows at Crookston, February 23-27.

Several hundred 4-H club boys and girls, FFA members, farmers' club members, and students in agricultural schools of three states are working out daily for places on judging teams to compete.

T. M. McCall, president of the Winter Shows, announces that one dozen subcollegiate teams from the schools of agriculture will compete in livestock, crops, and potato judging contests. Some 25 to 30 FFA teams from the high schools will compete in the crops and soils contest, 15 to 20 farmers' club and 4-H teams will compete in the livestock and dairy judging, and some 50 individuals will compete in the potato judging.

These contests will be held on the opening day of the Winter Shows, Monday, February 23. An additional 85 individual contestants, will compete in the 4-H crops judging contests and grain clinic to be held on Wednesday, February 25.

Banquets for the judging teams competing on Monday and Wednesday will be held during the evening of the contest dates.

To Speak in City

Rev. Ivor Hugh of Wales, Great Britain, will begin a series of services at the Assemblies of God Tabernacle Sunday, Feb. 1, continuing for two weeks, with services each evening with the exception of Monday and Saturday. Sunday evening services begin at 7:45 p. m. and week night meetings begin at 8:00 p. m. Everyone is invited to attend, stated Rev. Robert Abbott, pastor.

Dr. M. Oppegard of Crookston Dies Early Thursday

Prominent Red River Valley Physician Dies in Sleep at Age of 67

Dr. M. O. Oppegaard, prominent in state and regional medical circles and former mayor of Crookston, died in his sleep early Thursday at his home in Crookston. He was 67 years old.

Funeral services were held Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church with Rev. J. David Larsen officiating.

Dr. Oppegaard, who was co-founder of the Northwestern Clinic in Crookston in 1920, had gone about his professional duties as usual Wednesday and appeared in normal health when he retired Wednesday night.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. George Leichsenring of Oak Ridge, Tenn.; a son, Manford M. Oppegaard of Winston-Salem, N. C.; a sister, two brothers and four grandchildren.

His sister is Mrs. O. E. Locken of Minneapolis and the brothers are Dr. C. L. Oppegaard of Crookston, associated with the Northwestern Clinic, and M. M. Oppegaard, publisher of the Grand Forks Herald.

Dr. Oppegaard had been both secretary and president of the Red River Valley Medical Society and held the same posts at other times in the Northern Minnesota Medical Association. He was a member of the staffs of St. Francis and Bethesda hospitals and Sunnyrest Sanitorium and president of the latter at the time of his death.

1952 was Minnesota's biggest Hungarian partridge year—41,200 killed.

State Income Taxes Payable by March 15

Minnesota citizens are reminded this week by G. Howard Spaeth, tax commissioner, that state income tax returns are due at his office in St. Paul not later than March 15.

Spaeth cited the following provisions of the law:

The 1952 state income law provides that the following persons must file returns:

1. An unmarried individual if his gross income exceeds $1,000.

2. A married individual if his gross income exceeds $2,000; provided, however, that if the aggregate gross income of both husband and wife exceeds $2,000, joint or separate returns must be filed. Regardless of whether joint or separate returns are filed, the entire gross income of both the husband and wife must be accounted for.

All individuals with respect to their own taxable net income if that exceeds an amount on which a tax at the rates provided by the act exceeds the specified credit allowed.

For the purpose of determining whether or not returns must be filed, gross income means gross receipts, gross revenues, or gross earnings before subtracting any of the expenses and deductions allowed by the Income Tax Law.

Severe penalties are imposed for failure to file returns as required by law.

The Law also provides that every employer in the State of Minnesota, must file "Returns of Information" on all salaries, wages, fees, etc. paid in excess of $600.00, listing the name, address and marital status of the recipient.

The tax may be paid at the time fixed for filing the return. However, the taxpayer may elect to pay this tax in two equal installments, the first one half on March 15th and the second on September 15th.

Forms are available at offices of county auditors and all state and national banks. They may also be obtained by writing to the State Income Tax Division, State Office Building, Room 213, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Big Gain Made in Soil Conservation Practices in 1952

State Director of Soil Conservation Service Reports for Past Year

This past year will go down in history as one that found tremendous gains being made in the drive to safeguard Minnesota farms against soil erosion and to make them more productive.

Figures cited by Herbert A. Flueck of St. Paul, who directs the U. S. Soil Conservation Service program in Minnesota, show new records were made in all areas of the state. These were achieved despite the shortage of trained personnel and the time required to check compliance with ACP practices.

The Soil Conservation Service is a federal agricultural agency providing on-the-farm technical assistance to local farmer-controlled soil conservation districts.

A. C. Libby, who had charge of the Northern Minnesota area with headquarters in Moorhead last year, reported 121,389 acres were soil-mapped in 1952 in comparison with only 39,345 acres in 1951. This is an increase of about 200 per cent. A total of 678 district cooperator agreements were signed with farmers during the past year as compared with 271 in 1951. This is an increase of 150 per cent.

Biggest annual grouse kill in Minnesota was 1925, when 411,971 were taken.

Fargo Television Station Approved

Construction Expected to Commence Shortly

WDAY radio station, with studios in Fargo and Detroit Lakes, has been granted a television construction permit on Channel 6 in Fargo, it was announced by the Federal Communications commission in Washington, according to E. C. Reineke, president of WDAY.

The permit authorizes the station to telecast on Channel 6 with 65,000 watts effective radiated power.

Reineke said that barring unforeseen developments WDAY will begin construction in the very near future.

The investment in equipment and buildings will be nearly one-half million dollars. Some of the equipment already has been ordered.

No date has been scheduled as to when service will be started but it is expected several months will be needed to make the installation.

PENCIL SHARPENING

Remember when there were no pencil sharpeners in school rooms? The girls borrowed the boys' knives. Usually, being the gallant kind, the boys sharpened the pencils for them. Sometimes, amid stifled giggles, the pencils broke during the process. But no one gave a hoot—anything to put off doing those dreadful problems. Remember?

MONEY IN THE NEWS

Money is the source of much news—though it is not money itself, but the love of money which is authoritatively said to be also the source or root of all evil. Anyway a regular reader of the New Ulm Daily News recently paid her $9 annual subscription in pennies she had accumulated during the year—900 of them in a cardboard box, weighing 5¾ pounds.—J. F. Johnson, sandstone, carries one of the over-size pennies Uncle Sam minted in the early days—found it in an Illinois garden in 1912, date 1856.—On the way from a Plainview wedding last June Arnold Frederickson stopped to fix a flat tire, reached his Hayfield home minus a billfold. In January a snowplow turned it up intact, with name and all the original $183—of which the plow driver got $20.

A Treatise on Bread Softeners
On December 23 the U. S. Court of Appeals in Philadelphia issued a decision upholding the Food and Drug Administration prohibiting the use of "Polyoxyethylene Monostearate" emulsifiers in breads covered by the National Standards. This becomes effective on February 10, 1953, unless reversed by The Supreme Court.
Shall we cheer !! No, not yet, please. The Several manufacturers of this product have asked for a review of the case. This may delay the effective date as much as a year."
This decision does not effect the mono diglyceride emulsifiers which may still be used.

OUR LAND

Prepared by the Minnesota Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with University Farm, St. Paul

More for the Livestock

Cletus Small, who operates a 160-acre farm in the Upper Zumbro Soil Conservation District, has boosted his livestock carrying capacity nearly 50 per cent through increased yields from better rotations and other methods. His fairly steep cropland is in capability classes II, III and IV. In 1945 the conservation program for erosion control on the cropland was contour strip cropping with a 4-year rotation of corn-grain-hay-hay. This rotation gave good results, both in erosion control and increased crop yields. Corn and small grain yields increased 35 per cent and hay yields 50 per cent. The increased feed made it possible to boost the livestock carried.

Three years ago, Cletus became interested in terracing. He has now terraced 31 acres of the 76 in cropland. In the fall of 1951 he had a terracing bee and the neighbors built the terraces on one field. He is heading toward having terraces protect all his sloping cropland and replace the contour strip cropping. His purpose in the switch is that it will give him a more convenient pasture program and better erosion control. He is shifting his rotation to one of corn, grain and 4 years of hay.

Soil Conditioners

Infiltration of water into soil was greatly increased by use of a chemical soil conditioner in a greenhouse experiment at the University of Minnesota it was reported by Wallace W. Nelson, research assistant in soils at the University. When the chemical was mixed into the top three inches of soil at the rate of 400 pounds per acre, the average time required for 2 inches of water to infiltrate the soil was 101 seconds, compared with 435 seconds for untreated soil. Economical use of these conditioners is limited at present to specialized situations such as potting soils, greenhouses, flower beds, gardens, lawns and erosion control on limited areas, said Nelson.

FUN IN VARIOUS FAMILY CIRCLES

Twins born Christmas eve to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Groth, West St. Paul, are the third generation—both father and paternal grandmother have twins, a brother and a sister, respectively—Mrs. Pat Kullberg, Mound, got a grandson and a nephew for Christmas—Five tonsilectomies started the John Stoltman children, Owatonna, on their New Year, three boys and two girls ranging from 3 to 13—Lizabeth, New Year's Day daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Johnson, Breckenridge continues a tradition: Her 45-year old grandmother, her 74-year old great-grandfather, and her deceased great-great-grandmother, who lived in Sweden, were all born on New Year's Day.

WHAT'S YOUR LAND WORTH?

Minnesota land values are today at their peak. Range of current average price per acre is from $42 in the northeastern part of the state to $175 in the southwestern part of the state, with an over-all average of $107. Southeastern area hits $131, West Central $96, Northwestern $68, East Central $58—this being the first year in 30 or more that the NW area has topped the EC area in average land price. Low average for the state was $40 an acre in 1934-35.

Coal burned in the generation of electricity for the city of Chicago is at the rate of an entire trainload every six hours—more than 325 cars of bituminous coal every 24 hours.

Vote Tuesday in S. D. 18 on Land Purchase

School Board Proposes to Buy New Site for Lincoln Athletic Field

In a special election in Thief River Falls school dist[illegible] No. 18, next Tuesday even[illegible] February 10, voters will be [illegible]ed by the board of educatio[illegible] approve the proposed purchase of a new site for the Lincoln high school athletic field at a price of $7,000. Polls will be open in the municipal Auditorium from 7 until 9 p. m.

The property involved, owned by H. B. Rafteseth, is in Rafteseth's Addition, and embraces the equivalent of two and one-half city blocks. It is located slightly more than two blocks from the Lincoln school building, lying west of Arnold av.

Officials of the school district said the purchase, if approved, will be financed with funds now on hand.

In commenting on the proposed acquisition, Supt. W. G. Claffy and board members said the purchase is part of a long-range plan, anticipating the day when it will be necessary to erect a new Washington grade school, preferably on the west portion of the present athletic field, reserving the east portion for an ultimate addition to the Lincoln building.

Plans also are being considered, Claffy stated, for the erection of a new building on the present Washington school playground to house the area vocational school, now located in rented quarters. The new structure, he added, also would accommodate the high school industrial arts department, now in the old portion of the Lincoln building.

Local Farmers to Visit Angus Farm

Invited to Join in Tour Wednesday, February 18

Pennington County farmers interested in seeing the new developments in preserving forage crops and labor saving methods of handling beef cattle are invited to attend a tour to the Strickler Bros. farm at Angus, Minn., on Wednesday, February 18.

W. E. Morris, extension specialist of University Farm, will assist County Agent Ray Mitteness in conducting the tour. Those interested will meet at the city Auditorium at 1 p. m. to organize.

To be seen on the farm at Angus will be two methods of forced air hay drying, a stack silo using both corn and alfalfa, a mechanical silo unloader and a beef herd consisting of eighty cows and 100 feeder steers handled by one man. By using self-feeders for hay and movable silage bunks, the entire herd is cared for in about two hours time each day.

George Bell of No. Central Airlines Speaks to Rotary

George Bell, assistant manager of the office of North Central Airlines at the local airport, was the guest speaker Monday noon at the luncheon meeting of the Rotary club in the Elks club rooms. He discussed details of the company's operations, as well as some of the problems met by the airline in inaugurating service to Thief River Falls.

Mrs. E. A. Yonke Sees First Robin

The Times is informed by a reliable witness in the person of Mrs. E. A. Yonke of Sanders township that she saw the first robin of 1953—or was it the last one of 1952—in an apple tree on January 27. The question is if that portends an early spring.

Rev. Lindblom to Give up Baptist Church Pastorate

Served Here Five Years; to Leave Early in March for Montrose, So. Dakota

Rev. Wesley Lindblom, for the past five years pastor of the First Baptist church of Thief River Falls, Sunday announced his resignation to the congregation, effective at the end of February. He has accepted a call to serve the Ramsey Baptist church of Montrose, South Dakota, and will leave with his family early in March to take over his new duties.

During the period since he came from Forest Lake in 1948, the First Baptist church has shown a fifty per cent increase in membership, and the overall budget has been trebled.

Shortly after Rev. Lindblom arrived here, the church edifice was destroyed by fire, and since then a basement has been built for a new building.

Active in affairs outside his congregation, he is serving at present as chairman of the Union Tent Mission, vice chairman of the Thief River Falls Ministerial association and acting chairman of the Pennington County Social Action group. Until recently he has been director of the Gospel Guideposts radio program, sponsored by Baptist churches of the Red River Valley.

2 Blazes During Week Cause $2,700 Damage

Two local firms suffered losses aggregating an estimated $2,700 in fires that occurred during the past week, Roy Langevin, fire chief, reported today.

Last Thursday evening at 8:30 a blaze originating near the furnace was discovered in the O'Hara Fuel & Transfer Co. truck garage on Crocker av. S. Five trucks, including a new van, were driven from the garage by Claire and Jake O'Hara.

The flames, which started in the wall just below the ceiling and spread into the attic, were put out after causing an estimated $1,200 damage. The loss was covered by insurance.

Employes arriving at the Oen's Appliance store on Atlantic av. N. Saturday morning found the quarters filled with smoke, and on investigating found a fire smoldering in the boiler room. They extinguished the blaze and found that a shelf had burned away, but that the fire had been kept from spreading by a concrete block partition.

Damage to stock and to walls and ceiling, which will have to be repainted, was estimated at about $1,500, covered by insurance.

Resigns Post Here

REV. WESLEY LINDBLOM

For the past five years pastor of the First Baptist church here, who Sunday informed his congregation of his resignation effective at the end of February. He has accepted a call to serve the Ramsey Baptist church at Montrose, South Dakota.

Soldier in France Phones Parents in Goodridge

Mr. and Mrs. Nelius Johnson of Goodridge were pleasantly surprised on Sunday morning by a telephone call from their son, Pvt. Wilbert Johnson, stationed with the army at LaRochelle, France. Pvt. Johnson won a free call to the United States as the writer of the best essay "What Christmas Means to Me" in a contest held in camp during the holiday season, with eight hundred soldiers taking part. The call came through on Mrs. Johnson's birthday.

Board Decides to Order Election on Court House Bonds

Date of Vote to Be Set Later; Propose Issuing of $295,000 in Bonds

The Pennington county board, at its February session Tuesday reached a long-pending decision to call a special county election to vote on the issuance of bonds to finance the construction of a new court house in Thief River Falls.

The board fixed the amount of the proposed bond issue at $295,000, but took no immediate action to set a date for the election, pending conferences with M. O. Foss, Moorhead architect, who is preparing plans for the structure, and with T. G. Evensen, Minneapolis bond consultant.

The present court house structure, a city landmark, is in dilapidated condition, and was condemned as unsafe for further use several years ago by the state fire marshal's office.

Largest of several delegations to appear before the board Tuesday on road and drainage matters was one from the Smiley area headed by Ed Nelson and represented by Attorney H. O. Chommie. The group discussed drainage problems, no action being taken at the session.

Alcoholism Topic at Lions Meeting

Alcoholics Anonymous Official Is Speaker

The helpful work being done in Minnesota by Alcoholics Anonymous was discussed at the Lions club luncheon meeting last Wednesday noon by Glenn A. Steele, field secretary of the Alano Society, Minneapolis unit of the organization.

Mr. Steele stated that Alcoholics Anonymous is not a temperance group, but that it provides an opportunity for members to share their problems with each other. Successful membership, he said, involves a belief in a higher power. The organization, he added, has 4,000 members in fifty units thruout the state, including Thief River Falls.

At their business session, Lions voted to participate this evening at 6 o'clock in a dinner at the golf club, following which the members will adjourn to the municipal Auditorium to complete preparations for the annual Kiddies Carnival Thursday evening.

TRF Creamery to Hold '53 Meeting Monday, Feb. 16th

The annual meeting of the Thief River Falls Cooperative Creamery association will be held in the municipal Auditorium Monday afternoon, February 16, starting at 2 p. m. The annual report on operations will be submitted by Tom Fuller, manager, and two directors will be elected, the terms of Otto Saugen and Albert D. Hanson expiring at this time.

Arnt Wedul returned Saturday from a business trip to the Twin Cities.

District Soil Conservation Session Feb. 11

2 Speakers to Address Meeting of Pennington Co. Unit in Auditorium

C. O. Ebling, Soo Line agricultural agent, and Olaf Soine, agronomist of the Northwest School of Agriculture will speak at the Pennington county soil conservation district annual meeting on Wednesday, February 11, at 1:30 p. m. in the Auditorium in Thief River Falls.

The public is invited to hear these interesting speakers and reports of the districts 1952 operations. Also the district's top conservationist will be presented with the Minneapolis Star-Tribune award.

"Conservation of the Future" is the topic Mr. Ebling will discuss and he will be using magic to illustrate his talk. Mr. Ebling is widely known throughout the Northwest for his entertaining talks. He has been a magazine editor, county agent, and agricultural instructor before becoming agricultural agent for the Soo Line seven years ago.

He is a member of the Houdini Club of Wisconsin and the International Brotherhood of Magicians. He has given over 1600 agricultural talks throughout the northwest and has a wide variety of tricks and magic to use to illustrate agricultural problems. His theory is it's easier to learn with a smile than with a frown.

Also of interest will be the topic chosen by Mr. Soine. He will present a summary of the varietial trials at the Northwest school of agriculture and discuss new developments in agronomy.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served at the close of the meeting.

American Legion Rehabilitation School Here Feb. 8

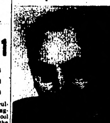
Hospital Chief



HAROLD W. PETERSON

Recently in charge of the Hallock hospital, who Monday assumed the position of administrator of Northwestern Hospital in Thief River Falls. Commenting on his departure from Hallock, the Enterprise of that city stated, "It is to be regretted that Mr. Peterson is leaving here because there is no doubt but that he is the most efficient administrator the hospital ever had. . . Under his direction the hospital's financial condition is the best it ever has been."

Ralph Luhman to Head Heart Fund Appeal in County

Receptacles to Be Set out for Contributions; No Solicitation Planned

Ralph A. Luhman has been appointed Pennington county chairman of the Minnesota Heart Fund appeal, it was announced today. He is one of a large group of life insurance agents thruout the state who are cooperating in the campaign.

Luhman stated that no solicitation will be made in Pennington county, but that heart-shaped receptacles will be placed in local stores to receive contributions from those wishing to aid the cause of research in the field of heart ailments.

While the Heart Fund is supported by the local Community Chest, Luhman explained, the Chest failed to reach its quota for the current year.

"Funds collected will be used for heart research, medical education, public information and community service by the Minnesota Heart association," said Luhman. "Each year the University of Minnesota gets a $50,000 research grant from the association. These funds are distributed among the research projects of the University by a committee headed by Dr. Harold S. Diehl, dean of medical science.

"Each year the university makes a report on what has been discovered by the researchers in their quest for means of detecting heart ailments and determining measures to prevent heart attacks wherever possible."

Dreng Bjornaraa Named Director of Insurance Firm

Election of Dreng Bjornaraa of Minneapolis, formerly of Thief River Falls to the board of directors of the Lutheran Brotherhood Insurance Society was announced today in Minneapolis by Carl F. Granrud, president of the society.

He succeeds Harold S. Ingvaldson, who died January 10. Bjornaraa also is a trustee of St. Olaf college, Northfield, and a director of Fairview Hospital in Minneapolis. The insurance firm now has $115,000,000 insurance in force, and has assets of $72,000,000.
